JUDGESHIP OFFER FOR VOTE FOR PARKER IS CHARGED; NO POLITICS, SAYS MITCHELL

ASHURST STIRS UP STORM

He Demands an Inquiry by Lobby Committee of Nominee's Backing.

FESS SEES SLUR ON HOOVER

But Arizonan Denies It—President Never Saw the Dixon Letter, Mitchell Writes.

SENATORS' OFFICES RIFLED

McKellar Accuses Secret Service—Smoot and Brock Robbed Too, They Assert.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—A charge that a Federal judgeship was offered a Senator in return for support of Judge John J. Parker, and that "men with Judge Parker's consent are being offered Federal judgeships and other appointments to office if they will vote for this nominee," was made by Senator Ashurst of Arizona in today's debate on the appointment of Judge Parker to the Supreme Court.

Senator Ashurst demanded an investigation of his charge by the Senat Lobby Committee, asserting that Judge Parker's supporters are "approaching the frontier line of culpability."

Another major development of today's debate was the reading by Senator Stephens of Mississippi of a letter from Attorney General Mitchell, in which Mr. Mitchell in positive terms denied that President Hoover had ever seen or heard of the Dixon letter in support of Judge Parker, prior to its publication.

In the midst of the excitement over Senator Ashurst's charge, Senator McKellar, who brought to light the Dixon letter, announced that his office had been ransacked last Saturday.

Senator Smoot, a Parker supporter, made a similar announcement, as did Senator Brock of Tennessee.

Fess Challenges Ashurst.

Senator Ashurst's allegation came early in today's debate, when the Arizonan, interrupting Senator Stephens's defense of Judge Parker, made his charge in an effort to show to what extremes supporters of Judge Parker were going to force his confirmation. It excited little comment at the time, as it was thought to be merely a repetition of rumors current for the past few days.

After several speeches had been made and the Senate was about to recess, Senator Fess called Senator Ashurst to account and insisted that the charge was one that connected the President with making that offer since he was the only person who could make such an appointment.

Senator Ashurst replied that he had not brought the name of the President into the discussion and after a lively tilt he exculpated the President from being involved in the alleged transaction. He insisted that there were other ways of making an offer and ways to have the offer carried out.

The debate between the two became very heated, with Senator Fess insisting that the President must be cleared of any such bartering and Senator Ashurst shouting that his charges were true and demanding an investigation by the lobby committee.

The introduction of Senator Ashurst's charges may delay the vote on the nomination for several days, especially if an investigation is made. Administration leaders tonight were discussing the advisability of demanding that Mr. Ashurst make public the name of the Senator who, he said, told him of the offer of appointment to the Federal bench in exchange for his vote.

Senator Ashurst was the centre of attention throughout the day. Senator Stephens, who opened the second week of the debate, demanded an explanation from the Arizona Senator of his assertion last week that Judge Parker was a weakling.

"So far from apologizing for calling the nominee a weakling," said Mr. Ashurst, "I repeat it and say that new and additional evidence has been supplied to me convincing me that his nomination is tainted with rank injustice to the American people.

"I said the other day that the measure of true statesmanship

Heavy Snow Near Los Angeles; Exposure Kills Young Woman

LOS ANGELES, May 5 (AP).—Week-end snow and rain storms caused one death in the Los Angeles area, and disrupted transportation and communication systems in Southern California and Arizona.

Heavy snows and cold weather in the San Antonio Mountains near Ontario, Cal., claimed the life yesterday of Mrs. Mildred Percy, aged 35, former head of the Chicago Child Welfare League. The woman, who has been spending the Winter in Pasadena, died of exposure after struggling in four-foot snowdrifts.

Metropolitan Los Angeles and adjacent territory experienced over the week-end the heaviest May rain since 1921, with a total of 1.04 inches reported.

Snow fell steadily Saturday night and Sunday in the mountain districts.

HOOVER SEES A TEST FOR US IN RED CROSS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Hoover opened the American Red Cross Convention this morning in an address in which he told the 1,200 delegates that the organization, designed originally for succor in war, has become the national agency for relief at home as well as abroad. Charged as it is with the grave responsibility of preparedness for ready and instant action, the President said, the expansion of the Red Cross "represents the growing of the spiritual sense of responsibility of the nation toward those who meet with disaster."

Judge John Barton Payne, national chairman, presented President Hoover to the crowd in the United States Chamber of Commerce auditorium. After the address the President left at once for the White House.

A few moments later he was referred to by James L. Fieser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations, as "our comrade in humanitarian service," and the "very embodiment of forward-looking Red Cross leadership."

Announces Highway Relief Plan.

Mr. Fieser announced a new program of emergency first aid along important highways, by which the Red Cross hopes to reduce the automobile accident toll. Such casualties now number more each year than America's killed and wounded in the World War, Mr. Fieser pointed out.

The plan suggested originally by Judge Payne in 1924, is being tried out by two chapters in Pennsylvania, and already is in operation un-

HIGH COURT VERDICT OPENS WAY TO CHECK HOME BREW SUPPLY

Maker of Containers for Liquor Breaks Dry Law, Supreme Bench Says.

FINDS INTENT IS ILLEGAL

Lowman Hails Holmes Decision, Reached Unanimously, as Weapon for Enforcement.

DRIVE ON BOTTLERS SEEN

Doran Begins Study of Ruling as Basis of Stopping Sales of Articles for Beverages.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—As a result of an opinion handed down by the Supreme Court today holding that persons who sell barrels, bottles, corks, labels, cartons, &c., are subject to punishment under the dry law, the Prohibition Bureau may soon start an intensive drive against the widespread sale of home-brewing equipment and non-alcoholic malt and liquor extracts.

The court, in an opinion by Associate Justice Holmes, ruled that persons who offer articles for sale in such a way as purposely to attract purchasers who want them for illegal purposes are guilty of violation of the national prohibition act.

Seymour Lowman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, indicated that in his opinion the decision put a powerful weapon in the hands of government enforcement agencies. He stated, however, that before a general policy was laid out by the treasury, the court's ruling would be carefully studied by Prohibition Commissioner Doran and the legal staff of the dry bureau.

In his opinion Justice Holmes said that, as the dry law was intended to "suppress the entire traffic" in illegal liquor, the act "should be liberally construed to the end of this suppression, and so directs."

Case Brought by Bottling Company.

The decision, concurred in by the seven other members of the court, was made in the case of Ike Danovitz of Pittsburgh, surviving partner of the Feitler Bottle Company, against the Federal Government.

The government had sued out a libel for the forfeiture of alleged contraband liquors and property and material designed, so it alleged, for the manufacture of contraband liquors. The District Court of Western Pennsylvania sustained the government and ordered a decree of forfeiture. This was granted by the Circuit Court of Appeals. The case came here on writ of certiorari.

Justice Holmes held that under the dry statute it was "unlawful to have or possess any liquor or property designed for the manufacture of liquor intended for use in violating" the prohibition act and "no property rights shall exist in any such liquor or property."

The opinion is in line with the policy that has been followed by the Supreme Court in dealing with cases arising under the prohibition law. The court has interpreted the statute literally, as was instanced in two decisions in which it held that hotels providing glasses, cracked ice and water in dining rooms were guilty of violation of the law.

The opinion by Justice Holmes in part read:

"The property in question was containers, barrels, bottles, corks,

T. F. Ryan Heirs Ask Court for New Guardian; Say Their Grandmother Is Too Old-Fashioned

Asserting that their maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ellen M. Morse of Valley View Farm, Ridge Road, Washington, D. C., is old-fashioned and ignorant of modern methods of life, two grandchildren of Thomas Fortune Ryan, financier, asked Surrogate Foley yesterday to remove her as one of their guardians and to appoint their paternal uncle, Clendennin J. Ryan of 858 Fifth Avenue, in her stead. The Surrogate reserved decision after hearing argument.

The grandchildren, both minors, are Elinor M. Ryan, 17 years old, and Joseph J. Ryan, 16, children of the financier's deceased son, Joseph J. Ryan, who live at 1,060 Fifth Avenue. The decedent died on Nov. 23, 1928, leaving them the income from five fifty-fourths of his estate, estimated at from $100,000,000 to $500,000,000. They are to receive the principal when they are 30. Mrs. Morse and Herbert H. Vreeland of 110 West Fifty-seventh Street, an executor of the estate, were named guardians of the grandchildren on Dec. 5, 1928.

Through counsel the grandchildren declared that Mrs. Morse was about 74 years old, a non-resident of the State and associated only with persons of her own age and generation and seldom with their paternal relatives and friends.

"She has no knowledge or means of acquiring knowledge of present-day methods of living and the manners and customs of children of their age and standing," it was alleged, "and is unable to guide, instruct, protect and care for them in the way that a parent or guardian should."

Furthermore, it was alleged, she is influenced in her treatment of them by her own children and her son-in-law, whose names were not mentioned. Because of her inexperience in practical business affairs, the court was told, Mrs. Morse has left the management of their affairs in the hands of Mr. Vreeland.

In a letter to Surrogate Foley the grandmother asserted that Mr. Vreeland and the other executors had ceased to cooperate with her and that inasmuch as they had failed to pay the children's $650 monthly allowance for maintenance since last June, she had had to provide for them from her own funds. Mrs. Morse said that she was the proper person to chaperone her granddaughter and give them adequate guidance in social life.

It was not until the last few years, she added, when it became certain that the children would become wealthy, that members of their father's family evinced any interest in them. Ever since, she said, these relatives have tried to influence the children against her.

Large British Force Reoccupies Peshawur; Leaders Arrested in Raids on Four Cities

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LAHORE, May 5.—A combined force of British infantry and cavalry, operating with airplanes, has reoccupied Peshawur. The operation, it is now announced, took place at dawn Sunday, when a composite force of British and Gurkha troops with the frontier constabulary were without opposition posted around the principal buildings.

Raiding parties immediately entered a number of marked houses and the sleeping inmates were arrested. By daybreak the military, it is said, had the city under complete control. Entrances were heavily guarded and none was permitted to enter or leave.

The troops will remain in possession of the city until all wanted men are arrested.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—News of the reoccupation of Peshawur caused considerable surprise here tonight, following sensational reports in the Moscow press to the effect that a Soviet had been established there.

Since April 26, on which day, according to an official communiqué, the disturbances ended with the withdrawal of a disaffected company of the Garhwal Indian Rifles, the British public had been left in the belief that maintenance of order had been left, for "reasons of policy," in the hands of the Peshawur civil authorities.

London newspapers protest that the censorship has been intensified in the last few hours, "at a moment when public anxiety is also intensified."

PESHAWUR, Northwest Frontier Province, India, May 5 (AP).—Police with military support today raided headquarters of the Peshawur Committee of the All-India National Congress, later carrying out similar raids at Naulawan, Bharat and Sabha. All were declared unlawful associations.

Their documents were impounded and seven leading agitators and ten "notorious ruffian gang leaders" were arrested without resistance. Troops still occupy parts of the city, but in several quarters shops are open for business, which is proceeding.

The raids were made after publication of correspondence between the committee and the notorious Haji of Trangzai in the northern provinces. This correspondence indicated that the Haji was raising an army of 100,000 men and advancing with the intention of entering the Peshawur district at the invitation of the committee.

He is alleged in the correspondence to have left Lakazai April 28 and to have arrived at the Halimzai country, on the edge of the border district, April 30, and to be still there, attended by 400 to 500 tribesmen. His overtures were said to have evoked no response from the Mohammedan section, the populace of some districts on the contrary discouraging him. He refused, however, to turn back until requested to do so by his Peshawur correspondents.

Afridi levies have cooperated with police in maintaining order and the tribesmen in the city are taking a philosophical view of the situation. Not a shot has been fired.

The Haji of Trangzai is a mullah aged 73 who exercises considerable influence among the local tribes.

WHALEN'S RED DATA SOUGHT BY CAPITAL

House Immigration Committee Invites Him to Present Evidence of Soviet Activity.

DOCUMENTS ARE EXAMINED

Representative Fish's Proposed Inquiry Into Communist Activities Is Soon to Come Up.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Police Commissioner Grover Whalen of New York City was invited today to appear before the House Committee on Immigration and Naturalization to explain his charges of Communists' activities in this country, as another agency of Congress began to concern itself over the so-called "Red scare."

Commissioner Whalen was asked to appear Friday for an executive conference with the committee, at which it expects to reach some conclusion as to whether to continue with an investigation of its own on the immigration matters involved.

Representative Johnson of Washington, chairman of the committee, laid before the committee today copies of correspondence with Mr. Whalen, including photostatic copies of documents which the New York Police Commissioner has charged connected the Soviet Government and the Amtorg Trading Corporation, its commercial agency, with Communist activities in this country.

Assurance was practically given today by Representative Snell of New York, chairman of the Rules Committee, that the resolution of Representative Fish, also of New York, calling for a special Congressional investigation of all Communist activities and agencies in America, would soon be reported favorably.

Some changes, it is understood, have been made in the original Fish resolution, chief among them being to enlarge the appropriation so as to insure a wider inquiry.

The Fish resolution proposes the appointment of a committee of the House to be appointed by Speaker Longworth with authority and direction to go into the records and activities of "any and all" Communist agencies, organizations and publications in this country.

The Amtorg is one of the agencies listed in the resolution.

Whalen Accused Moscow.

Commissioner Whalen made public last Friday photostatic copies of documents purporting to prove that Moscow was responsible for Communist activities in the United States, and linking the Amtorg Trading Corporation, Soviet commercial agency in this country, with these activities.

The documents implicate the Amtorg as one of the channels through which American Communists maintain contact with and receive financial assistance from the Communist International, the Soviet agency for world revolution propaganda.

Peter A. Bogdanov, head of the Amtorg, and Boris E. Skvirsky, head of the Soviet Information Bureau in Washington, who were named in the documents, immediately denounced them as forgeries, and expressed the fear that they might "cause substantial damage to us and to the numerous American firms with which we are doing business."

Amtorg Officials Deny Charges.

The officials also made veiled threats of damage action against the Police Department, and in their letters to the commissioner offered their assistance in an investigation which they said would prove that

2 KILLED, 40 HURT IN RIOT IN MADRID

STONES THROWN FROM ROOF

Collegians Bombard Constabulary—Berenguer Warns Sharp Measures Will Follow.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MADRID, May 5.—Shooting occurred here today for the first time since the fall of the dictatorship.

The police fired into a crowd of rioting students and workers who had rushed to the assistance of the students in front of the medical school, killing one worker and wounding four others and three students. Another of the workmen died later in a hospital. Fourteen policemen were injured by heavy stones, and it is reported that a 6-year-old girl was seriously wounded by the police fire.

The riot was a sequel to the student strike of Saturday, which was held as a protest against the wounding by the police of students who went to the railroad station Friday to greet Professor Miguel de Unamuno on his return from exile.

Dynamite Reported Thrown.

Students are reported to have thrown two sticks of dynamite at the police from a window looking out upon the fighting after they had shouted to fellow-students to run clear. No explosion resulted, however. Premier Berenguer, after leaving a Cabinet conference tonight, said:

"There is no roof on the university. The students have ripped off every tile, and what it is all about I cannot discover."

The government later issued a communiqué saying it would continue its policy of enforcing order at all costs.

The fight outside the medical school at noon was one of several disturbances. At the law school, in another part of this capital, fourteen students who tried to imitate friends of theirs who nearly broke up the meeting at which Professor de Unamuno spoke last night, by shouting, "Long live King Alonzo!" were beaten badly. Police going to their assistance were stoned, Police Commandant Mola requiring hospital treatment.

As a result of these disturbances the board of directors and deacons of the Central University this afternoon decided to close the university indefinitely. The student unrest presents a serious problem for the government. The students caused Primo de Rivera considerable trouble and were one of the immediate causes of his downfall.

While it seems unlikely now that any very adverse reaction for the Berenguer Government will result, the Government will have to handle the situation with considerable care in order to prevent it from developing. Elias Tormo y Monso, Minister of Education, and the rector of Madrid University are expected to cause trouble in the Cabinet over the shooting of the students.

Professor Among Injured.

MADRID, May 5 (AP).—A clash today between the police and university students, who were a thorn in the side of the Primo de Rivera dictatorship for six years, brought the first deaths and serious bloodshed of the Berenguer régime. Two men were killed, both workmen. One was killed instantly by a stray shot during the fighting early this afternoon;

LEADER WILLING PRISONER

Expresses Gratitude for Comforts Provided in His Jail—Sends Letter to the Viceroy.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, May 5.—Armed forces, swiftly ordered into action, tonight became Great Britain's answer to India's turbulent factions.

While troops bivouacked in Indian cities, Mahatma Gandhi's followers prepared, despite his arrest and imprisonment, to press his campaign of civil disobedience.

With excitement and apprehension England surveyed the situation in her far-off domain. News from Bombay was scanned eagerly. Observers looked for information which would indicate the trend of the independence movement, which, with the arrest of Mr. Gandhi, passed to the leadership of Abbas Tyabji.

Karachi began to take on a warlike aspect. Into the city's heart trooped a detachment of East Lancashire soldiery. The arming of European bank and mercantile employes by the City Government began at once.

Through the city swarmed thousands of picketers, detailed to shops selling foreign cloth. These presently were displaced by companies of European and Indian troops. Mounted and foot police began to patrol Bombay, particularly in the turbulent mill area.

Machine-gun posts were established at prominent corners and upon roofs commanding prominent business and public edifices and sweeping thoroughfares through which it was felt disturbers might seek to make their way.

Schools and Colleges Close.

Schools and colleges closed soon after the news of Mr. Gandhi's arrest arrived, at about noon, according to advices from Lahore, where a day of mourning was declared.

The tense atmosphere which everywhere pervaded important centres tonight found a measure of vent at Bombay when 100,000 Gandhi supporters assembled in a mass meeting this evening to hear Tyabji, Mme. Sarioji Naidu and others exhort the loyal to a continuance of the struggle for independence. At early evening no reports of disturbances in this connection had been received.

While Bombay, in common with some other cities, was observing a "hartal" in sorrow over the arrest of the Mahatma, which was expected to continue through tomorrow, all shops belonging to Hindus and many owned by Moslems remained closed.

Mrs. Gandhi Keeps Up Fight.

Mrs. Gandhi continued fighting for her husband's cause today.

"I fervently hope India will show her mettle," she said, "and give a fitting reply to the government's unwarranted action."

At Jalalpur followers of Mr. Gandhi received copies today of his message to "Mother India," dictated at Dandi when rumors of his pending arrest were circulated. In the communication Mr. Gandhi says if an

Hottest Day of Year Here With Mercury at 85; Weather Near Record, With No Relief in Sight

Summer, which arrived ahead of schedule last Thursday, scored a maximum temperature yesterday of 85 degrees, which made the day the hottest of the year in New York and was within one degree of equaling the hottest May 5 on record, established in 1919 with 86 degrees. Two heat prostrations were reported.

The heat wave, which has shown no signs of abating since it began five days ago, is likely to remain today and possibly tomorrow, according to the local Weather Bureau. Continued warm weather and probably thundershowers was the forecast for today.

John Roth, 32 years old, of 575 East 139th Street, the Bronx, was overcome in front of 1,228 Morris Avenue, the Bronx. After being treated at Morrisania Hospital, he left for home. Another victim was Caleb Brown, 70 years old, of 504 West 145th Street. He was treated at Columbus Hospital.

The beaches were crowded. At Coney Island there were 75,000. Twenty-five extra policemen were required to assist the resort's regular force in handling automobile traffic.

The mercury reached its maximum at 5 P. M., having climbed from its low mark of 61 at 6 A. M. The day's average heat was 73 degrees, which was sixteen degrees warmer than it should have been, the normal average for the date being 57.

Early last evening officials of the Weather Bureau predicted that it would be "fair and warmer" during the night. However, at 9 P. M. the thermometer showed a reading of 81 degrees.

The mercury really started its 24-degree climb shortly after 7 o'clock yesterday morning. By 8 A. M. it had jumped from its 6 A. M. and 7 A. M. reading of 61 degrees to 63. In another hour it advanced 3 degrees. Between 9 A. M. and 10 A. M. it went up 10 degrees more and remained at 76 until 11 A. M. At noon it had reached 78. During the noon hour it climbed to 79 degrees. By 2 o'clock in the afternoon the thermometer read 81 degrees, and from then onward the weather grew warmer at the rate of a degree an hour until 5 P. M.

The mercury showed a drop of 2 degrees at 7 P. M., when it stood at 83. Between 8 P. M. and 9 P. M. it remained at 81 degrees. At 10 P. M. it had dropped to 78 degrees.

FIRES GAIN IN SOUTH JERSEY; OTHER AREAS WINNING FIGHT; HUNT FOR INCENDIARIES ON

18th Infantry Ready to Aid Towns Menaced by Fire

The Eighteenth United States Infantry of the First Division, at Camp Dix, N. J., is being held ready to aid any communities in that State menaced by forest fires. Target practice on the rifle range and other military features of the regular Summer encampment have been called off, so that the troops can be ready to respond to emergency calls at once.

Many individual soldiers, on week-end leaves near the camp, already have been pressed into service by fire wardens and have done excellent work. Some of them volunteered for the work, cheerfully foregoing their leaves for service on the fire lines.

RALLY LIFTS STOCKS AFTER ERRATIC DAY

Strong Opening Followed by a Sharp Break, but Most Issues Close Near Peak for Session.

8,272,260 SHARES HANDLED

Broker Houses Clogged in Fifth Heaviest Day in History—Tickers Hours Behind.

Torn by conflicting influences in the heaviest trading since last October, the stock market shifted yesterday spectacularly between weakness and strength, closing with a broad and vigorous rally. The New York Stock Exchange rolled up a volume of 8,272,260 shares, while the turnover on the Curb totaled 2,540,900 shares.

The upturn came in the last half hour of trading, when heavy buying orders came into the market and arrested a decline of sweeping proportions. Stocks turned sharply and started to retrace the ground that had been lost earlier in the day, and so impressive was the burst of strength that many issues were able to turn declines into substantial gains before the closing bell rang. The average price of representative stocks showed an appreciable improvement on the day.

Strong at Opening.

There was a demonstration of strength at the opening which led many to believe that the liquidation on Saturday had eliminated the market's weak spots. Shortly before noon, however, the selling was renewed and the market became badly unsettled. A flood of liquidating orders from the West struck the market around midday and this pressure, coupled with a new drive by bearish professionals, produced a precipitate decline in many stocks. The selling subsided for a brief period shortly after 1 o'clock, but gathered momentum later, the market being driven steadily lower.

Leading stocks were falling a point or more between transactions and had reached the bottom for the day when the rally got under way. That was at 2:30 o'clock. From then until the close stocks made rapid headway. The final prices in most instances were close to the peaks for the day.

Wall Street assumed at once that the late upswing was due to short covering, and it was plain that this

OCEAN COUNTY SUFFERS

Drought and Threat of Rising Wind Cause Wide Anxiety.

45 BLAZES ON LONG ISLAND

Suffolk Sheriff's Jury Opens Investigation—6 Arrested as Pyromaniacs in Jersey.

MANY FIRES IN OTHER STATES

Rhode Island, Connecticut and Pennsylvania Are Among Those Hard Hit.

Grass and brush fires raged with unabated vigor yesterday in the suburban areas of this city, but last night the fires appeared to be waning except in South New Jersey, where a shift of wind stimulated the smoldering patches and whipped flames along new paths. The threat of a freshening wind kept the fire-fighters in the affected zones anxious.

Many forest firest were ablaze last night outside the metropolitan area. Twenty-five of the fires, all but five under control, were in various parts of this State. Flames were still flaring outside Nashua, N. H., where 700 were homeless and the damage ran to $4,000,000; a forest was afire near Pollard, W. Va., threatening oil wells, and another was burning near Rockville, R. I. Fires were reported in central Pennsylvania, lower Delaware and at two points in Connecticut.

Fires were reported burning in fifteen New Jersey counties, with Ocean County hit the hardest. The battle against sixty fires throughout New Jersey was being waged by 35,000 weary firemen and volunteers, according to an unofficial estimate. Hundreds of structures had been razed by the flames, tens of thousands of acres denuded of timber and rich farming lands badly damaged. With no rain in sight, firemen said that the New Jersey fires might burn for weeks.

More than 2,000 acres of timber land were burned over in Westchester, and nearly 300 volunteers were aiding fire departments in combating the fires. The grass blazes were at Kensico Lake and between Pleasantville and Valhalla.

Forty-five Blazes on Long Island.

Reports to Albany indicated that at least forty-five fires were alight on Long Island, most of them small but of dangerous proportions. Acting Governor Herbert H. Lehman, on receipt of a summary of the Long Island situation, directed Conservation Commissioner Robert Moses to map a campaign to fight the epidemic of fires.

Clarence Dare, district forest ranger for Suffolk County, said that he was convinced many of the Long Island fires were incendiary. He declared there was every evidence of a "touch-off" at Manorville, L. I., where the big fire of Saturday had its start. District Attorney Alexander G. Blue of Suffolk impaneled a Sheriff's jury to investigate the fires in the county.

Staten Island, where 102 bungalows were burned on Sunday, was still fighting an undergrowth fire, which, however, barring brisker winds, seemed about to yield. The fires were near Rossville, Sandy Ground and Princes Bay. Smoldering embers at Oakwood Beach and at South Beach were being wet down by three engine companies to prevent a revival of Sunday's blaze.

Brophy Begins Inquiry.

After several small grass fires on Staten Island had been put out, Fire Marshal Thomas P. Brophy began an investigation. He hinted at prosecutions for criminal negligence if he obtained evidence to warrant actions.

"There are entirely too many of these fires," he said, "and we propose to make a thorough investigation of their origin. If we find that any person or group of persons has been responsible for these fires, we will prosecute them. We are looking for evidence of criminal negligence. Citizens should be taught not to light bonfires for the purpose of burning brush and small boys must be instructed to refrain from this kind of 'sport.' Campers, also, should not go away from a spot until they have made certain that the last vestige of fire has been extinguished. These are small matters in themselves, but frequently turn out to be very serious at this time of year, especially when there has been so little rain."

Police Commissioner Whalen ordered 200 mounted men and motorcyclists to patrol duty on Long Island and on Staten Island. They were instructed to watch for the start of grass or underbrush fires and to work under the fire wardens in charge of the various districts. Airplane pilots from the Newark Airport had orders to scan their routes for fires.

Lack of Rain Is Blamed.

Lack of rain was offered yesterday as an explanation for the many fires. This explanation held true in the pine belt of Southern New Jersey, where rain has not fallen in six weeks and where pine needles—highly inflammable—and grass have been dried crisp. Elsewhere it was reported that this Spring had been 50 per cent dryer than the average.

Having established a tentative reason why the fires spread so rapidly, the police in New Jersey began an effort to ascertain how the fires had started. Reports that incendiaries were at work flew thick and fast. Last night six men were under arrest charged with incendiarism. Five of the men, all New Yorkers, were arrested at Lakehurst and held in $1,000 bail each. The police said they had been seen leaving a wood where fire was later discovered. The sixth arrest was at Blackwood, N. J.

A serious aspect of the fight on Long Island developed late in the day. Several areas reported a shortage of water, and in several instances fire-fighters tackled the flames with fire extinguishers. Northport, L. I., reported that sections adjoining had used all the water in ponds and were seriously handicapped.

Fires gained headway on the west shore of the Hudson during the afternoon. One ate its way rapidly in the Palisades Interstate Park. A veer of the wind steered the flames in the direction of the United States Navy powder magazine at Iona Island, but a second shift diverted them from the direction of the island.

A second government property, the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J., was hemmed by burning grass on the south and the east, and sailors and marines, supplemented by infantrymen from Camp Dix, were aiding in the fight. Because of the great clearing which surrounds the reservation no fears were entertained that the fire might move toward the huge hangar of the Los Angeles.

Peril Worst in South Jersey.

A survey of the fire zones last night showed plainly that Southern Jersey was in the greatest danger of any of the territories affected. Rising winds in the evening started new fires or revived old ones, and calls were put in for reinforcements for the weary fire-fighters. Several fresh outbreaks near Hammonton, N. J., sent tired crews of firemen there, while nearly forty other blazes in Ocean, Atlantic, Burlington and Monmouth Counties were being patrolled.

Harried residents who had lost their homes or whose communities were being threatened by the flames faced another all-night vigil. Headquarters of the New Jersey Forest Fire Service at Trenton could see no relief in the situation either for last night or for today.

The first death in the south Jersey fire belt was recorded in the afternoon. George Thomas, 65 years old, a fire warden of Jenkins, collapsed while battling a stubborn blaze near Batso, about twenty-five miles below Mount Holly, and fell into the embers at his feet. He died of burns a short time afterward. Other fire-fighters, fatigued after many hours of steady work in the heat and smoke, were working with Thomas.

Shortly after Thomas's death, District Warden Edward Hendrickson of Lakewood was badly burned at Forked River. He was taken to the Lakewood Hospital.

Police patrolling the streets in Hammonton, Tuckerton and other towns near the fire area were ordering all idle persons to the scenes of the blazes to reinforce the tired crews already there. High school classes at Tuckerton were dismissed so that older boys could be pressed into service with the fire patrols. No sooner were the flames under control at one point than they would break out afresh in another place, demanding the immediate transfer of the exhausted volunteers to the new scene.

At 6 P. M., however, the wind shifted due north, swerving the flames away from Tuckerton and the residents, for the first time in two days, breathed freely. The fire burned rapidly into the pine woods surrounding the Tuckerton radio station, but it was generally felt that the extensive clearing surrounding the station would save it.

Turned away from Tuckerton, the fire advanced on the Forge district above the town, threatening the wide cranberry bogs. Additional volunteers were hurried to the spot to save the young crops.

Century-Old Church Saved.

Farmers and fruit growers in the southeastern and northern ends of Hammonton sent in calls for help as fires started anew in those districts. A brush fire that started in the northern outskirts of the town spread eastward toward Westcottsville, Meso and Pleasant Mills. Crews consisting of hundreds of men and boys who had been on the job almost continually since Friday saved the Westcottsville Methodist Episcopal Church, a century-old institution.

Piney Hollow, two miles from Newtonville, a town of 150 residents, was in the direct path of the flames late in the day and the Hammonton fire company hurried to the place. A fire being fought by 200 men at Nesco, near Pleasant Mills, got out of control later, and shifting winds sent the flames into Burlington County. A bulletin issued by the Forest Fire Service at Trenton said of the situation at Nesco:

"The wardens, their crews and helpers, although well organized, are putting up a hard fight against great odds. Twenty new fires have started in Ocean, Burlington, Monmouth and Atlantic Counties. At Cassville, near Lakewood, fire has crossed the tracks of the Central Railroad of New Jersey and is threatening South Lakewood.

"The fire of Sunday, which swept from Jackson's Mills to Smithburg, is now burning around Bennett's Mills and threatening Lakewood."

Toms River also was being threatened, but Division Warden John A. Thornburg, Section Warden Erwin J. Clements and 200 helpers appeared to be keeping the blaze from advancing nearer the town.

Last night the fire-fighters reported that the fire which was making its way toward Toms River was burning fiercely. They said that fifty homes had been burned at South Toms River because of lack of water. Fourteen homes at Silverton were destroyed before water could be reached, the firemen said.

Hose lines were stretched 4,000 feet to the Metedeconk River and saved Silverton. The fire was finally diverted into the pine belt and away from the town itself. Firemen said late last night there appeared to be little danger that the fire would reach Lakewood.

More than 150 men, including about sixty from the Coast Guard stations and fifty from the naval air station, were patrolling the fire which started near Cassville, burned close to the station at Lakehurst and swept about 12,000 acres.

Phone Service Disrupted.

Telephone service was disrupted over part of the stricken area. The Taunton Lakes fire, which started near Jackson, not far from the Burlington-Camden County line, broke out afresh and a crew of 100 men was rushed to the scene. Fifty men were combating a fire which had burned 1,500 acres and was threatening Smithburg. From Piney Hollow, west of Hammonton, came the report that the fire which had laid waste 10,000 acres of pine and oak from Cecil to Weymouth in Atlantic County had started up against Section Warden Earl Brown, with ten local wardens and 300 men were fighting the blaze. Another fire started about six miles from Barnegat but volunteers who hurried there immediately got it under control.

Included in the losses in South Jersey so far are the following, more than twenty homes, a church and hotel at Forked River, Ocean County; eight homes, two barns and more than a score of farm buildings in Monmouth; three homes, two garages and several farm buildings at Oakhurst; three homes at Sicklersville; a cranberry packing plant, sawmill and several houses at Johnson Place, Burlington County; seven Summer bungalows at Clementon, and an inn and home at Allaire.

Lanoka Harbor, seven miles south of Toms River, was threatened for a time by the flames, driven by a stiff wind, but fire companies from neighboring towns concentrated there and saved the town from destruction. The blaze then headed for Pinewald, three miles south, and the fire fighters hurried there.

Batsto Appears in Danger.

Later reports to the forest fire service at Trenton indicated that 7,500 acres of land near Nesco and Pleasant Mills had taken fire after the wind shift of the late afternoon. There have been widespread areas of fire in that section since Friday when the fires began, and last night the flames had crossed the Batsto Lakes into Burlington County. The village of Batsto, directly in the path of the creeping flame, appeared to be in great danger. Homes were being evacuated, it was reported.

Fire was shooting back over a burned-out pathway and into new routes at Jackson Mills. The change of wind caught this fire as it was approaching the Camden-Burlington County line. It swung back into the outskirts of Smithville which suffered greatly in Sunday's fire, and ignited timber over an area of 6,000 acres. This backward running fire was one of the threats to Lakewood.

A fire company went from Camden to Medford, Burlington County, which was threatened last night by fire.

Fires had destroyed five homes on Whitesville Road near Lakewood and three homes south of Lakehurst, and were threatening the palatial home of J. M. McCarty, retired dye manufacturer of Philadelphia, which is on a $1,000,000 estate at Piney Hollow. Several refugee camps were established in the stricken areas and Red Cross units from Camden, Atlantic City and Newark were in Ocean County to take charge of relief work.

At Forked River the fire's course shifted from the east to the southeast. The fire last night was headed back toward Beachwood and Toms River. Reinforcements were hurried into the Beachwood zone.

Troopers on duty at the Sharks River barracks of the State Police reported that grass and brush blazes were closing in on the towns of Cassville and Glendale in Monmouth County. A freak of the fire at Cassville was that it was burning high in trees and was leaping from limb to limb. The flames had crossed the tracks of the Central Railroad of New Jersey and were running along the ground toward South Lakewood. Citizens of South Lakewood and firemen from Lakewood itself were laying a "back-fire" to halt the approaching flames.

The first aid squad of the Fire Department of Wanamassa, N. J., near Asbury Park, was called to the fire-fighters south of Lakewood, about thirty miles away, last night to give first aid to men suffering from exposure and burns, after a shortage of medical equipment had been reported from the fire zone.

The firemen from Lakewood had gone to Forked River when flames began driving toward Dr. Paul Kimball's Hospital on the edge of Lakewood. Calls for fire apparatus brought no response, and when the citizens learned that the apparatus was at Forked River they turned out en masse and halted the fire about 500 feet from the hospital.

Fire Front of 42 Miles.

State Fire Warden Leonidas Coyle, landing last night at Asbury Park for a brief rest after a day spent in an airplane flying over the burning areas, said that the fire front in Ocean and Monmouth Counties extended for forty-two miles. He said that 109 buildings had been destroyed and that 45,000 acres had been laid waste. He estimated that 62,000 acres throughout the State had been burned over.

He reported that the black-smudged fire-fighters were exhausted and were suffering intensely from the combination of an unusually warm May day and the heat from the fires. At Forked River thermometers registered 101 degrees. At Batsto, where Warden Thomas collapsed, the heat was 103 degrees.

At Old Bridge, N. J., 500 acres on the estate of F. R. Guggenheim, of this city, were in flames and many game birds had been killed. Mr. Coyle said that a pall of smoke hung continuously over the fire zones and that the men combating the fires were suffering from throat ailments and from inflamed eyes. State Troopers had blocked off many highways and motorists who had come from New York or Philadelphia for the spectacle were being turned back in many places.

Wind Shift Spares Waretown.

Waretown, in the pine belt, was threatened for hours yesterday. More than 3,000 men were engaged in fighting the approaching flames when the wind shift saved the town. The shift, however, did not serve Silvertown, a town in Ocean County, so well and the fires there leaped to renewed fury as the wind gained in velocity. Warden Coyle issued a call to all coastal communities to send as much fire apparatus as could be spared to hold the fire at Silverton. The firemen were gaining on this blaze last night.

While Coyle was telephoning the police of Englishtown reported that J. R. Palmer, a butcher, had informed them that he had seen two men jump into an automobile near Robertsville after setting fire to brush at the roadside. This fire swept southward to Gordon's Corners and thence to the Guggenheim game farm. Fire-fighters in Ocean County reported that they had seen two men in an automobile throwing burning paper into the brush. The firemen were unable to get near enough to the machine to get the license number, the machine speeding away as the firemen ran toward it.

Many sporadic fires in Morris County were reported. A loss of $50,000 was reported from Neptune where a 19-room house, seven barns and a number of sheds were burned on the farm of Walter Fletcher.

Fire raged around the $250,000 home of Arthur Brisbane, editor, at Allaire, but did not reach the house itself. Camp Dorton, a Boy Scout camp on the Brisbane estate of 2,500 acres, was threatened for a time, but escaped when the wind changed.

The Monmouth County Tubercular Hospital at Allenwood was imperiled during the day when fire crept into the driveway leading into the grounds. Firemen from Allenwood made short work of this blaze, however.

Fire-fighters from sixteen communities were holding back fire on a five-mile front between Shark River and Farmingdale. The direction of this blaze was toward Barnegat Bay. Meanwhile grass fires near Mount Holly and near Lambertville were brought under control.

A pall of smoke two miles wide and seven miles long hung over the burning areas between Charlottesburg and Butler, the latter in Passaic County. In that territory forty-one small fires were burning.

Fires in Warren County were reported at many points. A brush blaze worked its way to the outskirts of Oxford and threatened buildings in School Street. When the flames were within seventy-five feet of the buildings the wind-shift saved them.

Game Warden John Crowley reported that virtually every bird on the State Game Preserve, near Asbury Park, had been killed by smoke. He said that seven outbuildings on the grounds had been burned. Many South Jersey poultry farms lost heavily.

Inquiry Ordered in Suffolk.

Meanwhile many fires were reported from points on Long Island.

After District Fire Ranger Dare had reported that he was convinced most of the fires in Suffolk County were of incendiary origin, District Attorney Alexander G. Blue ordered the Sheriff's jury impaneled to investigate the lumber yard fire in Amityville last Saturday night, to extend its investigation to the brush fires. The District Attorney also asked State and local police to keep a sharp lookout for pyromaniacs, and during the afternoon several suspects were taken to Riverhead and questioned. None was held, however.

About 3 P. M., a new fire started near King's Park and for a time threatened to sweep the United States Veterans' Hospital at Fort Solanga. As soon as Mr. Dare was notified of the danger he mustered a force of 100 State Park employes, and calling to their aid four fire departments from surrounding towns, set to work to check the blaze. They diverted it from the hospital, which was unscathed, but fanned by a stiff northwest breeze the fire was sweeping toward Smithtown last night, still beyond control. On the outskirts of Smithtown it destroyed a two-story five-car garage owned by Wesley Hallock Sr., and a smaller garage owned by his son, Wesley Jr. It also burned down two Summer bungalows near the Winwood School for Boys at Lake Grove and threatened, at one time, to destroy the school. All pupils were ordered out of the school buildings but the fire passed near by and did not touch the buildings.

After the safety of the Veterans' Hospital was assured Mr. Dare requested Henry Repper, in charge of the State Park employes, to put his force to work trying to prevent the flames from spreading to woodlands of the Sunken Meadow State Park, which is directly in the path of the fire.

Just after nightfall yesterday Mr. Dare was informed that another fire had started near Quogue. The local fire fighters were at work but the blaze was reported as making rapid headway.

The grass fire at Flanders, two miles southeast of Riverhead Village, grew worse last night and swept over a large unoccupied house owned by the Riverhead Estates. It drove the tenants out of the home of Fred C. Havens, although it did not quite reach the house, then rolled on toward the Herman May estate, where it destroyed a large barn before backfiring checked it. Last night the firemen were devoting their efforts to preventing the wall of fire from leaping the Flanders Road, because on the opposite side are the groups of buildings that compose the Frank M. Corwin duck farm, where more than 40,000 ducks are kept.

Bay Shore in Peril for a Time.

A fire starting at Pineaire, L. I., near Bay Shore, early yesterday afternoon swept over an area of more than 7,000 acres and completely destroyed six houses and three garages in Brightwaters, L. I, and a Summer hotel of three stories, valued at more than $75,000, in Brentwood, L. I. For a time the fire threatened the entire northern part of the prosperous village of Bay Shore. It also raced across the countryside toward the New York State Hospital for the Insane at Central Islip, where it was stopped only because the ground around the hospital had been burned over last Saturday.

Bay Shore was saved when a sudden shift in the wind at 3:30 o'clock drove the fire back toward the north, but not before the entire northern part of Brightwaters had been devastated. Firemen from the six villages of Islip, Central Islip, East Islip, Islip Terrace, Bay Shore and Brentwood were mobilized. They found themselves handicapped because there was no water.

Two forest fires were reported burning in the vicinity of Riverhead, one about a mile from the business section of the town and within a half-mile of the Radio Corporation of America's large receiving and transmitting station. Engineers at the station said that there was little if any danger of interference in the reception or transmission because of the distance of the wires from the ground. There was, however, some danger to the land cables.

Several small fires were reported to have been extinguished at Camp Upton by members of the Coast Artillery from Fort Totten, who are now having their Spring target practice on the range there.

The report of a water shortage came from Northport, L. I., where the most serious fire began at 11 A. M. in timber land between Northport and Kings Park. The Summer home of Laughlin McLaughlin of this city was burned with a loss of $20,000. A fire truck of the East Northport company was destroyed, with a loss of $3,000. Efforts of the firemen to "back-fire" the flames failed, as sparks were carried to dry grass and many small fires started.

Watershed Property Burned.

A brisk wind was hampering the men fighting the fires in northern Westchester County. About 1,000 acres on the New York City watershed property on the north shore of Kensico Lake had been burned over, destroying tool sheds as well. Many valuable trees were destroyed in the fire, which swept timber between Valhalla and Poundridge. Officials at the water supply station at Kensico estimated that 10,000 trees had been burned on the city reservation.

Game Warden George Petrie was overcome by smoke as he directed the work of combatting the fire near South Salem. Petrie was trying to lay a back-fire to permit the escape of deer and small game. Estates which were menaced but which escaped included those of State Senator Stanley C. Mastick and J. S. Browning, New York clothing merchant.

Volunteer fire departments engaged in fighting the Westchester fires came from Valhalla, Hawthorne, Mount Pleasant, Pleasantville, Chappaqua, South Salem, North Salem, Poundridge, Mount Kisco and Bedford. The Summer colony at Lake Waccabuc, as well as many country homes near Pleasantville, were threatened during the late afternoon, the danger diminishing as the wind velocity decreased with sunset.

Having fought twenty-one forest fires on Sunday and yesterday, of which one on Horse Chock Mountain in Ladentown was still raging on a one-mile front last night, attendants of the Palisades Interstate Park System announced that they had subdued one that had begun to menace the great government explosive works and arsenal of the United States naval station on Iona Island in Peekskill.

When the fire swept into the dried-out marshes on the mainland west of Iona Island, Major W. A. Welch, chief engineer and general manager of the park system, hurried fifteen park policemen, forest rangers and workmen into the marshes. They checked the flames that were working toward the narrow creek that separates the arsenal from the mainland on a quarter-of-a-mile front.

Relief on Staten Island.

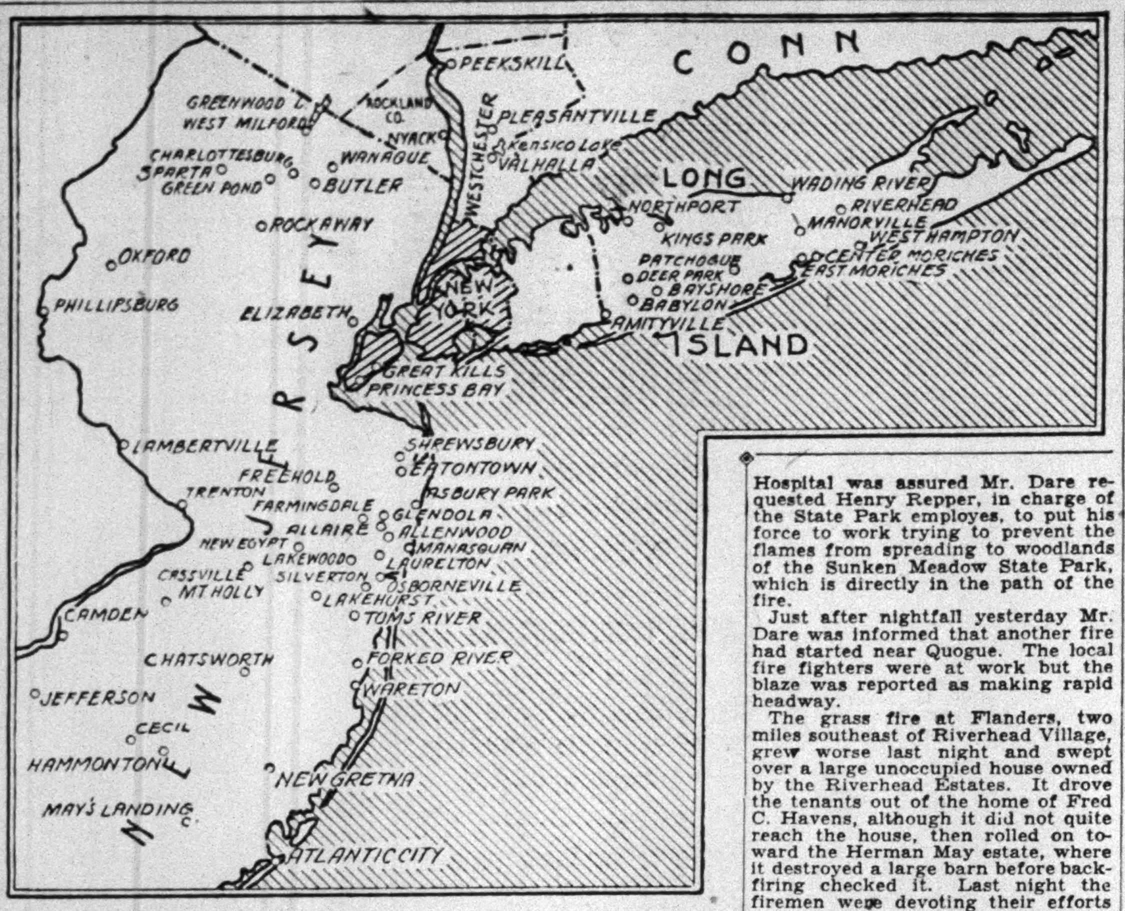
Staten Island took a breathing spell yesterday after forty-eight hours of exhaustive fighting with the fires that blackened broad areas in Rossville, South Beach, Princes Bay, Sandy Ground, Annadale and Oakwood Beach. There were seventeen small brush fires yesterday in various parts of the island, but local apparatus was sufficient in each case to prevent them from spreading.

The fire apparatus called from Brooklyn and Manhattan on Sunday to help the Staten Island crews remained on duty all night, but at 2:30 A. M. yesterday, when the wind had died down, Deputy Fire Chief Mahoney, in charge of Staten Island, decided there was no further need for outside help. The men and apparatus from the other boroughs returned to their home stations on early boats.

A check-up on damage at Oakwood Beach, Summer bathing resort, showed that 102 bungalows had been destroyed, instead of only 82, as indicated by the Sunday count. R. C. Fox, owner of the properties, announced that he would immediately start rebuilding. Seven cottages, five barns and two garages were burned in Rossville.

Deputy Chief Mahoney inspected the fire-swept area yesterday and found that there was still some danger from sparks in the smoldering heaps. He kept men on guard all day and night, to prevent the flames from getting new headway. He was unable to learn what had started the fires on Saturday, but leaned to the theory that it was caused by some one dropping a lighted cigar or cigarette in dry grass.

Staten Island policemen throughout the entire community were told to keep a sharp watch for property owners burning waste or brush without a permit and were ordered to arrest any one attempting to make a fire in the open. The police officials emphasized the need for strict enforcement of the statute which makes it a misdemeanor for an individual to set fire to brush without a permit.



LOCATION OF THE BRUSH FIRES NEAR NEW YORK.

Places named on the map are either the scene of or near the fires that have ravaged thousands of acres in the past three days, excepting New York City, Trenton and Atlantic City.

LEHMAN ACTS TO DRAFT LONG ISLAND FIRE PLAN

Asks Moses to Prepare System of Aid by State Employes to Local Firemen.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 5.—Acting Governor Lehman requested Robert Moses, president of the Long Island State Park Commission, today to prepare a plan for an emergency fire-fighting force on Long Island which will bring about the cooperation of the district rangers, State park employes and Highway employes with local companies and officials. The action was prompted by the large number of forest fires in various sections of the State, the Acting Governor said.

Fire trucks and towers are needed in the State parks, he declared. In his statement he said:

"A combination of drought, heat and high winds has resulted in serious fires and brush fires. The metropolitan district has been hard hit, and even New York City has been affected. The worst damage outside of Staten Island seems to have been suffered on Long Island, particularly Suffolk County. One of the State parks was considerably hurt; others were threatened, and several small fires have broken out within the State parkways.

"The State, in a general way, supervises fire-fighting outside of cities and incorporated villages. On Long Island a peculiar problem is presented because of the large number of villages and local fire companies, the numbers of people who visit the unincorporated areas, especially over week-ends, and the sandy soil and great area of scrub oak and pines which have been burned over year after year and present the greatest possible fire hazard.

"It is clear from the experience of last week-end that additional equipment such as towers and fire trucks are needed in the State parks and we are studying ways and means of obtaining these as soon as possible. In the meantime an emergency force will be employed to direct and report fires.

"I have asked the president of the Long Island State Park Commission, Robert Moses; the superintendent of lands and forests, William D. Howard, and Joseph A. Darcy, division engineer of the Department of Public Works, to prepare a plan for an emergency fire-fighting force on Long Island outside of New York City which will bring about the cooperation of the district rangers, State park employes and highway employes with local companies and officials."

The Conservation Department today reported forty-five fires, several of them serious, over the week-end. Two were in the southeastern Adirondacks; eight in the southern Adirondacks; five in the Orange-Rockland section; ten on Long Island; four in Dutchess, Putnam and Westchester Counties, and six in Rensselaer, Saratoga, Washington and Columbia Counties.

All the fires are reported under control excepting one at Orangeburg, Orange County; one near Salisbury's Mills, Orange County; one near Fishkill; one near Suffern, Rockland County, and one at Copake, in Columbia County.

Most of the fires were along the roadside and were caused, the conservation officials said, by the tossing of lighted cigar and cigarette stubs from automobiles. The fire danger throughout the State is still serious, according to officials.

FIRE REKINDLED AT NYACK.

All Men of District Summoned to Battle Flames in Park Area.

Special to The New York Times.

NYACK, N. Y., May 5.—Thousands of deer, woodchuck and snakes were driven from woodland shelters to roads and open fields today by the forest fire which is ravaging 1,000 acres of the Palisades Interstate Park property and adjoining mountainous sections. Seemingly under control last evening after a day's fight by 500 firemen, the flames broke free when a high wind came up at midnight.

All the men in the district capable of serving were called back from their homes to fight the fire and women organized to distribute sandwiches and coffee to them. In parts of the section State troopers were sent out to draft all men loitering in the villages.

From Letchworth Village, State home for the feeble-minded, word came tonight that Horsechoke Mountain has been back-fired successfully to protect the village. Eight men were trapped while setting a back-fire there and were forced to run a fire gauntlet. All escaped without serious burns.

Fire wardens and park employes fought the flames with five-gallon knapsack tanks, from which they sprayed water obtained from springs. Chemicals and brooms also were used, and where possible water was pumped from reservoirs and creeks.

Many residents in this section believe that some of the fires were incendiary in origin. Officials, however, are more inclined to believe that the fires were caused by early campers and picnickers.

So far little building damage has been done outside of barns and sheds. Two open type sleeping shelters were destroyed in the Boy Scout camp, Winaki.

$300,000 Fire Loss in Monte Vista.

MONTE VISTA, Col., May 5 (AP).—A fire that ravaged the principal business block of Monte Vista, causing an estimated damage of $300,000, was under control today. A company of national guardsmen was called out to patrol the streets and prevent looting. A violent wind storm spread the flames and for hours the blaze defied the efforts of the Monte Vista Fire Department, augmented by the department from Alamosa and more than 200 volunteer fire-fighters.

MILLION FUND ASKED FOR NASHUA RELIEF

Appeal of Mayor of Fire-Swept New Hampshire City Says That 1,500 Are Homeless.

LOSS $4,000,000, IDLE 600

Chief Suffering Falls on Workers Who Lost All—Two Attempts at Incendiarism Foiled.

Special to The New York Times.

NASHUA, N. H., May 5.—Mayor William H. Sullivan today issued a country-wide appeal for a million dollar relief fund for the sufferers from yesterday's conflagration which tonight was officially declared to have destroyed 260 buildings, made 1,500 persons homeless, thrown 600 workers out of employment and caused damage estimated at $4,000,000.

The fire devastated area of two miles was deserted tonight, for with the last embers stamped out and the city police again in control, the National Guard units were withdrawn after twenty-four hours of patrol duty under orders to shoot to kill following the appearance of fire bugs and two attempts at incendiarism during the night.

While the first official relief moves turned to providing temporary shelter for the homeless and, in many cases, destitute citizens, Mayor Sullivan named a committee of 200 citizens to speed the work of permanent rehabilitation, while issuing his general appeal for help.

"Nashua has suffered a tremendous loss for a small city, estimated at over $4,000,000," he said. "The fire took place in an industrial area occupied largely by working men's homes and underwriters estimate the fire loss to workingmen and women at more than $2,000,000, less than half of which is covered by insurance.

"This means that the net loss to the workingmen and women of our city is more than $1,000,000. Our industries and factories have suffered a great loss and we hope that these will be rebuilt and rehabilitated by those most interested. Our city engineer reports 260 homes destroyed and 1,500 made homeless by Sunday's fire.

"We need help in money, food, clothing, furniture and employment for an army of men and women who yesterday were enjoying comfort and had work and who today own nothing but a few clothes on their backs and the holes that mark where their homes once stood. We need $1,000,000 to put these people on their feet and not a cent of this money will go to rebuild a factory, church or industrial plant, but to replace the personal losses of our citizens. We have received many offers of assistance and all such offers will be gratefully accepted. Make checks payable to Nashua Relief Committee, Henry A. Gregg, treasurer."

By nightfall tonight, organized relief agencies were coordinating and every homeless man, woman and child had been taken into a house and made comfortable.

Long after the conflagration had been checked last night an attempt was made to fire the Union Hotel and an hour later a fire of suspicious origin started in the McGlynn Bottling Works.

STILL BLAZE IN RHODE ISLAND.

Fire Fighters Return to Battle After 24-Hour Effort.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 5 (AP).—Hundreds of weary men, many of whom had been fighting for twenty-four continuous hours to subdue a half-dozen of the most destructive fires that this State has experienced, went back into the battle at 10 o'clock this morning when the Rockville blaze in the southwest part of the State, brought under control early this morning, broke out anew and shortly before noon was completely out of hand.

All last night the fighting forces, recruited up to 1,500 by dawn, battled the Rockville blaze and another greater fire which swept over the town of Richmond and laid waste twenty-five square miles of wood and brush land. Firemen, State road laborers and volunteers prevented the destruction of several towns and villages, but eight homes were razed and thousands of acres of valuable woodland, one tract alone being worth $30,000, were destroyed.

Only by setting back fires were the villages of Usquepaugh and Rockville and the town of Richmond, where the flames burned to within a few hundred feet of the Town Hall, saved. The Richmond blaze was under control at noon today, but still was burning.

State officials emphasize that the menace will be present until heavy rain falls. The woods have been closed to hunters and fishermen by proclamation of acting Governor Slocum.

CONNECTICUT AREAS WASTED.

Sailors From New London Submarine Base Aid Fire Fighters.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 5.—Forest fires in Eastern Connecticut in the last forty-eight hours have caused thousands of dollars loss and at a late hour tonight were still burning in some sections.

The more serious fires were in the Briar Hill and Gungywump sections of Croton, in Mountville and Waterford and also in Ledyard, North Stonington and Preston.

Early this morning a woods surrounding Crystal Lake, three miles northeast of the submarine base, was ablaze and the flames rapidly spreading. In response to a call for help sixty sailors were dispatched to the lake. This afternoon fifty more sailors were sent there.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 5 (AP).—All available men in Glastonbury and East Hampton today were drafted to fight a forest fire which raged unchecked overnight and spread into a thick growth of standing timber between Marlborough and Glastonbury. A force of nearly a thousand men, including students and a National Guard detail from Hartford, was pressed into service last night.

Hundreds were fighting a serious fire on Mount Riga, just over the New York State line between Sharon and Millerton, N. Y. All timber on the mountain was threatened. A breeze hampered men who were battling with another serious blaze along Skigg Mountain, southwest of Kent.

COLLEGE BUILDINGS BURN NEAR OLEAN

St. Bonaventure's Seminary, Monastery and Church Razed With $400,000 Loss.

STRONG WIND FANS FLAMES

Low Pressure Hampers Firemen From Many Towns—Priests and Students Aid in Battle.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 5 (AP).—Fire, believed to have started from a short circuit in the wiring in the top floor of the monastery at St. Bonaventure's College, west of Olean, this afternoon destroyed the monastery, the seminary and St. Bonaventure's Church, with a loss estimated at $400,000. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

The three buildings which were destroyed composed the general group on the campus, being arranged in the form of an open quadrangle, with the church in the centre, the monastery on the west and the seminary on the east. The structures were of brick, about eighty years old, the monastery and seminary being four stories in height.

The blaze started in the room of one of the brothers on the fourth floor of the monastery and was not discovered until flames were bursting through the roof. The blaze was noticed by students assembled to watch the school baseball team practicing in McGraw-Jennings Field on the campus.

A strong wind blowing from the south spread the flames swiftly through the monastery, into the church and on to the seminary. The interior woodwork blazed like tinder, and even the old brick fell with incredible rapidity before the flames.

Students, priests and other instructors in the school organized a fire-fighting brigade within a few minutes after the blaze was discovered and succeeded in saving valuable vestments and altar furnishings from the church. The loss, however, included prized paintings and books which never can be replaced.

Salamanca and Olean fire-fighting equipment was on the scene in a short time, but the water pressure was so low that the firemen fought under great handicap. The college is supplied from the Allegany village water system.

Fire companies from the villages of Bolivar, Cuba, Little Valley, Limestone, Portville, Allegany, Duke Center and Ceres also joined the battle. Pumpers from Salamanca and Cuba were hooked on campus hydrants and also connected with the swimming pool in Butler Gymnasium to increase the pressure.

By 6:30 o'clock the blaze was under control, although the wreckage of the church, seminary and monastery was still in flames.

St. Bonaventure's, founded by the Order of Franciscans, has a registration of about 1,100 students.

THREE FIRES IN DUTCHESS.

One Threatens Village of Dover Plains, Another Burns in 3 States.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., May 5.—Three forest fires were raging in Dutchess County today. The most serious was in the East Mountains, where a fire originating near Kent, Conn., had burned over a six-mile area and was bearing down on the village of Dover Plains. Firemen from Amenia and Dover Plains were working to check the spread of the flames.

In Southern Dutchess County the Fishkill Mountains were flaming anew, and one roadstand on the Albany Post Road was burned. Locust Vue Inn, south of Fishkill, was saved by backfiring.

In Northern Dutchess County fire that originated in the Taconic range of the Berkshires had spread to the Alandar Mountains. This fire burned in three States, New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts, but as yet no buildings have been burned. More than 100 men under fire wardens are combating the flames.

LOSS PUT AT $20,000,000.

Fires Have Devastated 300,000 Acres in New England.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 5.—The legions that have fought incessantly the 15,000 blazes reported in the last three weeks see prolonged rain as the only means of ending the most devastating series of fires New England has ever known.

With a roughly estimated damage of more than $20,000,000, 300,000 acres have been blackened.

Hardly a country town has escaped. Massachusetts alone, according to State Fire Warden N. C. Hutchins, has sufffered from 2,100 fires which have ruined 60,000 acres of brush and timberlands. Only a steady week of rain will drench the timber dry areas and bring relief to harassed and weary fire fighters, he said. Large tracts of timber valued at $150 an acre have been leveled.

Twentyfires raged within a ten-mile radius of Worcester yesterday while ninety-five others of a less serious nature were reported in the Bay State.

200 FIRES IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Two-Day Forest Ravages Are Record in Fifteen-Year Average.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 5 (AP).—About 200 forest fires have swept Pennsylvania in the past two days, bringing the total for the year to more than 2,000. This is a figure 40 per cent greater than the average for the corresponding period in the past fifteen years, according to the State Department of Forests and Waters.

Of the 200 fires about fifteen were still burning today, though for the most part they were well under control. The majority of the fires occurred in the southern and southeastern portion of the State, and the department officials accounted for this with the statement that several showers which swept over the northern portion of the State last week probably dampened the woods enough to serve as a fire preventive.

Most of the fires were 100-acre and 200-acre fires and only a small minority were in the 1,000-acre class.

$60,000 FIRE AT KEARNY.

Apparatus of Three Towns Fights Flames Which Wreck Three Houses.

Special to The New York Times.

KEARNY, N. J., May 5.—Three houses were destroyed, two others badly damaged and half a dozen scorched by a fire which required the combined efforts of the Kearny, North Arlington and Belleville Fire Departments to subdue it here this afternoon. The damage was estimated at between $60,000 and $100,000.

The fire started in a newly completed house at 6 Livingston Avenue, in the Fairlawn Manor section, and spread to the homes of Frank Demirjiam, at 4 Livingston Avenue, and Robert Donnelly, at 8. All three were wrecked by the flames, while the homes of Harold Carey and Robert Robolin, at 3 and 5 Clinton Avenue, were badly damaged by fire and water.

Firemen Joseph Smith and Frank Champignon of the North Arlington force were thrown from a ladder when the nozzle of their hose burst. They were taken to West Hudson Hospital, where it was found Smith had suffered a fracture of the breastbone and Champignon was severely bruised.

STORES AFIRE IN UNION CITY.

General Alarm Sounded — Flames Menace Neighborhood.

A general alarm, summoning all fire apparatus in Union City, N. J., was sounded last night when fire started in a three-story building at 511 Hackensack Road, occupied by the David Rome Furniture Company, a group of stores and a Chinese restaurant.

The fire was discovered just after 11 P. M., and by the time apparatus arrived in answer to the first alarm the entire interior of the building was in flames. Additional alarms and finally a general alarm were sounded, but the blaze burned stubbornly. Firemen got the blaze under control shortly after midnight.

The flames mounted high above the roof, showering the neighborhood with sparks and embers. Police reserves were called to hold back the crowds.

TO INVESTIGATE PIER FIRE.

Naval Board Will Start Hearings Today on Hampton Roads Blaze.

NORFOLK, Va., May 5 (AP).—A board of inquiry to investigate the cause of the fire last night which destroyed Pier 7 at the Hampton Roads naval operating base was appointed today by Rear Admiral Burrage, Commandant of the Fifth Naval District. The board will meet tomorrow morning.

The loss was estimated at $500,000, and in addition considerable damage was done to the tugs Catawba and Kaywadin and two oil barges, which were moored alongside the structure when the fire broke out. The pier had just been reconditioned at a cost of $210,000 and was to have berthed the aircraft carrier Lexington tomorrow.

BILL TO OUST FIREMEN AT 62 INCENSES KENLON

Chief at 69 Routs Its Backers, Who Come to His Office to Seek His Aid.

The light of battle kindled in the eyes of Fire Chief John Kenlon yesterday when a delegation of firemen headed by Battalion Chief Edward F. Connolly of Jamaica came to his office in the Municipal Building and asked him to approve a tentative draft of a bill that would compel all members of the department to retire when they reach 62 years of age. At present there is no age limit. Retirement is compulsory only for men physically disabled.

Chief Kenlon is in his seventieth year, but is still active head of the fire-fighting forces of New York in the field. Many of the deputies serving under him are not much younger. He appeared to have this in mind as he glanced over the bill and presently he looked up, with narrowed eyes, at the battalion chief, the captain and the lieutenant who had presented it.

"What would we accomplish by such a bill as you propose?" he asked quietly.

"We want to inject new blood into the department," mumbled one of the delegation. "We want new ideas."

"Did you ever present an idea for improvement of the Fire Department?" Chief Kenlon asked the battalion chief.

"No."

Swiftly the same question was hurled at the other members of the department and in each case the answer was the same. Then Chief Kenlon cut loose.

"I think," he said, "that you come here in poor grace. Did you know that the United States Army and the United States Navy do not retire their officers until they are 64? And the rule is not enforced in time of war? Isn't the Fire Department always at war?

"Did the German people retire Von Hindenburg when he was past 60? Didn't they call him back when he was past eighty? And how old was Blücher at Waterloo?"

There was no answer.

"I think," said Chief Kenlon after a moment of silence, that your motive in coming here with this bill was entirely selfish; that you are thinking only of creating jobs for yourselves by forcing the department to get rid of the best men in its service—men who have brains and experience and who know how to fight fires."

The bill was not approved.

SACHEMS CONTINUE VOORHIS

Tammany Chiefs Refuse for 18th Time to Depose Him as Their Head.

John R. Voorhis, the century old Grand Sachem of the Tammany Society, was continued in that position for another year by the Sachems of the society last night. The by-laws of the society prevent the re-election of a Grand Sachem, but Mr. Voorhis was continued for the eighteenth year by the failure of the Sachems to elect anybody else.

A meeting of the society for the installation of officers preceded the meeting of the Sachems. District Attorney Crain and Surrogate Foley were inducted as Sachems with the following:

John F. Curry
Dr. Thomas Darlington
Daniel E. Finn
Francis D. Gallatin
Louis F. Haffen

Robert L. Luce
Thomas F. McAvoy
George W. Olvany
Daniel L. Ryan
Alfred E. Smith
Henry W. Unger

Willis Holly was installed as secretary, Edwin W. Sohmer as treasurer, George F. Kreykenbohm as sagamore and Hubert Kelly as wiskinkie.

CONVENTION OF RABBIS OPENS AT LAKEWOOD

Two Hundred From Several Countries Present—Air Urged for Small Communities.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., May 5.—The twenty-seventh annual convention of the Union of Orthodox Rabbis began here today. More than 200 delegates from the United States, Canada and Europe attended.

Rabbi Eliazar Silver of Springfield, Mass., president of the union, opened the convention. He reviewed the activities of the union for the past year and made recommendation for strengthening the influence of the Orthodox rabbinate and to make the place of the Orthodox synagogue more secure in American Jewish life. Among his recommendations was a measure to supply outlying communities in the Middle and Far West with spiritual Orthodox leadership, with the stronger congregations supporting the movement.

The convention welcomed the Chief Rabbi of Lithuania, Rabbit A. D. Shapiro of Kovno, who said that the United States was one of the few havens for the Jews. He said economic conditions in his own country were very bad and that the Jews there subsisted largely on the generosity of their brethren in this country. If it were not for the American Jews, he said, he feared the work of educating several hundred students at the Jewish College in Kovno could not be continued.

Other speakers were Rabbi Israel Rosenberg of New York City, a former president of the union, Rabbi Morris Keseman and Rabbi M. S. Margulies of New York City, the oldest rabbi in the United States, who delivered the invocation.

The convention will continue tomorrow and Wednesday when the election of officers will be held.

LONG ISLAND BISHOPS HONORED AT DINNER

Wickersham, at Reception for Dr. Stires and Dr. Larned, Declares 'Church Alone Solaces Soul.

Special to The New York Times.

GARDEN CITY, L. I., May 5.—George W. Wickersham, chairman of the Hoover Commission on Law Enforcement and former Attorney General of the United States, was the principal speaker last night at the annual reception and dinner to the Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Long Island by the Church Club of that diocese, held at the Garden City Hotel. The guests of honor at the dinner were the Right Rev. Ernest Milmore Stires, Bishop of Long Island, and the Right Rev. J. I. Blair Larned, Suffragan Bishop.

Mr. Wickersham said there could be no "competition between modern social distractions and the Church." He said that "no theatre, no radio, no sport nor any other secular agency can compete with the Church in giving that solace to the soul which the Church alone can give and does give."

Bishop Stires foresaw a further tremendous growth in the population of Long Island. The huge tide of population that is now rolling over Long Island is "without parallel in the world's history," he said, and "is a strong challenge to the Church which the Church is ready to accept."

Dr. Larned, George E. Fahys, president of the Church Club of the Diocese of New York, and the Very Rev. Hughell Fosbroke, dean of the General Theological Seminary, also spoke. About 300 laymen and clergy attended the dinner.

DIRECTS DEATH ORDER TO BE READ IN PRISONS

Kentucky Governor Sets Friday, June 13, for Execution of One White and Four Negroes.

FRANKFORT, Ky., May 5 (AP).—Governor Flem D. Sampson today set Friday, June 13, as the date on which one white man and four Negroes convicted of murder are to die in the electric chair at Eddyville.

Concurrently with fixing the death dates, the Governor issued a proclamation pointing out the penalty of crime, and ordered all wardens and superintendents of State penal institutions to read the proclamation to prisoners "at least once a week" until June 13.

Three of the condemned Negroes, Richard Edmonds, John Keller and James Grigsby, were sentenced to death for the murder of Harry S. Long, a night watchman in Louisville, Nov. 14, 1928. Ballard Ratcliffe, the white man, was convicted of the murder of William A. Muse on May 20, 1928. Lloyd Williams, Negro, was convicted for the murder of H. R. Porter, Jan. 8, 1928.

In the proclamation, Governor Sampson said:

"As old as the Ten Commandments, as old as the Mosaic law upon which all law is founded, sanctioned by the great minds down through the ages, is the principle upon which the courts have acted in this irrevocable decision that these men must die.

"The lesson taught by their fate is meant for the living; it will soon be too late for it to be of use to them. * * * Therefore, the awful vengeance of the law will have been in vain if the lesson taught is not taken to heart by those who have sinned against the law of God and man, and who are solemnly enjoined to lead better and more useful lives throughout the remainder of the brief span. * * *

"And as these five men take up their solemn march to the death chamber, may each inmate of every penal institution in the State, and indeed every resident of the Commonwealth, paraphrase a great philosopher and say to himself or herself, 'But for the grace of God there go I.'"

MYSTERY SURROUNDS COAST GUARD DEATHS

No Trace Is Found of Any Battle on Lake Erie—One Man Died of Exposure.

TOLEDO, Ohio, May 5 (AP).—Endeavoring to bring out the cause of the sinking of the Coast Guard speed boat CG-8010, which for many months had been a terror to rum runners, government investigators today were told that Gardner D. Young, chief boatswain, had died from exposure and exhaustion incident to shipwreck.

There was no indication of violence which might have attended a battle with rum runners, Coroner C. J. Yeisley of Ottawa County, declared after a post-mortem examination.

The body of Young, along with that of William Pratt, chief machinist's mate, was picked up yesterday in Maumee Bay, where the boat is believed to have sunk. The third member of the crew, John C. Hay, first class motor machinist, was sought by Coast Guardsmen in the waters of Lake Erie today.

In order that guardsmen will be at liberty to continue their search, Lieutenant Rasmussen of Buffalo, Coast Guard Commander, delayed official inquiry into the tragedy from this afternoon until tomorrow.

The three members of the crew of CG-8010 had left the rum chaser CG-173, which is stationed at Port Clinton, at Detroit harbor light last Thursday afternoon. They left in the smaller craft ostensibly in search of rum-runners who might be in hiding close to the shore.

At 11 A. M. Sunday, search was started when apprehension for the safety of the men was felt.

Eighteen boats took up the search Saturday and one of them found the body of Young on Sunday afternoon. About the same time a group of Toledo yachtsmen picked up the body of Pratt.

AVIS TAKES CHARGE OF JERSEY DRY FORCE

Assumes Enforcement Work Until July 1—Expects to Increase His Staff.

Dwight E. Avis took charge yesterday of Federal prohibition headquarters for New Jersey at Newark as acting administrator until July 1, when the transfer of the prohibition unit to the Department of Justice is expected. He succeeds William J. Calhoun, who resigned to enter business.

Mr. Avis said he received assurances from Washington that his recommendations for an increase in his force would be followed. The staff now includes forty-two agents and sixteen inspectors. Before leaving office Mr. Calhoun said that the force should be doubled.

Mr. Avis said he hoped to accomplish much in dry enforcement in the two months in which he will be in office, but that he had not had time to study the details of his new field. He comes to Newark from Detroit, where he was chief special agent in charge. Before entering the prohibition service he was practicing law in Des Moines.

DR. CUMMINS SPURNS JOB.

Fears He Would Be "Errand Boy" if Chosen Suffragan Bishop.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., May 5.—Declaring that "I have no desire to be errand boy for Bishop Manning or any other Bishop," the Rev. Dr. Alexander Griswold Cummins, rector of Christ Episcopal Church here, said tonight that if nominated for Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese of New York he would refuse.

His statement was made after reports had been published here that he was being prominently mentioned for the post.

Dr. Cummins is a leader in the so-called liberal group of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America. He is the publisher of The Chronicle, organ of the liberal group.

Ex-Judge Brady Again on Trial.

DALLAS, Texas, May 5 (AP).—John W. Brady, former Texas jurist, went on trial here today for a second time for the murder of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, court stenographer, whom he stabbed to death at Austin the night of Nov. 9. A venire of 600 men was summoned from which to select a jury. The case was brought here on a change of venue from Austin, where Brady's first trial resulted in a hung jury.

CHANGE IN DRY SHIFT GUARDS EMPLOYES

Bill, Reported Again to Senate, Is Modified to Create Division to Allocate Personnel.

MITCHELL AUTHORITY KEPT

Senator Hebert States That Floor Protest May Be Made Against Alcohol Permit System.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The Williamson bill to transfer prohibition enforcement from the treasury to the Department of Justice was reported by the Senate Judiciary Committee for the second time today with a new provision, which says:

"The Secretary of the Treasury and the Attorney General by joint regulation shall, as soon as may be after the passage and approval of this act, create an enforcement division in the Bureau of Prohibition of the Treasury Department and place in and apportion to such enforcement division so much of the personnel, appropriations, records, files and property of said bureau as they shall agree upon."

In explanation Senator Hebert, who reported the bill, said that the enforcement division "may be hereafter treated as a unit for transfer purposes." He added:

"That paragraph will give each department a voice in the allocation of personnel, property and appropriations to the enforcement activities to be transferred to the Department of Justice on the one hand and to the permissive activities which will remain in the Treasury Department on the other."

It was pointed out in the explanation of the amendment, however, that Attorney General Mitchell would retain a large share of authority in conducting his department.

The date of effectiveness of the bill was changed to July 1, the beginning of the fiscal year.

After the private hearing on the bill Senator Hebert said that while the report had been favorable, notice had been served that protest might be made later over the provision giving the Treasury and Justice Departments dual authority over issuance of permits for the use of industrial alcohol.

This point has been the subject of several hearings by a subcommittee, users of industrial alcohol protesting that the elaborate technical machinery built up in the Treasury Department for this work would be destroyed and a reconstitution of procedure in the Department of Justice would be made necessary.

Two other insertions were made in the bill during reconsideration. One provides that an inspector of the Treasury Department who might discover violation of the law while engaged in his routine permissive work would have authority to make seizures and arrests.

Another stated that ships and vehicles seized in violation of the prohibition laws might be used by the Department of Justice for prohibition enforcement work or by the Treasury for customs work, instead of being auctioned off at forced sale.

RENO FOR REPEAL BY BIG MAJORITY

Wets Capture Four Other Cities and Gain Strength in Four More.

Reno, Nev., showed itself to be as definitely in favor of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment as it is reported to be in favor of repeal of marriages in the first returns from that city reported yesterday in The Literary Digest prohibition poll. Eight other cities, tabulated for the first and second times, showed wet majorities, with pluralities varying between enforcement, modification and repeal.

Reno gave 727 votes to repeal out of the total of 1,273, 218 for enforcement and 328 for modification. La Crosse, Wis., also gave a repeal majority. The other three cities reported for the first time, York, Pa.; Morgantown, W. Va., and Modesto, Cal., polled enforcement pluralities.

The four cities listed in the second reports were wet. Two of them were Southern cities. El Paso, Texas, cast a plurality for the modification. Tampa, Fla.; Reading, Pa., and Lowell, Mass., cast clear majorities for repeal.

The tabulation follows:

	Enforcement.	Modification.	Repeal.

DISAPPROVES DIGEST POLL.

Up-State Methodist Conference Supports Hoover Enforcement Course.

UTICA, N. Y., May 5 (AP).—Forty changes in pastorates were announced today at the closing session of the Northern New York Methodist Episcopal Conference.

Under special appointments the Rev. C. J. Frazie of Fort Covington leaves without appointment to attend school and Miss Irene Worrell, formerly of Wilmington, Del., becomes deaconess at Central Church, Utica. The Rev. F. M. Harvey of Antwerp obtained a sabbatical leave of one year.

The report of the committee expressed "extreme disapproval" of The Literary Digest poll, approved President Hoover's steps to further law enforcement and approved the bill in Congress opposing alien representation. The report was adopted without debate.

A pessimistic report on results of the London Naval Parley was changed to express pleasure on the advancement made toward peace and the hope of further disarmament.

References to companionate marriage and characterization of the American home "as the most unstable in the world" were stricken out of the report and a clause inserted urging pastors to call upon couples getting married and urge them to maintain Christian homes.

Central Park Zoo Gets Two Tigers.

Two Malay tigers, a male and a female, were added to the Central Park Zoo yesterday. The animals were received in their new home by Park Commissioner Walter R. Herrick. The female gave birth to three cubs on the voyage from Singapore, but killed them. The zoo now has four tigers.

TWO ARE SENTENCED IN BEER CONSPIRACY

Men Named as Having Arranged With Canfield for Permit to Go to Atlanta.

BREWERY IS FINED $10,000

Four Others in Plot Get Federal Detention Terms—Inquiry to Continue.

Michael Devasto and George H. Burt, who, according to the testimony last month of Joseph F. Walsh, Republican leader of Newburgh, said that they had "made arrangements" with Palmer Canfield, former Prohibition Administrator, for a near-beer permit for the Columbia County Cereal Beverage Company of Hudson, N. Y., were sentenced yesterday to eighteen months and year and a day, respectively, in Atlanta Penitentiary.

Federal Judge John M. Woolsey also imposed sentences on four defendants convicted with Devasto and Burt for conspiracy and violation of the prohibition law, suspended sentence on two other defendants, Charles Sutton and John Hasenkopf, and imposed a fine of $10,000 on the beverage company.

Walsh, president of the company, pleaded guilty during the trial, and testifying for the government, told a jury that Devasto and Burt had informed him of "arrangements" having been made with Canfield on Dec. 15, 1928, when either $10,000 or $20,000, he said he had been told, disappeared from a table during a conference in the Hotel Roosevelt.

The government charged that the defendants brewed and sold real beer.

Judge Woolsey imposed the remaining sentences as follows: Nicholas Potenti, nine months; Eugene Levy and Edmond Folz, six months each, and John Cogionese, four months—all to be served in the Federal House of Detention. On motion of Sanford H. Cohen, John N. Cashin and other attorneys for the defense, Judge Woolsey admitted the six men to bail for two weeks pending preparations for appeal.

Devasto's bond was fixed at $10,000, Burt's at $7,500 and Potenti's at $5,000. The bail for the others who must serve prison terms was set at $3,500 each. Judge Woolsey said that conspiracy had been proved and that "the evidence here seems to indicate the corruption of government officials."

It was Walsh's testimony during the trial that caused Federal Attorney Tuttle later to begin an investigation of alleged corruption in the prohibition unit, and particularly of his story linking Canfield to a conference in the Hotel Roosevelt.

Canfield, who testified before the grand jury, is legal adviser of the prohibition bureau for the Northeastern States. He has denied all knowledge of any conference with Devasto and Burt. The investigation is still under way. Mr. Tuttle said yesterday that the April grand jury had collected a "great mass of material" and that the May grand jury would continue the inquiry today.

OPENS WAY TO CHECK HOME-BREW SUPPLY

labels, cartons, &c. By the statute it is 'unlawful to have or possess any liquor or property designed for the manufacture of liquor intended for use in violating this chapter or which has been so used, and no property rights shall exist in any such liquor or property.'

"A search warrant may issue 'and such liquor, the containers thereof, and such property so seized shall be subject to such disposition as the court may make thereof. If it is found that such liquor or property was so unlawfully held or possessed, or had been so unlawfully used, the liquor, and all property designed for the unlawful manufacture of liquor, shall be destroyed, unless the court shall otherwise order.' Act of Oct. 28, 1919, C. 85, Title II, Sec. 25, 41, Stat. 305, 315. U. S. Code, Title 27, Sec. 39.

"The argument for the petitioner, so far as it does not go beyond the limits set in granting the writ of certiorari, is that empty containers, bottles and other apparatus described, cannot be used in or designed for the manufacture of liquor because the manufacture is completed before that apparatus comes into play.

"There is a further argument that the containers were not designed in fact for the manufacture of liquor even if they could be, but the objection to this is that if the terms in which the writ was granted do not exclude it, the case having been tried without written waiver of jury, the sufficiency and effect of evidence are not open. Commissioner of Road District No. 2 v. St. Louis Southwestern Railway Company, 257 U. S. 547, 562.

"The argument for the petitioner cannot be helped by amplification. It is obviously correct if the word 'manufacture' be taken in the strictest and most exact sense. But the word may be used in a looser way to express the whole process by which an article is made ready for sale on the open market. P. Lorillard Co. v. Ross, 183 Ky. 217, 223.

"As the purpose of the prohibition act was to 'suppress the entire traffic,' United States v. Katz, 271 U. S., 354, 357; Donnelly v. United States, 276 U. S., 505, 513, the act should be liberally construed to the end of this suppression, and so directs. Title II, Sec. 3, of the act. Code, title 27, Sec. 12. The decisions under the revenue acts have little weight as against legislation under the afflatus of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"We are of opinion that the word was used in this looser way, and that if the empty containers and the other objects seized were offered for sale in such a mode as purposely to attract purchasers who wanted them for the unlawful manufacture as we interpret the word, they were designed for that manufacture and could be seized.

"Decree affirmed."

Lowman Pleased at Decision.

Mr. Lowman expressed great satisfaction with the opinion, saying that he saw in it great possibilities of effective extension of the scope of dry law enforcement. He explained that the case decided was a test, since the lower courts had failed heretofore in instances of the sort to find violation of the law.

"The Prohibition Bureau has endeavored for some time to prosecute persons who sold beer-making devices and malt products to which yeast may be added to create intoxicants," Mr. Lowman said. "So far such prosecutions have been unsuccessful.

"While the treasury felt that the selling of these devices was unlawful, the courts failed to take this view. They also held as to malts that they were non-intoxicating and therefore could be sold, unless it was shown that the seller was conspiring to violate the law. Establishments right here in Washington sell kegs, bottles, cappers and every other device necessary for the manufacture of beer. The beer maker needs but to follow the directions."

Mr. Lowman indicated that the Prohibition Bureau would like to stop the sale of such articles as non-alcoholic gin, rye and Scotch extracts and other "bases" for many of the intoxicants that were sold over bars in the days before the Eighteenth Amendment, on the grounds that they are being distributed obviously for unlawful purposes.

Because of the non-alcoholic character of these articles, however, and the fact that they might be used for lawful purposes, making it difficult to establish that the seller would have knowledge of possible illegal use, no serious effort has been made by the bureau to stop the sale.

The bureau will not make an effort to prosecute home-brewers, it was indicated; search warrants were necessary and they could not be obtained without evidence of commercial violation. Officials said, however, that the manufacturer of beer who sells to speakeasies could be prosecuted, and that some success had been obtained in this line of enforcement.

Dr. Doran said that the court decision would "put added strength behind the administrators in getting after bootleggers' supply houses which furnish equipment for cutting houses and fake liquor plants; the raid, as a result of which the case had been brought, was on an alleged bootlegger's supply house. Further study would be necessary as to the application of the decision to retail establishments handling home-brewers supplies or as to liquor extracts.

To Hear "Double Prosecution" Case.

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP).—Whether the sellers of illegal liquor may be prosecuted under both the prohibition and Internal Revenue acts is to be determined by the Supreme Court. An appeal involving the question was granted today.

The case, selected as a test, arose out of the arrest of Anthony La Franca of New Orleans, convicted under the prohibition law. He later was prosecuted under the Internal Revenue act for failure to pay taxes imposed on retail liquor dealers. The Court of Appeals decided against the Government.

SAYS HIGH TAX AIDS DANES' WAR ON RUM

Psychiatrist at Mental Hygiene Congress Declares Sentiment Has Helped Solve Problem.

CHILD DELINQUENCY A TOPIC

Feeble-Mindedness Is Not Necessarily the Cause, Dr. Helen Montague Declares.

From a Staff Correspondent of The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—How Denmark has solved the liquor problem by putting a high tax on alcoholic drinks, and at the same time developing a sentiment for temperance, was told today at the opening session here of the International Congress on Mental Hygiene by Dr. August Wimmer, director of the Neuropsychiatric Clinic of Copenhagen.

So well has the problem been solved, said Dr. Wimmer, that he is no longer able to find cases of delirium tremens to show students in his psychiatry classes in the University of Copenhagen.

"Before the war," said Dr. Wimmer, "there was a vast amount of alcoholism. But in the second year after the war the government attacked the problem by imposing very high taxes on alcoholic drinks.

"Under this plan a bottle of brandy which formerly had cost 25 or 35 cents cost $3 or more. A bottle of whisky which used to cost $1.50 or $2 now costs $6.

"Together with this increase in the cost of liquor there has developed a marked propensity to moderation. It is not now regarded nice to get tipsy.

Points to New Attitude.

"In my student days it was common for us to go into a café and take a glass of beer. Or when we were feeling very Bohemian we might take a glass of French absinthe.

"But now I would not dare to go into a café to take a glass of beer for fear that I might be regarded as a drunkard."

The effect of the new attitude toward drinking has been strikingly evidenced in his own clinic, Dr. Wimmer went on. His clinic is conducted jointly by the university and the city and receives all the alcoholic cases in Copenhagen, a city of 700,000 persons.

"In 1910," Dr. Wimmer continued, "we had some 880 cases of alcoholic mental troubles. In a year, during that period, we would have about 100 cases of delirium tremens.

"But I have not seen more than twenty cases of delirium tremens since 1915, and those I have seen have been mild in comparison to those before.

"During the past ten years I have not been able to show a single case of delirium tremens to my students. This is because the cases are so rare and so little pronounced that they are of no value to students.

Doubts Value of Prohibition.

"Other forms of alcoholic insanity also have virtually disappeared, and there has been a marked reduction, too, in the number of cases which were not psychotic, but in which the drinker simply remained a drunkard In all we do not have more than 200 or 250 cases of alcoholic trouble in a year, which I regard as not high for a city as large as Copenhagen.

"Before the war we had a great number of individuals who could be termed careless drinkers. They were very good citizens and had good manners, but they drank too much. In that period there was an ample supply of liquor, and the people looked on alcoholism so leniently that many men got to be drunkards without knowing it. But now the careless drinker also is comparatively rare. The supply of liquor is less, the temptation is less, and drinking is frowned upon."

In conversation after his address Dr. Wimmer expressed doubt of the practicability of prohibition as a solution of the liquor problem.

"There is something of the eternal child in man," he remarked. "Tell a child he cannot have apples and he will steal them from a tree, whereas if he were invited to take them he probably would not want them. Prohibition was tried once before, thousands of years ago, and Adam and Eve had to go out of paradise.

Mental Hygiene Known in 2,000 B. C.

Dr. Wimmer's address was one of a dozen delivered by psychiatrists from as many nations, scattered all over the globe, in which they reported on the status of mental hygiene in their countries.

Dr. Franklin E. Williams, medical director of the national committee for mental hygiene, presided. He pointed out that it was interesting to realize that while mental hygiene was known as early as 2000 B. C., it was not until 4,000 years later that it was possible to have an international congress on the subject.

Officers of the congress expressed gratification tonight at the presence of 1,500 participants in the congress, coming from fifty-three different countries. Hundreds more are expected tomorrow.

In conjunction with the congress, the American Psychiatric Association is holding its eighty-sixth annual meeting under the presidency of Dr. Earl D. Bond of Philadelphia, and the American Association for the Study of the Feeble-Minded is holding its fifty-fourth annual meeting, under the presidency of Dr. George L. Wallace.

Trades Seen at Delinquents' Aid.

The belief that feeble-mindedness was a very important cause of delinquency and crime was combated at the meeting of this latter association by Dr. Helen Montague, psychiatrist of the Children's Court in New York. A little less than 1 per cent of the schoolboy population of New York is delinquent, said Dr. Montague, and the percentage of mentally defective delinqents in the Children's Court is only about twice as great as in the school population.

Even this percentage is accounted for, she added, by the fact that feeble-minded boys are more likely than bright ones to get caught.

Dr. Montague commented, too, upon the fact that many of the offenses charged against defectives are trivial, even though they come under the headings of serious crimes.

Dr. Montague described a study of 307 mentally defective boys who passed through the psychiatric clinic of the New York Children's Court in 1929. The causes of their delinquency were found to be poor physical condition, the class of standards in the families of foreign-born parents and native children, broken homes, in which alcoholism frequently was a factor, and maladjustment at school.

In discussing possible remedies, Dr. Montague said:

"Sixty per cent of the entire group had excellent mechanical ability, for which they were receiving little or no training.

"Adjustment in a trade school would have solved the majority of their difficulties, and until there can be established in New York City sufficient trade schools to give every defective boy with mechanical ability a real education we shall continue to see delinquency among this group.

Putting Boys at Work Urged.

The clinic, said Dr. Montague, is bringing about adjustment in the case of many of the mentally defective boys who have gotten into court.

"There is no doubt," she said, "that the adjustment of the children depends on their having a fairly normal home, social and recreational outlets suited to each case, proper educational advantages in trade schools for those who are mechanically gifted, proper ungraded classes and complete cooperation between the parents, the school and the mental hygiene clinic."

The old method of confining mentally defective children augments their malady, said Dr. Ward W. Millais, clinical director of the Rome (N. Y.) State School. Children, particularly boys, suffer in confinement much as animals do, he declared. Putting boys to work on colony farms has changed their mood into one of happiness by releasing their stored up energy, he said.

The general policy of sterilization of defectives was advocated by Dr. Harvey M. Watkins, superintendent of the Polk (Pa.) State School. This policy is practiced in twenty-four States. Dr. Watkins disclosed that a questionnaire which he had sent to members of the American Association for the Study of the Feeble-Minded showed them overwhelmingly in favor of sterilization.

"Ninety-four per cent of the replies received favored sterilization," he said. "Ninety-seven per cent voted for selective sterilization. Answers came from thirty-eight States and no State having such laws requested their being abandoned. The trend, therefore, is overwhelmingly for such laws."

Secretary Wilbur Speaks.

The first day of the congress closed tonight with a dinner at the Willard Hotel attended by 1,000. Secretary Wilbur, himself a physician, was the principal speaker.

"We are still fumbling around on the outside of the problem of mental diseases seeking ways to understand and to prevent them," said Dr. Wilbur. "By the concerted effort of all the workers in the world we should be able to discover methods that will bring to us the same crown of success in this field that we have achieved on the more tangible physical side of man."

Dr. Clifford W. Beers, secretary general of the conference and one of the founders of the present mental hygiene movement, as a result of the experiences he underwent many years ago when he was a patient in a hospital for the insane, spoke on the significance of the present work. Dr. William A. White, president of the congress, presided.

The congress will continue through Saturday, taking up every phase of mental health in its relation to society.

ENGLAND APPROVES ARREST OF GANDHI

LABORITES JUSTIFY COURSE

Imprisonment Is Expected to Last Until Report of Simon Commission to India Is Published.

By CHARLES A. SELDEN.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—Adverse criticism of the MacDonald Government for the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi is confined to a small group of Radical wing Labor members in the House of Commons. The bulk of the Labor party, in and out of Parliament, agrees that no other course was left open and the Liberals support that attitude. The only comment of the Conservatives is that Gandhi should have been arrested weeks ago.

So far as the strategy of the situation is concerned, Gandhi is credited with having won a point in his conflict with the British Government by forcing his own arrest before the publication of the Simon commission report. This will focus the attention of all India on himself and his own plans of complete independence rather than on the Simon recommendations for whatever increase of self-government in India they may contain. The government hoped to stave off the crisis of the arrest altogether or until the report could be published, on the assumption that it would give sufficient assurance to India of further constitutional reforms to check the present agitation in behalf of Gandhi's drastic program.

That accounted in part for the delay in arresting the leader and if he had confined his activities to defying the salt tax laws there would have been no restraint of his freedom. But when the cloth boycott and other measures undertaken by the Gandhi followers began to develop violence in widely separated parts of the country the arrest of the leader became inevitable.

Probably the last straw to the confidence of the government was the refusal of two platoons of Royal Garhwal Rifles to fire on Indians in recent disturbances at Peshawur. The civil disobedience thereby became military mutiny.

Hence Gandhi's arrest was decided upon as the lesser of two evils. Whatever its consequences in the way of rioting, it is taken for granted by the India Office in London that it will lead to far less bloodshed than would have resulted had Gandhi been left free to direct widespread revolts.

Criticize Manner of Arrest.

The Labor party's justification for doing what goes very much against the grain of the Socialists in many ways is that any government in power is bound first of all to maintain law and order. It is the manner of the arrest without warrant or trial that British Radicals particularly criticize. One of the questions put in the House of Commons today by a Left Wing Labor member was whether Gandhi would have a trial, and Wedgwood Benn, Secretary of State for India, replied in the negative.

The provision under which the arrest was made is more than 100 years old and is found in the regulations of the Bombay Presidency of 1827. In substance it is that for reasons of State there may be an arrest of any person against whom there is not sufficient evidence for judicial procedure or in whose case such procedure would not best serve public welfare. Habeas corpus does not operate in such cases. No trial is provided for and there are no legal provisions for an appeal to courts or government in behalf of the prisoner. The government alone decides how long the detention may continue.

But there is no oubliette [dungeon confinement] involved. On the contrary, the circuit judges are charged with seeing that the prisoner is well cared for and his health attended to. The government makes allowance for his living in confinement in accordance with the degree of physical comfort to which he was accustomed when free.

In Gandhi's case the term of imprisonment certainly will not be shortened by anything he will do or say himself. Premier MacDonald, Mr. Benn and all their Cabinet associates take it for granted he will not back down or renounce anything for the sake of gaining freedom.

Hope to Release Him Soon.

But it was said at the India Office this afternoon that the imprisonment would not last one second longer than absolutely necessary. The hope and expectation of the authorities in London is that they will have the situation so well in hand by the time the Simon report is published that they will then be able to release Gandhi without risk of further disorders.

Meantime the chief concern is the unrest in the Northwest Frontier Province, where, at Lahore, a congress of propagandists has made the most of the Gandhi movement and of the resentment at the new laws against child marriage to foment rebellion.

However bad the situation may be on this frontier and elsewhere in India, there is no thought on the part of the government at present of sending additional troops. Although reductions in both British and native forces have been going on steadily for the last ten years, there still are 140,000 Indian and 57,000 British troops in the country, and they are considered ample to meet any situation which may arise.

Exploding Munitions Bombard Famed Constantinople Mosque

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 5.—The picturesque Dolma Bagtche mosque miraculously survived an accidental bombardment today when a large quantity of light munitions stored in its otherwise unused yard caught fire and explosion followed explosion.

Firemen struggled to keep streams of water on the powder boxes and every piece of apparatus in the city was called out. The flames gutted an adjoining building.

SIMLA REGARDS ARREST AS WELL-TIMED COUP

Indian Government Feels Enthusiasm for Gandhi Is Weakened and His Aides Scattered.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SIMLA, India, May 5.—It is generally felt in government circles here that the fact that Mahatma Gandhi's arrest was made under a Bombay ordinance was a sound tactical move. In the first place, the avoidance of the necessity of a trial means that such an occasion for demonstrations, possibly accompanied by violence is averted. Second, the fact that Mr. Gandhi is not a convicted prisoner, but merely detained during the government's pleasure spikes any attempt to subvert prison discipline.

News of the arrest early today was received in Simla without excitement or elation in official or unofficial quarters. Rather there is a feeling of quiet relief that an intolerable situation had reached its inevitable end and whatever the immediate result may be will be known within a day or two. The unremitting tension and uncertainty of the last few weeks has had a damaging effect, not only on business, but on the normal activities of administration. It is hoped, therefore, that even if a storm follows, Mr. Gandhi's arrest will have the effect of clearing the air.

A hope expressed in many quarters that the liberty allowed to Mr. Gandhi would result in a better atmosphere for the reception of the Simon report, with the subsequent initiation of a round-table conference, has not been realized, government officials feel, but they contend that the patience of the government has been rewarded with tactical and material advantages which must be an important factor in its first task, the immediate restoration of law and order.

Major Trouble Not Expected.

By delaying action, they argue, the government has allowed the first enthusiasm of Mr. Gandhi's supporters to spend itself. Congress, volunteer students and the riff-raff of the cities, in their view, may be ready and willing enough to start more trouble, but they hold that the vast majority of peasants and townspeople are beginning to weary of the suspension of normal life and the standstill of business. There is reason to hope, therefore, that after registering their disapproval they will settle down to work again.

Moreover, it is asserted that the unostentatious arrest of so many of Mr. Gandhi's lieutenants in different parts of India, while the limelight on him diverted attention, has left the local Congress and executives weak and confused. Had Mr. Gandhi been arrested at the outset of his march to begin his salt campaign, there were acknowledged leaders with the ability to stir serious demonstrations in protest throughout the country. There were Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru at Allahabad, Mayor Sen Gupta at Calcutta, M. Nariman at Bombay, Dr. Kitchlew at Lahore and a score of others ready and eager to throw themselves into the thick of the fight. Now they are in prison while their supporters of the Indian press also are out of action.

This is not to say that trouble is unlikely or even improbable, but if it comes it is believed that it will be much less organized and coordinated than would have been the case two months ago.

Frontier Plot Charged.

A government communiqué today asserts that the National Congress of Workers and the Naujawan or Youth League organization have been engaged for some time in fomenting "open rebellion" on the northwestern frontier.

After the Peshawur outbreak, says the communiqué, the Congress party published bulletins stating it was in communication with the Haji of the Turan Gzai tribe, who was raising a force to invade the Peshawur district.

"The Haji advanced with a small force toward Peshawur and has been attempting to persuade the hill tribes to join him but thus far without response," the communiqué adds. "The Youth League agitators also are disseminating Communist doctrines.

"The local government at Peshawur, with the full support of the Government of India, is now taking all necessary measures to prevent the intrigues of these two associations endangering the peace of the province."

Arms Seized at Karachi.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

KARACHI, May 5.—As a result of the tense political situation and threats by civil resisters, the police have removed all stocks of arms and ammunition from the local dealers to an arsenal eight miles from Karachi.

About 700 weapons, 120 pounds of powder and vast numbers of cartridges were commandeered. All dealers in arms here are Moslems.

600 See Gandhi Leave Train.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—A vivid word picture of Mahatma Gandhi's detrainment at a grade crossing near the Borivli station is given by Ellis Ashmead-Bartlett in a dispatch to The Daily Telegraph. He describes how he saw Mr. Gandhi, clad only in a loin cloth with a shawl over his arm, step from the dining saloon of the mail train and warmly shake hands with two police officials in mufti and then was taken away to jail in a large yellow automobile of American make, which, "with its bright pink and red curtains, looked as if it were prepared for a happy bridal party."

The police taxis were out of sight and the two police officers were casually leaning against the crossing gate when Mr. Ashmead-Bartlett and a companion walked up a few moments before the mail train was due to pass.

Six hundred native heads popped from the windows of the train when it halted unexpectedly.

"Mr. Gandhi looked indescribably lonely without a single friend, a melancholy figure, as he stepped forward," says the dispatch. "The police officers raised their hats, the Mahatma replied with a pleasing smile and shook them warmly by the hand as they assisted him from the high coach."

The Mahatma seemed surprised to see Mr. Ashmead-Bartlett, whom he knew well.

"Have you any message?" asked Mr. Ashmead-Bartlett.

Mr. Gandhi said:

"Tell the people of the United States to study the issues closely and to judge them on their merits."

"Have you any bitterness toward any one?"

"None whatsoever. I have long expected to be arrested."

Doubts Prospect of Disorder.

"Do you think your arrest will lead to great disturbances throughout India?"

"No, I do not. In any case I can honestly say that I have taken every possible precaution to avert disturbances."

"Then you inticipate no troubles?"

The Mahatma hesitated a moment and then replied: "I hope not. I have done my best to prevent them."

Then, adds Mr. Ashmead-Bartlett, with a "Now, Mr. Gandhi, if you're ready, please," from a police inspector, the glorious pink curtains were drawn around the party, the Mahatma disappeared from view, and the gay "bridal car" set forth on its long journey to Poona—a blaze of brilliant pink whirling through the budding green of Spring.

From that train, Mr. Ashmead-Bartlett reflects, 600 pairs of eyes gazed on one of the best known figures in the world. They saw him alight from the train to be greeted in friendly fashion by four Englishmen.

"But the curious fact remains that the 600 voices remained absolutely silent, neither uttering a word of protest nor shouting a greeting. There was not a single cry of 'Gandhi Ki Ja' as the bridal car sped on its way."

The government's solicitude for Mr. Gandhi's welfare was instanced by the fact that the "bridal car" en route to Poona, drew up at a lonely police station, where a waiting constable milked a well-fed goat and provided Mr. Gandhi with his customary breakfast.

A fully furnished wing in the Yeravda prison, where he can meditate, spin, take exercise and read without disturbance, has been allotted to him. A special cook has been provided for him and he will receive $10 a week from the government for his personal expenses.

TROOPS HOLD INDIA; ALERT FOR ANY MOVE

auspicious beginning, such as the civil disobedience campaign had had, were carried to its full conclusion, "complete swaraj" (independence) would be a certainty and "India will have set to the whole world an example worthy of her." Swaraj, he declared, if obtainable without sacrifice, cannot endure. "All the self-respect of India at the present time is centred upon a handful of salt. The fist containing it may be broken but it never should be opened.

"After I am arrested neither the people nor my colleagues should be daunted. The conductor of this fight is not I, but God. He dwells in the hearts of all. If we have faith in ourselves God will certainly lead us.

"Our path is fixed. Whole villages should come forward to collect and manufacture salt. The women should picket the liquor, opium and foreign cloth shops. In every house young and old should begin spinning. Heaps of yarn should be woven daily. There should be bonfires of foreign cloth. Hindus should regard none as untouchables. Hindus, Mohammedans, Parsees and Christians all should heartily embrace one another. The major communities should be satisfied with what remains after the satisfaction of the minor communities. Students should leave the government schools. Government servants should resign and be employed in the service of the people. Thus shall we easily attain to complete swaraj."

Situation at Peshawur.

In the unfolding story of Near East events there has come news from Peshawur that on Sunday the military entered the city which, reports said, had been a "no man's land" of lawlessness for the past fortnight.

There was some doubt as to how this information should be interpreted, but persons familiar with conditions in the Peshawur district explained it as meaning that troops who previously had been posted in cantonments in the European quarters surrounding the native city now have been moved into the native city itself.

It was understood in government circles today in London that Mahatma Gandhi may be interned without trial for an indefinite period, although the period may be fixed later by the Government of India.

The Mahatma was arrested on a warrant issued under Regulation 25 of the Ordinance of 1827, which provides for restraint of persons whose activities are considered as endangering British authority in India.

This ordinance says in its preamble that reasons of state occasionally render it necessary to place under personal restraint individuals against whom there may not be sufficient grounds to institute any judicial proceedings, or that such proceedings might not be adapted to the nature of the case, or made for other reasons considered advisable.

As understood here, the Governor in the council then can cause such an individual to be apprehended or placed in a fortress or jail or other building subordinate to Bombay. The Governor then fixes an allowance for the support of such a prisoner according to his rank and circumstances and the officer in charge must, at stated periods, report on his health and comfort. It is also required that the prisoner must be visited from time to time by judges or magistrates.

Precautions at Bombay.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BOMBAY, May 5.—Mahatma Gandhi, the leader of the Indian civil disobedience campaign, was comfortably settled in the Yeravda jail outside Poona early today and had been pronounced physically fit by a special medical officer who awaited his arrival, and had returned thanks to the government for its consideration in making such comfortable arrangements for his transit before residents of Bombay were aware that he had been arrested.

Early risers found a detachment of the Lancashire Regiment in possession of Police Headquarters and other troops at Jacob's Circle in the centre of the mill area. The Bombay light motor patrol was on the streets and European employes of large stores, shipping offices and banks were unobtrusively armed.

Faced with this display of force, the All-India Congress Committee met to consider its line of action. Its first thought was to proclaim a two-day "hartal" throughout the city and mobilize Congress volunteers to spread the news of the leader's arrest. It had been effected about 1 A. M. at the Mahatma's temporary camp near Jalalpur, about 150 miles north of Bombay.

Mr. Gandhi was suddenly awakened by a torch being flashed in his face and found a district magistrate and a number of other officials standing by his bedside while outside were waiting motor trucks filled with armed police. He was fully aware of the purpose of their visit and merely asked:

"What is the charge?"

The magistrate read his warrant.

There was a schedule to be strictly kept and the magistrate asked Mr. Gandhi to hurry. He requested time to clean his teeth, a ritual every Indian observes, then, dressed in loin cloth with a sheet of his own homespun native cloth thrown across his shoulder, the "holy one" was ready for the journey.

The Start for Jail.

Mr. Gandhi handed his secretary a letter he had prepared overnight for the Viceroy and while one of the volunteers recited a Hindu hymn and others bowed low, Mr. Gandhi stepped out between his guards. He then was put on a train between two stations and at about 6:30 A. M. the train stopped near the Borivli station, about thirty miles from Bombay.

The automobile in which Mr. Gandhi completed the last stage of the journey had silk blinds closely drawn, leading observers to believe it was a veiled woman's car. Thus the entry into the Poona district attracted no attention.

There was a speedy response to the congress committee's call for a cessation of work except from Moslem traders, who proposed to consult their associations. Several groups of Congress volunteers endeavored to get the mill workers out, but they refused just as thehy refused when asked to strike on May Day and earlier when the Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru was arrested.

A procession of leading share and cotton brokers marched from the bazaars to Congress House, headed by a banner inscribed "Brave Pathans face bullets," which reflects the sensational rumors of happenings at Peshawur which are now current in the bazaars here. Halting in front of police headquartters, the procession shouted "Boycott British goods" and "Down with the British Government."

Other, smaller, processions, making a great deal of noise, paraded in the city. The municipal corporation adjourned.

Later the congress committee issued a bulletin exhorting the people to remain non-violent and to enrol as satyagrahis ("civil resisters") in thousands.

Now that Mr. Gandhi is arrested the leadership of the Bombay volunteers devolves upon Abbas Tyabji, formerly a judge in Baroda.

Quiet at Calcutta.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CALCUTTA, May 5.—Orders to the military to prepare to counter any disturbance were received here before news of Mr. Gandhi's arrest, which filtered slowly through the district without provoking any demonstrations.

Even Mr. Patel's departure from Howrah on his whirlwind tour of Congress centres was unaccompanied by any procession. The chief reaction of the arrest was adjournment of the City Corporation as a protest. The Statesman is the only journal now being published in Calcutta, with the result that wild rumors are circulating with rapidity.

HOOVER FORCES PLAN SENATE TARIFF TEST

Confident of Killing Debenture, They Agree to Votes on Conference Report.

ECONOMISTS' PROTEST FILED

Compromise on Flexible Clause Indicated, Giving President Power to Ease High Rates.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Satisfaction over Saturday's decisive votes in the House against the Senate's export debenture and legislative flexible provisions in the tariff bill was expressed at the White House today, where it was learned that the administration now intends to bend every effort toward accomplishing the same result in the upper chamber.

The conviction that President Hoover will veto the bill if it contains the debenture is so strong that administration leaders now seem prepared to meet another Senate test on the clause before sending the tariff measure back to conference.

Consideration of the conference report as received from the House was deferred until the end of the debate on the Parker nomination. Six points of disagreement remain to be solved in the bill. They are the debenture, the flexible tariff provisions, the reorganization of the Tariff Commission and the rates on lumber, silver and cement.

Chairman Smoot of the Finance Committee, who had favored returning the bill at once to conference, said he would leave it to the Senate membership to decide the procedure. This is now expected to be for separate votes on each item.

The protest of 1,028 leading economists of the country against the bill because of rate increases and urging a veto by the President was brought to the Senate's attention briefly when Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi, had the document inserted in The Record.

Additional protests from foreign countries were sent by the State Department to the House and Senate committees on the measure. France, the Netherlands and Italy have sent further complaints on behalf of their nationals.

While administration forces seem confident over the debenture issue, they are not sanguine that the flexible tariff provisions will be retained as in existing law. There is a definite impression that Congress will eventually present a modification to Mr. Hoover, as a compromise between the position of the Executive and legislative departments concerning the tariff-making power.

A suggested compromise would permit the President to raise or lower a duty up to 50 per cent, on recommendation of the Tariff Commission, but providing that if he did not act within a certain period of time, say three months, Congress might fix the rate.

Belief exists that one reason actuating Mr. Hoover in his insistence upon Presidential power under the flexible tariff clause is that he wishes to be in position to soften any so-called "Grundy rates" in the bill.

Child of 'Unlucky House' Dies Under Truck; Seventh Victim in Seven-Year Tragedy List

The five-story tenement house at 190 Clinton Street fell once more under the shadow of tragedy yesterday when for the seventh time in as many years a child living in it was crushed to death by an automobile as he played in the narrow street. The record of ill-fortune attending the building has won for it the neighborhood name of "Unlucky House."

Yesterday's victim was Bernard Rubin, 6 years old, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Rubin, run a restaurant on the ground floor of the building. Bernard dashed from behind an automobile parked in front of his home into the path of a truck driven by Abe Escowitz of 66 St. Mark's Place and owned by the I. Kafus Company of 119 Ridge Street.

The children who met death in front of "Unlucky House" ranged in age from 6 to 12 years, and were all from different families. A complete list of the fatalities was not available last night, but recent ones included Louis Berger, 12; Morris Seligman, 10, and "Sonny" Brezak, 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Rubin have one other son, Albert, 16.

SOUTH AFRICAN RIOT LAID TO NEW POLICIES

Wide Native Resentment Seen Against Government "Riotous Assemblies" Bill.

CAPE TOWN, May 5 (AP).—The rioting yesterday in the native compound at Worcester, sixty miles from here, was ascribed today to native resentment against new government measures.

Five natives were killed and three policemen and seventeen natives injured. Captain Barter, commander of the police, was in a critical condition tonight.

Trouble has been brewing for some time among the native multitudes of the Union of South Africa who regard with great suspicion the government's native policy. Nationalist members of the Assembly have expressed their fear that the whites in South Africa would eventually be swamped by the increase in the black races, and to avert this so-called black menace the government has evolved a policy backed by absolute powers.

Under a new "riotous assemblies" bill, these absolute powers are vested in the Minister of Justice. From his decision there can be no appeal to the courts. When the bill was introduced recently, the Minister declared he had evidence that Communist agitators were stirring up the natives against the government.

Agitation among the natives had been led chiefly by the African National Congress.

The new absolute powers of the Minister of Justice are violently opposed by the opposition, and the government's position has become delicate.

TO DISCUSS MUSEUM PLAN.

Early Announcement Is Likely on Duveen's Offer to British.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—The plans for the new wing to the British Museum which Sir Joseph Duveen has offered to the government for the housing of the Elgin marbles, are expected to move toward completion with the arrival of Sir Joseph aboard the Mauretania tomorrow.

John Russell Pope, New York architect, is now here in connection with the project. He will confer with Sir Joseph and an announcement is likely to be made soon.

At the office of the director of the British Museum today, it was said the museum trustees are expecting to receive the designs of Mr. Pope, of whose work they have a high regard.

ARGENTINA MOVES TO INCREASE TARIFF

Minister Names Committee of Appraisers, Holding Present Rates Are Inadequate.

AUTOMOBILES COME FIRST

Protective Duties on Food Products Demanded—Growers Urge Levies on Fruit.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, May 5.—The Minister of Finance has appointed a committee of customs appraisers to draw up a new tariff. The present tariff was enacted in 1906 and the duties are assessed on fixed valuations specified in the tariff which bear little or no relation to today's prices.

In 1916 the government decreed a blanket increase of 60 per cent for all duties, but the Minister considers even the increased duties are inadequate in view of the present invoice values.

The Argentinian tariff specifies 3,700 articles on which duties are collectable. Recent years have seen a tremendous increase in the importation of unspecified articles which were entering free of duty. The committee of appraisers is to study market values and increase the valuations established in the tariff in keeping with the present higher prices.

There has long been an active agitation in Argentina to increase the duties on certain American products, especially those dominating the market, in reprisal for the American duties on raw materials from Argentina.

American automobiles will be among the first items to be studied. They constitute 96 per cent of the total automotive imports and it has long been the impression among some revenue officials that automobile values in the tariff should be based on the selling prices, not on factory costs.

The last ten years have brought a heavy increase in American food imports and many products now enter duty free. Manufacturers here are demanding protective duties. Argentina spends more than $2,000,000 annually for American apples, on which no duty is collected, and Argentinian fruit growers want apples and other fruits to be taxed.

As the newly appointed committee will need a long time to complete its task, American manufacturers will have an opportunity to present their case through their local representatives. The failure of the American shoe manufacturers to take seriously the preparations for an increase in the duties here in 1916 cost them the Argentinian market, which American shoes had previously dominated. American shoes are now unobtainable here except at exorbitant prices. The tariff increase made it possible for locally made shoes to occupy the position formerly held by American shoes.

ARGENTINE PROTESTS GROW

Playwrights and Musicians to Ask Restrictions on Talkies.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, May 5.—Protests against the talking movies and loud phonographs are taking form, designed formally to bring the matter to the attention of the City Council and other governing bodies, with a demand that something be done to protect local musicians who have been deprived of their livelihood.

The Association of Argentine Playwrights sponsored a protest meeting attended by representatives of every musical and artistic organization in Buenos Aires and is planning to draw up a formal demand for relief legislation. The Association of Orchestral Musicians has announced a public protest meeting on May 14 at which it will solicit signatures to a petition addressed to the City Council asking restrictive measures against talkies in theatres and the use of phonographs in cafés and restaurants.

The campaign is being heartily supported by the leading newspapers, which demand Federal legislation to protect actors and musicians throughout the republic.

France Will Take Third of World Bank $300,000,000 Issue, Says London Paper.

OUR SHARE IS $80,000,000

Britain's Is Put at $60,000,000—Bankers at Brussels Said to Have Overcome Paris Protests.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—The international bankers who met at Brussels last week have agreed on the division of the first German reparation bonds under the Young plan among the various markets, according to the Brussels correspondent of The Financial Times.

Of the total of $300,000,000, according to this account, it was proposed by Gates W. McGarrah, president of the Bank for International Settlements, who presided, that France should take over $100,000,000, England $60,000,000 and America $80,000,000.

Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, is reported to have protested that the amount suggested for London was more than he was prepared to accept and the French delegates are said to have explained that while they desired to take as large a portion of the loan as possible, they did not think they could assure the underwriting of so large a share as $100,000,000. The French were then told that in actual practice the greater portion of the proceeds of the international issue, to the extent of $200,000,000, whether offered in Paris, London, New York or elsewhere, would find its way into the French Treasury and that therefore the French should make it their duty to take the largest portion.

Considerable discussion is reported to have followed, the German delegate emphasizing that in view of the depressed financial state of Germany it was impossible for her to subscribe for more than $10,000,000 and the Ivar Kreuger Swedish interests offering to take up $25,000,000. Bankers of the other nations mentioned the amounts for which they were prepared to subscribe, the highest of the neutrals being Holland, which offered to take $30,000,000.

The discussion then centred around the amounts England and France were prepared to take. Mr. Norman is said to have put the maximum at $30,000,000 for England and the French offered $60,000,000. Mr. Norman insisted that the guarantee for the issue should be of a more substantial character, urging something like a definite lien on the German railways.

Eventually, according to this source, it was arranged that the various nations should take amounts as follows: France and the United States, $80,000,000; Britain, $40,000,000; Holland, $30,000,000; Sweden, $25,000,000; Switzerland, $15,000,000, and Belgium, Italy and Germany, $10,000,000 each.

The Brussels correspondent of The Financial Times adds that the rate of interest on the bonds was finally agreed upon as 6 per cent by the bankers.

40 Killed and 100 Injured In Earthquake at Rangoon

By The Associated Press.

RANGOON, Burma, May 5.—About forty persons were killed and more than 100 were injured by an earthquake here today.

Many buildings in the European residential quarter collapsed, and the high court buildings were badly damaged. The inhabitants were panic-stricken.

Fearing further shocks, the people fled to the streets and remained out-of-doors.

KARLSRUHE, Germany, May 5 (AP).—The seismological observatory of the Karlsruhe Institute of Technology at noon today registered the shocks of a heavy earthquake, which continued until 6 P. M.

It was estimated that the epicentre of the earthquake was approximately 5,000 miles away.

WILSON HEARS PLEA OF SWISS ON TARIFF

American Minister to Transmit Arguments to Washington, He Tells Officials.

BERNE, Switzerland, May 5 (AP).—Hugh R. Wilson, American Minister to Switzerland, today discussed the new American tariff measure with the Swiss Director of Public Economy and said he would transmit the Swiss viewpoint to Washington.

The subjects considered particularly were the proposed increases in duties on watches, clocks and lace, which the Swiss have been protesting strongly.

THE NEW YORK TIMES received the following communication last night by cable from Geneva, signed "Bareis, American manufacturers' agents":

"The proposed American increase in the duty on watches means a catastrophe for Switzerland's oldest and most important industry, and will cause widespread unemployment.

"A storm of anger is sweeping the country everywhere, and vast indignation meetings are pledging to boycott all American merchandise. The effects already are being felt.

"Switzerland is a focal point of European public opinion, and far-reaching retaliation and a disastrous reduction in American exports are certain. The situation is serious."

the other was seriously wounded at the same time and died later.

At least forty were injured. These include policemen and civil guards struck by stones; Professor Bolivar, a member of the San Carlos Medical College faculty, hit by a stone; students struck by stones or bullets, and workmen and civilian passers-by.

Some arrests were made, but the police would reveal no names or details.

The trouble began when the students, complaining bitterly over police treatment since Thursday, raised a red flag over the college this morning and adjourned to the campus. In a rebellious mood and numbering 2,000, they headed for the street. Police and troops, who had assembled at the first sign of trouble, assumed that they intended to parade and advanced to drive the collegians back.

The students yielded, but not before each man had taken a load of stones from the street, which was torn up for repairs. They returned to the building, barricaded it, climbed to the roof and showered stones upon the law's forces.

Thereupon the police and troops opened fire, shooting into the air to frighten the demonstrators.

Eventually the cobblestone ammunition gave out, and the rebellious undergraduates came down from the roof and left the grounds for their homes, the police not interfering. By mid-afternoon the trouble was over, but a strong guard was kept over that and other student centres the rest of the day and night.

After the students had left, the authorities found signs urging a republic and attacking the monarchy pasted on the walls.

The same students had rioted in front of the school Saturday, stoning the police and endangering occupants of passing street cars. Streetcar traffic past the college was suspended today to prevent further danger.

Berenguer to Take Stern Steps.

The government made no secret of the fact that it was agitated today. A special session of the Cabinet was called and conferences with high police and military officials were numerous through the day.

General Berenguer said Stern measures would be the rule henceforth.

"We have to stop this," he said; "we have no other remedy. We are taking the necessary measures."

The government charged that students alone were not responsible for today's disorder, charging that outside political elements posed as students both in today's and Saturday's disturbances, committing violence charged to the collegians.

Some students backed the government in this view, issuing statements saying that a relatively small group of university radicals were advocating violence.

The Berenguer régime feels it has a grievance, for, while students opposed Primo de Rivera bitterly, there was no bloodshed under the dictatorship, whereas now, with a certain amount of freedom of speech and assembly, there is more trouble than the Primo de Rivera Government ever knew.

Whether government strength will be directed against Professor de Unamuno has not been made known. He is a strong opponent of the monarchy, but has always counseled his followers to abstain from violence.

Professor de Unamuno today visited Central University, in another part of Madrid. Crowds gathered there, shouting for or against the republican leader, but were dispersed without trouble.

FOIL MEXICAN BANK HOLD-UP

Police Called by Guard, Prematurely Freed by Bandits.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, May 5.—Six men were arrested here Saturday in an attempt to rob a branch of the Bank of Mexico, the police announced today. The authorities are investigating a theory that the crime was planned by a Chicago gangster who is reported to be in Mexico. All of the men held are Mexicans.

One of them, a former janitor in the bank, went to the bank building Saturday night and succeeded in gaining entrance for the others. Two guards on duty were tied and the cashier of the bank called on the telephone and told that the bank vault was open and that he should come to the bank and close it.

But the bandits released one of the guards prematurely and he called the police.

Scotland Yard Seeks Source of Intimation of Gandhi's Arrest.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—A vigorous examination by Scotland Yard detectives was begun today of the correspondents and subeditors of The Daily Telegraph and Daily Chronicle who were responsible for the publication in those newspapers last Thursday of an intimation that the MacDonald Cabinet would order the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi.

The police inquiry, which was ordered by the government, is intended to reveal whether the source of the news leak was in the Cabinet or other official sources in violation of the official secrets act.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAO PAULO, May 5.—The number of persons to accompany President-elect Julio Prestes on his trip to the United States next month has been cut down to three or four, according to well-informed sources. Señor Prestes' good-will party at first was expected to be composed of thirty or forty.

GEORGE V BECAME KING 20 YEARS AGO TODAY

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—On the eve of the twentieth anniversary of the accession of King George V to the throne of Great Britain, the King and Queen motored to Buckingham Palace today from Windsor, where they have been living for the last five weeks.

Salutes of twenty-one guns will be fired in Hyde Park and in Longwalk, Windsor, at the naval military stations tomorrow in honor of the anniversary, and flags will be flown from all public buildings. Domestic ceremonies will be observed at the palace tomorrow at which the King will present long-service medals to more than fifty servants on the royal staff.

The Duke of Gloucester accompanied the King and Queen today. They motored through the George V gateway via Staines on the Great West Road to Chiswick. The crowd watching the changing of the guard was much larger than usual, and many persons gathered hours before the royal car arrived.

With the hoisting of the royal standard over the palace today the signal was given for the opening of what will be one of the most brilliant London seasons since the war. The first two of the four courts of the season will be held Wednesday and Thursday of next week at Buckingham Palace.

FRENCH TRY TO FIND FORGED MILLET ART

One False Painting Said to Have Sold for $60,000—Usual Price $4,000.

GRANDSON BLAMES COPYIST

But Latter Says Pictures Were Signed With Famous Painter's Name by Young Millet.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 5.—An attempt is being male by a French magistrate in charge of the investigation of the wholesale forgery of paintings by François Millet and others to discover to whom the forgeries were sold.

Jean Charles Millet, the great painter's grandson, and Paul Cazeau, reproducer, have been for the present left at liberty on parole. It is likely, however, even if their cooperation in tracing the false paintings is assured, that it will prove an exceedingly difficult task, because the fabrication has been going on for nearly ten years and Cazeau has been industrious. One of the false Millets, it is stated, was resold in England recently for $60,000.

Picture dealers interviewed today sought to maintain that the number of forgeries could not be as great as was stated. The price usually asked by young Millet was $4,000 for Cazeau's admirable imitations of his grandfather's work, which it is stated he signed himself with his grandfather's name. Sometimes, as in the case of "Le Vanneur," the painting which led to the discovery of the fraud, he made the mistake of signing at the top, whereas Millet always signed at the bottom of his pictures.

"Guarantees" Accompanied Some.

Many pictures sold by young Millet, it is said, were accompanied by a guarantee signed by Charles Millet, son of the famous painter and father of the seller of the fraudulent reproductions. Charles Millet's signature was forged to these guarantees, which were cleverly worded. Thus the history of "Le Vanneur" was given from the time of its exhibition at the Paris Salon of 1848 with just the alteration that it was said to have disappeared and been found in an attic at Maisons Lafitte in 1922, whereas it was in reality burned in a fire in the home of its American purchaser.

Two other paintings of the same subject, with some slight variations by Millet, hang in the Louvre, and the copyist used these and photographs of the destroyed picture in making his reproduction, which it is admitted was itself a picture of value. At the Barbizon Museum of Millet souvenirs of sixty copies were found, most of them drawings.

Millet, in a declaration to the newspapers today, sought to throw the whole blame on Cazeau, who, he said, sold him two copies of his grandfather's painting, as originals before he admitted they were his own work. Millet in turn had sold them and spent the money and was forced, he says, to continue the traffic. He declared he had never given any false certificates and, furthermore, that for the past two years he had been on bad terms with Cazeau and had ceased all collaboration.

Painter Blames Young Millet.

When interviewed today Cazeau sought to minimize the whole affair, even to the extent of denying some statements he had made to the examining magistrate. He took the line of defense that any prosecution would be absurd as it would kill the picture trade in France. Millet, he declared, was the real culprit as it was he who signed the copies with the signature of his grandfather and had sold the pictures as authentic.

To the magistrate Cazeau had admitted having painted many copies, but today he said he had painted only about fifteen in Millet's style. Seven of these were sold in England. Millet stated that Cazeau had received $20,000 as his share of the profits, but Cazeau says he received only $3,200.

M. Douin, director of the Millet Museum at Barbizon, whose good faith is not questioned, bought from the Millet family many of the pictures which have been seized. About eighteen months ago, he says, he began to doubt the reliability of young Millet and refused to have anything more to do with him.

FIND MAYAN RUINS LOOTED.

Excavators Report Uxmal Temple Has Been Dynamited.

MEXICO CITY, May 5 (AP).—The discovery that some one had dynamited and then looted a historic temple in the Uxmal ruins of Yucatan was reported here today by Professor Franz Blom of Tulaine University and by Mexican officials working with him.

The excavators reported that the temple had been wholly destroyed, causing a great loss to archeology.

Photographs of the ancient ruins of the Mayan Indians, of which those of Uxmal were a part, were made last Fall by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who made special flights for that purpose.

BRITISH BY-ELECTION TODAY

Beaverbrook Backs Tory in West Fulham on Empire Free Trade.

LONDON, May 5 (Canadian Press).—The voters will go to the polls in West Fulham tomorrow to choose a successor in Parliament to G. E. Spero, Labor member, resigned. Sir Cyril Cobb, Conservative, upholding the platform of empire economic unity, and J. W. Banfield, Laborite, are the candidates. Labor's majority in the general election was 2,221.

The by-election is considered most significant. Lord Beaverbrook has been an active figure in the campaign, supporting the Conservative and pushing his advocacy of free trade within the empire.

DODGE CASE STIRS PROTEST IN FRANCE

Paris Paper Alleges Copy of Account With Dressmaker Was Obtained by Fraud.

DEMANDS STRICT INQUIRY

Blow to France's Dignity Seen in Operations by Our Customs Agents—Latter Are Silent.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 5.—In a two-column editorial on the front page, The Oeuvre this morning demands a "rigorous inquiry" into the methods by which the newspaper alleges United States Treasury agents in Paris obtained a photographic copy of the account of Mrs. Robert L. Dodge of Millneck, L. I., with a well-known Paris dressmaker.

Mrs. Dodge, who is president of Harriet Hubbard Ayer, Inc., manufacturers of cosmetics and operators of a string of beauty shops in the United States, paid $213,000 in duties, and penalties last week—said to be the heaviest customs penalty ever assessed at the Port of New York—for failure to make proper declaration for $75,000 worth of jewelry and Paris gowns, and for other alleged violations of the customs regulations extending over a period of five years.

When Mrs. Dodge's attorneys paid the fine government attorneys disclosed that $50,000 of the amount would be handed to a "Paris clerk" who was the government's informant.

The Oeuvre quotes an official of the dressmaking concern as saying, in effect, that some one had robbed the desk of the chief bookkeeper, after first corrupting one of the employes, in order to obtain a photograph of the Dodge account.

"While we do not charge that United States agents actually broke into the premises of the dressmaking firm, we do know the photograph was obtained by fraud and that the American Treasury is prepared to pay $50,000 to the Paris agent, who informed it so thoroughly," says the newspaper, which adds:

"In truth, the situation is disquieting. French interests, and, indeed, French dignity are involved. To permit a situation like this to exist without at least demanding a rigorous investigation would be tantamount to accepting the preliminaries of colonization to which we certainly are not prepared to submit."

In support of the contention that the Treasury agents exceeded the bounds of their position in France, the newspaper quotes from the diplomatic notes exchanged between Paris and Washington last October, as a result of which the agents were permitted to resume their activities in France.

In addition to their work in connection with French exports to the United States, the Treasury agents in Paris maintain a department for detecting customs frauds and smuggling. This work is carried on with the knowledge and consent of the French Government.

At the offices of the Treasury agents in the American Embassy it was explained today that no formal statement would be made in reference to the article in the Oeuvre. It was indicated, however, that the Treasury agents consider all information sent to them and forward to New York any portions which might prove interesting to agents examining the baggage of returning Americans.

Treasury agents here who handled the Dodge case, which was terminated last week with a payment of $213,286 in penalties, forfeiture values and duties, said last night that nothing was known here of a photographic copy of the Dodge account with a Paris dressmaker. The dressmaker is presumed to be Paul Poiret, from whom Mrs. Dodge purchased the many exquisite frocks which formed a large part of the seized baggage.

The agents said the case was closed and there would be no need of the copy of Mrs. Dodge's account, inasmuch as the items of her baggage had been checked off in payment.

When the case was closed last week, customs officials intimated there was no informant in the case, but did not deny definitely that one might have figured in the large seizure. Special agents said that as far as they were concerned there was no informant, and that usually such information was not given to them.

ARCHDUKE OTTO MAY WED.

Vienna Hears He Will Marry Into Italian Royal Family.

VIENNA, May 5 (AP).—Political circles today discussed the possibility of the marriage of Archduke Otto and a princess of the Italian royal family. Interest in the subject was shared by aristocratic families in sympathy with such an alliance.

Maria, youngest of Victor Emmanuel's daughters, who is 16, was mentioned.

Officials confessed ignorance of the rumors but it was understood that the Legitimist leader, Zichy, was favorable to the proposed match. Archduke Albrecht's claims to the throne are believed to have fallen through and it is reported that he soon will leave for a long sojourn in South America.

WANTS ALL IN PLAN FOR LEAGUE WAR AID

But Turkey Insists on Vote in Council if She Accepts Pact for Financial Assistance.

HELP IN THREATS DEBATED

British and French Favor Aid to Menaced States—Problems Go to Drafting Committee.

By CLARENCE K. STREIT.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, May 5.—The difficulties in organizing the world for the maintenance of peace which result from the fact that there are two great instruments for this purpose—the covenant of the League of Nations and the Kellogg peace pact, neither of which is quite universal—came out again today when the League Commission on Abitration and Security discussed the revision of the draft convention for financial assistance to a State which is the victim of aggression.

Last week, when the committee was discussing the convention for strengthening the League Council's means for preventing war, which is now before the drafting committee, Uruguay, as one of the half-dozen League members who have not signed the Kellogg pact, objected to the pact being mentioned in the project.

Today the opposite was seen. Turkey, as one of the half-dozen signatories of the pact who are not members of the League, wanted its special position safeguarded in the financial assistance convention. Both cases leave the vast majority of the States which are bound by both the covenant and the pact with the prospect of being troubled by complications with either group every time they try to build on their double cornerstone of peace.

Munir Bey, speaking for Turkey, wanted the financial assistance convention to be open to States outside the League, saying their adhesion would mark the first stage toward a system of sanctions common to the pact and the covenant. But he added that since it would be the right of the Council to decide when the signatories of the convention should give financial assistance, Turkey insisted on having a vote in the Council at such times, as a condition of accepting the obligations of the convention.

The Turks do not seem likely to succeed in this move, it being pointed out that if such a right is granted to a State not in the League then it must also be granted to all members of the League who are not on the Council—a step which would transform the Council into such a large and unwieldy body as to paralyze any action under the convention.

The supporters of the convention were more optimistic when the debate brought out there was general agreement between France and Great Britain, powers so often in opposite camps, on the most important question at issue—whether a State should be helped, not only when a victim of aggression, but when threatened with aggression. Both powers favored the Finnish suggestion that the convention should apply in either case against a State which refused to submit a dispute to the World Court of Arbitration or to the Council. Italy and Germany, though less strongly, still oppose aiding threatened States.

The commission was divided as to whether the Council must grant aid or whether it could do so at its discretion.

Viscount Cecil held this question was not very important, since the Council, in any event, would have to determine who was the aggressor. Once this was done, he said, it was likely the Council would aid the victim. René Massigli suggested a compromise providing that the Council must grant aid unless it decided unanimously the covenant and the pact had not been violated.

The British, French and most of the others agreed the convention should not be enforced until a general disarmament treaty had been concluded. The British expressed a belief that this did not relegate it to the millennium, as some feared, but only delayed it a little.

WOMEN FOLLOW QUEEN IN WEARING COTTON

Duchess of Atholl Joins in Move to Aid British Industry Hit by Change in Fashion.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—National Cotton Week, inaugurated for the purpose of injecting new life into the cotton textile industry, was signalized in the House of Commons today by the Duchess of Atholl, Conservative member from Kinross, West Perth.

Instead of her usual somewhat sombre attire, the Duchess wore a cotton dress in slate blue and white, thus following the lead of Queen Mary in helping make Cotton Week a success. Megan Lloyd George has ordered a cotton dress, but it was not ready today. Miss Peckton-Turberville wore cotton stockings.

Meanwhile, special displays of multifarious cotton fabrics are being given, and no fewer than 3,000 shops this week are holding window dressing competitions, dress parades and the like to boost women's fabrics made on Lancastershire looms. It was pointed out by one cotton man that the recent fashion trend away from cotton meant a difference of 400,000,000 yards annually.

BRITTEN TO MOVE FOR CRUISER PARITY

House Naval Chairman Will Offer Bill Today to Bring Fleet Up to Treaty Limits.

ADAMS TO SUPPLY FIGURES

Representative Voices Dissatisfaction With Pact Terms and May Oppose His Own Measure.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Chairman Britten of the House Naval Affairs Committee announced today that he would introduce a bill tomorrow authorizing immediate construction of additional tonnage in light cruisers, airplane carriers, destroyers and submarines, sufficient to bring the United States up to the parity with Great Britain provided in the London treaty.

The introduction of the bill will follow a conference with Secretary Adams, at which Representative Britten will obtain the figures to embody in his bell. Except for these figures the bill was ready today.

The conference of the Secretary of the Navy with Mr. Britten will in no wise be a hearing on the treaty, it was explained, but will concern only the figures which represent the difference between the present and authorized tonnage of the United States and that allowed under the treaty.

Chairman Hale of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee said today that his hearings had been postponed at the instance of Secretary Adams, who, although a delegate to the London conference, thought the first presentation of the treaty should be made by Secretary of State Stimson, head of the American delegation.

This presentation will be made on Wednesday or Thursday, when Secretary Stimson will appear before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of which Senator Borah of Idaho is chairman. Whether the hearings before this committee will be public or private will be determined by Secretary Stimson himself.

Britten Hits Treaty Allowance.

Representative Britten holds that there is no reason to delay any longer authorizing the additional tonnage allowed under the treaty. He said that if the authorizations went through he would suggest that appropriation for the construction be inserted by the Senate in the Navy Department appropriation bill, which is to be introduced in the House Wednesday and which is likely to be passed by the latter body before it can reach consideration of his proposed measure.

Mr. Britten is not at all satisfied with the category alowances of the treaty. However, he coupled with his announcement today the statement that he might even oppose the very bill which he will introduce tomorrow.

"The treaty allows us to build the type of cruisers Great Britain wants us to have," he said. "If our own experts hold that this type is not suitable for our needs, then I'll oppose my own bill in the committee.

"I am not satisfied with paper parity that is claimed for the London Treaty. After my talk with Secretary Adams, I will introduce a bill strictly on the basis of this treaty and with the actual figures it allows. This bill, of course, will be referred to my committee.

Sees Discrepancy in Policy.

The very reason the Geneva tripartite conference in 1927 failed was because we insisted on getting the type of vessel we needed. The very reason the London-conference succeeded was because we failed to get the same type. This treaty is all out of tune with the naval policy advocated by us at this time. If we were right then we are wrong now.

"If the naval experts themselves convince me that we were wrong in 1927, I will support the bill and do my best to see it safely through the House.

"At all odds, I intend to use every means in my power to prevent adjournment of Congress until definite action is taken on the bill, and under no circumstances will I agree to adjournment while the Senate has the London treaty under consideration."

OUR NAVAL PROGRAM PERTURBS JAPANESE

UCHIDA ATTACKS TREATY

Former Vice Minister Attempts to Draw Army Into Controversy on London Agreement.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

TOKIO, May 5.—Shinya Uchida, former Parliamentary Vice Minister of the Navy, addressed a letter today to General Issei Ugaki, War Minister, who is ill, asking him whether he agreed with Premier Hamaguchi that the Cabinet was responsible for the national defense and whether the general staffs should not determine the peace standing of the army and navy.

In the absence of Admiral Takarabe and the impossibility of getting any statement of the Navy Minister's attitude, the Opposition is now attempting to involve the army and to obtain a statement from the War Minister as a record.

The interpellation of Mr. Uchida in the Diet today brought a statement from Admiral Hori, chief of the Bureau of Naval Affairs, that the strength allotted to Japan in eight-inch gun cruisers at London is inferior to the last basis of negotiations at the abortive Geneva conference.

The progressive tendency manifested in the constitutional controversy which continues to rage over the London naval treaty is clearly shown by an article in the newspaper Asahi today, which points out that future complications of this kind could well be avoided by appointing civilians Ministers of War and Navy instead of generals and admirals as is now mandatory.

This is merely an indication of the way the wind is blowing, as there is no immediate prospect of any change of this kind, but more progressive statesmen admit that the day is not so far off when such a change may be made, although it is still a matter of years. The illness of the present Minister of War, General Ugaki, and the fact that he cannot be replaced by a substitute as long as he holds office, is likely to become an issue of the same nature in the present session of the Diet. This marks a new departure in Japan, as it has been customary in the past to accept the dominant position of the army and the navy without question.

A cable dispatch to the Asahi today reporting that the United States intends to strengthen the armor plate of new cruisers to be laid down has created consternation in naval circles here, where it is felt that if America is to benefit very far from better ships Japan will be placed at a serious disadvantage with her present large cruisers, the number of which she is not permitted to increase under the new treaty terms.

A Foreign Office spokesman told THE NEW YORK TIMES today that if the reports proved correct there would certainly develop increased opposition here to ratification of the treaty.

Reports that the British Labor Government is to go ahead with the Singapore naval base aroused no surprise here, as Japan has long expected that Great Britain would build the base, although abandonment of the project would, of course, be welcome. Japan, however, has raised no formal objection to the Singapore project, and will make none. Reijiro Wakatsuki was not instructed to raise the question at London, as it was felt this would bring up the whole question of fortifications, which is very complicated, and would provide further hindrance to the conference.

Don't Push . . .

There's room enough for all

Ever since the first warm day of spring, there's been a line of winter furs waiting to get into our cold storage vaults. And who can blame them . . . we'd like to hibernate in a 33° temperature for the next few months ourselves. And our grand new vaults are so large the whole zoo could move in for the summer.

Including an inspection and a blowing out of all garments before storing, the rates are as follows:

Valuation up to $150, minimum charge $3
Valuation from $150 to $500 . . . 2%
Valuation above $1000 . . . . . 1%

We also have excellent facilities for the storing and cleaning of rugs, and the charges for these services are just as reasonable as those quoted above. Goods will be called for and returned within the radius of our motor delivery

And for the little ones who stayed home

Ex-Moth

. . Lord & Taylor's own moth preventative. This should be used to protect those articles that have not been sent to storage . . coats, blankets, small rugs . . everything subject to attack by moths. Just hang the filled container in a closed room or closet so the vapors can work downward, and the moths are completely overpowered.

BILLY SUNDAY HERE AFTER MANY YEARS

PRAYS STANDING ON A CHAIR

Says He Has Led 1,000,000 Persons to "Hit the Trail"—Mrs. Finley J. Shepard Greets Evangelist.

Billy Sunday came back to New York last night. It was the first time he had preached here in thirteen years, since his thirteen weeks' trail-hitting campaign in the tabernacle on Washington Heights, where the Medical Centre now stands.

Mr. Sunday's appearance last night was in the Cornell Memorial Methodist Church, 231 East Seventy-sixth Street, between Second and Third Avenues. The building was packed, many standing about the walls and others in the street. Mrs. Sunday, known as "Ma," was with her husband.

It was the same Billy on the whole but without quite the same degree of fire. He pounded the lecturn, raced back and forth on the platform as he denounced modern sins, talked just as fast or faster, went through all the motions of a baseball player, and, finally, jumped to a chair and planted one leg on top of the desk. In this position he offered a closing prayer.

Before the evangelist started to preach there were brief speeches by several of his old friends. One of these was Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, formerly Miss Helen M. Gould.

"We are so glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Sunday here," said Mrs. Shepard. "Some of us are trying to continue the work which they started thirteen years ago."

Mr. Sunday was presented by the Rev. Lincoln Caswell, pastor of the church. By the side of Mrs. Sunday sat Mrs. J. E. L. Davis of 1,170 Fifth Avenue, president of the Friendly League for Christian Service, the present name of the Young Women's Bible Study Class, organized under Mr. Sunday. Mrs. Davis, who has been the president of the organization from the start, told briefly of the work as carried on today. Another speaker was Victoria Booth-Clifford Demarest, a granddaughter of General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army.

Mr. Sunday closed his sermon by telling of his conversion on "a dark night in Chicago" when he was a professional baseball player.

"No man has ever lived in America who has been damned and vilified as I have, and all because I have tried to make people live decent," he said. He said he had preached in every State of the Union since his New York "fight with the devil." "I have preached in the thirty-nine years since I was converted to 80,000,000 people and I have had 1,000,000 people hit the trail," he went on.

He said he was most happy to be back in New York. "You might as well introduce me to Mrs. Sunday as to New York," he said. "I played baseball on the old Polo Grounds back in 1885. If when I pronounce the benediction here tonight God has got one enemy in this church I will be sorry Mrs. Sunday and I took our 'day off' to come up here from Mount Holly, N. J., where we are conducting a revival.

"The greatest catastrophe that could happen to the American people would be the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. But that will never be."

SEES LIBERTY HERE ENDANGERED BY BANS

Head of Sons of Revolution Says This Country Is Becoming Like Pre-War Germany.

Encroachments are being made upon our personal liberty today, Major John Vernon Bouvier, president of the Sons of the Revolution, declared in an address last night on Thomas Jefferson and the Declaration of Independence at the annual dinner given by the New York Society of the Descendants of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence at Fraunces Tavern, 54 Pearl Street.

"Unhappily, this country is becoming like Germany before the war," Major Bouvier said, "a 'verboten' country, where everything, more or less, is forbidden."

A large measure of responsibility was imposed upon the descendants of the signers of the Declaration, he said, "because your forebears stood for what our country needs most, a re-Declaration of Independence and the political concept of Thomas Jefferson embodied therein, which, in its essence, spelled personal liberty and self-determination."

About 100 members and their guests attended the dinner. David Lewis Fultz, the newly elected president, a descendant of John Morton, who signed the Declaration of Independence for Pennsylvania, presided. The Rev. Dr. Robert Frazier, a missionary among the American Indians, also spoke.

The New York Society was organized three years ago and is affiliated with the national organization.

POINCARE AT MEETING.

Fully Recovered, He Attends First Public Function Since Last July.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 5.—Raymond Poincaré, now fully restored to health, took part today, for the first time since last July, in a public function when hea ttended the annual meeting of the general council of the Department of the Meuse, for which he sits as Senator.

In reply to the complimentary speeches of the president of the council and others, he replied briefly and with evidence of emotion.

"All my countrymen have shown me such profound friendship that I shall be eternally grateful," he said. "What is left of my life belongs to them and you can always count on my complete and indefatigable devotion."

Quite in line with Mr. Frieser's announcement was the appearance on the platform of Miss Constance Payne of Indiana, 16-year-old Junior Red Cross prize essay winner, who was bruised and bandaged as a result of an automobile accident yesterday afternoon.

The car in which Miss Payne was driving to the capital went off the road at Washington, Pa., and her two companions are still in the hospital there. Despite her injuries, Miss Payne delivered her address on behalf of 6,870,000 school children, who are members of the Junior Red Cross, with eloquent simplicity and effect.

The President's Address.

President Hoover spoke as follows:

It gives me a great deal of pleasure to participate in the convocation of the meeting of the officers of the American Red Cross.

The past fifteen years has seen a great change in the purpose and an expansion in the benevolent activities of this, our great official association for the administration of national charity. Originally designed for succor in war, it has now become also the national agency for relief of disaster in peacetime, both at home and abroad.

The past decade it has distinguished itself a score of times by effective organization of the saving of life and suffering. Its ever-increasing strength represents the growing of the spiritual sense of responsibility of the nation toward those who meet with disaster.

The nation has grown to complete confidence in the efficiency, ability and single-mindedness of the Red Cross. We have come to entrust it with a great responsibility, for the Red Cross is today the expression of the national will, the national sympathy, for all those overtaken by catastrophe of storm, of flood, of famine. Its call to charity to meet these emergencies is mandatory upon the heart of the nation.

It is a grave responsibility that the Red Cross holds for our country, and there is implied in it a preparedness for ready and instant action. And in discharge of this great responsibility it represents more than just cold-blooded efficiency. The American Red Cross represents the spiritual quality, the charity and sympathy of a nation to the helpless.

Without question the Red Cross societies of many countries occupy an equally high place in the confidence of their people and governments. That these great national agencies should come together in the common purpose of preventing and ameliorating suffering throughout the world is in harmony with the spirit of the age.

The Red Cross thus becomes a universal agency for giving practical expression to international good-will and to that human sympathy which is the common heritage of all.

Many years of acquaintance gives me knowledge of the effectiveness and devotion of your chairman, your staff and the self-sacrificing service of your nation-wide organization.

In the name of the American people, I welcome you to our national capital and wish you well in your deliberations.

Explaining the plan for first aid on the highways, Mr. Fieser referred to the "slaughter and injury by automobile" as "almost as disastrous as war."

"At the present rate," he said, "there are in prospect 400,000 deaths and more than 10,000,000 injuries on our highways within the next ten-year cycle."

The Red Cross, he said, "has accepted the challenge" and will shortly authorize many chapters to make an experimental attack on the problem, at points along more important highways.

"The plan, if experimentation proves its worth," he said, "will contemplate a growing system of emergency first aid, limited wherever undertaken to the necessary emergency attention which may prevent death or further injury to the sufferer before the services of the physician can be secured. It is not a substitute for medical care but is intended to meet the need until a physician arrives and takes charge. It also involves directory and telephone information at strategic points by which doctors and ambulances may be summoned to the scene of the accident."

Miss Payne told of the work of the Junior Red Cross, ranging from a holiday party given by New York juniors for blind children, to substantial contributions toward the establishment of clinics for undernourished children in Indiana and public health equipment in Minnesota.

The training in preparedness for community disaster, as a result of which juniors within twenty-four hours after a catastrophe appear on the scene "with everything from bandages and baby dresses to new chimneys and kitchen stoves," was recited by the girl.

James K. McClintock, vice chairman in charge of finance, said an enlarged membership is necessary if the Red Cross is to carry on its program. In the readjustment following the war, he said, a point has now been reached where further curtailment of activities should cease and a program of "sound expansion commensurate with the growth of the country and its growing needs and opportunities" be undertaken.

Beginning with a balance of $51,000,000 brought over from the war period, the national organization since July 1, 1919, with this year estimated, has received $117,000,000, Mr. McClintock said, and expended $152,000,000, having, therefore, reduced its balance to $16,000,000.

Mr. McClintock estimated that the Red Cross, chapters and national organization, has expended about $557,000,000 since April 1, 1917.

Confidence that the membership "can be increased without limit" was expressed by Ernest P. Bicknell, vice chairman in charge of insular and foreign possessions, who reported on the relief work accomplished last year in Porto Rico and the Philippines.

China, Mr. Bicknell said, was beyond help from the United States in view of conditions in that country which made the distribution of relief impossible.

CALLS TORY CRITICISM OF PACT SOUR GRAPES

Labor Head of British Navy Says His Predecessor Failed in Same Task.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—Albert V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, hit back tonight at Viscount Bridgeman of Leigh, who denounced the London naval treaty as a disastrous weakening of Britain's cruiser strength and declared that an agreement might have been reached three years ago but for "the incompetent handling" of the situation by Mr. Alexander's conservative predecessor, Lord Bridgeman, at Geneva.

Lord Bridgeman knew, said Mr. Alexander, that he had failed to get any agreement with the United States as to what constituted parity or approximated parity, and that in the absence of an agreement the United States was going to build what it liked, unlimited in any way.

"The attack on the MacDonald Government," added Mr. Alexander, "is purely a matter of sour grapes."

Outlining Great Britain's contribution in respect to her principal arm of defense, Mr. Alexander said it had been argued before the Preparatory Commission at Geneva that there could be no real progress in the general cause of disarmament until the position as regards large shipbuilding countries had been cleared up.

"We can now go to Geneva and say that if we are prepared to do this in our navy, with only a small standing army and with world-wide commitments, there is no reason why we should not ask other powers to disarm in the air and on land," he asserted.

Organization Opens Campaign for Outdoor Evangelistic Fund.

The twenty-third anniversary of the National Bible Institute was marked by a dinner last night at the institute, 340 West Fifty-fifth Street, at which was started a campaign for funds to carry on the organization's outdoor evangelistic work. The institute plans 4,000 meetings in the city during the next year and hopes to reach 600,000 persons. The drive will cost about $12,000.

Five Die in Liverpool Blast.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LIVERPOOL, May 5.—Five men are dead and about forty injured, nine critically, as the result of an explosion today at the oil-cake mills of J. Bibby & Sons. The accident was attributed to the spontaneous combustion of an oil-bearing sunflower cake stored on the eleventh floor of a steel silo, analogous to an explosion of coal dust in a mine.

ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S TO HAVE DOME-ORGAN

BOTH TO COST $500,000

Organ, Capable of Thunderous Effect, Will Supplement Two Others in Park Av. Church.

Plans for the construction this Summer of a dome on St. Bartholomew's Protestant Episcopal Church, Park Avenue and Fifty-first Street, which will also serve as a chamber for an organ with 1,825 pipes, were announced yesterday by the church's vestry. The instrument, it is said, will be the only dome-organ of its kind in the world.

The work of erecting the dome and installing the organ is to begin at the end of this month and is scheduled to be completed by Oct. 1. Services during these four months will be conducted in the chapel adjoining the church, the Rev. Dr. Robert Norwood, pastor, announced. The cost of the work, approximately $500,000, was met by gifts from parishioners and other subscribers anxious to see the fulfillment of the original plans for the church, drawn by the late Bertram G. Goodhue, which included a dome. In 1917 when material and labor costs were increased it was decided to abandon this feature temporarily.

The new organ, which will be a full-sized unit and supplement the church's two other organs in the chancel and rear of the church, is to be operated from a fifth keyboard on the console in the chancel. The organ has been manufactured by the Skinner Organ Company of Boston and cost $25,000.

Dr. David McK. Williams, organist of the church, explained that the new instrument would be operated on a high pressure principle producing a thunderous effect when played fortissimo. It will be dominant in the combination of three organs, it was said. Dr. Williams declared that while there are other dome-organs they are not as complex as the one to be installed.

The interior of the dome will be equipped with an elaborate grilled screen. The four main arches of the crossing will be finished in stone and with minor arches will form an octagon, the shape of the exterior of the dome.

The exterior of the dome will be a combination of stone and brickwork, carrying out the present style of the church. It will be crowned with a bronze cross.

Mayers, Murray and Phillip are the architects and the James Baird Company, Inc., the builders.

was an important factor. At the same time, brokers said, there was a heavy investment demand in the last thirty minutes, as well as active support by banking interests for certain stocks. Bargain-hunters found stocks attractive when they were scraping bottom in the fifth hour and the influence of such buying was great, according to brokers.

Buying orders for large blocks of stock reached the floor of the Stock Exchange in the last hour. Shortly before the close Goldman, Sachs & Co., bankers for Warner Brothers Pictures, placed an order for 100,000 shares of Warner stock at a price slightly below the market price. When the order was entered the stock was selling at 58½, having declined 5 points from the opening price of 63⅜. The order was to be executed at 57½, but no stock was bought at that price. The stock closed at 65½, 2 points up from Saturday's close.

Buying orders of smaller size were placed for other stocks. It was reported that United States Steel common was being bid for in large blocks at prices under the market. Steel was the leader of the late recovery, as it had been in the erratic swings which the market made earlier in the day. Within less than an hour it ran up from the day's low of 166¼ to a high of 174, but closed at 171¾, showing a fractional gain. There were sensational recoveries also in Vanadium, American and Foreign Power, Radio, Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse Electric, American Water Works, J. I. Case, Houston Oil, United Aircraft, Worthington Pump and others. The rally lifted all groups, with the exception of the coppers. The latter remained heavy until the close, influenced by the announcement of a reduction in the price of copper metal.

The extent of the general recovery is indicated by the following table, which shows the low and closing prices and the net changes yesterday, together with the low points reached on Nov. 13 of last year, when the Autumn break culminated:

Speculators tasted all of the joys and sorrows that the stock market affords yesterday. The ticker ran so far behind the market, however, that they never knew exactly where they stood. The last quotations were not printed on the Stock Exchange ticker until 5:05¼ P. M., or more than two hours after the close, while the Curb ticker did not complete its work until 4.11. The tickers ran nearly an hour behind during a good part of the trading period.

So great was the congestion in brokerage houses that the Stock Exchange extended the delivery time from 2:15 to 2:30 o'clock. This was the only concession made by the Exchange authorities, however, to the unusual market conditions. Yesterday's turnover of 8,279,260 shares placed a heavy burden on the whole stock market machinery, and many commission houses kept clerical employes on duty until late at night in an effort to bring their books up to date. Yesterday's turnover was the greatest since Oct. 30, 1929, when the volume was 10,727,320 shares. That was during the big break and on the day before the trading period was shortened. Of yesterday's turnover more than 2,250,000 shares changed hands in the last fifty minutes. Yesterday was the fifth biggest day in the history of the Exchange. It was the sixth day to show a total volume in excess of 8,000,000 shares.

The trading on the Curb yesterday was the heaviest since Nov. 13 of last year. The day's business brought the total for the year on this Exchange above the 100,000,000-share mark.

The following table compares yesterday's Stock Exchange trading with that on other big days and shows also the net changes on those days in the combined averages of THE NEW YORK TIMES:

	Sales.	Net Ch'ge Comb'd Avs.
Yesterday	8,279,260	+ .88
Oct 30, 1929	10,727,320	+17.66
Oct 29, 1929	16,410,030	−24.66
Oct 28, 1929	9,212,800	−29.22
Oct 24, 1929	12,891,650	− 6.58
March 26, 1929	8,246,740	− 2.00

Yesterday's market was in response to internal conditions only and was not affected by outside developments of the day. Brokers in their afternoon circulars attributed the weakness in the morning to further liquidation of impaired margin accounts, to "scare selling" and to aggressive short selling by professionals. The rally was said to be due to an oversold condition and to an improvement in the technical position of the market which aroused buying interest on the part of investors.

RUSH OF TRADING ON CURB.

In a maelstrom of selling in the noon period, which swept many issues to or near the low marks for the year, followed in turn by a vertical recovery at the close which eliminated most of the losses, the Curb Exchange reached the highest volume of trading for any day this year, 2,540,900 shares changing hands, a figure larger than that of any day since Nov. 13, 1929, which was the nadir of the bear drive of last year. As a result, trading for the year to date has totaled 101,261,790 shares.

At the close of trading, brisk short covering had lifted Cities Service, American Superpower, American Gas and Electric, Middle West Utilities, Gulf Oil, Humble Oil, Pitney Bowes and Stein Cosmetics to points higher than Saturday's closing prices, while the rest of the active shares showed losses of 1 to 5 points, contrasting with declines of 2 to 10 points at the day's lows.

Among the utilities to show losses were Electric Bond and Share and the warrants of its affiliates, Associated Gas and Electric, Eastern States B, Niagara Hudson Power, Lone Star Gas, Indian Territory Oil, Public Utility Holding, Tampa Electric, Utilities Power and Light and others.

Houston Oil of Texas and Vacuum Oil showed losses in the oil group, while Goldman Sachs, Central States, Blue Ridge, Electric Shareholdings, National Investors, United Founders, Shanandoah Hydro-Electric and International Superpower eased among the trusts.

In the general list declines occurred in Aluminum, Crocker Wheeler, Deere & Co., Dresser Manufacturing, Driver Harris, Newmont Mining, Irving Air Chute, Fokker Aircraft, St. Regis Paper, Technicolor and Thermoid.

BANKERS ARE UNMOVED.

Even when the selling was most severe yesterday on the Stock Exchange, leading bankers refused to become alarmed about the situation. The current reaction in share prices, they contend, bears no similarity to that of last Fall and has none of the demoralized circumstances which made the October-November break a matter of national concern.

The chief distinction between present conditions and those of last Fall, it is remarked, is the orderly nature of the trading on the exchanges. On Oct. 4, last, when six of the leading banks of the city combined to bring aid to the stricken stock market, the machinery of the Stock Exchange was on the verge of a break-down. In many issues no bids were available at any price and in others stocks could only be sold at prices far below the previous quotations. It was this situation, described by one member of the bankers' group with the expression, "air-pockets," that prompted the bankers to act. They disclaimed at all times any intention of trying to "peg" prices or even of trying to halt the decline.

Since trading during the recent days of weakness has been orderly, the question of reorganizing the bankers' group has not even been suggested, it is said.

Bankers regard the present stock market as largely professional in character, with comparatively little public participation in the market since the break of last year.

LEADING BANK STOCKS UP.

The leading bank stocks on the over-the-counter market closed yesterday with gains after experiencing wide fluctuations. Guaranty Trust Company closed 28 points higher, while the First National Bank of New York was 100 points higher. Gains of from 1 to 9 points were made by Bankers Trust, Public National, County Trust, Bank of the Manhattan Company, Corn Exchange, National City, New York Trust, Chemical, Irving and Manufacturers Trust. On the other hand, many issues closed with losses of 1 to 20 points.

Insurance issues were generally lower at the close, with the largest losses registered in Boston, Globe and Rutgers, United States Fire and City of New York, which were from 40 to 7 points down. Industrials were weak in the morning, but developed strength and regained part of their losses in the afternoon.

The fisherman sits and smokes and lives the day over again. Once more he casts so that the fly drops as lightly as thistledown on the stream and is carried to the big log. Once more there is a rushing streak of silver in the water and the sudden tug of the line between his finger and thumb as the cunning old trout feels the barb . . .

A man who is a true angler would scorn to take trout on any but the right tackle. The unwritten laws of the fight call for the lightest rods and lines that demand the maximum of brains and skill from the angler and give the trout a fighting chance.

We have the finest rods that can be made, the choice of the best flies that are tied and every correct article of equipment for the angler.

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle — any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

POLICE JOIN FIGHT ON LAUNDRY GRAFT

Mrs. Whitney, Heading Drive on Gangsters, Gets Whalen's Pledge to Cooperate.

OWNERS REPORTED AIDING

District Attorney Brower of Brooklyn Also to Support Effort to Clean Up Industry.

As the first step in an effort to end the influence of gangsters in the laundry industry of Brooklyn, Mrs. Rosalie Loew Whitney, newly appointed director of the Neighborhood Laundry Owners' Association, announced yesterday she had obtained the cooperation of Police Commissioner Whalen and District Attorney Brower in her drive against graft, estimated to take a toll of $300,000 annually.

Mrs. Whitney, one of the founders of the National Women's Republican Club, assumed the directorship after Francis D. Saitta, borough attorney, resigned. Mrs. Whitney said many laundry owners who dropped out of the association now are pledged to support the drive. Although the association once had 95 per cent of the laundries on its roster, this number decreased to almost one-third when charges were made of underworld influence within the association.

When Frankie Yale was slain in Brooklyn it was alleged that he and his gang had been affiliated with the association.

When informed yesterday of Mrs. Whitney's plans, Commissioner Whalen said, "The police will cooperate willingly to clean up the industry." He said that recently two arrests were made of alleged gangsters preying on laundries, but that the complainants disappeared, making prosecution impossible.

Mrs. Whitney said her first task would be to re-establish the morale of the owners.

District Attorney Brower said he would do everything within his power to assist the association.

One former member of the association said:

"Where are the 'gangsters' that Mrs. Whitney is going to drive out of the industry? As a matter of fact the only 'racketeers' are those who have been invited in. It is all simply a war among laundry owners."

This informant said the primary motive of the association before its recent reorganization was to combine all laundry owners of the borough into one group, then sell out to certain bankers. He said this was the reason why promissory notes amounting to more than $1,000,000, subsequently returned, were taken on the pretense of "protection."

If it could be shown that the association had complete control of the industry in Brooklyn it would have been easy to sell to the bankers," he said.

NOTE IN BOTTLE TELLS OF FATAL FIGHT AT SEA

Sailor Finds His Message Made Voyage From Off Brazil to Massachusetts.

Eighteen months ago, when an encounter between a crew of Japanese, Filipinos and Rumanians threatened disaster to a freighter off the coast of Brazil, an American seaman scribbled his name and address on a piece of paper with a few words explaining the situation on the ship and stuffed it into a bottle which he threw into the ocean.

When the seaman, Larry Kimmons, visited the Seamen's Church Institute, 25 South Street, yesterday, he found a note from the keeper of the Wood End lighthouse, at Provincetown, Mass., informing him that the bottle and its message had been picked up off the Massachusetts coast.

Kimmons said he had shipped from New Orleans as an oiler on a freighter bound for Brazil, in September, 1928, and found he was in a crew of fighting men. Their differences of nationality caused one fight after another, reaching a peak when a Rumanian fireman attacked the chief engineer and was killed. Later the chief died as a result of his injuries.

Feeling ran high, and as the ship was six days out of Santos, Brazil, the situation reached a crisis. Kimmons had slight hope of setting foot on land again and as an emergency measure scribbled the brief message, giving the Seamen's Church Institute as his address.

ORDERS WINE RETURNED.

Court Holds Seizure From Sacramental Wine Company Illegal.

About 40,000 gallons of wine, seized Feb. 20, 1928, when prohibition agents raided the premises of the Hebrew Sacramental Wine Company, Inc., 125 First Street, must be returned to the company by the government, the United States Court of Appeals decided yesterday, ruling that the seizure was illegal.

The decision, which was unanimous, upholds action taken by Francis A. O'Neill, United States Commissioner, who on motion of Moses Polakoff, attorney for the company, set aside the search warrant under which the raid had been made.

The wine, the court decided, had been properly obtained, since the company held a sale permit which would have expired Dec. 31, 1929. The permit was revoked March 17 of that year by order of the Prohibition Administrator.

"A regulation," Judge Austus N. Hand wrote in his opinion, "purporting to confiscate all such liquor (after revocation of permit) is unreasonable and unwarranted by the statute. We feel no doubt that the possession of the sacramental wine remained lawful after the termination of the permit. The search warrant was issued accordingly without proper cause and was therefore rightfully vacated. The wine is properly ordered to be returned."

TEXTILE SLUMP HITS NEW ENGLAND CITIES

Slackening of Business and Removals of Mills Cut Population in the Large Centres.

BUT PAWTUCKET, R. I., GAINS

Census Records Losses in Manchester, N. H.; Lowell, Fall River, New Bedford and Holyoke.

BOSTON, May 5 (AP).—Changing conditions in the textile manufacturing business of New England are reflected in population returns of the 1930 census compiled thus far in the various cities of the region.

Although complete figures for many cities in New England are yet to be tabulated, totals have been reported for several of the larger communities in which textiles form a basic industry. In several of these cities, standing out as exceptions to the other large centres of population in New England, from which returns have been reported, decreases are shown.

The largest textile centres are in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. In lesser degree the manufacture of cotton and woolen goods, silk and other textiles contribute to the business activities of numerous cities in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Among the largest textile cities are New Bedford, Fall River and Lowell, in Massachusetts; Manchester, N. H., and Pawtucket, R. I., in which census returns have already been compiled. Of these Pawtucket alone showed an increase in population over that of 1920.

The decreases in the three Massachusetts cities ranged from 4.5 per cent in Fall River to 11.3 per cent in Lowell. Pawtucket, which adjoins the city of Providence and is the home of many workers in the larger city, gained more than 20 per cent.

Effects of Losing Mills.

Conditions in the textile industry in New England have been the subject of much discussion in the past few years and commercial organizations have devoted much attention to such problems as "depression" and "curtailment." Records of textile organizations show that in several cities plants have been liquidated. In others mills have been closed and the machinery and equipment moved elsewhere.

The city of New Bedford, regarded as the centre of fine cotton goods manufacturing, was credited with a population of 121,217 in 1920 and 8,413 fewer residents this year. During the ten years four large plants employing more than 8,000 workers have been lost. The city still has more than forty plants of various sizes operating.

Similarly, Fall River, according to the records of textile organizations, has lost fourteen mills during the past few years. In the same time its population dropped 5,474 from 120,485 in 1920. It still has more than sixty plants in operation.

Lowell's Decrease the Largest.

The city of Lowell recorded the largest population drop, a decrease of 12,709 from the 1920 figure of 112,759. During this period several mills were liquidated, although there are still more than fifty plants in this city.

Textile manufacturing forms an important part of the industrial life of many other cities, from some of which census returns are not complete.

North Adams, Mass., showed a decrease of 768 from the 1920 total of 22,282. Its textile industries include silk, wool and cotton mills.

Holyoke, a city of 56,447, according to this year's census, lost 3,756 residents in the ten years. It has a number of silk, wool and cotton plants, but in recent years has lost two which employed more than 3,000 workers.

The city of Manchester, N. H., in which the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company's mills are located, also recorded a loss of 1,978 in population from the 1920 total of 78,384.

Gains in Smaller Cities.

Several of the smaller cities in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Hampshire in which textiles are important, recorded gains. Chicopee, Mass., in which about 130,000 cotton spindles are in operation, climbed to 43,899, a gain of 4.7 per cent in population. Cranston and Central Falls, R. I., both of which are textile manufacturing cities, showed gains, as did also Keene and Nashua, N. H.

In some of the cities in which the smaller textile plants are located a greater diversification of industry has developed in recent years. At the same time the textile industry has also showed changes, with the increasing manufacture of rayon.

CITIES GAINING IN WEST.

Census Shows Large Urban Population Rise in Several States.

Census figures made public yesterday by The Associated Press disclosed considerable growth in urban population in several States, including California, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois and Ohio.

ADD FOREIGN-BORN BY CENSUS NOTICES

800 Jews Are Listed as First Day of Advertising Plan Produces Results.

16TH DISTRICT LOSES 33,990

Enumerators Check Families Living on Barges—Objector to Get a Hearing Today.

As a result of notices inserted in the Jewish language newspapers of the city by Edward F. Corsi, supervisor of the Twenty-third Census District, about 800 Jews appeared yesterday at his headquarters, 170 East 116th Street, to be listed. This step was the first taken by that office in setting aside one day this week for each of the several groups of foreign-born residents in his district.

Today is Latin-American day, and notices have been inserted in Spanish in La Prensa urging delinquents to report at once and give the required information.

Official figures for the Sixteenth Assembly District made public yesterday showed a loss in population of 33,990, compared with 1920. Census returns for that year gave the population as 108,117. This year's count shows figures of 74,127. The district lies between Seventy-seventh and 100th Streets and Third Avenue and the East River, and embraces the strip of Lexington Avenue from Seventy-ninth to Eighty-ninth Street.

Check Families on Barges.

A check-up of New York's floating population, in the literal sense, added 169 to the total yesterday. These were barge captains and their families living on craft between Ninety-fourth and Ninety-fifth Streets and the East River. Fifty barges have been checked by the enumerators.

Lester M. Friedman, supervisor of the Twenty-first Census District, said yesterday that his task was complete with the exception of a few houses which still are being visited by enumerators. There still are some persons who have refused to fill out blanks and these will be prosecuted, he said.

Mr. Friedman also appealed to all persons in his district who may have been missed by enumerators to write to his headquarters, 641 Washington Street. His district extends from the Battery to Eighteenth Street, river to river, and from Third Avenue to Eighth Avenue.

Bruno B. Saloschin, supervisor of the Twenty-second Census District, said the work of enumeration in his territory was progressing rapidly and that about 99 per cent of the listings have been obtained. He could not give an opinion yet as to the effectiveness of the "self-enumeration plan." About two-thirds of the data by this method in his district have been furnished, but until reports have been received by the special enumerators engaged in the work he would not make definite recommendations.

Bronx Figures Being Prepared.

An announcement was made at the office of Supervisor George M. Fayles of the Bronx that official figures for the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Assembly Districts probably will be given out before the end of the month. Supervisor Ernest Bradbury, also of the Bronx, expects to begin tabulation of the total returns within the next few days, he said.

Jack Korn, a delicatessen keeper, of 564 West 160th Street, who was taken into custody April 25 for refusal to answer questions of an enumerator, is to appear today before Commissioner Francis A. O'Neill. He has been at liberty on bail.

Census figures for New Jersey made public yesterday by The Associated Press follow:

Leo V. Doherty, chairman of census supervision for Brooklyn, yesterday announced complete figures for the Fourth and Eleventh Assembly Districts. The former showed a population of 71,860, a decrease of 10,476 from the 1920 figures. The latter showed a population of 85,950, an increase of 7,888. Supervisor Mortimer H. Michaels announced complete figures for the Fifth Assembly District of 64,302, a decrease of 3,506.

New Jersey Township Gains.

CAMDEN, N. J., May 5 (AP).—Pensauken Township, adjoining Camden and surrounding the Borough of Merchantville, had one of the largest population increases of South Jersey during the past decade, census figures revealed today. The township has a population of 16,906, an increase of 10,432, or 161.13 per cent. Pensauken has had a rapid development of home building and its building of streets, sewers and other community facilities. Its residents include many who are employed in Camden and Philadelphia.

Hospital Adds to Ogdensburg.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., May 5 (AP).—Because 2,649 patients at the St. Lawrence State Hospital here were counted in the census, this city's population has increased by 2,294 in the census report. Otherwise the report would have shown a decrease of 355. The city's total is 16,903, a gain of 15.7 per cent. The hospital patients were not counted in the last census. They then numbered 2,560.

Eleventh Census for Man of 108.

COLUMBUS, Neb., May 5 (AP).—The census taker got Solomon Rickner again for the eleventh time. For him it has been just one census enumerator after another. Rickner recently celebrated his 108th birthday. He was born in Lancaster County, Pa., in 1822.

HARBOR REFUSE BILL URGED BY YACHTSMEN

Opposition of War Department Causes Surprise, as Favorable Action Was Expected.

Yachtsmen in this city were surprised to learn yesterday that a bill they expected would be passed by Congress this week, and which would provide means of prosecuting persons discarding logs and other dangerous refuse in the waters of New York, had met with objection on the part of engineers of the War Department.

The bill, which has the support of United States Attorney Tuttle and was drawn by Assistant United States Attorney Henry D. Mildeberger, was introduced in Congress by Representative Anthony J. Griffin of the Bronx. It was the understanding of those behind it that the bill was to be reported for passage by the Rivers and Harbors Committee, of which Representative S. Wallace Dempsey is chairman. The Yacht Owners' Association has asked all persons interested in the bill to send letters or telegrams to the committee requesting it to be voted out of committee at once.

Legislation which would clear the waters of New York Harbor, Long Island Sound, the Hudson and East Rivers and the oceanfront was recommended some time ago by the New York Yacht Basin Association, of which Montagu Worthley is secretary.

Among the committee of more than 200 yachtsmen who supported the movement were Junius Spencer Morgan Jr., George F. Baker Jr., Walter P. Chrysler, George M. Pynchon, Marshal Field, Grover Loening, Sherman Hoyt, Sherman M. Fairchild, Colgate Hoyt and William B. Bell.

Representatives of this committee attended several sessions of the Rivers and Harbors Committee in Washington, at which they asserted that New York Harbor was the only harbor in the country without adequate legislation curbing the menace of throwing driftwood and other obstacles into the waters, endangering yachts and other small craft. It was also asserted that the new legislation would entail no additional expense on the government, and that thousands of complaints were received each Summer from bathers at the city's beaches about discarded driftwood.

GET CLUE IN BLOCK MURDER

Detectives, Whalen Says, Have Found Motive—Capone Not Sought Here.

Police Commissioner Whalen said yesterday that detectives investigating the murder of Harry Block, night club operator, were making progress. He said they had found a definite motive for the murder; but what it was he was not at liberty to say.

At the same time he explained that the local police do not want Scarface Al Capone "for anything."

Business Statesmanship!

TIME after time it has been proved that a crown does not make a king. Nor does a handsomely furnished office make a big executive. But kings still rely on state regalia to maintain the dignity of the high place they hold. It has proved good statesmanship on the part of many rulers in American industrial and financial life, to commission us to furnish and decorate their business homes in a manner commensurate with their business standards.

To enable executives of every rank to see just how the furniture they need will look in actual use, we maintain a series of completely furnished offices called the Wholey Exhibition of Business Offices. Here may be found the latest ideas in office layout and decoration; also a thoroughly trained and efficient staff of consultants. They will gladly advise with you and submit sketches, if desired,—entirely without obligation. It may surprise you to learn how attractively an office may be furnished for only $300 to $500.

Two Kinds of Office Noise:
One of them is Silent

COLORS can clash against the eye. Ill-matched furniture jangles nerves. What the eye sees in an office has a definite, if unnoticed effect on what a business man accomplishes!

Offices of today are planned with the knowledge of this power of form and color to aid or to impair efficiency. Clutter is not for logical and marshalled thought. Serenity, spaciousness, balance and repose are the qualities sought for. And colors, where they appear, are as stimulating as in the living room of a modern and skilfully furnished home!

In the scheme of this great shop, a staff of specialists work to create settings of beauty and appropriateness for business men of every trade and profession. They know furniture. They are keen and penetrating men in the practical problems of light, of restful and economical use of space, of orderly arrangement.

The entire eighth floor of this establishment is given over to a series of model offices, from small private offices to directors' rooms. They are yours to use in the working out of your own requirements. No obligation is attached.

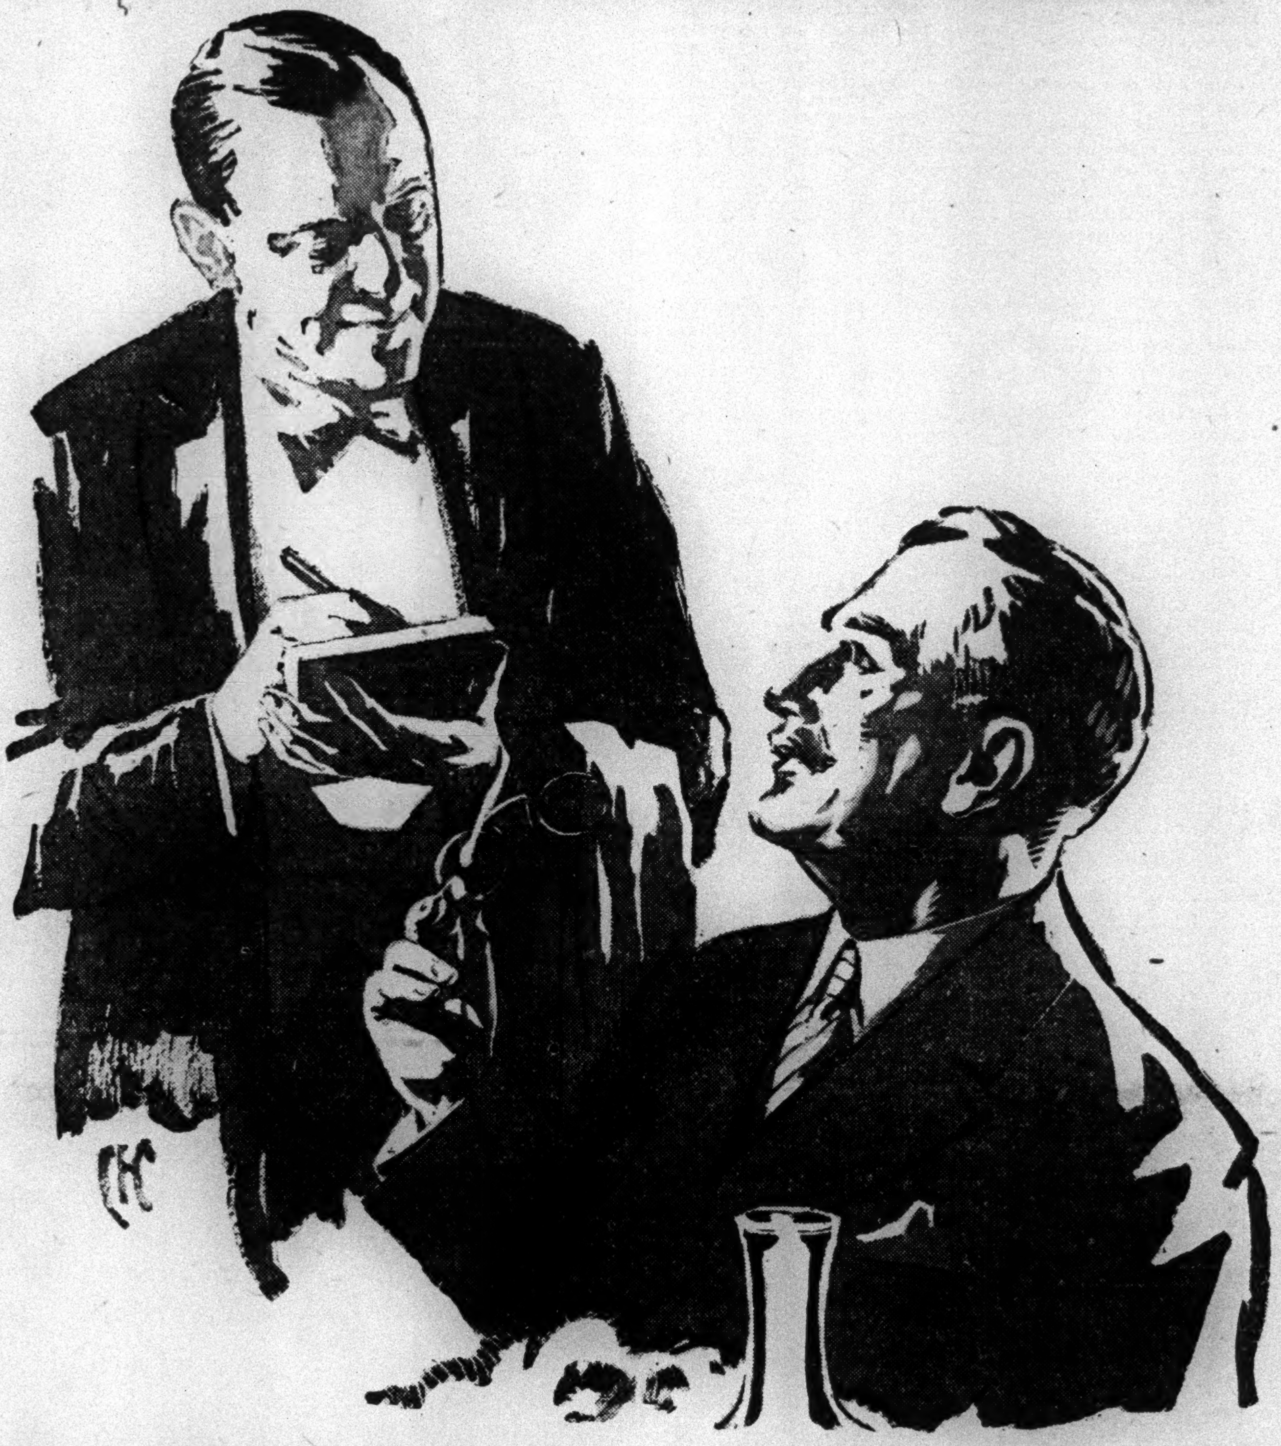
Essay On Selling a Chicken Sandwich To a Millionaire

AT his club he said, "William, just bring me a nice chicken sandwich and a pot of coffee." That evening at dinner he said, "My dear, I am a little tired tonight. And I think I shall just have a bit of this meat and some salad."

Except for a change of setting these two scenes were duplicated almost exactly by that millionaire's chief statistician, by the thoughtful young head of his bond department, by his personal secretary, and by the man at his outer desk whose sole job is to say, "What do you want to see him about?"

* * * *

When we stop to think we know that the intake of food depends on the output of energy. And yet so fixed have our ideas become that seventy-five percent of the attention of most food producers still hovers solicitously over the chicken sandwich of the millionaire and his kindred associates.



It is so hard for even the most intelligent of us to think of ourselves mechanistically and to realize that the expenditure of foot-pounds of physical energy is the basic measure of the intake of food.

* * * *

Out in San Francisco, a very brilliant attorney, studying day and night on the plans of the Great Hetch-Hetchy Water Supply, finally arrived at a point of mental exhaustion where he felt that he was coming down with brain fever. And it was probably with a considerable degree of disappointment that he received the information from his doctor that what he was coming down with was not brain fever, but—mumps.

* * * *

Most of us, at some time or other, after some strenuous mental effort have probably felt that the least we merited was brain fever.

We who work with our brains are sure that our work is so arduous that it must require a tremendous amount of energy.

It is bound to be disappointing, therefore, to realize that the most active brain requires a very small percent of the food of the body. And that a sedentary body, even with the most active of such brains, requires only about sixty percent of the food of a physical worker.

The statistics are rather interesting.

Food Requirements According to Work or Activity

Standard Requirements for—	Calories	Grams of Protein
Man at hard muscular work	4,150	150
Man at moderately active muscular work	3,600	125
Man at sedentary or woman with moderately active work	2,800	100
Man without muscular exercise or woman at light work	2,450	90

* * * *

Now when we look at the top and bottom frames we see that the man at hard muscular labor consumes nearly seventy percent more calories than the man at the bottom frame without muscular exercise.

And, when we consider the number of men who are engaged in hard muscular work as compared with those whose work does not require muscular exercise, the picture becomes a little too startling for our own eyes. For of the thirty million men in the United States, nearly twenty-five million are engaged either in hard muscular work or at least actively moderate muscular work.

In other words, the workers are to the sitters as twenty-five is to five, or as five is to one.

* * * *

The trouble is that the brain worker has very little contact with the physical worker. He knows that jobs are done and that factories run. He sees buildings being put up and being torn down. He sees truck-loads of merchandise going along the streets. For a moment now and then he may stop to see a man drive his hooks into a box of merchandise, use his knees and his arm as a lever and his belly as a fulcrum, and throw four hundred pounds of merchandise straight up into the air and onto a truck.

Or he may look up for a moment and see a steel worker forty stories high reach out for a five-ton girder and haul it home and jam it into place.

But he very seldom translates any of this into foot-pounds of energy, which must of absolute necessity require so many real pounds of intake of food with which to carry on.

* * * *

Here at True Story we get a better picture of this because we are at the receiving end of tens of thousands of letters and manuscripts wherein the proposition of food-quantity is always an all-important one. The dinners they talk about getting for their menfolks are some dinners. We don't get so many letters about making sandwiches.

MORROW WILL OPEN SENATE RACE MAY 15

Ambassador to Make First Speech in Newark and Declare His Platform.

PLANS ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

New Jersey Anti-Saloon League Meets Today to Consider the Primary Situation.

Dwight W. Morrow will make the first speech of his campaign for the Republican nomination for United States Senator from New Jersey at Cruger's Auditorium in Newark on May 15, Mayor Douglas G. Thomson of Englewood, Mr. Morrow's campaign manager, announced yesterday.

Mayor Thomson explained that in this address Ambassador Morrow, who is being opposed by former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, would declare his stand on prohibition, international relations and other issues of the campaign. Mr. Morrow is expected to align himself on the wet side, as former Senator Frelinghuysen already has done.

The speech will be broadcast by Station WOR, and amplifiers will be installed to carry the address to the overflow crowd which is anticipated. Republican organization leaders in Northern New Jersey will be urged to bring out as large a number as possible so as to make the first meeting a rousing success.

Mr. Morrow spent the day at his Englewood home, where late in the week he is scheduled to confer with the Republican leaders supporting his candidacy. It was intimated that Governor Morgan F. Larson, an outstanding member of the group supporting him, might attend the gathering.

To Explain Naval Treaty.

In the ten days intervening before his first public political appearance of the battle against Mr. Frelinghuysen Mr. Morrow will alternate between Washington and Englewood. He expects to go to the national capital for a few days to appear before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to tell about the naval treaty signed at the London conference, to which he was a delegate. He will also pay a brief visit to Amherst to see his son Dwight Jr.

Mayor Thomson said that Mr. Morrow would make a number of speeches during the campaign and also rely on the radio to a large extent. Several additional meetings are in process of arrangement, and Mr. Morrow hopes to visit as many of the twenty-one counties as can be conveniently covered.

Former Senator Frelinghuysen's managers are preparing an elaborate speaking schedule which will carry him throughout the State. He is expected to begin late this week or early next week. Mr. Frelinghuysen, it is understood, will devote a large part of his campaign against Mr. Morrow on the issue of international relations. He is an opponent of the World Court and in his platform takes a stand against "any further entangling alliances."

Dry League to Map Plans.

The headquarters committee of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey will meet this afternoon at the Newark office to consider the Republican primary. The Rev. James K. Shields, State superintendent of the league, in a letter to the trustees, stressed the dilemma the drys will confront if both Mr. Morrow and Mr. Frelinghuysen are wet. He also admitted the practical difficulties in the way of nominating a dry candidate against them. An indication of the dry attitude may be forthcoming as a result of this afternoon's meeting.

John A. Kelly of Newark, another candidate in the Republican Senatorial primaries, announced his platform yesterday. Mr. Kelly also is a wet. His platform calls for development of New Jersey ports, equality of agriculture and industry under the tariff and a better wage scale for postoffice employes.

Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow will be the guest today at a luncheon of the Republican Women's Club of Englewood. About 750 persons are expected to attend.

Women to Honor Mrs. Morrow.

Special to The New York Times.

HACKENSACK, N. J., May 5.—Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, wife of the Ambassador to Mexico, will be the guest at a reception by the Republican women of the northwestern section of Bergen County at the Ridgewood Women's Club auditorium on Wednesday, but she has said she will not discuss her husband's candidacy for United States Senator or even touch on politics. The other speaker will be Mrs. Lewis Thompson of Red Bank. All women are invited.

EXPLAINS NEW X-RAY FEAT.

Dr. Evarts A. Graham of St. Louis Lectures at Medical Congress.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 5.—Dr. Evarts A. Graham of Washington University, St. Louis, was the first speaker of the Alvarez lecture, established in 1929 by Dr. Frank Smithies, before the American Gastro Enterological Association, in convention at the Hotel Traymore today.

Dr. Graham explained his newly developed system of making the gall bladder visible through the X-ray, and attending specialists declared it would have a far-reaching effect in medical practice.

More than 1,000 physicians are attending the convention, held simultaneously with that of the American Society for Clinical Investigation.

Both societies listened to many papers bringing out new phases in the treatment of various diseases, the speakers including guest scientists from many hospitals.

GOVERNOR REMOVES BOSTON POLICE HEAD

Executive Council Unanimously Agrees on Action as a Result of Garrett Inquiry.

WILSON ANTICIPATES ORDER

He Quits Before Receiving It—Crowley Remains in Charge Until New Commissioner Is Named.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 5.—On order of Governor Allen and with the unanimous consent of the Governor's council, given at a special meeting today, Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson was removed from office.

Inefficiency and incompetency, as revealed in the investigation of pensioning Patrolman Oliver B. Garrett, were given as the grounds of his removal.

A new commissioner was not named and until he is appointed on Wednesday Superintendent Michael H. Crowley is acting commissioner.

Commissioner Wilson had been in office eight years and one month, having been appointed by Governor Cox in April, 1922. He was reappointed in 1928 by Governor Fuller.

Shortly before the announcement was made from the State House, Commissioner Wilson left police headquarters for the last time. With tears in his eyes he walked alone down the main stairway of the Berkeley Street exit.

So certain was he of what was taking place on Beacon Hill that he had told George Bussey, his office attendant, he would not be back.

Few at headquarters were aware that he contemplated departure before announcement of his dismissal. He left with few farewells. There was no gathering of friends to shake his hand.

The removal order issued by Governor Allen and presented to the council by Chester I. Campbell was passed without discussion.

The commissioner's removal is the first direct action in the impending reorganization of the Boston police force as a result of graft and corruption exposed in the Garrett investigation.

Charges often repeated resulted in a legislative order for the investigation of Patrolman Garrett's activities and pensioning. Attorney General Warner held hearings at which Commissioner Wilson was a three-day witness, and the Attorney General's findings reported to the Governor declared that corruption, inefficiency and incompetency existed in the Police Department, but that there was no evidence that Wilson or Crowley had received any money illegally.

2,000 CUBANS DISCHARGED.

Public Works Minister Dismisses Employes in All-Round Cut.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, May 5.—More than 2,000 employes of the Public Works Department were discharged today by the Minister, Dr. de Cespedes, as a result of the general shake-up of all government employes which was announced a few days ago. Never before have so many State employes been dismissed at one time.

No appointments or further dismissals will be made before Nov. 1, when the elections for the partial renewal of Congress will take place.

The electoral code of Cuba forbids the replacement of government employes during the next seven months.

Dismissals have been made in all the eleven departments of the government.

KING OPENS RAIL PARLEY.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MADRID, May 5.—Occupying the chair as honorary president, King Alfonso today opened the eleventh annual railroad conference here. The meeting was held in the Senate chambers, where representatives from all over the world will discuss railroad problems this week.

With his Majesty on the platform of the packed hall were Premier Berenguer and other officials of the government, as well as M. Foulon, president of the permanent commission of the congress, and Gaytan de Alyala, president of the present body.

Afterward the King mingled with the delegates.

FIRST MARRIAGE BY McKEE.

Floridian and Englewood Woman United by Acting Mayor.

Joseph V. McKee performed his first marriage as Acting Mayor yesterday when he officiated at the wedding of Grant Y. Flynn, 25 Years old, a civil engineer, of Coral Gables, Fla., and Mrs. Martha Emmons Angier, 28, of Englewood, N. J.

Mrs. Angier, a daughter of Mrs. N. Henry Emmons, also of Englewood, divorced Otis Angier in Boston in March, 1929, on the ground of mental cruelty.

Mr. Flynn is a native of Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. Flynn was born in Parral, Mexico.

Syracuse Alumnae Dinner.

Owing to the absence of Chancellor Charles W. Flint, now in Europe, the annual custom of the Alumni and Alumnae of Syracuse University in New York City of giving a dinner in honor of the chancellor, was changed this year, and Vive Chancellor William T. Graham was made the guest of honor at a dinner last night in the Fraternity Clubs Building at 22 East Thirty-eighth Street. Vice Chancellor Graham received a marble desk set from the graduate engineers of Syracuse.

TWISTERS IN 3 STATES KILL TWO, INJURE MANY

Four Cyclones Cut Across Oklahoma—Kansas and Nebraska Hit —"Baby Tornado" in Chicago.

KANSAS CITY, May 5 (AP).—Tornadoes swept into three States late today, causing at least two deaths and injury to several persons.

Four tornadoes in Western Oklahoma wrecked city and rural homes, cotton gins and small buildings.

Mrs. C. T. Bush, 63, was killed when one of three twisters which struck Blaine County leveled her farm home, three miles northeast of Greenfield. An undentified Negro man also was killed. A boy was reported missing.

Four men were injured, one critically, when a tornado struck Walters, Okla. Damage was estimated at about $150,000. Three cotton gins were razed, a fourth was damaged, and a dozen homes were wrecked.

A girl was injured and five farms were damaged near Ellinwood, Kan. The twister swept thirty box cars from a railroad track and carried them 500 yards. The wind also tore up the Santa Fe railroad tracks between Chase and Ellinwood. The farm home of Lawrence Tibbets, a mile west of Langdon, Kan., was destroyed.

CHICAGO, May 5 (AP).—A one-day heat wave here today wound up in a thunderstorm which brought a freak tornado in its wake.

The baby tornado ravaged three blocks in suburban Maywood, doing damage estimated at more than $20,000. E. F. Ford was waiting for a street car near his home when it struck. He looked back to see the roof lifted from his bungalow, carried over his head and dropped in splinters in a vacant lot.

The storm checked the upward trend of the mercury, which had climbed to 85 degrees, one degree short of the May 5 record set in 1909.

ALTHOUGH we may be reluctant to admit it, careful research and investigation prove that woman is the quicker to appraise and appreciate true value.

In the purchase of a motor car, for example, she prefers a car for which she will need no apology—either this year or five years from now. She will choose a car that provides freedom from trouble or annoyance for not only a thousand miles but fifty times a thousand miles. She will select, therefore, a car like the Cadillac Eight.

Many a man may prefer the snappy, superficially-smart one-year car, and with traditional masculine optimism plan to "trade it in next year and always have a new car"—no matter what kind of car.

But—though she be even considerably younger in years—his maturer-minded and farther-sighted wife is not speculating on what they may be able to buy "next year."

She knows that, for a slightly larger initial investment and a few dollars weekly increase in the family budget, they can have a Cadillac Eight now—a car in which she may sit proud and self-assured year after year—a car which even ten years hence will need no explanation—a car which renders repair, upkeep and operating costs so low,

The Cadillac Eight possesses something more than the finest of eight-cylinder power plants; the quietest and most scientific of transmissions; the surest, most positive and easiest to operate of all brakes; effortless and exclusive harmonized steering; and the protection of complete non-shatterable glass equipment—without any additional cost.

Do you realize what a comparatively small investment is needed to acquire a Cadillac Eight?

You need not deprive yourself of the joyous satisfaction and prestige of a Cadillac. Only a comparatively small cash outlay is required. Appraisal value of your present car is acceptable as cash. The balance may be paid in terms to suit your convenience under the easy G. M. A. C. Deferred Payment Plan.

It possesses something even more than its luxurious Fisher and Fleetwood bodies.

Whether the selection be a sophisticated, modishly customed sports model or a conservatively rich and regal Fleetwood closed car, makes little difference. The impression of the Cadillac Eight is the same—a quiet elegance and quality which radiates refinement, good breeding and good taste.

This is the extra invaluable value that is the priceless possession of every Cadillac owner. It is inseparably associated with the Cadillac Eight and is eloquently confirmed by the character of Cadillac's clientele.

ILLINOIS THOUGHT PRIMARY COST MORE

Senators Are Told Mrs. McCormick's and Deneen's Outlays Seem Surprisingly Small.

HEARING SOON PREDICTED

Chairman Nye Says Pennsylvania Registration Charges Suggest Bar to a Fair Poll.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The chief burden of numerous reports received by the Senate Elections Committee from Illinois, where Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick spent $252,000 in the primary campaign to defeat Senator Charles S. Deneen, who spent a little more than one-tenth as much, is one of surprise that the amounts were so small, Chairman Gerald P. Nye said today after the committee had held a long executive session.

"We have received from Illinois a good deal of mail from people expressing great surprise over an apparent will to overlook many expenditures in the candidates' expenses," the North Dakota Senator said. "We are going to know how true those charges are. I think that hearings in Chicago before the end of this session of Congress are inevitable."

In fact, Senator Nye stated that hearings on the expenditures in Illinois are "not only a possibility, but a probability this week," but whether they will be held in Washington or in Chicago, depends upon the number of witnesses whom it will be necessary to call.

The time for the investigation of the Pennsylvania campaign expenditures where the primaries will be held on May 20, is less definite, the chairman indicated, but he said that "if the charges we have received regarding registrations, received from more than one source by far, are true, they will make a fair election impossible."

Senator Nye made public a letter received from James H. Kirby, one of the lesser known candidates in the Republican primary in Illinois, who identified himself as follows:

"Member of the Fiftieth General Assembly, Thirtieth District, and whose business is—private business, farming, real estate and investments; public business, politics, State, national and international."

Mr. Kirby, who spent $58.42 on his campaign, explained it in the following letter:

May 2, 1930.

Hon. G. P. Nye,
Chairman Senatorial Campaign Investigating Committee,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Nye:

Your telegram of 4/29/30 at hand. All I know about campaign expenses is just what I see in the papers. See where J. Ham Lewis, the man with the pinkish whiskers, spent $35 for the nomination for United States Senator in the Democratic primary. Well, that's just about $35 more than I spent, however, excepting a few little incidental expenses. Below find list:

1 celluloid collar—35 cents.
3 shoe shines, 10 cents each, 30 cents.
4 shaves, 20 cents each, 80 cents.
1 hair cut at barber shop, 35 cents (always cut my own hair and shave myself when not in a campaign).
3 cans of pumpkins, 20 cents each, 60 cents (gave these to an engineer, fireman and brakie of a freight train on C. & A. Road to vote for me.
Railroad fare, one round trip (excursion rate) from Petersburg to Chicago, $5.
For street car fare (on elevated), $1.10.
2 nights at Y. M. C. A. Hotel (Eighth and Wabash), 75 cents each, $1.50.
10 meals, average of 30 cents, $3.
Campaign cards and literature, $13.92.

However, when I left home for Chicago, I forgot to drain the water out of my car radiator and engine. This was during that terrible blizzard in March and when I got here the engine was cracked in four places. Had it electrically welded at Engel's Machine Shop, Springfield, Ill., at an expense of twenty-four bucks. This is what broke the camel's back, and, incidentally broke me from running for office. Engel's Machine Shop is located at N. W. corner of Fourth and Adams Street, Telephone No. Capitol 40 H.-22. Total expenses, not including a hundred dollars' worth of anxiety, $58.42.

Respectfully submitted,
JAMES H. KIRBY.

P. S.—What the U. S. Senate needs is an investigating committee to investigate investigating committees.

Resp., J. H. KIRBY.

PRIZE FISH, REPAIRED, IS GIVEN TO HOOVER

Bangor Salmon Was on Way to Be Cooked When Mr. Snow Rescued and Presented It.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The latest fish story involving President Hoover is of the first catch of the season in one of New England's famous salmon pools and a fast play of cleverness by a new member of Congress from Maine.

Fishermen in the Bangor pool annually send the first catch of the season to the White House. It has been the custom to make the presentation directly to the President. The fish that was to occupy the centre rôle for 1930 was caught a few days ago.

Representative Snow of Bangor was early at the White House today to inquire of the prize eleven-pound salmon. The fish had arrived, he learned, and he prepared for the ceremony.

Where was the salmon?

"In the kitchen," he was informed.

In the kitchen, a trick of fate confronted Mr. Snow. Being more interested in a fish on a platter than in a ceremony, the chef had already cut off the head and tail, preparing the catch for the Presidential dinner.

Mr. Snow asked for a needle and thread and is reported to have done a neat job of sewing the Bangor beauty's head on again.

Time did not allow the same treatment of the tail; so he fastened a wire in the flesh, wrapped a piece of paper around his hand to hide the space where the tail should have been, walked out before the cameras and made the presentation.

* AGAIN "TIME" SAYS . . .

"Economics must fill the skies"

VALIANTLY the Aviation Industry strives toward the strict economy by which steamship lines and railroad systems operate, by which automobile companies attain profitable factory production.

The emphasis shifts further and further from daring individual flights to day-in-day-out private plane and transport flying. Daily many hundreds board air transports as casually as they would board the Twentieth Century, the Broadway, the Majestic, the Mauretania . . . .

Madison Square Garden, Manhattan, is now the scene of the greatest Air Show New York has ever had. (In the past, the Industry's biggest Shows have been in St. Louis, in Cleveland, in Detroit, and other important cities.)

All this week (May 3rd—May 11th) the Show offers modern-minded New Yorkers their most significant glimpse into the Air Age which impends.

To TIME's subscribers in the New York Metropolitan Area, who follow TIME's "Aeronautics" section each week, TIME says COME TO THE SHOW.

To TIME*-reading members of Aviation Country Clubs and to all other air-wise sportsmen whose pleasure it is to leave the earth and soar above the clouds,* TIME says COME TO THE SHOW.

To TIME*-reading business leaders who fly or might fly to conserve time—the most valuable commodity they possess—*TIME says COME TO THE SHOW.

To vacationists in distant places who want to learn how easy it is to week-end by private plane to Murray Bay or Moosehead Lake or the Adirondacks, TIME says COME TO THE SHOW.

To young men who aspire to a career in Aviation, TIME says COME TO THE SHOW.

To office workers who wish that a two weeks' (or a month's) vacation might comfortably take in the Yellowstone, Grand Canyon, California TIME says COME TO THE SHOW.

To those who cannot yet tell a Bellanca from a Fokker, TIME says COME TO THE SHOW.

To those who already understand, yet want to know more about the newest safety devices, and about tri-motors, streamlines, and blind flying, TIME says COME TO THE SHOW.

At the Show, TIME will have Booth 362 on the Mezzanine Floor, which will be the meeting place for TIME's friends. Here public balloting, to determine which of the many aviation advertisements run in TIME during the past year seems most effective. Let every visitor to the Show note the exhibit, register his choice . . . Booth 362, Mezzanine Floor, Madison Square Garden.

BROWN LAUDS PILOTS OF MAIL AT AIR SHOW

Postmaster General Pays High Tribute to Pioneers and Tells of Early Struggles.

SERVICE TO BE EXPANDED

Government to Aid Industry and Strengthen National Defense, He Says.

LINDBERGH TO SEE DISPLAY

Expected to Attend Today—Chamberlin, Hawks and Other Noted Fliers Also to Be Present.

Pioneers of the air mail were honored yesterday at the New York Aircraft Show at Madison Square Garden. Flying from Cheyenne, carrying the eastbound transcontinental mail, E. Hamilton Lee, Boeing pilot, landed yesterday morning at Hadley Field. After turning over his cargo to postoffice employes, he flew to New York and spoke at the Garden. Lee has flown 1,300,000 miles, more than 13,000 hours in the air. For five years he has been piloting planes over the Rockies. Tomorrow he will leave for the West.

Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, who has devoted a large part of his time since entering office to the problem of the air mail, was the principal speaker on the night program. Assistant Postmaster General Irving Glover, who has charge of the air mail, and Lieutenant James C. Edgerton, who flew the first air mail plane, also spoke during the afternoon.

Brown Pays Tribute to Pilots.

The Postmaster General, whose speech was broadcast over the National Broadcasting Company's network, said in part:

"Through personal contact and observation we know and appreciate the pilots' courage, skill and loyalty. To them belongs the major part of the credit for the notable achievement of daily transporting the mail by aircraft.

"They have been the pioneers of commercial flying. In the early years of aviation, operating inferior planes, without the aid of maps, special weather reports and adequate instruments, despite fog and darkness, their determination kept the mails moving.

"We have yet to hear of an air mail pilot who quit or flinched in the face of the many dangers incident to his calling. Sadly and reverently tonight we join in honoring the threescore brave men who have sacrificed their lives in the air mail service.

"The roster of air mail pilots contains some of the most famous names in the history of aviation—Lindbergh, Lee, Hill, Bertaud, Short and Arthur Smith. To these men and their comrades the air mail is deeply indebted."

Outlines Service's Achievements.

Mr. Brown outlined briefly the records of the service since its inception as an experiment in 1918. He said that today the air mail is flown over twenty-five domestic routes on a daily schedule and weekly or oftener on five foreign routes to Canada, Mexico, the West Indies, Central and South America.

The government's purpose, Mr. Brown said, is not merely to provide facilities for the rapid movement of mail matter.

"That is only one objective," he said. "The more important consideration is to aid commercial aviation. Believing that our national security is in large measure dependent upon keeping pace with other nations in aviation, the government has set out to develop an economically independent aviation industry."

Mr. Brown said the government's ultimate objective is the development of a nation-wide system of express and passenger air lines.

Sees Relief for Industry.

"We believe relief for the struggling air transport industry is in sight," he said. "Congress has passed and the President has just signed the Watres bill, sponsored by the Postoffice Department, to encourage commercial aviation. This new law changes the compensation of air mail contractors from the basis of poundage to a basis of mileage traveled. It authorizes the Postoffice Department to require air mail contractors to provide aircraft suitable not only to carry the air mail but suitable also to carry express and passengers."

Today at the air show is dedicated to "famous fliers," and among those who have signified their intention of attending are Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, Clarence D. Chamberlin, Captain Frank Hawks, Captain Eddie Rickenbacker and others.

The time they will arrive has not been made known. Colonel Lindbergh arrived from Miami Saturday and has been occupied with business affairs. Yesterday he notified the show committee through Charles L. Lawrence that he would attend today.

R. B. C. Noordyn of the Bellanca Aircraft Company reported several sales yesterday, among them the purchase by the Canadian Government of six Bellanca Pacemakers.

Flier, Hurled From Plane 1,700 Feet Up, Saved by Catching Strut of Plunging Craft

Special to The New York Times.

MOORESTOWN, N. J., May 5.—James Erdman, the chief pilot of the Burlington County Aero Club, narrowly escaped death yesterday afternoon when, in attempting to fix the shutter of the radiator of his plane while flying 1,700 feet above the ground, the plane suddenly hit an airpocket, dropped, and hurled Erdman out of the cockpit.

"For just an instant," Erdman said today, "I thought it was all over. Then my hand struck a strut. I grabbed it and clung to it for dear life. Finally, I managed to lift one leg over the rim of the cockpit and climb back."

Erdman was flying with Victor R. Fritz of Moorestown, a student pilot, when the mishap occurred. They were bucking a forty-mile wind when the radiator shutter snapped open. The engine began to heat rapidly and, faced with the alternative of making a forced landing or fixing the shutter in the air, Erdman chose the latter.

He unfastened his safety belt and signaled to Fritz in the other cockpit to take charge of the controls. Then he reached up over his head and outside the cockpit to grasp the shutter control. Just at that instant the plane struck the air pocket. It dropped, like a rock, 300 feet.

For a fraction of a second Erdman felt himself suspended in mid-air. He knew he had been thrown clear of the cockpit, and he struck out blindly with his hands. One hand struck a strut, and he grabbed it. The plane was making nearly eighty miles per hour and the force of the wind threatened to tear the strut from his grasp. The air drove into his nostrils so that he could hardly breathe.

Erdman wedged one knee against the side of the plane, then gradually raised himself until he was able to thrust his left leg over the edge of the cockpit. Finally, he climbed into it. Fritz, who during this time had been watching the indicators and controls, was not aware of what had happened until Erdman told him afterward.

GOLDSBOROUGH PLANS AN EASTWARD FLIGHT

Breaker of Junior Coast-to-Coast Record Will Start From Los Angeles This Week.

LOS ANGELES, May 5 (AP).—Already possessor of a new east-west transcontinental record for junior fliers, Frank Goldsborough, 19-year-old Jackson Heights, N. Y., aviator, today announced plans for a return trip this week, seeking to establish a faster west-east mark.

After battling weather and flying conditions that would have tested the skill of a more experienced flier, Goldsborough landed here at 1 P. M. yesterday, thus clipping thirteen hours and fifty-seven minutes from the former junior record, held by Dick James. He computed his flying time as thirty-four hours three minutes.

The youth, who is the son of Bryce Goldsborough, pilot of the ill-fated transatlantic plane Dawn, took off from Westfield, N. J., last Monday.

AFTER LINDBERGH'S RECORD

Lt. Col. Turner Will Leave Coast for New York Tomorrow or Thursday.

LOS ANGELES, May 5 (AP).—Declaring he would either break Colonel Lindbergh's record or "break his neck in the attempt," Lieut. Col. Roscoe Turner announced today that he would leave here at midnight either Wednesday or Thursday on a one-stop flight to New York City. Lieut. Col. Turner's single stop, like Colonel Lindbergh's, will be made at Wichita, Kan., for refueling.

The aviator will take as a companion a three-months'-old lion. He will fly a Lockheed cabin monoplane having a 525-horsepower motor, the same make of plane as that flown by Colonel Lindbergh in his recent one-stop flight of 14 hours 23 minutes and 17 seconds.

Lieut. Col. Turner holds the transcontinental record for a passenger-carrying plane, having crossed in slightly more than nineteen hours last year with four passengers.

The starting time of the flight will be conditional upon weather reports along the route east. The flier predicted that he would break Colonel Lindbergh's record by an hour.

ENGLISH GIRL FLIER OFF FOR AUSTRALIA

Miss Amy Johnson, 22, Starts Alone in Small Plane for Record Trip.

AIMS TO OUTDO HINKLER

She Makes First Landing in Field Outside Vienna—Plans Return by Air.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—Miss Amy Johnson, 22 years old, of Yorkshire, started early this morning from Croydon field on an attempt to shatter Bert Hinkler's record in a lone flight to Australia in a Gypsy Moth plane. She is the first woman to attempt alone the 22,000-mile flight to and from Australia. Hinkler reached Australia in fifteen days.

Before taking off Miss Johnson told newspaper men she thought she had "an excellent chance" of reaching Australia by carrying extra fuel instead of a passenger. She was at Croyden field at dawn, but a slight repair to an oil pipe of the plane and poor visibility delayed her start.

It was nearly 8 o'clock when she climbed into the cockpit after kissing her father good-bye. Only a few saw her take off. She wore a flying-suit with a parachute and carried along a few sandwiches and chocolate. An extra propeller was fixed to the side of the fuselage.

She is the only aviatrix holding a ground engineer's license granted by the Air Ministry, and she is said to have had 100 hours of flying. She shows the same adventurous spirit which moved her father, a business man of Hull, to follow the trail to Klondike in 1898. Her father said he had at first opposed her flight but had later relented because his "daughter was setting off for the other end of the world with all the keenness I had when I rushed off to Klondike."

Lands at Field Outside Vienna.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, May 5.—Miss Johnson landed at Aspern airdrome outside of Vienna at 5:15 o'clock this afternoon. She preferred to spend the night at Aspern in order to effect adjustments to her plane and to be ready to take off for Constantinople at 4 A. M. tomorrow. She had ideal weather today.

TO BAN AIR ACROBATICS.

Prussia Plans to Prohibit Performances After Accident.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 5.—The Prussian Government plans to prohibit all public performances of aviation acrobatics as a result of yesterday's accident at Geldern, in the Rhineland, when Adolf Langer, well-known parachute jumper, was killed after jumping from a plane at an altitude of 1,500 feet. Langer, making his seventy-eighth jump, apparently forgot to connect himself with the parachute ropes and crashed to the ground, while the parachute was driven a great distance.

Only a week ago the aviation acrobat Willie Hundertmark met death at Duesseldorf when, in trying to climb from one moving plane into another, he was dragged along the ground.

Stunt flying itself, however, will be permitted as before.

CITY TO SEE 134 PLANES.

Navy Increases Squadron to Visit New York Wednesday.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The number of planes from the battle fleet which will fly over New York and other Eastern cities on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in connection with the Aviation Show in New York, has been increased from 125 to 134.

An advance guard of sixty-six planes from the aircraft squadrons of the battle fleet will arrive here tomorrow from Hampton Roads, and will join sixty-eight other planes from the battle fleet for the demonstration Wednesday, arriving over New York about noon.

The program calls for visits by the planes to Providence, Boston, Lowell and Hartford on Wednesday and Thursday, and a second flight over New York on Friday.

FLIGHT OF R-100 DELAYED.

Repairs Cause Two Weeks' Postponement of Trip to Canada.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—The flight of the dirigible R-100 to Canada has been postponed for two or three weeks, it was officially announced by the Air Ministry tonight.

The delay is necessary in order to complete the repairs to the tail of the elevator fin which was damaged during the airship's trials on April 24. The repairs cannot be made as quickly as was at first hoped.

It was originally intended the R-100 should leave Cardington for Canada in the middle of May, but it is now expected the flight will start at the end of May or the beginning of June, the actual date being dependent upon the weather.

CALIFORNIA FLIER KILLED.

Thomas E. Scott's Plane Dives as He Nears Marysville Field.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., May 5 (AP).—Thomas E. Scott, Marysville aviator, was killed when his plane crashed near the airport here yesterday.

The craft apparently went into a dive as he was nearing the field.

BAY STATE TOUR FLIERS CRASH AT ANNAPOLIS

Unhurt, They Give Tercentenary Invitation to Hoover, Then Return to Plane.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Here on a flight from Massachusetts with an invitation for President Hoover to attend a celebration in the Bay State, two men narrowly escaped disaster when in landing at Annapolis today they struck soft ground and their plane went over on its nose. The propeller was damaged, but the fliers were unhurt.

The invitation was for the President to attend the 300th anniversary of the founding of the Massachusetts Colony and the national convention of the American Legion in Boston. While the President did not give an immediate answer, it is said he hopes to make the trip and to attend the Legion convention, which meets in October.

The fliers, Colonel A. J. L. Ford and Russell N. Boardman, are on a tour of the country in connection with the Massachusetts Tercentenary, and early this morning, prior to their White House visit, were making a side trip to Annapolis when they crashed. They returned to Washington by automobile for the White House visit and then went back to Annapolis.

BRITISH RAISE AIR GRANTS.

Commons Permits Yearly Subsidies of $5,000,000 for Routes.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—The Air Ministry was authorized by the House of Commons today to make further subsidies in aid of civil aviation by grants of not more than $5,000,000 annually.

These subsidies, together with airdrome facilities, are intended for those who undertake to establish regular air routes for passengers, freights or mails. All such assistance, however, is to terminate at the end of 1940.

MADE KNOWN THE WORLD OVER
Gillette
IN U.S.A.
T.M. REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
TRADE MARK

No longer can damaged corners spoil your shave

EVERY ONE of the big improvements in the New Gillette was made after careful experiment. Each plays its definite part in increasing the shaving comfort of the millions of men who have bought the New Gillette Razor and Blade since their introduction.

For instance, all four corners of the new blades are cut out. All four corners of the new razor cap are heavily reinforced. These changes, in combination with the new shaped guard teeth, prevent "razor pull," caused in the old razor by dropping it and denting the corners. The channel guard leaves the blade edge free, but protected. The rust-resisting blade saves you the tedious task of taking the razor apart and wiping the blade. Now you just shake it dry.

These, and all the other improvements, are yours in the New Gillette Razor for a dollar—in a beautiful case with one New Gillette Blade. Additional new blades at one dollar for ten, fifty cents for five—in the new green packet.

LISTS 37 LEADERS ON CITY TAX SURVEY

Acting Chairman of Mayor's Committee Says Body Will Change Assessment Plan.

TO SEEK SCIENTIFIC BASIS

Expect to Coordinate Work With Non-Political Study to Ease Real Estate Burden.

Personnel of the Mayor's committee for revision of the city's taxation system was announced yesterday by Peter Grimm, president of the Real Estate Board of New York, who is acting as chairman of the committee at the request of Mayor Walker.

The list includes thirty-seven men, representing the five boroughs, and made up of lawyers, economists, business leaders and representatives of several civic and trade associations. The official title of the survey body will be "The Mayor's Committee on Taxation." Its creation followed conferences held by Mr. Walker with Mr. Grimm and other business men concerning possible reorganization of the Department of Taxes and Assessments.

"The Mayor has given me full assurance that the committee will have unlimited scope in its efforts to devise sweeping changes in the present methods of assessments and to place the system on a scientific basis," Mr. Grimm said.

"Every effort will be made to coordinate the work of this body with the survey to be made by a non-political commission which will be charged with devising changes in New York State's tax system. The appointment of this latter commission was provided for in the Mastick-Pratt bill recently signed by Governor Roosevelt, which practically makes mandatory the recommendation of ways and means to relieve real estate of its disproportionate part of the tax burden."

WILLIS H. BOOTH, president of the Merchants' Association.
PHILIP LE BOUTILLIER, president of Best & Co.
GEORGE McANENY, former President of the Borough of Manhattan and former member of the Transit Commission.
PROFESSOR EDWIN R. A. SELIGMAN, head of the department of economics at Columbia University.
PROFESSOR LINDSAY ROGERS of Columbia.
DR. CARL S. SHOUP of Columbia.
ARTHUR LEHMAN of Lehman Brothers, bankers.

MALTBIE CONDEMNS P.R.T. TAXICAB DEALS

Asserts in Philadelphia Report That Company and City Have Lost $350,000.

SEES NO PUBLIC BENEFIT

Worthless Cab Concerns Were Bought at Exorbitant Prices Out of 7 Per Cent Funds, He Declares.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—Milo R. Maltbie, chairman of the New York Public Service Commission, in a report submitted today to Controller Will B. Hadley, stated that the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company's monopoly of taxicab operation here revealed no benefits to the public and through the purchase of "worthless" cab firms at excessive cost, had caused the transit company and the city a loss of about $350,000.

Mr. Maltbie concluded his report with a warning against "inefficiency and stagnation" caused by the transportation monopoly.

Disclosing taxicab deals during four years, the utility expert stated that Albert M. Greenfield, real estate operator and banker, had sold the Quaker City Cabs, Inc., and three small bus concerns to the Transit Company for $1,825,000 and collected an additional $91,250 as the agents "commission" on his own transaction.

The Public Service Commission rejected the sale on the ground that the price was exorbitant, but Mr. Maltbie's report said that Mr. Greenfield was paid both the amount of purchase and the commission fee in January, 1928. Although the Transit Company has denied it owns the Quaker Cab Company, Mr. Maltbie asserted that the company had been conducted by or in conjunction with the Yellow Cab Company since August, 1928.

Among the allegations in the Maltbie report were the following:

That Philadelphia Rapid Transit paid $3,000,000 for the Yellow Cab Company although the book value was only $1,518,156, an item of $1,453,000 having been inserted in the appraisal for "the organization" and no depreciation having been calculated for three-year-old cabs.

That the Transit Company paid $150,000 for the "obviously worthless" Cunningham Cab Company, which had a deficit of $21,691 the year of the purchase.

That it paid $100,000 for the "worthless" Diamond Cab Company, although this price, five times par value, could be justified neither by appraisal nor book value.

That it paid for these companies from the proceeds of 7 per cent preferred stock and has received from their joint operation an income of inly 6 per cent, resulting in a net loss to the Transit Company and the city of over $100,000. In addition it appears that in the first two years of transit control the Yellow Cab Company was forced to pay dividends from surplus previously accumulated.

The total cost to the Transit Company of Quaker City cabs was placed at $1,430,500. In 1928 Quaker City had a deficit of $88,000, and in 1929 one of $44,000. As the Transit investment in the company was obtained from 7 per cent stock, the net income of the Transit system was reduced in 1928 more than $130,000, and in 1929 about $110,000, the report declared.

"Competition is a great incentive," Mr. Maltbie said, "one that has never been entirely replaced by any form of regulation and control. A few years would not show what the ultimate effect of unified control of all forms of transit would be, but from a broad and far-reaching viewpoint, P. R. T. control of all taxicab operation is of doubtful wisdom, to say the least."

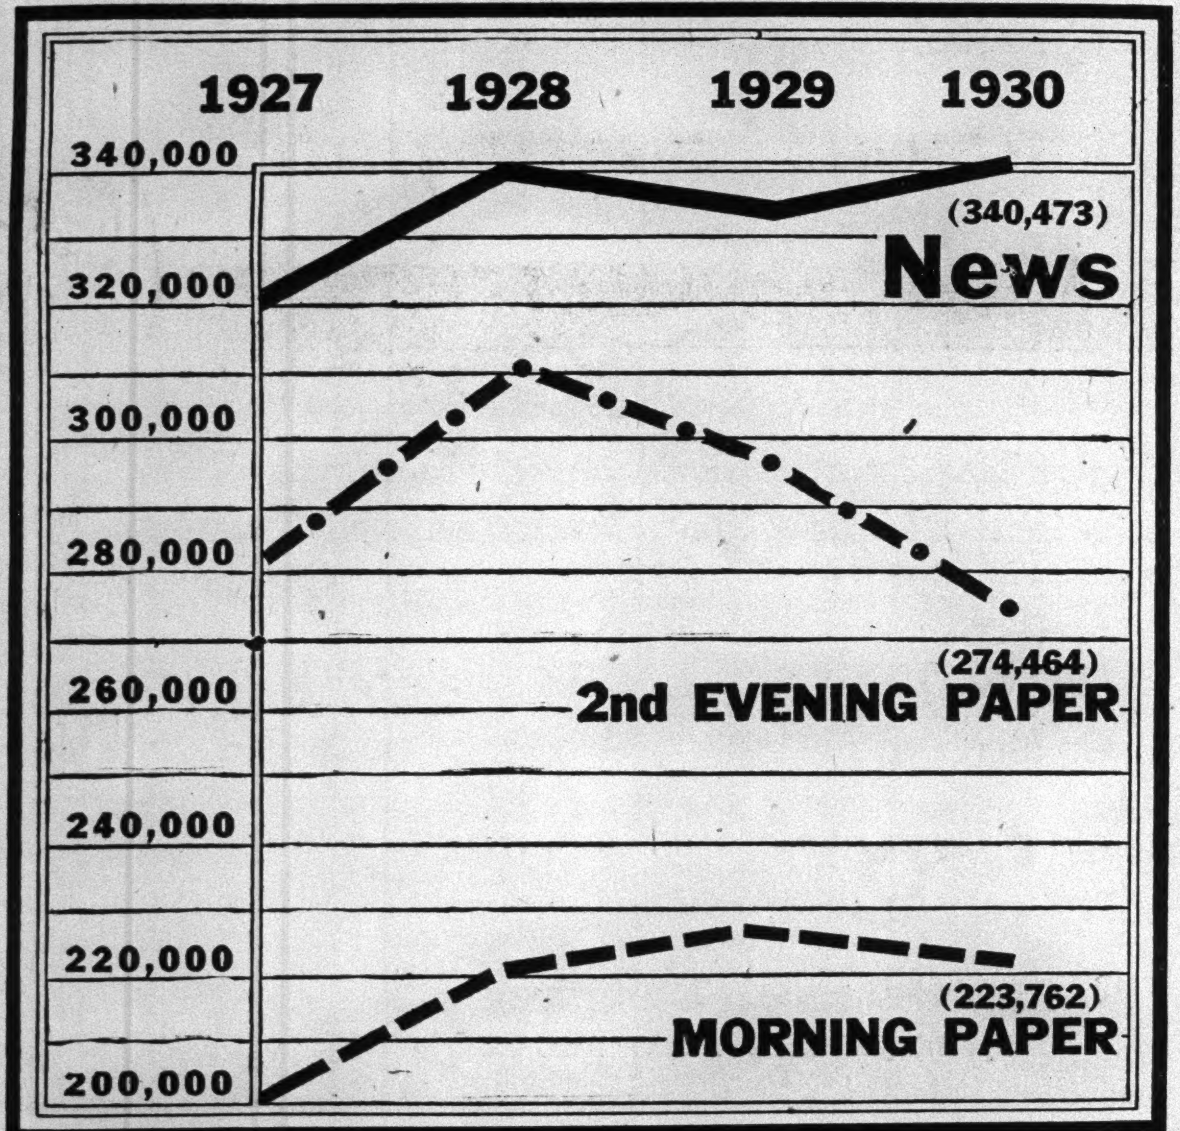
How Much Should An Advertiser Spend To Cover the Detroit Market Thoroughly?

Study the Circulation Trend Among Detroit Newspapers!



From Postoffice Statements of Week Day Circulation for 6 Month Periods Ending March 31 of Each Year

There are several ways of selling Detroit. You can use two or three newspapers at double or treble the cost without adding appreciably to your coverage, or you can use The Detroit News and reach so many of the homes in America's fourth city as to make the use of another newspaper an extravagance. The chart above shows the trend of circulation during the last three years in the weekday field. Note the exclusive rise of Detroit News circulation within the last year. Its growth has been upwards of 19,000 despite an increase of price per copy from two to three cents. The News now exceeds its nearest competitor by 66,000. Because The Detroit News is the home newspaper of Detroit, in most cases delivered to the home, its circulation shows consistent progress and stability.

WESTCHESTER LISTS HUGE PARK AREAS

PROFIT SHOWN FOR YEAR

Surplus of $39,423 Called "Outstanding Achievement"—Demand for Facilities Grows.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 5.—The eighth annual report of the Westchester County Park Commission was submitted to the Board of Supervisors today by Arthur W. Lawrence, president of the Park Commission. It shows that the commission has acquired 15,127 acres of land since 1922 at a cost of $33,284,001.

The total, $26,862,378, appropriated by the Board of Supervisors for improvements, brings the total of Park Commission land and improvement expenditures to $60,146,379.

Cited as the "outstanding achievement" of the year was the operation and maintenance of the park system without cost to the taxpayers and with a surplus. The cost of operation and maintenance is given as $1,544,207, against receipts of $1,583,631, leaving a surplus returned to the County Treasurer of $39,423.

The report notes, however, that with the continually increasing mileage of traffic parkways it will become more difficult as years go on for the commission to maintain a balance between expenses and income.

Demand for Facilities Growing.

"Shorter working hours and wider margins of leisure," said the report, "are now enjoyed by all classes of society. This condition is reflected by a public demand for diversified facilities, such as beaches, swimming pools, golf courses and amusement features. Under the commission's policy the cost of operating these facilities is directly allocated through the payment of moderate charges, which in the aggregate afford material support to the park program.

The acquisition of land since 1922 is itemized in the report as follows:

	Acres.	Appropriations.
Waterfront Parks:
Kingsland Point Park	93	$114,000
Croton Point Park	397	538,000
Crugers Park	267	115,000
Glen Island Park	107	629,000
Rye Beach and Manursing Island Park	214	4,137,000
Inland Reservations:
Mohansic Park	1,100	1
Maple Moore Golf Course	101	179,000
Saxonwoods Park	820	1,265,000
Poundridge Reservation	4,050	500,000
Parkways:
Saw Mill River and connections	2,268	5,304,000
Cross County and connections	520	4,295,000
Hutchinson River Parkway	1,104	4,440,000
Pelham-Port Chester Pkway	270	4,958,000
Sprain Brook and connections	960	1,740,000
Briarcliff-Peekskill Pkway	2,276	2,040,000
Central Westchester and connections	580	3,030,000
Total	15,127	$33,284,001

Including parks purchased with State and New York City aid, the total area of parklands in the county is given as 17,127 acres. The total length of traffic parkways in the system is 160 miles, while park shore lines on the Hudson River and Long Island Sound total nine miles in length.

The Park Commission has a policy of obtaining land by private sale whenever possible, as illustrated in the following table showing how the total of 3,944 parcels were obtained:

Year Ending April 30.	By Direct Purchase.	By Condemnation.
1924	54 parcels	....
1925	363 parcels
1926	696 parcels	126 parcels
1927	1,187 parcels	234 parcels
1928	534 parcels	126 parcels
1929	266 parcels	85 parcels
1930	185 parcels	88 parcels
Totals	3,285 parcels	659 parcels

Gifts Acknowledged.

Among the gifts to the commission acknowledged in the report is one of about ten acres for the Briarcliff-Peekskill Parkway, donated by Gerard Swope.

The report also announces plans to construct a new eighteen-hole golf course on the Saxonwoods property. Among the projects under construction are the cross-county parkway connecting the Hudson River shore with the Sound shore, the Saw Mill River Parkway north of Ardsley, Bronx Parkway extension from Hawthorne to Peekskill, and the Central Westchester Parkway from Westchester Avenue to North Broadway, White Plains.

"A great recreational centre such as Playland is planned for Croton Point, where the commission will also establish the county's first airport," the report says. A boulevard approaching the park from the Albany Post Road is on the 1930 program.

"The commission's program for traffic relief," the report declares, "may be visualized as involving two distinct stages: First, laying out a comprehensive system of interconnecting parkways and acquiring the necessary right-of-way and reservation lands. This stage of the work involved the planning of an arterial express traffic system on entirely new routes interlaced between existing highways.

"Second, construction and development operations in proper sequence as to geographical location and adjusted to the availability of funds from year to year, since the construction of such an extensive system must necessarily be distributed over a considerable period of time."

The report expresses gratification that New York State has granted an appropriation of $2,720,000 for the Bronx Parkway extension in 1930, making a total of $7,415,000 in State funds allotted since 1923.

SEWER PLANS APPROVED.

Westchester Board Passes on Three Projects Involving $10,000,000.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 5.—Final approval of the Saw Mill River, North Yonkers, and Central Yonkers sewer projects, to cost about $10,000,000, was given by the Board of Supervisors here today and issuance of certificates of indebtedness to cover the cost of construction was authorized.

The Saw Mill River project, draining the Saw Mill River Valley from Pleasantville to Yonkers, is to cost $6,300,000. The cost of the North Yonkers project, draining Hastings and the upper sections of Yonkers, is put at $2,700,000, while the Central Yonkers system is estimated at $900,000.

The board also approved reconstruction of North Avenue in New Rochelle at a cost of about $250,000; Yonkers Avenue in Yonkers at $94,000; Halstead Avenue in Harrison, Rye and Mamaroneck, at $300,000, and $30,000 for a highway bridge at Harmon Station.

William J. Wallin was reappointed to the park commission for two years, his term having expired.

The board also authorized the appointment of William B. Folger, general manager of the New York Young Men's Christian Association, as commissioner of budget and accounts at a salary of $12,000 annually. Minority Leader Sullivan objected to the appointment of a man from outside of the county to this position.

"I should think," Majority Leader Williamson replied, "that the minority leader would congratulate us upon having gone outside of the county to get a man for this position solely on his merits. First he accused us of creating the job for one of the organization's faithful, and now when we go outside of the county and get a man entirely free of any political connection, he accuses us of neglecting qualified men in the county for an outsider."

EXEMPT LAND VALUES RISE IN WESTCHESTER

Total for 1930 Is $265,054,230, Against $238,008,804 Last Year—State Property Up Sharply.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, May 5.—The annual report of exempt property in Westchester County, filed with the Board of Supervisors today, gives the value of such property on the 1930 tax rolls as $265,054,230, against $238,008,804 for 1929, or an increase of $27,044,426.

The valuation of State-owned exempt property is increased from $5,389,175 for 1929 to $9,941,647. County exempt holdings are $42,437,420, against $36,961,303. Property of cities has risen from $78,233,360 to $82,375,221, and privately owned exempt property from $89,966,101 to $97,707,517.

CANADIANS PRESENT PAPER RATE PLEAS

Railway Representatives Offer Testimony Intended to Justify Increases.

COSTS READ INTO RECORD

Hearing Here to Continue for Week, Then Witnesses Will Appear Before Dominion Board.

Hearing on the proposed increase by Canadian railways of freight rates on newsprint, which American publishers contend will augment annual costs $4,000,000, was resumed yesterday at the St. George, in Brooklyn, before Walter H. Howell, special examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Representatives of the paper mills and American shipping agencies listened to the testimony of three representatives of the Canadian Freight Traffic Association.

Edward Healy, master car builder for the Canadian Pacific Railway, said his company was forced to spend an average of $2 a car to remove nails and to strip door posts before loading with newsprint.

H. C. Taylor, superintendent of transportation for the Canadian Pacific, outlined the movement of newsprint cars over his company's lines. He said movement of the grain crop at peak periods in the Spring and Fall used three-fourths of the company's box cars, and that this prevented prompt service on demands of paper companies for cars. He told of the speed with which trains containing newsprint were handled, but on cross-examination admitted that this was largely a matter of convenience for the railroad, rather than due to demands of shippers.

Leonard Knowles, assistant general manager of the Canadian National Railways, put into the record exhibits of freight rate schedules, mileage tables, percentage tables and similar material by which he seeks to show that the proposed rates are justified. So far 738 exhibits have been received. Mr. Knowles will complete his testimony today, then will be cross-examined by Parker McCollester and William J. Mathey, attorneys for the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

The hearings will continue here this week and similar testimony will be presented next week before the Canadian Railway Board at Ottawa.

Portraits of 3 Former Presidents Given to County Lawyers.

Portraits of three former presidents of the New York County Lawyers' Association were presented to that organization yesterday and placed in its new building at 14 Vesey Street. The first meeting of the board of directors was also held there yesterday.

BREMEN PIER GUARDS DENY HIP-SLAPPING

Port Surveyor Accepts Report No Unusual Measures Were Taken Against Visitors.

After examining ten customs guards and Roundsman John Cronin who were on duty Friday night at the North German Lloyd Pier at the foot of Fifty-eighth Street, Brooklyn, Thomas W. Whittle, Surveyor of the Port, who conducted the ingestigation, decided that visitors to the steamship Bremen were not subjected to hip-slapping. Three bottles of champagne and two bottles of whisky, were taken from five departing visitors who had them in the pockets of overcoats hung over their arms, which were felt, as customary, by the guards at the gate but in no case was a visitor searched, the Surveyor said.

The guards denied emphatically that Roundsman Cronin gave orders for them to slap the hips of the visitors leaving the Bremen. Cronin said he gave only one order to a guard that night and that was not to interfere with the automobiles. Four policemen were there in plain clothes from the Hack License Bureau to look into the cars and see if the drivers had their licenses.

That may have given rise, Mr. Whittle said to the report that automobiles were being searched.

Unless someone appears at the Custom House to substantiate the charges of hip-slapping by the guards, the Surveyor said he will recommend in his report to Collector of the Port Philip Eltng, that the matter be closed. No women were searched the guards told Mr. Whittle. Two who were with a man who had a bottle of whisky taken from him made a disturbance demanding to be searched but they were advised to go home, the guards said.

The bars on the Bremen were closed and there was no evidence of any liquor having been dispensed to visitors or passengers Mr. Whittle sad.

Mr. Whittle reiterated that the policy of the custom service in force nearly a year, of not subjecting visitors to public search, will be continued.

WILL REPRESENT THE POPE.

Cardinal Lepicier Leaves for Eucharistic Congress at Carthage.

NAPLES, May 5 (AP).—Cardinal Lepicier, Papal delegate to the Eucharistic Congress at Carthage, arrived at Naples today and at once proceeded to board the steamer Citta di Napoli.

Cardinal Lepicier was greeted by the ecclesiastical and civil authorities. For the first time since 1870 a vessel hoisted to its masthead the Papal flag. The Cardinal and other members of the pontifical mission were received in a farewell audience by the Pope last evening. They took on board the steamer with them today a beautifully wrought chalice as the Pontiff's personal gift to the Cathedral at Carthage.

BALLISTICS BUREAU OPENED

Whalen Assigns Detective Harry Butts as Officer in Charge.

Commissioner Whalen opened the Bureau of Ballistics of the Police Department yesterday and assigned Detective Harry Butts, for twenty years the department's pistol expert, as its head. The commissioner said policemen with a knowledge of the technique of firearms would be assigned to help Detective Butts in laboratory work.

Photographic and microscopic study of firearms and bullets figuring in crimes will be of great assistance in obtaining convictions, the commissioner believes.

loose forms and loose carbons are loose office practice!

Evidence that can be presented in less than five minutes has convinced many a millon-dollar concern that Speed Stationery and continuous typing must replace loose forms and intermittent typing. The facts in the zigzag demonstration folder of the Rediform representative are revolutionizing business forms.

They show why Rediform Speed Stationery reduces clerical costs of billing, invoicing, and similar multi-copy record-writing as much as 25 to 50 per cent.

They show why Rediform Speed Stationery has been ordered and re-ordered by concerns like New York Trust Company, Rand McNally & Company, Public Service Electric & Gas Company, John Wanamaker, Ginn & Company, Westinghouse Lamp Company, Hyatt Roller Bearing Company, and others.

1,145,324 ASSISTED BY TRAVELERS' AID

Reports of Societies for 1929 Indicate Expenditures of More Than $1,000,000.

73,463 WERE HELPED HERE

The National Association of Travelers' Aid Societies, in its annual report made public yesterday, shows that its 140 local societies throughout the county assisted 1,145,324 persons in 1929, as compared with 1,108,608 in 1928. With expenditures of $822,571 having been reported to date for the year by 111 of the local societies, indications were that total expenditures for all societies would aggregate more than $1,000,000.

The largest number of persons assisted in a single city was 85,217 in Chicago, as against 73,463 aided in New York. Chicago outranks New York in the number of travelers requiring assistance, according to Miss Bertha McCall, assistant director of the National Association of Travelers' Aid Societies, because of the volume of intercity traffic through the mid-Western metropolis, which is served by twenty-six railroads. The association maintains offices and booths in six of Chicago's twelve rail stations and terminals.

More Money Spent Here.

Expenditures in connection with travelers aided in Chicago totaled $55,291, against $161,921 expended in New York City. Miss McCall explained that the larger expenditures in New York City might be attributed largely to the number of piers at which the Travelers' Aid Society operates in addition to all the railroad stations.

San Francisco ranks third in the number of persons aided with 35,406, and Los Angeles is fourth with 31,270. The Travelers' Aid Society disbursed $39,595 in Los Angeles, against $25,250 in San Francisco.

The total number of points at which Travelers' Aid service is available in the United States in 1929 was 2,017, against 1,877 in 1928. In other countries the number was 466, against 365 the preceding year.

"We find a special interest in the figures for cases originating at bus stations as the first point of contact," said Miss McCall. "Our greatest number of cases, 587,054, still originate at the railroad stations, and will continue to do so for many years, as Travelers' Aid Societies are organized, first of all, to give full-time service at railroad terminals.

Bus Service Problems Increase.

"But as bus travel grows and terminals are constructed, the problems will increase and service will be more and more in demand. At the present time eighteen cities are maintaining full-time service at bus terminals. Of these, three initiated this service since the beginning of 1930:

Steamship docks as place of first contact—Increase from 7,013 to 23,947.

Travelers in distress referred by interested individuals — Increase from 42,479 to 47,095.

Lodgings obtained for homeless—Increase from 42,235 to 56,257.

"PUT AND CALL" HOUSE RESTRAINED BY WRIT

W. M. Crane & Co. Enjoined From Illegal Type of Stock Dealing on State Bureau Complaint.

Described as a "bucket shop" by Deputy Assistant Attorney General Mackey Rackow, the brokerage firm of W. M. Crane & Co. of 180 Broadway was permanently enjoined yesterday from fraudulent dealings in securities. The granting of the injunction, which specifically restrains the firm from illegally executing any contracts called "puts and calls," was hailed as contributory to the passing in New York City of illegitimate "put and call" houses.

William M. Crane, the president, of 796 Fairmount Place, and Joseph D. Sugarman of 305 West Ninety-eighth Street, also were named in the injunction. Justice John MacCrate of the Brooklyn Supreme Court, who signed the order after the defendants had consented to the motion, appointed Horace S. Glassie of 445 Lafayette Avenue, Brooklyn, as receiver. Mr. Rackow, who represented the State Bureau of Securities, said that the firm had conducted a large mail order business. The business was just getting started, he declared, when the injunction was granted. He said the defendants circularized many prospective customers, painting glowing pictures of possible profits by the "put and call" route.

One of the representations, according to testimony given at the bureau, declared that "it is not out of the ordinary to cash in from $500 to $2,500 on a single option which would cost a customer from $20 to $125." According to Mr. Rackow, securities were never bought or sold on these "put and call" contracts, but the customer's profit was figured from the current market prices. This Mr. Rackow characterized as "gambling on the market." In addition, a service charge of 50 cents a share arbitrarily was deducted, though the house did nothing to warrant this charge, it was said. Mr. Crane last night declined to comment.

Orders Circuses to Insure Employes

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 5 (AP).—Circus and carnival companies exhibiting in Pennsylvania this year will be required to carry workmen's compensation insurance, according to an order issued today by Peter Glick, secretary of the State Department of Labor and Industry. Inspectors of the department have been directed to request municipal authorities not to issue licenses to circus and carnival companies unless the companies can show that they are carrying the insurance.

WESTCHESTER BOARD DENOUNCES ROOSEVELT

'Address' Calls Recent Land Investigation 'Grossly Unjust'—Deitz Land Deal Voted.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 5.—In an annual meeting marked by debates over purchases of land by Westchester County, the Board of Supervisors voted today, with one Republican joining the Democratic minority, to purchase 117 acres at East View from Commissioner John J. Deitz of the New York department of gas, water supply, and electricity, for $210,000. The board also approved a denunciation of Governor Roosevelt for his manner of conducting the recent land investigation.

The property, which adjoins the county hospital at Grasslands in the town of Mount Pleasant, will be used for what the minority conceded to be "a greatly needed new home for the aged." The gist of the arguments was that the county should buy no more land in Mount Pleasant.

Further heated discussion developed with the reading of "an address to the citizens of the county of Westchester by the Board of Supervisors." Majority leader Pliny W. Williamson read the document, which criticized the recent land investigation as a staged "political sensation."

"Governor Roosevelt's action in this matter has no precedent to sustain it," the address declared. "It violated the principle of home rule. It was grossly unjust and unfair to this board. It denied to the board and its members the common courtesy and fair play which every Governor in the past has accorded to public officials, namely, of affording them, when complaint is made, an opportunity to be heard or to make a statement of the facts, before publicly, in effect, accusing them of wrong-doing."

The address accused the Governor of playing "petty partisan politics," of impairing the county's credit, costing it thousands of dollars and "smearing a blotch on its fair name."

"This address is made," the document said, "in the hope that the protest here recorded may save Boards of Supervisors and local officials generally from similar humiliation and injustice at the hands of Governor Roosevelt or any future Governor.

"This address is also made to record the evidence that this board did not pay an exorbitant price for the court house site, but acquired such property at a price proved by independent appraisal to have been wholly reasonable."

Minority Leader Sullivan protested vehemently against the address, declaring he was unchanged in his opinion that the county did not need the property it had purchased at that time.

Theatre League Board Meets Again.

The New York Theatre League, which is bringing theatre men and ticket brokers together in an effort to curb speculation, met yesterday in the office of Gilbert Miller in the Empire Theatre and, after further consideration of the constitution and of candidates for the post of executive secretary, adjourned until Friday afternoon.

HUNTER "SING" TOMORROW.

800 Girls Will Participate in Annual Class Contests Here.

Eight hundred students will participate in the Hunter College Sing, an open class competition of songs and costumes, tomorrow morning at the Roxy Theatre.

The sing leaders of the four classes include the Misses Marian Bader, senior; Minnie Canter, junior; Evelyn Ginsburg, sophomore, and Mildred Lowenthan, freshman. The faculty judges will be Dr. Hugh Stewart, Frederick P. Gutekunst, Miss Margaret Gustaferro, Professor Agnes M. Small, Miss Madge McLain, Professor Dora Davis Farrington and Mrs. Dorothy S. Keur.

The "sing" is managed by a student committee, headed by Lyda Pinkus, vice president of Student Council. The members of the committee are the Misses Violet Moskowitz, Bertha Herling, Dorothy Wachtell, Lottie Warshall, Grace Frank, Bertha Scheiber, Sadie Geller and Mary Weiss.

"THIS IS THE GOLFER'S YEAR"

Says
GRANTLAND RICE
EDITOR OF THE AMERICAN GOLFER

"It's a battle of the giants this season! Already two heroic figures loom high on the horizon with the thunder of mighty deeds!

"In the May issue of The American Golfer you can study, through expert photographs and text, the strokes that make 'Bobby' Jones and Horton Smith the greatest players of their day. . . . You can read new sidelights on their early season battles . . . and advance news of the battles to come.

"In this typical number, Bobby Jones, Tommy Armour, Chick Evans, Doug Wesson, and Alex Morrison each bring you shrewd practical pointers which will help you get off to a flying start in your annual campaign against Old Man Par. . . . Then there are many other articles—serious and humorous—together with a host of fine photographs and our departmental features.

"1930 certainly looks like a golfer's year! . . . And we of The American Golfer will endeavor to bring you every month the choicest variety of good things to add to your zest of the game as spectator and player."

WHAT INTEGRITY is to a public official, taste is to a cigarette—the one quality that wins and holds public confidence and esteem.

ON TASTE AND TASTE ALONE, Chesterfield continues to gain smokers, both men and women. Chesterfields are mild — not strong or harsh — yet they have richness of flavor and aroma. They are not insipid or tasteless.

WITNESS THE STEADY GROWTH in the popularity of Chesterfield — a popularity which proves that with smokers, as with us, it's "TASTE above everything".

JUDGESHIP 'OFFERED' FOR PARKER VOTE

which should cause the President to send the names of good men here was not employed upon this occasion.

"When I said that, I did not know of the letter that has been written by the Assistant Secretary of the Interior, Mr. Dixon, and I now say, call the Lobby Committee together, and you will find that men with Judge Parker's consent are being offered Federal judgeships and other appointments to office if they will vote for this nominee.

"So far from withdrawing my charge that he is a weakling, I assert that many of his supporters are approaching the frontier line of culpability."

Ashurst Defends His Vehemence.

When Mr. Stephens remarked that Mr. Ashurst was always "most vehement and eloquent," the latter replied:

"Yes, and the Senator who is such a spineless cactus as to sit silent when he sees that there is about to be put upon the Supreme bench a man who may serve a generation or more, who will do more to rot down the Federal judiciary than anything that has been done in 140 years—the man who would not show any animation over that is too corrupt, is too weak to serve in the public service when he knows what I know. So I say, indeed I am vehement.

"The Constitution is what the judges say it is. Never with my vote will a man be put on that bench in such a cluster of odium as surrounds this whole transaction.

"Call the Lobby Committee together and see what strange fish you will bring up from the depths that are working to put over the Parker nomination. The able Senator (Stephens) said some ex-Governors had recommended this nomination. There will be more ex-Governors among those who recommend the nomination.

"Call the Lobby Committee together!"

"I trust the Lobby Committee will not lose interest in the investigation of any matter that is a proper subject of investigation," Mr. Stephens said, "and if there is anything in connection with the appointment of Judge Parker or his confirmation that is improper, let it be investigated."

Caraway Tells of Lobbying.

Chairman Caraway of the Lobby Committee asked Mr. Stephens:

"Does the Senator think it is becoming that men who are candidates for office or expect to be should make it almost impossible for one to walk the corridors of this Capitol without being lobbied with in the interest of the confirmation of Judge Parker? I know the Senator has not escaped that lobby. Two ex-Governors of North Carolina, if not three, have haunted the corridors here and the rooms of Senators until it became almost intolerable. The Senator is aware of that."

Senator Stephens said that Senator Ashurst's characterization of Judge Parker as a "weakling" would apply to many members of the Supreme Court, as they had decided the legality of the "yellow dog" contract in the Hitchman case.

The Attorney General's Letter.

Mr. Stephens then read Attorney General Mitchell's letter, which was as follows:

Washington, D. C., May 2, 1930.
Honorable Hubert D. Stephens,
United States Senate.
My dear Senator:

In view of the discussions as to the extent political considerations entered into the nomination of Judge Parker, it is desirable that the facts should be stated. This discussion seems to have been aroused by publication of a letter from ex-Governor Dixon to one of the President's secretaries, advancing political reasons for the nomination.

As to this letter, I can assure you that, prior to its recent publication, the President never saw it and knew nothing of it. It seems to have been sent over from the Executive Offices and placed in the files of this department as a matter of routine.

Because one out of many hundreds of letters of endorsement gave political reasons for the appointment, the assumption is hardly justified that such reasons brought about the nomination.

Upon the death of Justice Sanford, in response to the President's request for suggestions as to a successor, I undertook an inquiry into the qualifications of a number of judges and lawyers, particularly from the Third, Fourth, Fifth and Ninth Circuits, which are not represented on the Supreme Court.

Parker Widely Endorsed.

An impressive showing was made as to the qualifications of Judge Parker. He has been endorsed by two United States circuit judges, ten United States district judges, a large number of State judges, the president and five former presidents of the American Bar Association, twenty-two presidents of State and county bar associations, a number of United States Senators, including the Senators from his home State, and the Governor and former Governors of that State and by hundreds of members of the bar and prominent citizens, not only from the Fourth Circuit, but from the country at large.

These endorsements come alike from members of both political parties, and are evidence that no narrow politics entered into the matter.

I made a painstaking inquiry into Judge Parker's judicial work and examined all of the opinions he has written as a circuit judge, numbering over one hundred and twenty-five. No fair-minded lawyer could read these opinions without being satisfied that Judge Parker has legal ability of the highest order, qualifying him to sit on the highest court.

They show him to be a lawyer of sound judgment, fair-minded and sincere to a high degree, without any egotism or affection, with a wide and accurate knowledge of legal principles, and a prodigious worker. They disclose all the qualities which, added to his vigorous youth, should enable him to serve with distinction on the highest court of the land.

Called an "Outstanding Judge."

A study of Judge Parker's decisions reveals him as one of the outstanding circuit judges of the country. His personal character was shown to be above reproach and his integrity unquestioned.

This information was laid before the President with the recommendation that Judge Parker be nominated. Justice Sanford was from the South and a Republican. While locality is not controlling, it is never ignored, and the Fourth Circuit had not been represented on the court for sixty years.

It seemed that the appointment of Judge Parker to succeed Justice Sanford would be in accordance with tradition, and should be well received throughout the country.

With respect to the political faith of a successor to Justice Sanford, the tradition which requires that the Supreme Court be kept nonpartisan was fully satisfied by the presence of three Democrats upon the bench, and under these circumstances, it was considered entirely appropriate and in accordance with tradition and historical practice for the President to nominate a member of his own party who possessed the necessary qualifications. Beyond this, no State or national politics entered into the matter.

Respectfully yours,
WILLIAM D. MITCHELL,
Attorney General.

"Insult to South" Laid to Wagner.

Senator Stephens attacked Senator Wagner of New York for his reference to the Negro question in his speech last week against Parker's confirmation. He said that Mr. Wagner had grossly insulted the people of the South.

"I shall not give my personal views on the so-called Negro question," said Mr. Stephens. "I am going to say—and I regret that the Senator is not in his seat now—that only a day or two ago the junior Senator from New York offered the grossest insult to the people of the South that has been offered in a generation."

"I shall not characterize it in his absence, but I cannot see how any Senator from the Southland would have the gall to go to the President of the United States and ask him to appoint some Southern man to a position on the Supreme Court bench if Judge Parker is to be rejected either because it may be believed that an effort is made to pay a political debt or because of opposition to Judge Parker because of his views on the Negro question.

"There is not an honest, decent, respectable white man in the South who does not hold the same views on that question that Judge Parker holds."

Fess Reproaches Ashurst.

Taking the floor half an hour before adjournment, Senator Fess plunged the Senate into a hectic debate over Mr. Ashurst's charges. He regretted them since they might be interpreted to mean the President had made the offer.

"I said judgeships, Federal, are being offered, I will not say to Senators, but to a Senator, if he will vote for confirmation," Mr. Ashurst retorted. "I stand on that statement, and challenge you to call the Lobby Committee on that statement.

"I challenge the able Senator on that statement. I do not retract one inch from my statement, but reassert that around this nomination and confirmation there clusters an odium almost unparalleled in American history."

"Whenever any one makes the statement on his own authority that judgeships are offered, makes it in connection with the Senate debates," Mr. Fess rejoined, "the insinuation is that the one who makes the appointments would offer it. Otherwise the statement would not have any meaning at all.

"If the Senator means that the President, who makes these appointments, is offering judgeships, I shall want to have that statement contested, and I here and now state to him that I think it is incompetent that any one should make that statement in reference to the President."

Ashurst Denies Involving Hoover.

"I did not say the President was making offers," Mr. Ashurst replied. "The Senator will search the record in vain for any such statement. I said those who are urging confirmation are offering these things. I did not say 'the President,' and the record will disclose that I did not say 'the President.' All the President did was to nominate an unfit person and refuse to divulge the names of those who recommended the unfit person. Now, I hope the Senator will not read into my remarks something I did not say.

"The Senator is too ingenuous, too frank, to pretend that there are not in this administration, or in the capital, men who are able to make promises and have them completed in that regard."

"I would not accept that statement," Mr. Fess said. "I do not believe it credible or possible that any promise could be made binding the President of this sort or character, because the Senator believes, as I believe, that that could not be done with the President of the United States."

"The Senator is such a babe in the woods that I do not perceive how he could have advanced so far in American politics if he believes what he says," Mr. Ashurst replied.

Fess Persists in Charge.

Mr. Fess insisted that the inference was that the President was behind the offer. Mr. Ashurst retorted that he had not used the words "the President," but had said "those who are interested in the nomination." The colloquy along this line continued some time, with Mr. Fess insisting that Mr. Ashurst exonerate the President.

As if to end the debate Mr. Ashurst shouted:

"But my challenge stands. Call your committee and put Senators on the witness stand. I will stand on that again, and assert that around this nomination there clusters an odium deeper than I have ever seen in my eighteen years in the Senate; and when the truth gets a hearing, and history writes these events, those of us who knew these things will be vindicated."

Mr. Ashurst said he did not refer to Senators Fess and Watson as suggesting a judgeship for a Parker vote. Finally he said the offer had not been made by any Senator. Mr. Watson said he would be glad to have an investigation made.

"I think the Senator has made perfectly clear that what he said had no reference to the head of the government or any member of the Senate," Mr. Fess interposed.

Learned of "Offer" Friday.

"Mr. Ashurst said he learned of the offer Friday and after investigating, thought it his duty to tell the Senate what he believed to be the truth."

Discussing the Dixon letter, Mr. Fess asked Mr. Ashurst whether he believed the President ever saw it.

"I do not," Mr. Ashurst replied, "but I assume if the President had seen it, we would never have seen it here."

Mr. Ashurst said tremendous pressure was brought on the American Bar Association to get an endorsement of Judge Parker.

"Summon the members of that association's executive committee," he said, "and ascertain from them the enormous work it required to induce them to recommend this nominee, and you will see that that endorsement does not stand up as it should."

Originally it was planned to vote on the nomination tomorrow, but today's charge, with the possibility of its being investigated, and the absence of several Senators, may delay the vote until Wednesday.

THREE SENATORS SAY OFFICES WERE ENTERED

McKellar, Who Gave Out Dixon Letter on Parker, Indicates Secret Service Men Did It.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Senator McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee, who last week made public the letter from Joseph M. Dixon in the controversy over the confirmation of Judge John J. Parker, today told the Senate that his office in the Senate office building had been rifled Saturday. He indicated Secret Service agents might be responsible. He gave no evidence to prove the charge or the motive for the act.

Senator McKellar said that he had not missed anything.

Senator Brock of Tennessee reported his office had been entered and a desk pad and fountain pen had been taken. Senator Smoot of Utah said some one had stolen a pen and pen holder from his office. He said that he did not think Secret Service men would steal pens.

"I do not know what they wanted," Mr. McKellar said, "probably some Secret Service agents or somebody who wanted to get something for their benefit and to my detriment. It seems to me to be quite unnecessary to pull off raids in the Senate office building. If the raiders would notify Mr. Alden, superintendent of the building, which offices they wanted to get into I have no doubt he would arrange with Senators so that their offices could be examined by such Secret Service agents.

"Fortunately, so far as I know, there was nothing in my office that would interest anybody, and I am quite sure whoever raided it got a waterhaul; but I cannot help but wonder, in these days of Secret Service agents, where they are set upon our Federal judges, on members of the Senate (I believe Senator Caraway's office was gone through some time ago), entering into every department of government, where it is all going to end and whether any good is accomplished by Secret Service agents.

"I am opposed to secrecy myself. I think the government's business ought to be done in the open by the legislative, judicial and executive branches. Secrecy in government means bad government.

"At any rate, all I desire to say is I can see no reason for the raiding of Senators' offices and I hope it may cease, by whomsoever it is done. I am told that we have a very efficient Secret Service. How true it is I don't know. It may be efficient, but certainly it leaves a very disorderly looking condition.

"I may say to these Secret Service agents of the government—if they were the ones who raided my office—that if they will apply to me I shall be happy to let them go through all my papers and desks—just give me a little notice in advance and agree to put the the papers back where they found them and leave the desks and files in proper shape. Indeed, I invite them, when they want to find out something about my office, instead of coming in the nighttime, to come in the daytime, get my consent and go through all the files and desks regardless.

"Speaking seriously, if we had a Cheka, as they have in Russia, there might be some excuse for such a proceeding. I hope it will not occur again."

A. H. HENDERSON INDUCTED.

Ex-Prosecutor Succeeds Schulz as Bronx Surrogate.

Albert H. Henderson was inducted yesterday as Surrogate of the Bronx to succeed the late George M. S. Schulz. A large group of friends and associates were present at the ceremony. County Judge James M. Barrett presided. The court room in the Bergen Building was bright with flowers.

Among those present were Supreme Court Justices Albert Cohn and John E. McGeehan, County Judge Harry Stackell, City Court Justice William S. Evans and Municipal Court Judge William A. Keating.

The assemblage bowed their heads in silence for a moment as Judge Barrett opened the induction with a tribute to the late Surrogate. He then praised the record of Judge Henderson as an Assistant District Attorney.

$10,000,000 SOUGHT BY HISTORY MUSEUM

Trustees Map Campaign to Add to Endowment as Dr. Osborn Stresses Mounting Costs.

VIEW PLANS OF MEMORIAL

Architect's Drawings for $3,500,000 Roosevelt Group Are Sent to State Public Works Chief.

The architect's final plans for the $3,500,000 Roosevelt Memorial which the State is building adjoining the American Museum of Natural History were exhibited yesterday to the trustees of the museum at their sixty-first annual meeting by Professor Henry Fairfield Osborn, chairman of the trustees of the New York Roosevelt Memorial and president of the museum. The plans were approved last week by the trustees of the Roosevelt Memorial.

The museum trustees adopted definite plans to seek through public gifts $10,000,000 added endowment for the scientific and educational work of the museum. The board confirmed selection of a committee, with Dr. Osborn as chairman, to present actively the needs of the institution during the balance of the year in the metropolitan area and throughout the country.

Coincident with the showing of the plans to the museum trustees, the Roosevelt Memorial transmitted the final architect's plans to Colonel Frederick Stuart Greene, Superintendent of Public Works for the State, who is expected to approve them in time for contracts to be let by Aug. 1.

Urge Need for Approach.

The museum trustees adopted resolutions requesting Park Commissioner Walter R. Herrick to consider the need for an approach to the Roosevelt Memorial and for a connecting cross walk or promenade between the museum-memorial group on the west side of Central Park and the Metropolitan Museum of Art on the east side. A temporary walk between the two museums has been included in the plans submitted by the New York Chapter of the American Society of Landscape Architects for reclamation of the old lower reservoir site. This plan leaves space for the development of a permanent cross walk or promenade between the two museums following the construction of a west façade for the Museum of Art.

The trustees of the museum adopted the plans for a campaign for an additional $10,000,000 endowment following the submission of President Osborn's annual report which emphasized the mounting costs since the World War, and the increasing demands for the expansion of the museum's functions which had brought about a severe financial stringency. Many important activities, according to Professor Osborn, are at a standstill or below normal, while projects necessary to keep the museum in its position of leadership in science and public usefulness are in abeyance.

"If the museum, which has become the particular pride of the people of metropolitan New York and virtually a household word all over the globe, is to continue its brilliant record of achievement, thus far unbroken since its founding in 1869, it should have no less than $500,000 more in annual income," said the report. "This would be accomplished by the Sixtieth Anniversary Endowment Fund of $10,000,000, first proposed some time ago, but thus far not vigorously advanced. So alarmingly urgent has become our situation that we can delay no longer. It is to be hoped that the next annual report will see this fund substantially in hand or promised."

Serving with Dr. Osborn as the preliminary committee will be the following trustees:

James H. Perkins
B. Thorne
T. Bowdoin
Douglas Burden
Cleveland E. Dodge
Clarence L. Hay
Junius S. Morgan Jr.
A. Perry Osborn
D. E. Pomeroy
Henry W. Sage
L. C. Sanford
Felix M. Warburg

George H. Sherwood, director of the museum, will be secretary of the committee.

Memorial Trustees Report.

The trustees of the New York State Roosevelt Memorial, in their fifth annual report, point out that among the essential details that remained to be determined in connection with the embellishment of the memorial building were the central decorative features, the selection of an inscription for the large entablature over the great archway, and the selection of four sculptured figures to be placed upon the pediments.

"In the New York Hall, Floor I, as it has been designated, will appear four tablets which will preserve for all time the memory of those native or adopted sons of New York who have become pre-eminent in their particular branches of science, such as geology, botany, palaeontology and physics," says the report.

Among those listed are:

H. R. Schoolcraft
William W. Mather
James D. Dana

STEEL ROOF ORDERED IN OHIO PENITENTIARY

Cell Blocks to Replace Those Where 322 Perished Will Be Fireproof.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 5 (AP).—Immediate construction of a steel reinforced concrete slab roof over G and H cell blocks at the Ohio Penitentiary, where 322 convicts lost their lives in the fire of April 21, was directed today by Hal H. Griswold, State Director of Public Welfare.

Cells in A, B, C and D blocks, known as "White City," where all locks were broken by rebellious prisoners after the fire, will be equipped with the latest locking devices and steel fronts for A and B blocks will be provided. "Death Row," where prisoners are held awaiting execution, and Company K, "the prison bad boys," are housed in A and B blocks.

Convicts who led the mutiny are still housed in tents within a barbed wire enclosure. National Guardsmen under Colonel Robert S. Haubrich have put sixty-six who refused to work in solitary cells in "White City." Bread and water is their diet.

Rufus Deeds was in serious condition in the prison hospital today suffering from lacerations about the head suffered yesterday when he was attacked by fellow-convicts while lying on his cot in the barbed wire enclosure.

WHALEN'S RED DATA SOUGHT BY CAPITAL

the documents submitted by Mr. Whalen are not authentic.

"The request which you made in your communication of May 2 cannot be complied with," the commissioner answered, "because of the fact that a criminal investigation now being conducted by the Police Department into the criminal activities of certain communistic groups in this city has not been completed.

"The disorder and violence which have occurred in many trades and industries in which certain communistic groups have been involved, resulting in death and injury to persons as well as destruction of property, makes it the duty of the Police Department to safeguard the evidence already gathered until such time as the investigation is closed."

When Commissioner Whalen was informed last Saturday that a move was under way in Washington to start a Congressional investigation into Communist operations in the United States, he said he would be glad to testify at such an inquiry and to place with a Congressional committee the material that he has assembled.

SOVIET PAPER SCORES WHALEN'S ACTIVITIES

Izvestia Says They Are a "Public Scandal" and Brands Documents Rank Forgeries.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, May 5.—Izvestia, official organ of the Soviet Government, was the only paper here to comment today on the documents made public by Grover A. Whalen, New York Police Commissioner. The other newspapers gave most of their atteniton to hte celebration of "Press Day."

Under the headline "An Attempt to Break Soviet-American Relations" the front page of Izvestia outlines the incident, with quotations from the American and British press. In an editorial the documents are branded as rank forgeries, and Mr. Whalen is accused of being an adventurer who received his position as a reward for "special services." His activities, the editorial says, are a "public scandal."

Izvestia holds that the anti-Soviet move was caused by the growing fear in the United States of the Communist party, and asserts that the view that the Bolsheviki in Moscow direct the activities of the Reds in the United States is a bogy to frighten the public. The newspapers taunt the directors of anti-Soviet manoeuvres in the United States as lacking in political experience, saying, "This tactical step of Whalen's is extremely awkward and is thus destined to fail."

Sir Henri Deterding, British oil operator, also is accused of attempts to break Soviet-American relations in a policy dictated by "hatred of the Soviets and enmity toward American competitors."

Official opinion is that American business circles are loath to break off trade relations with Russia, but that continuation of the activities of Mr. Whalen will endanger the development of trade between the two countries. The Amtorg Trading Corporation's officers in Moscow had nothing to add to the statement made by Peter Bogdanoff, head of the Amtorg Trading Corporation at New York, in reply to Mr. Whalen.

Deliveries Will Be Made at $1.45 for 1,000 Cubic Feet, Rosenquest Announces.

After twenty years of agitation for gas for their homes residents of City Island were cheered yesterday with the prospect of its imminent delivery by a new four-mile pipe line at rates no higher than charged to communities in the eastern part of the Bronx.

At a Public Service Commission hearing obtained by the City Island Improvement Association, Eugene Rosenquest, president of the Bronx Gas and Electric Company, announced that only the completion of arrangements between his company and the Consolidated Gas Company and the approval of the public authorities were needed to start the service.

The Consolidated Gas Company, he said, was ready to lay the mains and the Bronx Gas and Electric Company was ready to supply the gas upon the surrender to it of the franchise rights of the Consolidated.

After work had begun in laying the mains gas delivery could be made in six weeks, P. E. Ruther, counsel for the Bronx company, added. Mr. Rosenquest promised that City Island would be charged at the rate of $1.45 for 1,000 cubic feet.

The new pipe line will run from the East Chester tanks near the Boston Post Road along Split Rock Road, through Pelham Bay Park and under Pelham Bay to City Island. There it will serve 4,000 year-round residents and 7,000 persons in the Summer.

NEW YORK WOMEN GET RENO DIVORCES

Mrs. A. B. Kerr Tells Court of Husband's 'Fixed Ideas'—Remsen Seeks Custody of Sons.

Special to The New York Times.

RENO, Nev., May 5.—Mrs. Rosamund Burr Kerr of New York obtained a divorce here today from Albert Boardman Kerr, New York attorney, who in recent years has made his home in France.

Mr. Kerr had fixed ideas and convictions, and it was impossible to change them, his wife testified. At the time of the wedding on Long Island in October, 1913, some wedding invitations were lost, Mrs. Kerr told the court, and he was always bringing up the matter. He was indifferent to her comfort and health, she said, and while they were living near Bernardsville, she said, she had to do most of the work, her servants being limited. He told her in 1927 that he wanted her to leave him. An agreement was made out of court and provided that Kerr should pay his wife $600 a month.

Mrs. Caroline Spahr Roberts received a divorce from Henry Steele Roberts of New York. She charged that he left her alone nights and finally deserted her in December, 1929. They were married in Portchester, Oct. 23, 1922, and have a son aged seven. She asked no support for herself or child.

Mrs. Alice Allen Leighton of New York obtained a divorce from John Landon Leighton. They were married in New York in June, 1926, and have no children. Mrs. Leighton charged mental cruelty. An agreement settling property rights was filed.

Mrs. Ann Olivia Gibbs Sykes of Brooklyn was granted a divorce from Zenas Monroe Sykes. They were married in Ridgewood, N. J., July 3, 1928.

RENO., Nev., May 5 (AP).—Mrs. Mabel Cadman Schooley, sister of Charles Wakefield Cadman, composer of music, and herself a musician of note as well as a scenario writer, received a divorce here today from Edward Allen Schooley.

William Remsen of New York, filed a motion in District Court to take from his former wife, Anna Sherman Remsen, the custody of two minor sons. Mrs. Remsen lives at La Jolla, Cal. Mr. Remson, who said he has been paying his former wife $1,500 monthly for support of herself and the children, asserted that he found the children poorly clothed and in an environment where there was much drinking of intoxicants. The Remsens were divorced here in December, 1926.

ANTI-WAR COUNCIL LINKED WITH REDS

SEES AIM TO WEAKEN US

Urges Pacifists to Operate Abroad—Opposition to Military Training in Jamaica Denounced.

Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War, was denounced as conducting a propaganda factory by Representative Melvin J. Maas of Minnesota, a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House, who addressed the last of the season's meetings of the Government Club, Inc., at the Hotel Astor yesterday.

Near the conclusion of his address entitled "Pacifism Versus Peace," Representative Maas said: "There is a propaganda factory in the shadow of the Capitol. They send out protests against all measures of national defense." Questioned by one of the audience after his address, he said, "I have reference to the National Council for the Prevention of War, headed by Mr. Libby." "Frederick J. Libby," added Mrs. George E. Owens, president of the Government Club.

"Let's again make it respectable to be patriotic Americans," Representative Maas urged. "The pacifists ought to concentrate on militaristic countries where there is some need for pacifism. I will believe in their sincerity when organizations of American pacifists go to England, France, Russia, Germany and Italy.

"I believe that much pacifist propaganda here is deliberately put out for the purpose of rendering this country impotent domestically and internationally," he said. He asserted that the "red" movement and the "movements to reduce and eliminate the army and navy" are interlocked.

Major Gen. William R. Smith, superintendent of the United States Military Academy at West Point, told of the history, traditions and work of that institution.

Mrs. Owens assailed the opposition of certain religious leaders to the establishment of an R. O. T. C. unit in the Jamaica High School. She said this opposition was preventing the establishing of military training there although it was favored by the teachers and the pupils of the school and their parents.

The Government Club was founded in April, 1905, and Mrs. Owens has been its president for the past eleven years. Yesterday the board of directors of the organization presented to her, in recognition of her service, a silver vase filled with red roses. When she took office, Mrs. Owens said, the club had a roster of eighteen members, with five in attendance. Today it has about 800 members in the United States and South America, with a few in England and Scotland. The club's next meeting will be held on Oct. 6.

Libby Denies Maas's Charge.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5.—Denial that the peace movement in general or the National Council for Prevention of War is "financed from aborad," was made tonight by Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of that organization, in reply to statements made by Representative Melvin J. Maas of Minnesota at today's meeting of the Government Club in New York.

"Representative Maas has been misinformed," said Mr. Libby. "Every dollar that we have received has come from United States citizens unless it be an occasional subscription from abroad to our 'News Bulletin.'

"There is no connection direct or indirect between any peace organization or any peace leader in the United States and any form of communism either in or out of Russia.

"Mr. Maas's conception of our methods is equally at fault. The National Council for Prevention of War has consistently supported reduction of armaments by international agreement.

"Whether the educational material sent out by an organization such as ours is called education or propaganda depends upon the point of view. As for our location, we are further from the Capitol than several of the nationalist organizations and are; in fact, directly opposite the War Department."

REDS LOSE PLEA FOR BAIL.

Writ of Reasonable Doubt Denied to Foster and Aides in Riot.

Supreme Court Justice Gavegan denied yesterday the application by William Z. Foster, Robert Minor, Israel Amter and Harry Raymond, Communists, who were sentenced to indeterminate terms in the penitentiary, and Joseph Lester, who was sentenced to thirty days in the workhouse, on riot charges, for certificates of reasonable doubt permitting them to be released on bail pending their appeal.

The application by the defendants was based on their contention that there was a doubt as to whether their conviction would be sustained by the Appellate Division, because they should not have been charged with a more serious crime than parading without a license, and also that the Special Sessions Judges erroneously barred some of their evidence. They also asserted that Justice Ford was wrong in refusing them a trial by a jury.

MITCHELL TO STUDY RADIO MERGER PLAN

But He Will Take No Action Regarding Meeting Here Today to Vote on Project.

ANOTHER PROTEST IS MADE

Radio Corporation Stockholders to Register Their Views—Shares of Three Companies Rise.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The Department of Justice has no intention of interfering with or seeking to influence the meeting of the stockholders of the Radio Corporation Corporation of America in New York tomorrow to vote on the proposed merger with the General Electric and the Westinghouse Electric Companies, John Lord O'Brian, assistant to the Attorney General, announced today.

Mr. O'Brian said that there had been circulated in New York statements that the department was about to ask for an order restraining the merger. This was untrue and the department was not responsible for the circulation of the reports.

"It is a well-known fact that the department is making a general investigation into charges that radio patents holdings violate the anti-trust laws," he added. "That matter is still being studied by the department and, naturally, I cannot discuss it."

The understanding is that the Attorney General will study the details of the merger and then decide what, if any, action to take. The National Radio Protective League has protested against the merger on the ground that it will form a $6,000,000,000 trust and create a monopoly.

The question of a monopoly through ownership of patents frequently has been investigated by the Department of Justice and has been the basis for a number of Federal court suits. The courts have held, however, that under the Sherman anti-trust act monopolies set up through patent right holdings are not illegal under certain conditions.

This leads some lawyers to doubt whether action will be taken against the pending radio merger. They hold that the pooling of the patent rights of the three companies, which are already to a certain degree affiliated, would not change the situation from that now existing.

The Radio Protective Association issued a statement following Mr. O'Brian's announcement, declaring that "independent radio interests tonight demand a Senate investigation of the announcement of the Department of Justice that it will not prosecute the radio trust at this time."

"To protect the independent radio interests—and the people of the United States—against that monopoly, the Department of Justice should have called on the courts to enjoin that reorganization as a conspiracy to violate the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust laws," Oswald F. Schuette, executive secretary of the association, declared.

Stocks Close With Net Gains.

The stockholders of the Radio Corporation will meet this afternoon to vote on the plan to issue additional shares of common and preferred stock to the General Electric and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing companies in exchange for plant and equipment engaged in the production of radio receiving sets and apparatus and for other considerations.

News that the Department of Justice would not interfere in the voting on the plan was held partly responsible for net gains in Radio, General Electric and Westinghouse stocks at the close of yesterday's market.

HEARST PAPERS LOSE RADIO ORDER APPEAL

Wireless Subsidiary Fails in Contest Against Ruling by Federal Board.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The appeal of the Universal Service Wireless, Inc., a radio subsidiary of the Hearst newspapers, from a decision of the Radio Commission was denied today by the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia in an opinion rendered by Justice J. H. Van Orsdell.

The commission on May 4, 1928, allocated short waves to the American Publishers' Committee of which some of the Hearst newspapers were members, with the understanding that this committee would handle radio communications for all of the newspapers of the country. Later the commission decided that a "public utility" should be formed to handle the newspaper communications.

Under the original order the Hearst papers were allocated certain short wave assignments. Under the plan of a public utility no paper obtained any assignments, but any newspaper was entitled to use the new public utility which was incorporated as Press Wireless. On denial by the commission of the assignment of specific waves to the Hearst papers, an appeal was made to the District Court, which was denied in today's opinion.

The Hearst subsidiary contended that the commission had deprived it of "rights acquired by it" under the order which was later rescinded.

"The weakness of this position," the decision states, "consists in the fact that the appellant never accepted any rights under the order, but contested the order of the commission consistently and persistently, and on June 5, 1929, announced its refusal to accept any benefits under the order. It, therefore, was not such a party to the order as to give it, under the statute, the right of appeal.

"Nor can appellant relate its appealable right back to the order, since the court is without jurisdiction in that an appeal from that order was not noted within time, consequently there seems to be no ground upon which the right of appeal can be upheld in this case.

"The right of appeal being statutory the court cannot dispense with its express provisions even to the extent of doing equity."

SUMMER CONCERTS ON AIR.

Two Will Be Broadcast Each Week From Lewisohn Stadium.

Two concerts each week will be broadcast by WOR this Summer, beginning during the week of July 7, from the thirteenth season series at Lewisohn Stadium of the College of the City of New York.

The opening concert by the orchestra of about 100 musicians will be under the direction of Willem Van Hoogstraten. After three weeks Mr. Van Hoogstraten will be relieved for a like period by Albert Coates, conductor of the London Symphony Orchestra at Covent Garden. Mr. Van Hoogstraten will then return for the rest of the series.

NEWSPAPER CLUB ELECTS.

Louis W. Fehr Selected President —Plans for Benefit Discussed.

The Newspaper Club held its annual election of officers yesterday at its clubhouse, 136 West Forty-second Street. Three of the members were tied for places on the board of directors. They were Isaac D. White of The World, Edward Logan of The Herald-Tribune and Jerome V. Keating of The Evening Post.

The officers elected were:

LOUIS W. FEHR, New York American, president.
MARLEN E. PEW, Editor and Publisher, first vice president.
GEORGE H. SQUIRE, New York Times, second vice president.
ARTHUR L. MALKENSON, Jewish Morning Journal, treasurer.
CHARLES R. BARTH, Mirror, recording secretary.
PRENTICE WINCHELL, of Draperies, corresponding secretary.

The board of directors are Leslie H. Allen, Electrical World; Oscar Anderson Jr., Evening Telegram; Michael Brown, Jewish Morning Journal; Charles R. Macauley, The Brooklyn Eagle; Jospeh Van Raalte, King Features, and Paul A. Williams of The Mirror. Two associate directors were also elected. They are Sylvester Sullivan and Edward B. Kelly.

Plans for the club benefit at the Gaiety Theatre on May 9, where a midnight picture revue will be staged, were also discussed.

City College Mercury 50 Years Old.

The Mercury, undergraduate comic publication at the City College, will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary this month. Professor Lewis Freeman Mott, '83, the only surviving member of the original editorial board of 1880 and senior professor at the college, will be honorary editor of the anniversary issue. He will write a poem and a humorous history of the publication. He will be assisted by Professor Theodore Goodman, '15, also of the English department, faculty adviser of student literary work. The annual dinner, at which the executives for next year will be elected, will be held at Keen's Chophouse at Seventy-third Street and Broadway on May 26.

Paralyzed Man Dies of Burns.

Edward Mackey, 70 years old, died yesterday afternoon in Flower Hospital of burns received the Monday before in his apartment at 230 East Sixty-seventh Street. Mackey was confined to a chair by paralysis. He lighted a match to smoke his pipe but lost his balance and fell. The burning match ignited curtains and furnishings. Mackey was rescued by a neighbor who saw the flames.

SCHOLARSHIPS GIVEN FOR STUDY IN EUROPE

College Students Who Will Do Third-Year Work in Foreign Universities Are Named.

ITALY—Clinton B. Clarke, Richmond University; alternate, Charles S. Singleton, Missouri.

ENGLAND, SCOTLAND OR SWITZERLAND—Dorothy Keller, Swarthmore; alternate, Martha E. Young, St. Lawrence University. H. B. Lary, Texas Technological Institute; alternate, Henry E. Guerlac, Cornell.

These students have all completed the work of the sophomore year and will spend the junior year abroad, pursuing studies which will be credited by the home institution, to which each will return to complete the work of the senior year.

HOUSE MEMBERS BLOCK POSTAL SERVICE BILLS

La Guardia and Cramton Object to Salary Increases and Weekly Half-Holiday.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Three bills for the aid of postoffice employes, one granting a weekly half holiday, another providing for salary increases in certain grades, and a third allowing leaves of absence with pay for substitutes, were temporarily blocked in the House today when the cry for economy was raised against one of them.

Representative La Guardia of New York objected to the salary increase for postmasters until he was assured the House would accept the weekly half-holiday.

Representative Cramton of Michigan objected to the latter on the grounds of economy. As they were on the unanimous consent calendar, both bills were thus blocked. Objection to the allowance of leaves with pay to substitutes was caught in a rain of objections and was also held up.

Up-State Weekly 104 Years Old.

WATERLOO, N. Y., May 5 (AP).—The Waterloo Observer, a weekly, has completed 104 years of publication with the record of never having missed an issue. This week's issue will be marked No. 1, Vol. 105. The paper has adhered rigidly to its original democratic policy during its existence. When the Twin Brothers Yeast Cake Company plant burned nearly a half century ago, the printing establishment of the Observer went with it. James Joyce, then editor, established temporary quarters and issued a tabloid number on a small press.

EDISON
RADIO

One great name on a radio is worth more than a volume of promises about a radio. Today, you can choose a radio with confidence . . . for now you can buy an Edison.

Not until Thomas A. Edison's Laboratories had produced a perfected radio could there be an Edison Radio. For such is the Edison standard.

And on that standard you may look to the future of your Edison . . . years full of enjoyment through music's actual, wholly natural, beauty . . . a wealth of pleasure in having a radio whose mechanism you need never think about . . . a constant source of pride in possessing the real thing — an Edison Radio.

FLASH! There's Your Station
Alone among radios, the Edison possesses Light-O-Matic Tuning, which instantly, easily and accurately brings in your favorite stations, announcing each arrival with a flash of crimson light.

Models of Beauty . . . The model illustrated is the Edison C-4, all-electric radio-phonograph combination. $325, less tubes. Other models from $175, less tubes. Also models for DC operation. Convenient terms.

DOROTHY B. HAIGHT ENGAGED TO MARRY

FIANCE SERVED IN THE WAR

He Is the Son of Mrs. Edward H. Packe and a Captain in Reserve of British Army.

Miss Julia Lathers has announced the engagement of her cousin, Miss Dorothy Burgoyne Haight, to Lewis Wilmot-Johnson of this city. Miss Haight is the daughter of William Burgoyne Haight of Paget, Bermuda, formerly of this city, and the late Mrs. Haight, who was Miss Helen Thurston. She is a granddaughter of Dr. A. Henry Thurston of this city and of the late Edward Haight. Miss Haight attended the Masters School in Dobbs Ferry and Miss Chapin's School in this city. She is a member of the Junior League and of the National Society of Colonial Dames. She is a writer, and returned recently from a year of travel in Poland, Hungary and Central Europe.

Mr. Wilmot-Johnson, who is a Captain in the reserve of the British Army, is the son of Mrs. Edward H. Packe, and the late J. Wilmot-Johnson of New York. He is a great-grandson of Francis Lewis, signer of the Declaration of Independence. Mr. Wilmot-Johnson was graduated from King's College, London, and served throughout the World War in the Suffolk Regiment, and the Royal Flying Corps in France and Russia. Both Miss Haight and Mr. Wilmot-Johnson are members of the Badminton Club.

No date has been set for the wedding.

M. I. Boris Studio.

MISS DOROTHY BURGOYNE HAIGHT,

Daughter of William Burgoyne Haight, Whose Engagement to Lewis Wilmot-Johnson Is Announced.

Other Engagements

Needham—Judson.

Mrs. Alexander Needham of Ithaca, N. Y., now living at 156 East Fifty-second Street, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Virginia Walton Needham, to Cyrus Field Judson Jr. of this city and Ardsley-on-Hudson. Miss Needham was graduated from Cornell University.

Mr. Judson is the son of the present Mrs. Samuel Hyatt Vallance of 1,148 Fifth Avenue and of Colonel Cyrus Field Judson of Ardsley-on-Hudson. He is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Francis Judson, and through his paternal grandmother, who was Miss Isabella Field, he is a great-grandson of Cyrus W. Field who laid the Atlantic cable. Mr. Judson is the brother of Mrs. Russell K. Jones of this city, and of Mrs. Frank R. McCoy, wife of Major Gen McCoy, U. S. A. He was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy, and during the World War served as an officer in the Marine Corps. He is a member of the Army and Navy Club.

McAllister—Murphy.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. McAllister of 400 West 118th Street have announced the engagement of one of their twin daughters, Miss Margaret McAllister, to James F. Murphy Jr. of this city. Miss McAllister attended Cornell University and was graduated from Barnard, receiving an L.L. B. In 1928 she received a law degree from Fordham University, being admitted to the bar shortly afterward.

Mr. Murphy, who is a lawyer, also received his law degree from Fordham with the class of '28. He is with the legal department of the Lawyers Title and Guaranty Company.

The engagement of the twin sister of Miss McAllister, Miss Frances McAllister, to Joseph H. McCloskey was announced some time ago. There will be a double wedding in September.

Ball—Thompson.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Eleanor Beatrice Ball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Ball of Wallingford, Conn., to Rupert Campbell Thompson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert C. Thompson of Newtonville, Mass.

Miss Ball attended the Gateway School in New Haven, Conn., and was graduated from Smith College in 1928. Mr. Thompson was graduated from Dartmouth in 1928, where he was a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

AUTHORS 'AMAZED' AT TEXTBOOK BAN

Hayes and Moon Report That Campbell Said History Did Not Misuse Facts.

SAY HE AGREED WITH THEM

School Official, However, Plans His Own Statement—Many Now Defend Use of Work.

The first conference to determine what passages are anti-patriotic, radical and pro-Catholic in "Modern History," which has been barred as a textbook in the public schools after seven years of use, resulted in a declaration of "amazement" yesterday by the authors, Carlton J. H. Hayes, Professor of History in Columbia University, and Dr. Parker T. Moon, assistant professor.

They issued a statement at the university reporting their interview with Acting Superintendent Harold G. Campbell at the Department of Education, with which, however, Dr. Campbell did not agree. He said he would issue his own statement today.

"Our conference with Dr. Campbell revealed an amazing situation," the joint statement of the two historians read. "Dr. Campbell himself showed us that there is no question about the historical accuracy of our book 'Modern History.' He said he personally agreed with the statements made in it.

Tell of Conference.

"Our conference with Dr. Campbell made it perfectly clear that since the book was adopted with his personal approval several years ago it had not been regarded as 'objectionable' until the recent activity of the Rev. Lefferd M. A. Haughwout, a clergyman of Staten Island. Even now, he told us, it is not at all a question of historical fact.

"The chief question seems to be whether certain passages might be misinterpreted. Dr. Campbell told us that if any one made a complaint about any other book on the approved textbook list, he would act in the same way that he had on 'Modern History.'"

Dr. Campbell read this statement and shook his head. "If I weren't so tired with all the other things that come in a day's work here," he said, "I would answer that right now. I wish you would make it clear that the book was barred after a careful rereading by a committee, and, instead of acting in response to the protest of a single individual we had other protests while the book was under consideration."

Dr. Haughwout, who undertook to have the book barred when he found his own children using it as a textbook at the Tottenville High School in Staten Island, said yesterday that he did not see how it could be revised successfully because "the causes of objection seemed to pervade the whole book, in disparagement of national patriotism, political democracy and capitalism, as well as a presentation of the Protestant Reformation in terms that gravely wound the religious sensibilities of the majority of the American people."

Both the complainant and the authors said yesterday they have received many personal letters, approving and disapproving. Some were anonymous.

Formal Protest Issued.

A formal protest against the expurgation of "Modern History" was voted yesterday by the executive committee of the American Civil Liberties Union, under the chairmanship of Dr. Harry F. Ward, Professor of Christian Ethics at Union Theological Seminary. It was signed by Harry Elmer Barnes, Professor of History and Sociology at Smith College, together with B. W. Huebsch, Norman Thomas, Dr. William L. Nunn, Walter Frank, Dr. Henry R. Linville, Morris L. Ernst, Forrest Bailey, Mrs. L. B. Milner and Roger N. Baldwin.

A statement issued by the American Liberties Union in connection with the protest voted read in part: "To discontinue a book in use for years merely because there has been a complaint against it, without a hearing, without notice to the author or publisher or without any chance for a fair examination of the charges is too high handed not to arouse protest. Acting in response to a single insistent complaint, the board has shown a narrow and fearful spirit. Its action is unfair to teachers, children, author, publisher and the public."

Dr. Bell Defends History.

At St. Stephen's College, which is a part of Columbia University, in Barrytown, N. Y., the Rev. Dr. Bernard Iddings Bell independently issued a similar protest, reading in part as follows: "As professor of religion, warden of an undergraduate college and priest of the Episcopal Church I have a threefold interest in the current criticism of the book 'Modern History.' I have read it with care and find nothing in it revolutionary, anti-patriotic or unjust to any church. The passages which Dr. Haughwout objects to are so true as to be almost truisms.

"But the worst of this controversy," Dr. Bell cincluded, "is the revelation that school authorities are willing to condemn scholarly books on individual complaint without investigation of their merit or demerit. No schools so run can long merit public confidence."

On the other hand, the fear that the public schools "would approximate the atmosphere and psychology of the parochial schools of the Catholic Church" was expressed in a protest against another book addressed to the Board of Education yesterday by Franklin Ford, president of the Defenders of Truth Society. He called attention to the songbook entitled "Senior Laurel Songs," widely used in the public schools, in which he found, as he protested, "the Catholic editor, M. Terese Armitage, has placed distinctively Roman Catholic hymns and chants in Latin."

Y. W. C. A. Board to Entertain.

The board of directors of the Young Women's Christian Association will give a luncheon at the Y. W. C. A. Studio Club, 210 East Seventy-seventh Street, on May 12. Guests will be taken on a tour of inspection of the residences and branches by motor. Mrs. William Henry Hays is president of the board. Other officers are Mrs. Howard Gillespie Myers, Mrs. Jonathan Bulkley, Mrs. Willis D. Wood, Mrs. Edward Perry Townsend and Mrs. William Sargent Ladd.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES GET $104,000 IN DAY

Drive Opens With St. Patrick's, St. Ignatius Loyola and Our Lady of Lourdes Leading.

BISHOP DUNN PREDICTS GAIN

Expects Last Year's Total of $1,082,070 for Archdiocese to Be Exceeded by End of Week.

More than $104,000 was contributed to the Catholic Charities yesterday in the first day of the drive for an indefinite sum of money to aid the charitable activities of the church in the Archdiocese of New York, it was reported early last night. Complete figures will not be tabulated until this afternoon.

The drive will continue throughout the week in 373 parishes. The territory to be canvassed includes Manhattan, the Bronx and Staten Island in New York City, and the counties of Westchester, Orange, Sullivan, Dutchess, Putnam, Rockland and Ulster.

Special sermons were preached last Sunday on the obligations of charity and the need this year for generous support, by clergymen in all Roman Catholic churches in the archdiocese. Mgr. Michael J. Lavelle, speaking for Cardinal Hayes in St. Patrick's Cathedral, said that the 200 agencies of the church which care for the homeless, the aged and others in need were taxed during the past year more than ever before and that contributions should be liberal.

Early returns last night in the offices of the charity organization at 477 Madison Avenue, gave the parishes leading in contributions in Manhattan as St. Patrick's Cathedral at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-first Street, St. Ignatius Loyola, Park Avenue and Eighty-fourth Street, and Our Lady of Lourdes in West 142d Street. The amounts those parishes had received were not available.

In Staten Island it was said that the parish of the Sacred Heart Church in New Brighton was leading.

From New Rochelle word came from Joseph O'Donnell, lay chairman of Holy Family Church, that a larger contribution could be expected from Westchester County than in previous years. In a report to the drive headquarters last night he said that a large increase in the population of the county would bring many new subscribers.

Word was also received from Poughkeepsie and Newburgh that parishes in that part of the archdiocese had been carefully canvassed and that in both sections it was hoped the contributions of previous years would be exceeded.

The drive, which is the eleventh annual one, is headed by Cardinal Hayes. He is assisted by the Rev. John J. O'Donnell and the Rev. James B. O'Reilly, in addition to Bishop John J. Dunn, who is directly in charge of the drive. Bishop Dunn said last night that he had every expectation that the sum of $1,082,070, contributed last year, would be exceeded before the end of the week.

J. HARLESTON PARKER.

Senior Partner of Boston Firm of Architects Dies at 57.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 5.—J. Harleston Parker senior member of the Boston architectural firm of Parker, Thomas & Rice, died today after a brief illness. He was in his fifty-eighth year.

Some of the principal buildings in Boston were built from designs by his firm. These include the United Shoe Machinery Corporation Building, the Chamber of Commerce Building, the John Hancock Life Insurance Company Building and the structures occupied by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank. The plans for Johns Hopkins University buildings were also drawn by his firm.

He was chairman of the Boston Art Commission, a vestry man of Trinity Church and a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects.

He was the son of the late Harleston Parker in whose memory he donated the gold Harleston Parker medal, which is awarded once in three years by the Boston Society of Architects for the most beautiful building in the city. A graduate of Noble and Greenough School and Harvard in 1892 with an honorary degree in the fine arts, he also attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and studied for four years at the Beaux Arts in Paris.

"CURLY" BROWN DEAD.

Wealthy Breeder of Horses and Builder of Race Tracks.

GLENDALE, Cal., May 5 (AP).—Harry D. (Curly) Brown, wealthy California sportsman, died here last night at the age of 67 in a sanitarium where he had been confined for several months. High blood pressure was given as the cause of death.

Brown, whose home was in Shasta County, was well known as a breeder of race horses and a builder of tracks. He built the Arlington track at Chicago, which he sold less than two years ago for a reported price of $1,000,000.

Daniel Brown, as he was also known, was called the "stormy petrel of the turf" because of his innumerable difficulties with associates and acquaintances in the racing game. His stormy career was climaxed when he, while head of the Cuban-American Jockey Club at Havana in 1919, shot and wounded Alberto Piedra, son-in-law of a former Secretary of State of Cuba, in Brown's Havana office. He was finally sentenced to three years' imprisonment for the act, but was later pardoned by a Presidential decree.

Brown built the race tracks at Oriental Park, Havana; at Laurel, Md., and at other racing resorts. He retired from racing a few years ago.

CHARLES ABRAMS DIES.

Was Motion Picture Producer in Experimental Stages.

Charles Abrams, one of the early motion picture producers, died yesterday at his home, 309 West 109th Street, after an illness of several months. He was in his fifty-sixth year. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 1 P. M. at the Riverside Memorial Chapel, Seventy-sixth Street and Amsterdam Avenue.

Mr. Abrams was born and educated in this city. He became connected with the motion picture business when it was in the experimental stages, and was associated with the old Exclusive Pictures, Inc., and the Great Northern Feature Films. In 1910 he produced one of the first feature pictures of four reels that was ever filmed, "The Three Mormons." In recent years he had been interested in motion picture distribution. He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Belle Abrams.

REV. HERBERT P. CRONSHAW

Canon of Worcester and a Chaplain to the King Dies at 66.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—The Rev. Herbert Priestley Cronshaw, Canon residentiary of Worcester Cathedral and a chaplain to the King, died today. He was 66 years old. Recently he had undergone an operation.

Canon Cronshaw was born in 1863 and was educated at All Souls College, Oxford. He was ordained in 1886. He had served in various parishes in Southwestern England and around London. From 1917 to 1922 he was rector of St. James Church in Piccadilly. In 1920 he became chaplain to the King of England and in 1922 was made Canon of Worcester Cathedral, both of which offices he filled at the time of his death.

DR. HUBERT J. B. FRY.

Investigator of Cancer Problem Dead in London.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—Dr. Hubert John Burgess Fry, one of the leading British investigators of the cancer problem, died today at the Research Institute of the London Cancer Hospital, where he was resident pathologist.

William B. Pocher.

William B. Pocher, for thirty-three years employed as an inspector of repairs for the Board of Education in Queens, died on Sunday morning at his home, 89-29 162d Street, Jamaica. He was a member of Victory, Aerie, Order of Eagles; the Exempt Firemen of Jamaica, and Cornucopia Lodge, F. and A. M. Funeral services will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the Jamaica Masonic Temple, 89-31 162d Street. A widow and four children survive.

Carl H. Stubig.

AKRON, Ohio, May 5 (AP).—Funeral services were held here today for Carl H. Stubig, 43 years old, special advertising representative of the Akron Beacon Journal, who died on Friday of heart disease. The body was taken to Sandusky, Ohio, his former home, for burial. Before coming to Akron he worked on newspapers in Sandusky, Ohio; Troy, N. Y., and Albany. For seven years he was secretary to C. L. Knight, Akron publisher.

E. W. OSBORN DIES; RETIRED DRAMA CRITIC

Member of Editorial Staff of The World and Evening World for 42 Years.

AUBURN, N. Y., May 5 (AP).—E. William Osborn, for forty-two years editorial writer and dramatic critic on The New York Evening World or The World, died here tonight. He was stricken with apoplexy yesterday. He retired a year ago.

He was 69 years old and was a native of Winthrop, Me. He is survived by his widow and a sister.

Mr. Osborn was born on Oct. 24, 1860, the son of Thomas A. and Maria F. Osborn. He was educated in the public schools of Winthrop, Ashland, Mass., and Auburn, N. Y. He began his newspaper career in the latter place, serving on The Auburnian, The Sunday Dispatch and The Bulletin in succession.

In January, 1888, Mr. Osborn joined the staff of The Evening World and eight years later was made dramatic editor. Serving in that capacity for two years, he was subsequently appointed editorial writer and literary editor of The World on Jan. 6, 1901, and continued in that position until reappointed dramatic editor of The Evening World in 1926. He retired in 1929, at which time a farewell luncheon was given him by a large group of his associates at the Friars Club.

He married in 1889 Miss Ida Orlean Birdsall.

LEGION HONORS WILKINS.

Explorer Gets Victory Medal From Advertising Post Here.

Sir Hubert Wilkins received the Victory Honor Medal from the Advertising Post 209 of the American Legion at a luncheon yesterday at the Army and Navy Club. The medal, which was presented by Captain George H. Maines, commander of the post, bears a figure of victory, the American shield, an eagle and the insignia of the Legion. It is inscribed to Sir Hubert "for valor."

In an address the explorer paid tribute to the late Ben Eielson and also spoke of his plans for going to the North Pole by submarine. He explained that the submarine would be especially developed so as to make it possible for it to dive under ice floes and bore through them.

ECONOMISTS AND THE TARIFF.

Already in many ways unexampled in our history of tariff legislation, the pending bill has now achieved a new bad eminence. It has been made the object of a concerted and overwhelming attack by the leading political economists of the country. Over a thousand of them, representing all parties and all regions, have joined in a weighty protest against the measure, and in calling upon the President to veto it should it come to him for signature. Nor are these objectors merely a lot of college professors. In their number are included the skilled advisers of banks and great manufacturing companies. Taken together, they speak for a large body of specially educated opinion, which is massed against the tariff bill with a vigor of conviction and expression quite without a parallel in American experience.

What these economists affirm is that the upward revision of the tariff is ill-advised and ill-timed. They are certain that the ends aimed at by it will never be attained. It will not create or benefit labor. It will not aid the farmer. It will lay an additional handicap upon many forms of gainful occupation, and will make the lot of the consuming public harder than ever. Moreover, the bill, if it becomes a law, is bound to diminish and dislocate that foreign commerce which is now essential to the United States. It will provoke not only resentment abroad but reprisals. The action speedily taken by the Canadian Government is a hint of what will be done by others. Finally, allege these political economists, the whole theory of restricting overseas trade is a monumental piece of folly for this country just when it has become the leading creditor nation of the whole world.

Such are the mature conclusions of men who have long and impartially studied questions of taxation and manufacture and commerce. They are stated without any possible bias, whether personal or partisan. It may well be that most members of Congress will listen with scorn to this unprecedented protest. They will describe it as the utterance of academic doctrinaires, out of all touch with practical affairs and the realities of business. But it is impossible to imagine President Hoover dismissing lightheartedly this solemn remonstrance. He himself is a university man. He knows with what impartiality and scientific authority these leading economists of the United States have pronounced judgment on the tariff bill. With many of them he is personally acquainted. For all of them he must feel respect. For him to toss aside their deliberate statement as if it meant nothing would be to deny those of his own household, for Mr. Hoover himself has rightful claims to be considered a political economist.

Another Republican President, brought up in the tradition of high protection, might sneer at the idea of economists having anything to say about a bill which touches our national economics at a thousand points. Herbert Hoover cannot. He believes in trained men. He is committed to the scientific investigation of questions affecting government. So that it cannot fail to give him pause when a thousand specialists in trade and taxation tell him that the tariff bill is wrong in principle and will prove harmful and perhaps disastrous if made law. The President may yet feel constrained to sign the bill, if it reaches his desk. But he will frankly be influenced by political motives, not by economic. And we may be sure that if he does sign, it will be with a heavy heart and haunting apprehensions.

NEW JERSEY, NOT MEXICO.

Ambassador Morrow's decision not to enter the Senate at this time and to devote the period from now until June 17—the date of the Jersey primary—to his campaign for the Republican Senatorial nomination seems, on the whole, both necessary and wise. Having put his hand to the plow of politics he cannot at once look back to Mexico in order to finish his work there. In an ideal republic, voters would pass upon a citizen's aspirations to office whether he was present and oratorical or not. But if Mr. Morrow wants to be nominated he will have to look after his fences. It is probable that such Mexican matters as he left unfinished when sent as delegate to the London naval conference will wait until July. New Jersey voters won't.

When Senator Baird was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Ambassador Edge it seemed an excellent idea to the New Jersey Republican organization to have him announce that he would serve only until such time as Mr. Morrow could complete his labors at London. Mr. Morrow was then to enter the Senate, and, with the prestige of that office behind his claims, would be better equipped for his primary race. But the London conference drew out its length, and Mr. Frelinghuysen became extremely active. Moreover, if Mr. Morrow were to become a member of the Senate at this time he would swell to three the number of members of that body who, when voting on the naval treaty, will be sitting as judges of their own work at London. The rôles of Mr. Robinson and Mr. Reed as both witness and court give sufficient concern to those who doubt the wisdom of the precedent. By declining appointment Mr. Morrow keeps out of that category.

On the side of practical politics his status as a private citizen is safer than as an actual Senator. He is not obliged to vote on the tariff bill, on the confirmation of Judge Parker, on other issues which make difficulties for candidates. He remains as free of a current legislative record as Mr. Frelinghuysen. He is left with the single problem of making known his views on prohibition.

STUDIES OF JUDICIAL PROCEDURE.

The first work planned by the Institute of Law of Johns Hopkins University was the study of the administration of justice in particular States. The chief immediate object is to establish an adequate system of judicial statistics. On the criminal side of these, hardly more than the rudiments exist outside of the data furnished by a few States and the surveys made in some States or cities. On the civil side, information is even more meager and sporadic. In the comprehensive project of the Institute not only is the working of the whole judicial machine from top to bottom to be recorded, but of all the collateral and even non-governmental agencies that have some hand in the administration of justice.

An immense field of inquiry remains to be covered, but the facts, the judicial statistics, are the primary requisite; and analysis of the courts' "grist" is the indispensable preliminary of a thorough system of judicial statistics. In Ohio the Judicial Council, at the suggestion of the Institute and with the cooperation of a committee of the State Bar Association, is already at the task, whose difficulty and complexity are fully dealt with in an interim report. Civil cases, not including divorce, annulment and alimony, in the common pleas courts are to be the first study. These courts have uniform nisi prius jurisdiction throughout the State, deal with some 60,000 actions every year, and were selected as "representative." The clerks are to fill out a long questionnaire, non-technical, we are told, but of sufficiently forbidding aspect to the layman.

The analysis of criminal cases in the common pleas courts will begin July 1, and of divorce cases. The work of the probate, municipal and minor courts and certain administrative commissions will also be analyzed:

> We need to have reliable accounts not only of the courts in relation to judicial administration, but also of the executive (the prosecutor, the sheriff, the coroner, the police, et al.) in relation to judicial administration, also of all probationary, penal and reformatory institutions and also of certain types of administrative commissions.

We may almost say that judicial statistics must be created. The scope is larger than the name implies. These questionnaires or data-sheets are to be regarded but as "try-outs "of definitions and try-outs of sys-"tems of classification." It is hoped to secure "a flow of reliable, comparable data in the judicial field." A similar inquiry is now in progress in Maryland. So the beginnings are making not only of judicial statistics but of comparative judicial statistics. This assembling of statistics is but preparatory to the really vital tasks—those of operating the judicial machine effectively and those of analyzing the human effects of law and litigation. As regards this latter task, it is self-evident that if judicial statistics are to be of substantial service, the judicial data must be gathered and arranged with other types of social data.

In Ohio the clerks, especially in the big cities, found great difficulty in getting certain information required by one schedule of the original data-sheet. The questions had to be abandoned. "This means, in sub-"stance, that the important problem "of obtaining the information as to "the human effects of law is for "present purposes largely unsolved."

OUR OWN FOREST FIRES.

Doubtless the unusual intensity of brush fires in Jersey and on Long Island and Staten Island is due to the preceding drought. Their destructiveness in the last few days has been heightened by the exceptionally strong winds. Not only have the grass and dead leaves been more inflammable than normal, but the dryness of the air has favored spread of fires by jumping. A condition has prevailed not unlike that found in the forests of California during the dry season. Experience there has shown that when the humidity drops below a certain point and remains there for any length of time the fire hazard is greatly increased.

To fix the blame for our local fires is difficult. Some undoubtedly spread from bonfires started by thoughtless persons anxious to burn up the Spring accumulation of leaves, branches and trash. Others came from cigarettes and matches tossed carelessly into the tinder-like undergrowth. A few may even have been of incendiary origin.

The manner of their starting is of less importance than the methods of checking them. On a still day or night the sort of brush fire common in this neighborhood is easily stopped. Not so, however, when, as on Saturday and Sunday, a heavy gale is blowing. At this season of the year the dead grass of the last season has not yet been overgrown by the moist new grass. It ignites from a spark, bursts instantaneously into a hot flame, which quickly skips from clump to clump and bush to bush. A grass fire that gets into brush will even jump a road. When the wind blows, burning oak leaves will be whisked ahead, setting new fires that spread amazingly fast. There is no time to dig trenches. As a rule, it is difficult to get enough water to the scene of the fire to fight it. Rakes, brooms and other implements can do but little when the flames are high. Back-firing is impossible in the face of a strong wind.

Compared to the fires in the West the area burned over in our recent fires is insignificant. So also is the value of the timber destroyed. But there has been exceptional damage to private property—especially to Summer houses and bungalows. These again, in a heavy wind, cannot be saved. The fire leaps from house to house much as, in the Western forests, it will jump from the crown of one tree to another. The unwritten custom is that every one must join to fight a forest fire, whether he be a resident or only a transient. At best it is a thankless task. During the last few days the effort appears to have been largely futile.

THE FEMALE OF THE SPECIES.

Mr. George W. Alger's report on the State prisons some years ago contained a table showing the number of prisoners in New York State institutions from 1916 to 1926. The inmates of the State prison for women during those years ran from a minimum of 72 to a maximum of 117, out of a total prison population of four to six thousand. "I consider "myself fortunate in not being re-"quired to explain the extraordinary "difference in criminality between "the sexes shown by this schedule," was Mr. Alger's only comment. His remark piqued one's curiosity about the reasons for this disparity. Apparently it still exists, in the State prisons at least. The institutions reporting to the State Department of Correction had 16,632 persons in custody in 1928. Of these only 1,483 were women, as compared with 1,409 out of 11,757 ten years before. Here in New York City, however, the ladies with criminal tendencies appear to have been making up for lost time and neglected opportunity. Commissioner Patterson announced the other day that the number of women criminals in the penal institutions under his charge had more than doubled in the decade since 1920. Again one's curiosity is stirred. Why the increase? Why the apparent difference between the city and the country?

Here is a lively field for speculation, unbridled by too much scientific study. Mr. Patterson thinks it is at least possible that the "com-"parative emancipation of women, "their greater participation in com-"mercial and political affairs, and a "tendency toward greater sexual "freedom" may be playing their part in the trend—if it is a trend, and not merely a coincidence. Few careers are closed to women nowadays. Perhaps the "bobbed-haired bandits" are not all merely characters in fiction. It is possible, too, that the emancipation of men has had something to do with it. For years they had it dinned into them that women no longer desire the privileges accorded the sex in the age of chivalry. One notorious murderess was sent to the electric chair in this State within recent memory, and it may be that juries have grown somewhat less lenient toward female offenders. It may be, also, that it is the police who have become emancipated, and do not hesitate to arrest women.

BUSINESS DICTATORS.

Like a number of other harassed American business interests, and like several disturbed foreign countries, the laundry industry of Brooklyn has had recourse to a dictator. Ninety-five per cent of the laundry owners in that borough are represented in the Neighborhood Association, which has just been reorganized by the appointment of Mrs. Rosalie Loew Whitney as director, without pay but with absolute power. The immediate aim is to break the grip of the "racketeer" on this particular trade, but Mrs. Whitney foresees the revolt of an entire community against a nefarious practice—the levying of blackmail on legitimate trade by professionals of the underworld. For some time after the emergence of racket and racketeer into fame they were regarded by the innocent American public as purely Chicago phenomena. It did not take New York long to perceive that it had been acquainted with the thing the new words described. Popular education in this field has been stimulated at frequent intervals by the sudden death of a baron of the underworld in his expensive sedan. Usually this turns out to be an incident in the highly competitive racketeering game.

The first move against the gangster terrorists Mrs. Whitney naturally considers to be the restoration of morale among the blackmailed laundry owners. In the present racket, as with milk and kosher chickens and ice and other rackets, the problem is primarily to eliminate the threat of the gunman implied in the offer of "protection." But the reader will not have the whole picture before him if he visualizes the situation as one in which armed gangdom on its own initiative and without external assistance has succeeded in imposing its will upon a group of business men or an entire industry. In some of the details made public regarding the system obtaining among the Brooklyn laundrymen—their trade association, defense funds, and so forth—there is a strong suggestion that the raids of the gunmen have been facilitated if not encouraged by conditions allowed to grow up within the trade. If fraudulent detective organizations have been able to sell protection at their own price and against the will of the purchasers, it will probably be discovered that the detective guerrillas got their first entry as hired bravos in conflicts within the trade. It has happened before this that professional strong-arm men, called in for a special bit of duty, have decided to set up for themselves. Guerrillas whose services were enlisted in the course of the former prolonged strikes in the New York garment industry ended up as a permanent factor in the industry that even now may not have been eradicated.

Thus the "racket," as we have lately come to know it, is not entirely, and certainly was not entirely in origin, the improvised terrorization of a timid business world by an armed underworld. Recklessly competitive trade methods helped to bring the racketeer into being. In some industries now blessed with "czars," or seeking them, like baseball, the movies and the theatre, this wild competition could not in the nature of things lead to armed terror from without. In other industries the racketeer has flourished. The failure of police and courts has not been the only reason for his prosperity. Internal business conditions have favored him. To change these is one of the tasks of the business dictator.

SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION.

During the last quarter of a century, with its tremendous development of our State and city systems, school administration has grown to be of major importance. No one has spoken more authoritatively on the subject than Dr. George D. Strayer, who has just completed twenty-five years of service at Teachers College. It is stated that he has trained or helped to train more teachers of school administration than any one else in the country. Since he wrote as a young man his doctor's thesis based upon a study of school expenses, school administration has become a profession, with a body of scientific data available for guidance. There are recognized standards. For the first time in the history of the world, to quote Dr. Strayer himself, "schools "have been organized and adminis-"tered by men and women who "measure results, who recognize "the facts of individual differences "and who have sought diligently to "adjust their schools to the needs "and capacities of those registered "with them."

Dr. Charles F. Thwing in his review, in last Sunday's Times, of the year in higher education notes this same individualizing of instruction in the colleges. They are realizing that "the current mass-education is no education." In the lower ranges of education we are beginning, thanks to such services as those of Dr. Strayer and his associates, to adjust the schools to the needs of individual boys and girls—to define anew "the concept of equality of opportunity," for that equality is not to be found in mere uniformity. It is necessary to refine our methods of organization and classification of students.

A beginning has been made, but more and more it must be realized that men need to be as highly and specially trained for this profession as are doctors and lawyers for theirs. One may go even further with Dr. Strayer and argue that the need for a sound liberal education and for a prolonged period of training is greater for the man who would administer public education than for those who engage in the private practice of law.

Dr. Strayer's catalogue of the essential qualifications of a superintendent of schools leads one to ask where such an administrative paragon can be found. But the way should be open to this highest public office in any community when the man is found. It may take twenty-five years more to make the public acquainted with the importance of the school service, and to make that type of superintendent general.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Long Island Sunday Traffic.

Since the North Shore Boulevard from Bayside into Flushing was widened, and Nassau Boulevard was opened, Sunday motorists have found an improvement in conditions along the road to New York and over the Queensboro Bridge. Of course, if rain falls, automobiles still stand in long lines and are obliged to creep across the slippery bridge. But in fair weather, since a traffic diversion eastward through Douglaston Hills is now enforced by the police authorities, a twenty-five-mile journey along the North Shore to the city on Sunday can be made in about an hour and a half. This represents to motorists in the vicinity of New York almost lightning speed.

There are now two highroads instead of one to the North Shore, though each is afflicted by one of those bottle-necks which seem an indispensable feature of traffic in these parts. The northernmost highway from Bayside to Little Neck contracts itself into a narrow pass over a wooden bridge, and here it is that westbound motorists on Sunday must wait. The highway leading from Nassau Boulevard shrinks on the cobbled hill in the Douglaston region, and when two-way traffic is permitted here—as last Sunday—there are long and irritating delays.

When these two lanes are widened and each route is made a one-way course on fair Sundays, much of the difficulty will be eliminated. Considering how great an improvement has been made in the last two years, motorists are encouraged to expect still happier conditions in the future.

Set Free From Darkness.

In the pressure of business and visitors, it must have been a relief for President Hoover to receive one delegation on Saturday last. It consisted of a group of children and adults from South Carolina who by concentrated study in the night schools had succeeded in freeing themselves from illiteracy. No pumped-up sympathy entered into Mr. Hoover's remark: "I was once a night-school pupil myself." Among those who addressed the President was a school trustee who learned to read and write last Summer.

Much more than a "drive" is needed to wipe out illiteracy. The census reports will soon tell us what progress we have made since 1920, when the illiterates numbered 6.1 per cent of the population, a decrease of only 1.6 since 1910. In the last census there were nearly 5,000,000 persons unable to read and write. Of these we could check off only 1,763,740 foreign-born whites as not properly debited against us. We still had to reckon with more than 1,100,000 illiterate native-born whites of native parentage, or 2.5 per cent of all that class over the age of 10, and 1,842,000 illiterate Negroes, or 23 per cent of our entire colored population.

For a Seven-Cent Piece.

One of the results of the decision in the telephone case may be a move for the coining of a seven-cent piece. At least one member of the Public Service Commission favored an increased rate for pay stations, it is reported from Albany, and his views might have prevailed "but for the fact that the commission did not wish to see such calls raised to 10 cents, and Uncle Sam has no coins of a denomination between a nickel and a dime."

At one point in its opinion the commission referred to the "inequalities" created by a charge of 5 cents for local calls from public pay stations. At that rate the cost per call from such a station is often less than the corresponding charge to the private subscriber.

Outside of New York the nickel is almost obsolete as car fare. The average street railway fare throughout the country nowadays is over 8 cents. No doubt the companies would welcome an intermediate coin between the nickel and the dime.

But if they intend to suggest it, they ought to wait a week or two. It would be inconsiderate to interrupt Mayor Walker's trip to Bermuda.

Aid for Travelers.

A complete report of the year's service by the National Association of Travelers Aid Societies has just been published. Statistics coming from the 140 cities where this assistance is offered to travelers show a decrease in the number of cases compared to the previous year. It may be that a decrease in railroad travel is the cause, for most persons aided by the society are reached through its offices in railroad terminals. It is establishing service for bus travelers as rapidly as possible, but this is a comparatively new plan, and the ratio of cases originating in each kind of travel is no indication of the numbers of actual travelers.

In its care of women and children found in distress the society has done notably good work. Railroad and bus employes have been instructed to direct dependent transients to the first available office, and many persons, young and old, have been protected by its friendly staff. Inexperienced travelers often get confused, and when friends they have expected do not meet them they may become liabilities to the community in which they chance to wander. Money, food and lodging and steadying advice are offered by the society, and every effort is made to put lost persons in the hands of friends or relatives.

Runaway girls and boys helped by the society have increased in numbers. Not all of them are returned to their homes. Arbitrary rules cannot be made to cover all such cases, and kindly understanding is the only prescription when young runaways are to be dealt with.

Last Words of William Pitt.

The dying words of statesmen and of murderers about to be hanged have been piously collected. There are several versions of the final utterance heard from Pitt the Younger when he lay on his deathbed. Long a favorite one was: "My country, how I love my country!" Of this, a plausible variant was: "My country, how I leave my country!"

Lord Rosebery in his Life of Pitt entered, though doubtfully, another contestant for the honor. It would maintain that the statesman's last words were: "I think I could eat one of Bellamy's veal pies." As this depended mainly upon the gossiping recollection of an old waiter—whose name was, of course, Bellamy—it has with difficulty made its way into sober history.

Recently, however, a letter written by Canning in 1806 has been published which challenged the current newspaper reports. From the Bishop who attended Pitt in his last illness Canning got the report that what was actually said was simply, "I am sorry to leave the country in such a situation." This is not so grand as the cry about "Oh, my country!" but is probably much nearer the truth.

THE LATE CHARLES W. ABEL.

He Was a Great Missionary With a Genius for Friendship.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Since the announcement in the issue of your paper two weeks ago of the sudden death of Charles W. Abel of New Guinea further particulars have come to his friends in America of the circumstances attending the tragic accident.

Accompanied by his brother, he was walking along a country lane when a passing car skidded, the mud guard striking Mr. Abel and throwing him violently on the road, face downward. The force of the blow was apparently not appreciated, and for two days his condition gave no undue anxiety. Later symptoms developed that were disturbing, and an X-ray indicated that there was a slight fracture of the frontal bone of the skull. Later developments indicated that septic meningitis set in through this fracture, and in two days he had passed away. Thus one who had faced many dangers on land and sea, in the assiduous application of his missionary duties among the cannibal tribes of a remote land, came to his death in the most unlikely manner and place.

It has been my privilege to know a great many missionaries, and Charles Abel stands at the very forefront of the great missionary host whom I have known. His name is always bracketed in my mind with that of Grenfell, Dan Crawford of the Congo and Robert Laws of Livingstonia, all pioneers, with the highest Christian ideals of service, assiduous in their duties to the point of self-sacrifice, all finding a genuine joy in their high calling and all of them imbued with a keen sense of humor, devoid of all that is unreal and sanctimonious, and thoroughly practical in their interpretation of the missionary message. The gospel they preached was physical and intellectual as well as spiritual. Industrial training and the healing of the body, as well as emancipation from fear, each had a place in their message.

Perhaps the highest tribute to Charles Abel was his genius for friendship, for all who knew him loved him and found in his modest narrative of missionary experience a story of thrilling interest and devotion. It is indicative of the genuineness of the man's character and service that he leaves two sons and two daughters, educated in Great Britain, but imbued with the ideals of their parents, who are now in New Guinea, in the spirit of their parents "carrying on" among the cannibal tribes of that country. It is such lives as those of Livingstone, Crawford, Laws, Grenfell and Abel that constitute the real Christian apology.

What of the Pedestrian?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Times has published at intervals comments on the antics of jay walkers. But is there not some law which gives the right of way to pedestrians over vehicles? When traffic north and south comes to a stop, pedestrians crossing at street corners are still in danger of being run over by cars emerging from the streets. If the pedestrians wait until all these cars have passed, they find the north and sound bound traffic resumed.

Where does the walker's right of way commence, if it commences anywhere at all? The present regulations are idiotic and tragic.

COLBY ON WILSON.

An Appreciation of Tribute to Greatness of Wartime President.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I thank The Times for the pleasure and profit derived from reading your summary of the able and brilliant address delivered by Bainbridge Colby before the Missouri Historical Society and your editorial comment thereon. Mr. Colby deserves commendation for the fidelity and courage with which he defends the name and memory of Woodrow Wilson, and, what is of greater importance, the principles and ideals for which Wilson contended with the superb audacity and matchless skill which gave him his place among the immortals.

With what some of us in the impatience of affection regard as painful and exasperating slowness, but for all that with inexorable certitude, the fame of Woodrow Wilson grows brighter and more luminous. The poisonous clouds of vaporings by petty detractors are steadily being dispersed by the growing light afforded by the testimony of credible and competent witnesses, and by the orientation of the life processes of the nations. That "verdict of mankind," which he consciously sought and anticipated with a serene confidence that was itself a sign of genius, has already decreed Woodrow Wilson's place among the greatest of the great. As you suggest, some of the hate which encompassed him in his life still endures, and may even be bequeathed as a malefic heritage to generations as yet unborn, but only as a grotesque perversity increasingly pathetic in its ignoble contrast to verified reality.

Among all the associates of Woodrow Wilson during the tragic war years there was not one whose understanding and intellectual and spiritual fellowship he valued more highly than Bainbridge Colby's. More than once he expressed the conviction that Colby was the greatest leader in the Progressive movement of which Theodore Roosevelt was the titular head, and his selection of the Progressive crusader as Secretary of State to succeed Mr. Lansing was as natural as it was politically startling. I venture the opinion that there is not one man living who is better fitted than Bainbridge Colby to interpret the philosophy and ideals of Mr. Wilson. It is fitting, therefore, that Mr. Colby should bear witness to the character and achievements of Woodrow Wilson. We are his debtors therefor, and our gratitude is enhanced by the delight we feel when testimony of such weight and value is phrased in stately and beautiful eloquence comparable to that which we associate with our memory of Wilson himself.

TAXICAB FARES.

Pertinent Testimony by an Independent Driver.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As an articulate taxi driver (I have written a book, "Hacking New York") I view the present attempt to prevent the public from paying 15 cents a mile instead of 20 cents as typically American. I doubt if such a Lewis Carroll proposition could be seriously—or even humorously—entertained in any other country. However, there are facts which the public should know. I am not in any one's employ and have no bias. It is true I have written a book, which of course I would like the public to read. But my interest here is to clarify what seems to me unbelievable naïveté in a city that boasts of its sophistication.

The opposition to a fifteen-cent-mile taxi fare comes solely from the large manufacturing-operating cab companies which flood the streets of New York with thousands of new cabs every six months that must take from the public $5 a day for depreciation before they can pay for gasoline and after that make a profit.

Independent cab operators using cabs which owner-drivers have driven with care no longer have to earn $5 for depreciation before they can make a profit. Hence 15 cents a mile is ample for independent operators. It would also be ample for large fleets if the drivers took the same interest in operating their cabs as efficiently as do the independent drivers. They don't.

During my nine years' experience in New York City I have driven for companies and for myself. When I drove my own car I had no accidents. My tires cost me less than $75 a year; my garage and oil expenditures were perhaps one-third of similar expenditures upon a fleet-owned cab. Today an independent taxi operator pays a monthly insurance premium of $16. The large fleets pay $38 a month per cab.

There is a present 30 per cent surplus of taxicabs in New York. With fewer cabs the 15-cent rate would be ample. The problem therefore boils down to this simple thesis: New Yorkers and transients in New York City are paying a high taxi fare so that automobile manufacturers may dispose of their overproduction.

If our current high-geared mass production requires this constant abnormal absorption of surplus and altogether unnecessary taxicabs the people of Manhattan appear as Atlases holding aloft the American world of big business. This is an engaging picture but an economic fallacy. I doubt that the public prefers appearing in this rôle to enjoying efficiently and safely operated cabs at 15 cents a mile.

A Place for Woodrow Wilson.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

For many years I have subscribed to The Times and have noted your unbiased attitude in both religion and politics, so I appeal to your paper to start a protest before too late, in order to have the figure of our wartime President included with the other four which are to be carved on the face of Mount Rushmore in South Dakota.

And also to see that Mr. Coolidge in his history will give full measure of credit to Mr. Wilson for his high ideals, his moral courage, his faith in the American people, and the universal leadership conceded by all the world to us as a nation during his administration.

REVERTING TO BAD PRACTICE

To the Editor of The New York Times:

No person with any humanitarian instincts can fail to be shocked by the disclosures made at the recent biennial convention of the Camp Fire Girls of America, which have aroused that influential association to militant activity in behalf of the Indian children.

The startling disclosures there made are that Commissioner Rhoads, supposedly a humane person, has revoked the orders of his predecessors which forbade incarceration and flogging of the children in the Indian boarding schools, and has restored the power and advised the employment of these practices as a means of discipline. These instructions were incorporated in a bulletin issued over his signature on March 20 of this year to all the superintendents.

The reversion to this brutal practice by men of the reputed intelligence, experience and humanitarian interests of Messrs. Rhoads and Scattergood would be unbelievable if it were not for the indisputable evidence of Mr. Rhoads's signature to the document. And, even with that evidence, it, like the succession of activities of which it is the glaring climax, is inexplicable.

Even if there were no background of actual experience to enforce a realization of the concrete results of a restoration of these practices, any one with a modicum of information would realize the grave abuses and brutalities to which corporal punishment has given rise, even in schools where the children are in constant contact with parents who are in a position to be immedately advised of the occurrences and who are in a position to be both alert and vocal in preventing glaring abuses.

But Messrs. Rhoads and Scattergood have no need to exercise the imagination, for there is a long and shameful record of atrocities disclosed in the hearings before the Senate investigating committee that were summarized in Survey Graphic of January, 1929. Children beaten with leather straps, knocked down for sarcasm to the disciplinarian, struck with fist and hard objects until covered from face to knees with blood, girls 11 and 12 years old forced to walk around the school yard for an afternoon with heavy cordwood packs on their shoulders and beaten with a club when they faltered, and beaten again on the ground after they had been felled; girls chained in their beds, marched to their meals held by chains fastened around their necks—a record which it is hardly an exaggeration to compare with that of the atrocities of the Congo.

Yet in the face of this record, the power abrogated by Burke under pressure of public opinion is now restored by Rhoads with a minimum of publicity, and these children whom Rhoads, by virtue of his office, is sworn to protect, are again to be subjected to the tender mercies of the "disciplinarians" who were guilty of these atrocities—for the personnel remains unchanged.

Moreover, the authority is given in plenary though euphemistic terms. The authorization, of course, is not in the words that express realities. It is beautifully phrased as an authority "to adopt such emergency measures as may in their judgment be thought necessary."

Will the people of the United States stand for it? Will they permit their representatives to starve little children whom they have undertaken to protect and whom they have forced to accept their protection, to keep them shivering in rags and inflict upon them brutal corporal punishment? I, for one, cannot believe it, nor can I believe that Mr. Hoover, whose career is so linked with child welfare activities, will permit this reversion to the practices of the Dark Ages by his subordinates in the public service, or tolerate much longer in that service subordinates who thus jeopardize his reputation as a humanitarian.

Bellevue Patients Need Clothing.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As the time approaches for discarding Winter clothing, the Auxiliary to the Tuberculosis Division of Bellevue Hospital wishes to remind its friends of the need of warm things for patients taking the cure.

Any articles of clothing for men, women or children, also blankets, will be gratefully received and may be sent to Miss Sara E. Shaw, 419 East Twenty-sixth Street, or will be called for in Manhattan on request.

PORTRAIT OF A SAILOR.

The flashing of the sea is in his eyes,
The waves' white laughter rings upon his lips;
He is an alien under alien skies;
Forever he is captive of the ships.
Though cold and ragged always he may dine
At beauty's board where proudest kings partake;
He drinks the gold of sunrise for his wine,
And starlight is the bread that he may break.

Valencia is like a bell to him,
An amber bell that rings across the sea,
And Yokohama is a song so dim
It breaks the heart to bear. Eternally
The cry of Venice haunts him; Zanzibar
Leaps in a flame and Singapore cries out
When all is hushed beneath the Northern Star;
Calcutta is a knife; Madrid a shout.

No woman's lips may ever call him hers,
No hearthfire know his feet more than a night;
He must go on with every sail that stirs
Full-masted when the tide goes swift and white.
He holds the world within his hand; he knows
Of every wind and wave he is a part.
Through every vein the seas' deep passion flows;
The crying of the gulls is in his heart.

MRS. STRAUS BURIED; HER LIFE EULOGIZED

Dr. Enelow at Beth-El Chapel Pays Tribute to Wife of Nathan Straus in Prayer.

800 FRIENDS AT FUNERAL

Husband Is Unable to Be Present—Organizations Mourn Passing of Benefactor.

The funeral services of Mrs. Lina Gutherez Straus, wife of Nathan Straus, the philanthropist, who had devoted her own life to charitable activities, were held yesterday in Beth-El Chapel of Temple Emanu-El. A gathering of about 800 persons which overflowed into the main auditorium of the temple included many who had been directly or indirectly the objects of Mrs. Straus's benevolence. She died on Sunday at the age of 76 in her home, Driftwood, at Mamaroneck.

The service was marked by simplicity. The Rev. Dr. H. G. Enelow of Temple Emanu-El entered the pulpit before the bronze coffin, which was covered with sweet peas, pansies and violets, was borne to the head of the aisle. Several wreaths and other floral pieces were banked on both sides of the arched pulpit section of the chapel.

A quartet from the Emanu-El choir, under the direction of G. H. Federlein, organist, sang for the processional the hymn "Oh, Trust in the Lord," which was set to the strains of Handel's Largo. During the services "O Lord, We Pray," by Drozdoff, was sung. For the recessional, Chopin's Funeral March was played.

Tribute From the Prayer Book.

Instead of the usual eulogy, Dr. Enelow read from the prayer book these Biblical passages:

"A woman of worth who can find? For her price is far above rubies. The heart of her husband trusteth in her; and he shall have no lack of gain. She doeth him good and no evil all the days of her life. She stretcheth out her hand to the poor; yea, she putteth forth her hands to the needy. Strength and majesty are her clothing; and she laugheth at the time to come. She openeth her mouth with wisdom; and the law of loving-kindness is on her tongue.

"She looketh well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness. Her children rise up and call her happy; her husband also, and he praiseth her, saying: Many daughters have done worthily, but thou excellest them all. Give her of the fruit of her hands; and let her works praise her in the gates.

"The Lord recompense thy works, and a full reward be given thee of the Lord God of Israel, under whose wings thou art come to trust."

Mr. Straus, who celebrated his eighty-second birthday on Jan. 31 last, did not attend the funeral. Those of the family present included the daughter, Mrs. Irving Lehman, the former Sissie Straus; her husband, Judge Irving Lehman of the Court of Appeals; the sons, ex-State Senator Nathan Straus Jr. and Hugh Grant Straus, and the grandchildren.

Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Billikopf of Philadelphia, the latter a daughter of the late Louis Marshall of this city; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brisbane, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Warburg, Mrs. Rebekah Kohut, Lewis L. Straus, William R. Spiegelberg, Roger W. Straus, Ben Altheimer, Supreme Court Justice and Mrs. Nathan Bijur, Arthur Lehman, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Goodhart, Max J. Kohler and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Straus.

Burial was in the family vault in Beth-El Cemetery.

Among tributes paid yesterday to the memory of Mrs. Straus was the following from the Rev. Dr. Nathan Krass of Temple Emanu-El, who is in Chicago.

"Mrs. Nathan Straus was one of the sweetest, noblest, most modest exemplars of womanhood, and an inspiration and a real helpmate to her most distinguished husband. She shared with him the devotion and love of myriads of human beings made happier and healthier by her constant, unselfish service."

Warm Praise From Hadassah.

On behalf of the 50,000 members of Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America, Mrs. Robert Szold, national president, said yesterday:

"The death of Mrs. Nathan Straus removes from American Zionism a loving and devoted friend, whose lifetime service to humanity was a rare and noble work. Her deep interest in the development of a Jewish homeland in Palestine, and especially in creating the best and most healthful environment for the children of Palestine, has inspired countless women to active work for Zionism. In Palestine she and Mr. Straus are revered by all creeds for their love and generous gifts."

Mrs. Szold also lauded Mrs. Straus's influence in Hadassah's work during its first years in Palestine. Mrs. Straus was honorary vice president of the organization at the time of her death. The national headquarters of Hadassah at 111 Fifth Avenue ceased work at 11 A. M. yesterday, the hour of the services, and many Hadassah leaders attended the funeral.

Mrs. Felix Warburg, chairman of the women's division of the New York Allied Jewish Campaign, paid the following tribute to Mrs. Straus:

"The sudden death of Mrs. Nathan Straus is a personal bereavement not only to her dear ones but to the many thousands who loved her for the beauty of her life and the nobility of her deeds.

"Eager to extend a helping hand to all who had been defeated in life's battle, she gave unsparingly and wisely. Self-effacing as she always was, her counsel and her cooperation were nevertheless at the disposal of every movement for the good of humanity. Feeling strongly the special difficulties which beset the Jews of Europe and Palestine in their struggle for economic independence, the movements to mitigate these struggles and hasten the day when they could arrive at the goal of self-support were closest to her heart. Not only did she give lavishly for the upbuilding of Palestine and for the rehabilitation of the Jews of Eastern Europe, but in her own sweet, tender way she stimulated others to give and to work for these causes. The inspiration of her example will always be a motivating force to the Jewish womanhood of America, but of the inspiration of her cooperation, upon which the women's division of the Allied Jewish Campaign had set such great store, we are now deplorably bereft."

Messages of Sympathy.

Messages of sympathy were sent yesterday to Mr. Straus and his family by the Women's League of the United Synagogue of America and by the men's division of the organization, now in convention at the Commodore. The New York section of the National Council of Jewish Women paid silent tribute to Mrs. Straus's memory at the annual luncheon of the group, also held in the Commodore. Mrs. Henry S. Hendricks, vice president of the section, presided. About 900 members and guests were present.

The Women's League sent the following telegram to Mr. Straus:

"The Women's League of the United Synagogue of America in convention assembled beg to extend their deepest sympathy in your great bereavement. Mrs. Straus, in her wholehearted cooperation in your noble endeavors in the cause of Judaism, has become a symbol of the proverbial mother in Israel. Reserved and retiring, although ever sympathetic, she has proven an inspiration and example to all women interested in the furtherance of Israel's high ideals."

The men's session of the convention adopted the following resolution:

"In common with Jewry the world over, the United Synagogue of America, in convention assembled, is grief-stricken at the passing of Lina Straus, a true mother in Israel who contributed so much to the advancement of the welfare of her people here and abroad, and to the alleviation of suffering humanity generally. The memory of her exemplary life and of her manifold philanthropies will remain an inspiration and a blessing. The convention tenders its deepest sympathy to her noble husband, Nathan Straus, and to their children."

SILAS TUTTLE, 90, DIES.

Was a Retired Brooklyn Manufacturer—Married Sixty-seven Years.

Silas Tuttle, former head of the Tuttle-Bailey Manufacturing Company, at North Tenth and Berry Streets, Brooklyn, which he helped organize half a century ago, died yesterday, at the age of 90, in his home, 449 Washington Avenue.

A native of New Jersey, Mr. Tuttle had lived in Brooklyn since he was 16. Last October he and Mrs. Tuttle celebrated their sixty-seventh wedding anniversary. He was a founder of the Washington Avenue and Clinton Avenue associations and for fifty years was a member of the Apollo Club. He had been a member of the Manufacturers Association and of the advisory board of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company's Brooklyn branch.

DEADWOOD DICK DIES AT AGE OF 84

Richard Clarke Famous as Indian Fighter, Scout and Pony Express Rider.

WAS IN CUSTER COMMAND

As Youth Went to Black Hills on Foot—Later Covered in Few Hours by Air Two Months' Trail.

Special to The New York Times.

DEADWOOD, S. D., May 5.—Richard W. Clarke, famous throughout the land as Deadwook Dick, died here this forenoon after many weeks of suffering, at the age of 84. At his bedside were his daughter, Mrs. Mabel Deyoe of Aladdin, Wyo., and several intimate friends.

Conscious almost to the end, the Black Hills pioneer died as he had lived, fighting. Only the iron constitution due to his long years of life in the open kept him alive for some days. He had entered a hospital for treatment for lung infection on Feb. 24, but was unable to rally, owing to his age and complications.

Off for Gold Diggings in Youth.

Deadwood Dick was born in Hansborough, England, on Dec. 15, 1845. He came to this country at the age of 16 and spent some time on the Eastern coast, drifting later to Illinois, where he joined the Ward party of adventurers and explorers, bound for the gold diggings in the Black Hills. It took them two months to reach the gold country. Fifty years later Deadwood Dick flew in a few hours over the trail which he had covered with ox team and on foot.

On the trip west they had a battle with the Indians in which two members of the party were wounded and their small herd of cattle was driven off by the enemy.

Narrowly Missed Custer's Fate.

According to some accounts, Deadwood Dick made his first trip into the Black Hills in 1874 as a scout for General Custer, and at the time of the battle on the Little Big Horn, in which Custer and his command were wiped out in 1876 by the Sioux, had been sent around the hills with a detachment. They stopped at Creek City first, coming later to the rich strike at Deadwood.

He knew all the old frontier characters—Captain Jack Crawford, Buffalo Bill, Charlie Utter, Diamond Dick (Dr. Richard Turner, who now lives in Norfolk (Neb.); Poker Alice Tubbs, who died a few weeks ago; Calamity Jane, Madame Mustache, Wild Bill Hickok and many others.

As Pony Express rider, Indian fighter, guide, and assistant to United States marshals, Deadwood Dick lived a colorful life. He rode as guard on the stage coaches which carried gold bullion out of the hills. There was just as much danger on these trips from road agents or robbers as there was from the Indians.

After the gold excitement had died down, Deadwood Dick settled in Whitewood and married. Besides his daughter, a son, Henry Clarke of Interior, S. D., survives.

A picturesque character, with his flowing gray curls, his ten-gallon hat, the buckskins which were his costume for so many years, the .45 swinging at his hip, Deadwood Dick had lived for several Summers past in a log cabin in Pinecrest Park. Here he greeted Black Hills tourists, and in his reminiscences of the old days gave them something of the glamour and the excitement of the days of '76.

A Sneer for Chicago Gunmen.

In 1928, when Deadwood Dick went to Washington by airplane to visit President Coolidge, he paid his first visit to Illinois since he left there as a lad. The tall tales of Chicago gunmen were for him to laugh at when he entered the Loop for the first time, bedecked in leather jacket and breeches, with a .45-calibre revolver strapped to his waist.

"These here Chicago gunmen don't know nothin' at all," he said, as he patted his trusted six-shooter, a relic, as he was himself, of other days, other ways.

EDFRID A. BINGHAM.

Funeral Services Held for Screen Writer and Former Editor.

Funeral services for Edfrid A. Bingham of 250 West Seventy-eighth Street, author, screen writer and former newspaper man, were held yesterday in the chapel of W. J. Dargeon, 954 Amsterdam Avenue, by the Rev. Dr. Nathan A. Seagle, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. The body was cremated.

Mr. Bingham, who was 58 years old, died on Friday in Lenox Hill Hospital after an operation. He was a native of Ohio, and began newspaper work as a reporter in Denver. After serving as a reporter and dramatic critic on The New York Evening Mail, he became editor of the American news section of the Paris edition of The New York Herald in 1906, and later was a member of James Gordon Bennett's editorial council.

In 1915 he went to Los Angeles, where he had since written moving picture scenarios and a novel, "The Heart of Thunder Mountain." Owing to ill health he came back here several months ago.

He is survived by a widow and a son, Edfrid C. Bingham.

ARTHUR K. MITCHELL.

Engineer and Assistant to President of Mining Company Dies.

Arthur K. Mitchell, assistant to the president of the St. Joseph Lead Company, of St. Joseph, Mo., and 250 Park Avenue, this city, died yesterday at his home, 55 Tanglewylde Avenue, Bronxville. He was 46 years old.

Mr. Mitchell was born in Springfield, Mass. After graduation from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, he engaged in hydraulic engineering work in Canada for a number of years.

In 1919 he became associated with the St. Joseph Lead Company, with headquarters in New York, frequently visiting the company's mines in Missouri. In 1920 he invented the Mitchell underground shovel, now used in mining and subway digging. He is survived by a widow, the former Eunice Boswer, and a son, Hoadley Mitchell.

Funeral services will be held in Springfield tomorrow on arrival of a special car leaving Grand Central Station at 8:15 A. M. Standard Time.

DR. W. FREUDENTHAL, SPECIALIST, DIES

HURT BY HORSE AND BUGGY

Injury March 10 Led to Complications—He Was Educated in Germany and Lived Here 40 Years.

Dr. Wolff Freudenthal, otologist and laryngologist, died yesterday at his home, 24 West Eighty-eighth Street, after an illness with pneumonia which developed from complications subsequent to an injury which he received on March 10, when he was knocked down by a horse and wagon at Broadway and Twentieth Street. He was in his seventy-second year. Funeral services at the home will be private.

Dr. Freudenthal was born in Hohensauch, Prussia, on Sept. 5, 1858, and was educated at the universities of Heidelberg, Freiburg and Berlin. After completing his medical studies he began the practice of his profession in Berlin and became an assistant to Dr. B. Frankl, an eminent German throat specialist. When he was 30 years old Dr. Freudenthal came to the United States and joined the staff of the German Polyclinic on Second Avenue.

In more than forty years that he lived in New York Dr. Freudenthal distinguished himself as one of the most able throat specialists in the city. At the time of his death he was on the visiting staffs of Montefiore Hospital, St. Mark's Hospital and the German Polyclinic. He was three times president of the German Social Scientific Society, which recently celebrated its fiftieth anniversary; a former secretary and president of the German Medical Society and a former president of the American Laryngological Medical Society. He was also a member of the Jewish Academy of Arts and Sciences.

STRAUS—Lina. In common with Jewry the world over, the United Synagogue of America in convention assembled is grief-stricken at the passing of Lina Straus, a true mother in Israel, who contributed so much to the advancement of the welfare of her people here and abroad and to the alleviation of suffering humanity generally. The memory of her exemplary life and of her manifold philanthropies will remain an inspiration and a blessing. The convention tenders its deepest sympathy to her noble husband, Nathan Straus, and to their children.

STRAUS—Deborah Jewish Consumptive Relief Society deeply regrets the passing of the soul of Mrs. Lina G. Straus. In her death the nation has lost one of its noblest women, who freely offered her help to every cause, regardless of race or creed. The board expresses to members of the family its sincerest sympathy upon the demise of a helpmate to the man who throughout his life strove for the welfare of children and his fellow-men.
Mrs. SOLOMON SHAPIRO, President.

STRAUS—Mrs. Nathan. The Executive Committees of the Jewish Education Association and Ivriah, its Women's Division, express profound sorrow over the passing of Lina Straus, the beloved wife and helpmate of Mr. Nathan Straus. The many noble and fruitful works which she has accomplished in collaboration with her husband for the benefit of her people and of all men constitutes a perpetual shrine to her memory. Above all, she has been an inspiration to the Jewish womanhood of America in the Jewish way of life and sacrifice. May the love which she universally inspired serve to console her great and noble husband.
ISRAEL UNTERBERG, President.
BERNARD SEMEL, Honorary Secretary.
Mrs. GABRIEL HAMBURGER, Chairman of Ivriah.

STRAUS—Mrs. Nathan. Whereas, the passing of Mrs. Nathan Strauss is a profound loss to American womanhood and to the forces engaged in the task of developing a Jewish homeland in Palestine;

Be it Resolved, That on behalf of 50,000 American women Zionists the national boards of Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America, and of Junior Hadassah, in special sessions convened record their deep sorrow and bereavement and express their heartfelt sympathy and condolence to her loving dear ones. May God grant them solace in the fulfillment of her dream for Zion restored.
Mrs. ROBERT SZOLD,
President of Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America.

STRAUS—The Board of Directors of the Young Women's Hebrew Association learn with deep sorrow of the death of Mrs. Nathan Straus. We wish to pay tribute to her memory for the inspiration she brought us in her outstanding example of modest leadership, her sweet womanliness, her infinite devotion to humanitarian causes which helped to deepen understanding and lighten burdens of those who sought her in their need. To her family we extend our deepest sympathy.
FRIEDA SCHIFF WARBURG, President.

STRAUS—Lina Gutherz. The officers and directors of the Home of the Daughters of Jacob deeply grieve over the death of Lina Gutherz Straus, beloved wife of their dear friend, Nathan Straus, and extend to him their heartfelt expressions of sympathy and condolence. She was an outstanding figure in charitable and philanthropic circles. With her passing Jewry has lost a most devoted friend.
Mrs. JOSEPH ZELENKO, Vice President.
Mr. ADOLPH LOURIE, Superintendent.

STRAUS—Lina Gutherz. It is with deepest emotion that I learned of the death of Lina Gutherz Straus, beloved wife of my old friend, Nathan Straus. I wish to extend to him my sincerest expressions of sympathy and pray that the Almighty may give him fortitude to bear his great bereavement.
Mrs. PETER J. SCHWEITZER.
Radioed from M. S. Augustus.

MAIL DRIVER CHASES AND SEIZES ROBBER

Follows Three Who Flee When Victim Cries for Help and Captures One on 3d Av.

COLLECTOR DEFIES PISTOLS

Refuses to Give Up $200 Cash When Gunmen Waylay Him in His Auto on Monterey Avenue.

After pursuing in his truck and then on foot, a United States mail truck driver captured yesterday a hold-up man who lost his nerve when his victim offered resistance. The mail driver came to the rescue and the robber and his two companions fled when the victim of the attempted hold-up, William Relkin, a radio store instalment collector, shouted for help.

Relkin, making his rounds in his automobile for the Omsville Sales Corporation of 1,073 Southern Boulevard, the Bronx, stopped in front of 2,027 Monterey Avenue shortly after 10 A. M. He was confronted by three young men, one of whom shoved a revolver through the open window of the sedan and ordered Relkin to hand over his money, which amounted to $200.

Instead of complying, Relkin shouted for help and women on the sidewalks took up the cry. The hold-up men took to their heels, two of them disappearing into an apartment house and escaping. The other ran south to 178th Street and turned west.

He had to pass by the mail truck of Charles Hayler of 289 Fifth Avenue, Astoria, Queens, who, also shouting, stepped on his accelerator and whirled around the corner after him. At Third Avenue, where there are an elevated line, shops and crowds, Hayler jumped from his truck, overtook the fleeing man in a few steps and held him until Patrolmen Baer and O'Brien made their way through an excited group of spectators and took the driver's prisoner to the Bathgate Avenue station.

There he gave his name as James Astrello, 23 years old, of 4,028 Paulding Avenue, the Bronx. He said he was an elevator operator out of work and without money. He was identified as one of the robbers by Relkin and booked on charges of attempted robbery and violation of the Sullivan law. The gunmen had dropped two revolvers on the sidewalk as they ran. Astrello is understood to have given the names of his two aides.

When Hayler went around the corner of 178th Street in his pursuit an erroneous report was spread that he had been held up. Policemen surrounded an apartment into which Astrello's companions were supposed to have gone, but failed to locate them.

WORLD PEACE URGED BY UNITED SYNAGOGUE

Men's and Women's Groups in Session Here Plan Wide Growth of Their Organizations.

The function of Judaism in relation to international movements was discussed yesterday at the convention of the United Synagogue of America and the Women's League of the organization, in separate sessions at the Commodore Hotel. The growth of the World Organization of Jewish Women was outlined by Mrs. Rebekah Kohut.

Mrs. Theresa Mayer Durlach, who spoke on "What Can We Do for Peace?" emphasized the need for an international point of view among Jewish women and pointed out that they must mobilize for peace, as men had mobilized for war.

The morning sessions of both organizations were devoted to reports of educational committees. Plans were adopted by the committee on regional activities of the men's group, under the chairmanship of H. P. Koppelman of Hartford, for the establishment of branches of the organization in the Western States and South America.

Most of the afternoon session of the men's group, was devoted to a meeting of the budget committee. Following a discussion it was agreed that $75,000 was needed for the present year.

Mrs. Cyrus Adler presided at a session of the women's group during a discussion of the relation of the Women's League to Jewish world movements, by Mrs. Jacob B. Grossman and Mrs. David Kass.

Both sessions joined in a dinner last night at which Dr. Cyrus Adler was toastmaster. Speakers included the Rev. Dr. Max D. Klein, Dr. Israel Levinthal, Dr. Elias Margolis, and Mrs. Samuel Spiegel.

O. W. HOLMES LOSES APPEAL

Supreme Court Denies Petition of the Justice's Namesake.

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP).—Oliver Wendell Holmes asked for a judgment today by the Supreme Court and it was refused, but he was not Justice Holmes.

Instead, he was a North Carolinian, who asked the court to entertain an appeal attacking the validity of two laws under which Fayetteville, N. C., is extending its water and sewage systems and its electric light lines. The court decided he had failed to present a controversy within its jurisdiction.

COOLEY QUITS, LAYS PLIGHT TO 'ENEMIES'

Probation Chief, Resigning, Says His Fight on Favoritism Led to Irresponsible Attacks.

SEES QUICK VINDICATION

Judges Accept Letter, Penned in Hospital, Without Comment—Successor in Doubt.

MRS. COUGHLIN REMAINS

Grand Jury Takes Up Criminal Charges Against Retiring Head and Two Aides.

Edwin J. Cooley resigned yesterday as chief of the Probation Bureau of the Court of General Sessions. "Irresponsible attacks" by enemies embittered by his refusal "to permit probation to become the football of favoritism" had made his continued service "an embarrassment" to himself and the court, he said in his letter of resignation.

Mr. Cooley's announcement of his withdrawal as head of the bureau he helped to organize came almost simultaneously with the beginning of a new grand jury investigation of his stewardship, which Assistant District Attorney Harold W. Hastings predicted would result in three indictments.

The investigation into the management of the Probation Bureau was initiated after charges were made that he had been instrumental in obtaining a place for Mrs. Marguerite F. Lawler, his sister, on his staff as a temporary employe while she was still drawing salary as a school teacher in Buffalo. Shortly afterward Mr. Cooley and his deputy chief, Mrs. Eileen S. Coughlin, were suspended at their own request. Mrs. Coughlin through her attorney denied, however, that she had any intention of definitely quitting her job as Mr. Cooley did.

Lichtenstein Groomed for Post.

The position held by Mr. Cooley is under civil service. Notwithstanding this fact rumors spread quickly that Dr. Perry M. Lichtenstein, physician at the Tombs prison and a well known psychiatrist, was looked upon favorably as a candidate. Judge George Donnellan, member of the committee of three General Sessions judges having supervisory power over the bureau, denied, however, that any names had been considered at the special meeting at which Mr. Cooley's resignation was accepted.

Judge Donnellan likewise denied a report that Dr. Raymond Moley, Professor of Public Law at Columbia University, might be asked to reorganize the bureau. So far as he had learned, Judge Donnellan said, there had "been no criticism of the work of the bureau itself," and he knew of no necessity for reorganization.

George Z. Medalie, counsel to Mr. Cooley, delivered his client's letter of resignation in the forenoon. Rumors that it was imminent had been current. The letter was written on stationery of St. Vincent's Hospital, where the former head of the Probation Bureau has been confined for the past week, suffering from "nervous collapse." It was addressed to Judge Cornelius F. Collins, chairman of the judges' supervisory committee.

Letter of Resignation.

The letter said:

Sir:

I am in a position where twenty-one years of service to the cause of probation is so undermined by the insidious attacks of the last two weeks, that although I am confident of vindication before any tribunal that will hear me, my continuance in your service will only cause further embarrassment to you and to me.

Not a word of criticism has been uttered against the probation system of which I have been in charge. In my efforts to preserve its integrity and increase its effectiveness, I have been subjected to certain enmities.

I have refused, as you know, to permit probation to become the football of favoritism. Because of this, pent-up wrath and resentment that has followed poured itself out into irresponsible attacks. For the time being, at least, my labors and my usefulness have been forgotten. Supposed charges that could lawfully be inquired into have become mere incidental details in the present discussion and investigation. Those who have personal animus have been given free rein to pour out this hatred without restraint.

This fact is sufficiently established by the decision to have the grand jury consider charges against me anew, because of the mass of matter, according to the press, which the grand jury heard, and which it could not properly consider on the question whether I ought to be proceeded against. I am confident that when I am able to obtain a fair trial, guarded from the invasion of matter against which no victim can protect himself, that I shall be fully vindicated. I patiently await that opportunity.

I am grateful to the members of your court for your cooperation in building up probation. I know that my work, which was measured by no time clock and which I gave to the very limit of physical endurance, has met with your approval, as it has with the approval of the public-spirited bodies and citizens who have encouraged and aided it. It is important that this work continue unhampered by any attacks that are directed personally against me. To make that possible I herewith resign as chief probation officer of the Court of General Sessions to take effect immediately.

Judges Accept Resignation.

The letter was made public by Mr. Medalie. Late in the afternoon the judges of General Sessions met to consider Mr. Cooley's resignation. Subsequently Judge Donnellan announced its acceptance without comment. In view of the turn the case had taken, Hyman Bushel, attorney for Mrs. Coughlin, was asked if she intended also to resign. He replied: "My client has done nothing that would warrant her resignation."

Judge Donnellan, who swore in three May grand juries in the morning, designated the additional grand jury to inquire into alleged irregularities in the Probation Bureau. The April grand jury was understood to have been unable to vote indictments because of the large mass of irrelevant, and possibly malicious, testimony which had been presented before it. That body probably will continue its general inquiry with such testimony as might be valuable in a criminal investigation being weeded out and presented to the new grand jury.

Michael J. Sheely, retired, of 870 St. Nicholas Avenue, is foreman of the May grand jury investigating the Cooley case. Before beginning the presentation of evidence Mr. Hastings, who, it was understood, had received instructions from District Attorney Crain to seek indictments against Mr. Cooley, Mrs. Lawler and Mrs. Coughlin, outlined to the grand jurors the scope of the case. Four witnesses were heard before the grand jury adjourned this morning.

These were Dr. John Lo Pinto, house physician at the Hotel Carteret; Eugene Tully, an employe in the payroll division of the Controller's office; Mrs. Belle Fein Klein, former cashier and bookkeeper in the probation bureau, and Florence Wadleigh, an employe of the Western Union Telegraph Company in the office at 40 Walker Street.

United States Has 59 Per Cent Of World's 32,712,284 Phones

Of the world's total of 32,712,284 telephones, the United States has 19,341,295, or 59 per cent, according to the latest telephone census analysis made public yesterday by the New York Telephone Cmpany. The figures are as of Jan. 1, 1929, on which date Europe had 9,236,685 telephones, fewer than one-half the number in the United States, and 28 per cent of the world's total. In 1929 the number of telephones throughout the world increased by 1,726,908.

More than two-thirds of the telephones in the world are under private ownership and all in the United States are operated by private companies. In the United States there are 16.3 telephones for each 100 persons, or nearly ten times as many telephones per 100 as there are in Europe or the whole world outside the United States.

OFFER TO ERECT ANNEX TO MUNICIPAL BUILDING

Private Interests Would Rent Structure to City for $420,000 a Year—Berry Gets Plan.

Tentative plans for an annex to the Municipal Building, to be built with private capital and rented to the city for $420,000 a year, have been submitted to Joseph Johnson, Commissioner of Public Works, it was learned yesterday.

Loring M. Hewen of 2 Lafayette Street made the offer to Commissioner Johnson on behalf of clients of his office, and said the proposal had the backing of former Sheriff David H. Knott, now chairman of the New York County Democratic Committee. The offer specifies that the city may occupy the building nine months after acceptance of the plan, a feature that interested Commissioner Johnson, because of the present overcrowding of the Municipal Building and the city's urgent need of more office space. He sent the proposal to Controller Berry for investigation and a report.

The proposed building would have a gross area of 307,319 square feet, with an inside area, excluding stairways, walls, fire towers and pipe shafts, of 246,797 square feet. Its height was not mentioned definitely, but it would probably conform with the existing buildings in the civic centre, such as the State court house and the new State office building.

It would be of white sandstone front, equipped with nine high-speed elevators, and would be erected on a plot east of the State court house. The plot suggested for it has a frontage of 202 feet 6 inches on the south side of Worth Street and 103 feet 10 inches on Baxter Street. In return for the rental the owners would furnish all lighting equipment and office partitions wherever required. They would also pay taxes and insurance, and deliver the building complete in every detail to the city.

Controller Berry said he would have to find out what the square-foot cost would be to the city, compared with similar costs in other buildings where the city rents space. The city's rent bill is more than $2,000,000 a year, and Mr. Berry said any plan offering a reduction in that amount, together with an opportunity to concentrate scattered departments, would receive earnest consideration. After he finishes his investigation he will report to the Sinking Fund Commission.

EX.-GOV. SMITH PAYS VISIT TO ALBANY

Familiar Brown Derby Brings Scores of Friends for Greeting at Capitol.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 5.—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith and Mrs. Smith came to Albany today to visit their daughter, Mrs. John A. Warner; her husband, Major John A. Warner, Commander of the State Troopers, and their granddaughter, Mary Adams Warner.

After the former Governor had unloaded a parcel of toys to the great delight of Mary, he strolled to the Capitol. Although the Warner home is only about two blocks from the Capitol, Mr. Smith required almost half an hour for the journey.

Passing the State Education Building, he was hailed by a number of friends and between there and the Capitol he met others. By the time he reached the Washington Avenue side of the Capitol the former Chief Executive was perspiring freely. He wore the familiar brown derby and carried a cane. In the corridor and all the way to the Executive Chamber he had to stop and shake hands with many employes.

He was warmly received in the Executive Chamber, where he worked for eight years. Acting Governor Lehman was host and he and Mr. Smith chatted for half an hour. To newspaper men Mr. Smith said:

"I am up here to see my daughter and her family, especially my little granddaughter," he said. "Mrs. Smith is over there now and I'm going back as soon as I can cool off. I like to get back to Albany once in a while. It is a real pleasure to meet so many of the men and women whom I knew during the time I spent here. There's no politics or business in my coming, just a visit to the daughter and her family."

The former Governor and Mrs. Smith will celebrate their thirtieth wedding anniversary here tomorrow. A further reason for their visit is that the stork is expected soon at the home of Major and Mrs. Warner.

RELIGIOUS WORKS WIN PRIX DE ROME

Statue of St. Francis of Assisi and Picture of Christ Being Taken From Cross Get Honor.

MONKS AIDED SCULPTOR

3-Year Fellowships Awarded Here to W. M. Simpson of Virginia and Salvatore De Maio, Yale Artist.

Evidence that youth is not unanimous in its revolt was offered here yesterday by the painting and sculpture of two young men who won the coveted Prix de Rome. For the first time, as far as could be learned yesterday, both the awards in sculpture and painting went to young men who portrayed religious subjects.

A statue of Saint Francis of Assisi, by William Marks Simpson Jr. of Norfolk, Va., won the sculpture prize, which has a cash value of about $8,000, including expenses of a three-year residence and study in Rome. The same value attaches to the award in painting, which went to Salvatore De Maio, 78 Howard Street, New Haven, Conn. De Maio's large painting portrayed the body of Christ just lowered from the cross.

"Saints are not popular these days," Mr. Simpson said he was warned jokingly by friends who heard that he intended making a statue of Saint Francis for the Prix de Rome competition. But protests did not sway him from his original intention. "I felt like trying to do a statue of St. Francis, so I went ahead," he explained yesterday.

Monks Aid Sculptor.

Help on details of costume was given the young sculptor by Franciscan monks in Washington, D. C., and nuns of the Franciscan Convent in Norfolk were brought by their mother superior to Mr. Simpson's studio to see the statue. So much interest was aroused among his Catholic friends, the sculptor said, that although he was a non-Catholic, he was told that masses would be said yesterday in churches in Norfolk for his success in the competition. The statue portrayed St Francis as standing in an attitude of blessing, with a pigeon in one arm.

Mr. Simpson denied that he had any opinion about the alleged revolt of youth. He was attracted by the simplicity and sweetness of the character of St. Francis, he said, and had tried to inject these qualities into the statue, without any trace of weakness. With this statue Mr. Simpson entered in the competition two female figures, which won him second place in the Prix de Rome competition last year. Had he not won this year, he said he would have continued trying until disbarred by the age limit.

Won Two Other Scholarships.

Mr. Simpson was graduated from the Virginia Military Institute. He then entered the Rinehart School of Sculpture at the Maryland Institute of Fine Arts in Baltimore, where last year he served in the night class as an assistant instructor of cast drawing. Among his previous awards were two traveling scholarships which enabled him to spend two Summers in Europe.

The awards were made in the Grand Central Art Galleries, where the paintings and sculpture entered in the competition will go on view today. This was the sixth year in succession that the award in paintings has gone to a student in the Yale School of Fine Arts. The number of entries from Yale generally exceeds that of any other school, it was said. This year fourteen of the twenty-five competitors in painting were students at Yale.

Salvatore De Maio, who is finishing his fourth year at Yale, calls his prize-winning painting "Il Consummatum Est," which he translates "The Complete Sacrifice." Although notified of his success immediately, he did not arrive from New Haven until last night.

Mr. De Maio said he worked his way through art school by playing a cornet in jazz bands.

He was one of thirteen children of a retired musician, became interested in art in grammar school and took up music as a means of earning money. For four years, he said, he had been a member of jazz bands and had also played in the Yale Band. No awards for his painting had come to him before, he said, but several honorable mentions in his classes at Yale had encouraged him to try for the Prix de Rome.

Honorable mention in sculpture went to Warren Towle Mosman of Bridgeport, Conn., and Robert Johnson McKnight, Springfield, Ohio, both students at Yale. Three Yale students also won honorable mention in painting: Harry Gregory Ackerman, New York; Paul George Lawlor, Cleveland, Ohio, and John E. Otterson Jr., New Haven. The annual competition is open only to unmarried male citizens of this country not more than 30 years of age.

Yesterday's jury in painting consisted of Barry Faulkner, A. N. A.; Abram Poole Douglas, N. A.; Ezra Winter, A. N. A., and Charles A. Platt, N. A.

The members of the sculpture jury were Herbert Adams, N. A.; James E. Fraser, N. A.; Charles Keck, N. A.; Edward McCartan, N. A., and Adolph A. Weinman, N. A.

TO APPEAL ERLANGER SUIT.

Attorney for "Widow" Takes Issue on Two Rulings in Will Dispute.

Max D. Steuer, counsel for Charlotte M. Fixel, who is suing the family of Abraham L. Erlanger, theatrical man, for a share of his estate on the ground that she was his common-law wife, filed a notice in Surrogate's Court yesterday that he would appeal to the Appellate Division from two recent decisions of Surrogate Foley affecting preliminary motions in the will contest. The decisions denied the contestant a jury trial to determine her status and appointed Saul J. Baron, Erlanger's personal attorney, as temporary administrator of the estate pending the outcome of the suit.

Mr. Steuer cited a recent decision of the Appellate Division sanctioning a jury trial in a similar action. He objected also to Mr. Baron's appointment on the ground that as the attorney who drew the disputed will he was prejudiced against Miss Fixel.

Mr. Baron filed yesterday the bond of $2,200,000 ordered by Surrogate Foley. It was subscribed by five Manhattan surety companies.

NEW WRIT TO BLOCK CUT-RATE TAXICABS

Big Independent Fleets Back Paper in Getting Injunction to Be Served on Whalen Today.

TWO CARS PASS TESTS

Await Only Final Inspection of Low-Rate Meters—Suit by Woman Off for a Week.

With two more of their cabs tentatively approved by the Police Department, subject to verification of meters over a one-mile course today, the proponents of the fifteen-cent-a-mile taxicab rate faced a new legal obstacle last night in the form of an injunction order signed by Supreme Court Justice Gavegan and returnable tomorrow before Justice Ingraham. The order, directing Police Commissioner Whalen to refrain from licensing 15-cent cabs, will be served this morning, according to Jack Bregman, editor of The Weekly Taxi Sun, upon whose application it was granted. His counsel are Javits & Javits, who also represent Mrs. Mary G. Morton of Queens, whose taxpayer's suit against cut-rate cabs is still pending.

Neitous Davis, owner of a Paramount cab, and Harry G. Hitchcock, owner of a Checker, were the applicants whose cabs were approved yesterday. Their 15-cent rate meters passed the police laboratory tests. It was upon the intervention of Hitchcock in Mrs. Morton's suit that Justice Strong on Friday vacated a temporary order prohibiting Commissioner Whalen from issuing cut-rate licenses. Michael Donella, vice president of the Amalgamated Taxi Association, of which both applicants are members, said that four more applicants would seek to have their cabs and meters tested today.

The new injunction suit rests primarily on the ground that the issuance of cut-rate licenses will menace the health and safety of the public through reckless driving, rate wars and kindred evils. A statement by Mr. Bregman, asserting that he represented 20,000 readers of his publication who oppose cut rates, as well as 140 independent fleet operators who are losing money at the prevailing 20-cent rate, was given out last night from the offices of his attorneys.

Hearing on the show-cause order in Mrs. Morton's suit was postponed yesterday for one week.

The entire question of Commissioner Whalen's power to fix a minimum taxicab rate in the interests of public safety and police traffic control was submitted to the Appellate Division without argument yesterday in the case of the city's appeal from a recent decision by Justice John Ford, holding that Commissioner Whalen had no right to refuse a 15-cent license to Eugene Piantoni, another Amalgamated member, on those grounds.

In his statement, explaining his reasons for bringing suit, Mr. Bregman declared that the Amalgamated's drive for cut-rate licenses was part of "a business scheme" which he would explain to Mayor Walker's Commission on Taxicabs when it begins its public hearings tomorrow.

DYNAMITE BLAST ON BOAT INJURES 3

Six Other Men, Thrown Into the Waters of Kill van Kull, Are Rescued by Coast Guards.

DREDGE SINKS IN CHANNEL

Three men were injured and six others were pulled out of the water as the result of an explosion of eighty-six pounds of dynamite yesterday afternoon on the deck of a steam dredge owned by the New York and New Jersey Ship Building Company, anchored in Kill van Kull, off Elm Park, S. I. After the explosion a fire started on the dredge. The dredge sank in such a position that it partly obstructed navigation.

The injured were Captain Alexander McKinner, 42 years old, living on the barge; Hans Strone, 31, a diver, and John McClaughry, 28, a seaman, living at 30 Eadie Street, North Brighton, S. I.

McKinner and Strone, who were burned, were treated at the United States Marine Hospital at Stapleton. McClaughry, who suffered from submersion and congestion of the lungs, was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital, West New Brighton.

The six others of the crew who jumped into the water were pulled out by the crews of Coast Guard boats 122 and 210 and landed in Stapleton.

Those on the dredge said the explosive was on the deck in readiness to be placed in the Kill van Kull, where stone and rock are being blasted.

Strone had placed twenty pounds of dynamite under the water preparatory to setting it off. The wires connected with the underwater charge were near where the remaining eighty-six pounds were stored and it is believed the wires crossed, setting off a spark, which resulted in the explosion.

The fireboats Zophar Mills and Mayor Gaynor, which responded to an alarm, pumped tons of water into the dredge. This, with the water that seeped into the dredge after the explosion, caused one end to settle in the mud.

Employes of the United States Lighthouse Service placed warning lights on the parts of the dredge above water. The damage to the boat was estimated at more than $200,000. Attempts will be made to raise the dredge.

SEVEN NOTARIES CLEARED BY COURT

No Evidence Found That They Improperly Had Given Legal Advice in Bronx.

SEVENTEEN CASES GO OVER

Fifteen to Have Hearings Tomorrow—Bar Investigator Tells of Getting Papers Drawn.

Magistrate Bernard J. Douras, after a long hearing in Morrisania court yesterday, decided that accusations against seven of twenty-four notaries public charged by the Bronx Bar Association with posing as attorneys were groundless and dismissed the summonses served upon them. The court was supported in its refusal to entertain the charges by District Attorney McLaughlin, who issued a statement declaring there apparently was no evidence that the notaries had given legal advice in drawing up legal documents.

A hearing of charges against fifteen of the defendants in West Farms court was postponed at the request of Assistant District Attorney Martin Frank because the two investigators who gathered the evidence for the Bar Association, Charles Olsen and Edward Dougherty, were engaged in the other court. Magistrate Capshaw allowed a delay until tomorrow morning. Before the proceedings before Magistrate Douras had been finished he had granted adjournments until next Monday to two others who were summoned.

On the witness stand Olsen, who said he had been employed by Owen S. M. Tierney, president of the Bar Association and an Assistant United States Attorney, declared he had used various assumed names in soliciting the services of the notaries to execute chattel mortgages, bills of sales and other legal instruments. Copies of bills of sale offered in evidence purported to show sales of furniture and a washing machine to Dougherty.

Olsen admitted that in some cases he had supplied printed forms to the notaries who did not have them. The fees accepted for the execution of these papers, he said, had ranged from $1 to $5.

The seven notaries cleared by the court are:

ALBERT NEWMAN, 10 East 161st Street.
LOUIS F. BENARD, 885 Brook Avenue.
EARL R. DICKSON, 3,295 Third Avenue.
GEORGE HORNING, 3,168 Third Avenue.
F. WILLIAM R. DORN, 1,355 Boston Road.
WILLIAM GREEN, 1,384 Boston Road.
OTTO DEFFAA, 2,330 Third Avenue.

The dismissals were made following a motion by Samuel Weisman, counsel for Deffaa.

Mr. Weisman pointed out that none of the testimony against his client showed that any advice had been given but that he had merely accepted $3.50 for executing a bill of sale for furniture valued at $350. Magistrate Douras granted the motion for dismissal in this case and then also extended it to all the others without listening to motions. Assistant District Attorney Sol Boneparth agreed with the court that there was nothing in any of the evidence to show the notaries had done more than execute the documents requested by Olsen.

District Attorney McLaughlin declared that he had requested Deputy Chief Inspector Hennessy, in charge of Bronx police, to make a survey to determine whether any abuse of a licensed attorney's powers was prevalent among notaries. Prosecutions will be made, Mr. McLaughlin said, where illegal practices are uncovered.

"The circumstances surrounding these cases," Mr. McLaughlin said, "are that in many instances the investigators of the Bar Association asked to have one individual paper drawn, sometimes a bill of sale, chattel mortgages or a will. There appears to be no advice given as to how these papers were to be filed or what their legal effect in law might be. Therefore, I do not believe that the facts take them within the provisions of Section 270 of the penal law. However, each case will be presented to the magistrate for judicial determination."

FASCIST ROW SEEN OVER NEW HOSPITAL

Directors of Italian Institution Act to Build New Home When Cotillo Offers to Resign.

Despite dissension among its directors over the project, construction of a new home at Fifth Avenue and 106th Street for the Italian Hospital, now at 135 East Fifty-fifth Street, will begin soon, according to the statement yesterday of Philip Bongiorno, vice president of the institution. It was said that the rift among the directors had widened with the injection of the Fascist issue.

Supreme Court Justice Salvator S. Cotillo, chairman of the building committee, sent a letter of resignation as the result of disagreement among the directors. The letter was read at a meeting last night and the directors voted unanimously not to accept it. By a vote of 11 to 10 the board then was reported to have adopted two resolutions which, in effect, authorize the construction of the new hospital. One authorizes the starting of work and the other prevents the election of sustaining members until after the building has been finished.

Those desiring the construction of the new hospital assert that those who oppose it are pro-Fascist. They declare that it is the desire of the Fascist sympathizers to control the hospital and thus strengthen their hold on Italians here.

They point to a part of Justice Cotillo's letter of resignation which reads: "What is lacking in our institution is the element of single-mindedness to accomplish the task entrusted to us. If that good faith existed, the members of the board of directors at the present time could themselves subscribe the deficiency of $500,000 or $600,000 that is needed to finish the hospital."

Mr. Bongiorno, as well as Santo Modica, secretary of the hospital, also denied that there was a group among the directors following the policies of the late Francesco M. Ferrari, president of the defunct City Trust Company. Mr. Ferrari, up to the time of his death, was active in the affairs of the hospital.

Mr. Bongiorno said that there is not much chance that the plans for the construction of the new hospital will be held up. He explained that there is about $1,700,000 available for the new building. He added, however, that the opposition has been so strong against the project that an effort has been made to get back from the institution a construction made by the Italian Government about twenty years ago.

Policeman's Lawyer-Wife Wins Acquittal for Man He Arrested

LOWELL, Mass., May 5 (AP).—What started out to be the case of the Commonwealth vs. Wilfred Pare quickly but unofficially changed into that of Mary Maloney Lynch vs. John F. Lynch in District Court this morning.

Mrs. Lynch, a member of the School Committee and a lawyer, was trying her first case in criminal court as defense counsel for Pare. Her husband, John F. Lynch, policeman, was the complaining witness. Under cross-examination Mrs. Lynch succeeded in wringing from her husband an admission that Pare only "appeared" to be drunk. Other witnesses testified that the accused man was sober.

Judge Frederic A. Fisher debated a minute or two and acquitted Pare.

WHALEN WON'T QUIT AT DINNER TONIGHT

Absence of Mayor and Fact Report Is Not Finished Seen as Reasons for Delay.

2,100 EXPECTED TO ATTEND

McKee to Lead Tributes at Fete by Merchants—Walker Will Send Laudatory Messages.

More than 2,100 business executives, professional men and men prominent in other walks of life are scheduled to attend a testimonial dinner to Police Commissioner Whalen at the Hotel Astor tonight.

Plans for the dinner were prepared by a committee of 600, headed by Willis H. Booth, president of the Merchants' Association. Samuel McRoberts, chairman of the board of the Chatham Phenix National Bank and Trust Company, is honorary chairman of the committee. Originally the dinner had been intended as a "farewell" feast for Mr. Whalen, who at the time the dinner plans were announced had been expected to resign before today. Subsequently it was declared that Mr. Whalen would announce his resignation when he breaks bread with his admirers tonight.

Won't Announce Resignation.

That he will not do so was learned yesterday. The postponement, it was declared, is due to the absence of Mayor Walker from the city and the fact that Mr. Whalen has not yet completed his report for 1929. The report, it was learned, is now being put into final shape and will probably go to the printer on Monday. But whether Commissioner Whalen will resign next week, upon presentation of his report to the Mayor, was also considered problematical, although his resignation has been expected for some time.

As Mr. Whalen was about to enter his automobile after addressing a meeting at the Jamaica High School last night, he was asked if he would announce his resignation at the dinner tonight.

"No; most certainly not," he replied.

Among those selected to make addresses at tonight's dinner are Acting Mayor Joseph V. McKee, Philip Le Boutillier, president of the Retail Dry Goods Association of New York; J. Barstow Small, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, and Rabbi Nathan Krass of Temple Emanu-El. Mr. Booth will be toastmaster.

Walker to Send Tribute.

Mayor Walker, who is in Bermuda resting on orders of his physician, will send a message to the dinner in which he will pay his respects to Commissioner Whalen in warm terms. Former Governor Smith will also be absent, it was believed, since today is the thirtieth anniversary of his wedding and he and Mrs. Smith have been in the habit of spending the day at home.

The dinner for Mr. Whalen was proposed originally by William H. Woodin, president of the American Car and Foundry Company. A souvenir program, bearing the portrait of the commissioner, will be put on each table.

It has been understood that with his retirement from the Police Department Mr. Whalen would return to his old post at Wanamaker's. William L. Nevin, president of the Wanamaker stores, said last month that his position is being held open for him.

Approval of the Crime Prevention Bureau recently established in the Police Department by Mr. Whalen was expressed yesterday by the Committee of Fourteen, devoted to the study and prevention of vice and crime, through its secretary, George E. Worthington.

It is understood that a petition may be circulated shortly among the various interested civic organizations asking support for a bill in the Municipal Assembly to amend the city charter making the Crime Prevention Bureau a permanent part of the police organizations and creating an additional Deputy Police Commissioner as its head.

HELD IN SLAYING OF FIANCE.

Girl Whose Father Shot Man She Was to Wed Detained as a Witness.

Special to The New York Times.

ELIZABETH, N. J., May 5.—While Felix Dziobak, 340 Myrtle Street, who shot and killed John Kus, his intended son-in-law, near St. Hedwig's Church here yesterday was under police guard at the Alexian Brothers Hospital for mental observation today, his daughter, Bertha, 19, and son Julius, 15, were held in police court as material witnesses under $1,000 bail each.

Kus, who had arranged to be married to Dziobak's daughter at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. Hedwig's Church, was shot as he was driving his fiancée, her father and brother home from services in the church yesterday morning. Dziobak, who objected to the proposed wedding, is alleged to have told friends that Kus would never become his son-in-law. He was captured by a patrolman after shooting Kus three times and jumping from the victim's car and fleeing toward his home.

Kus will be buried tomorrow morning from the church in which he was to have been married.

PRESBYTERIES BAR WOMEN MINISTERS

Majority Vote Against the Overture Submitted by Council of General Assembly.

OTHER PROPOSALS IN DOUBT

Advocates of Admitting Women as Elders and Evangelists Expect Favorable Action.

ARTICLE INFLUENCED VOTE

It Appeared in Church Weekly—Attitude of Southern Church Was Also Considered.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—The movement to permit the ordination of women as ministers in the Presbyterian Church in the United States has failed.

A tabulation of the voting, made public today at the offices of the Presbyterian General Assembly here, showed that 150 presbyteries, three more than the necessary majority, had registered themselves against the adoption of the overture, which was submitted to the Church at large by the General Assembly at its St. Paul meeting last year.

So far 258 of the 293 presbyteries have reported. The ordination of women was favored by 101, while seven tabled the overture. Regardless of how many more report to the General Assembly offices, the overture has been definitely defeated.

The results of two other overtures, permitting the election of women as ruling elders and authorizing them to serve as local evangelists, remained in doubt, as not enough presbyteries had reported their votes. In each case the trend was toward approval.

On the overture giving women the right to serve as elders 142 presbyteries returned affirmative votes and 109 negative, six taking no action.

Five Votes Needed for Women Elders.

Only five votes are needed to give a majority for approval, and hope was expressed by champions of the overture that it will be successful with a vote or two to spare, although General Assembly officials said that the average vote on any overture usually totaled about 250 of the presbyteries. More than that number have reported.

Only 131 presbyteries had voted in favor of the overture for women as local evangelists, while 116 were opposed. Eight of the presbyteries tabled the suggestion without acting.

The ordination of women as ministers was proposed as an answer to the feeling of unrest among some of the women church members and to the assertion that women were being discriminated against in the denomination. The overture, recommended by a commission headed by Dr. Robert E. Speer of New York, was suggested to the General Assembly by a 12-to-6 vote of the Presbyterian General Council taken at a meeting here on March 6, 1929. The General Assembly referred it to the presbyteries for action.

As a result of the General Council's recommendation that a referendum be taken on the overture in every congregation before the final vote in each presbytery, church officials expressed the opinion that it has received exhaustive consideration during the year. The New York Presbytery, it was pointed out, postponed action repeatedly in an effort to give the individual congregations sufficient time to consider the question.

Women Voted in Congregations.

The request that the congregations conduct their own referendums resulted from the fact that women have an equal vote with men in the congregational meetings, but otherwise are barred from official deliberations.

In some official quarters belief was held that an article by the Rev. Dr. H. C. Swearingen of the House of Hope Church, St., Paul, Minn., which appeared a few weeks ago in The Presbyterian Weekly, had the effect of lining up a number of doubtful presbyteries in opposition to the overture. It was also pointed out that fears of disrupting the steady move toward consolidation with other denominations may have influenced some of the presbyteries. The Southern Presbyterian Church was said to have been disturbed over the overture, as that branch was unfavorable to the recognition of women as church officials.

Although the overture on women as ministers represented the most sweeping action ever taken by the General Council affecting women, the presbyteries had voted a decade ago on a proposal that women be permitted to serve as elders. The final vote on that overture was 139 in favor to 125 against, but the proposal was defeated for want of a majority of all the presbyteries.

STATE RESTS IN GEM CASE.

Former Emerson Housekeeper to Open Defense Today.

When the State had rested its case yesterday in the General Sessions trial of Mrs. Marie J. Leslie for the alleged theft of $173,000 in jewels, in 1928, from Wanamaker's in this city, Judge Koenig adjourned the proceedings until this morning.

Mrs. Leslie is accused of having falsely represented to Wanamaker's in this city and Philadelphia that she was acting for Mrs. Isaac E. Emerson, wife of the manufacturer of bromo-seltzer, by whom she was employed at the time as a housekeeper, when she obtained about $480,000 in jewels. Some of these she is alleged to have pawned and others, it is charged, were sold by her. She insists that she obtained the jewels by arrangement with Mrs. Emerson.

Assistant District Attorney McGuire ended the State's case with the testimony of Albert F. Strasburger, manager of the jewelry department of Wanamaker's store here. He told the jurors that he had received instructions from the Philadelphia store that Mrs. Leslie could select any jewels she desired on Mrs. Emerson's charge account.

"I appeal from your customs. I must be myself" says Emerson in his "Self-Reliance."

There is a tendency, today, to minimize the individual and to exaggerate the machine-like customs of business, and of life.

Some men are so constituted that they fit quite easily into a mechanistic system, while others feel, instinctively that their individuality will be, or is being, gradually standardized out of them. They are becoming "cogs" and they don't want to be "cogs."

Work in the life insurance field certainly doesn't cramp individuality, ingenuity, or initiative. Men of character, who are capable of sustained hard work, who like to overcome obstacles by their mind and personality, who are interested in human nature, may well consider the profession of life insurance. There are no big fortunes to be made in it, but many agents have attained bigger things than that in its service.

Life insurance is used today as an essential commodity. There are but few problems in a man's personal or business finance in which it cannot be of help.

Life insurance is a property free from shrinkage or depreciation, nor will it be dissipated by inexperienced or speculatively inclined beneficiaries if its policy income provisions are used.

This office offers a liberal commission contract with a renewal income for a period of years—thorough courses of instruction, and the cooperation in practical field work of an experienced staff, without affecting in any way the agents' commissions.

We will be glad to discuss the matter in detail with anyone who is interested. We will tell him, as clearly as we can, the nature of the business, its possibilities and also its difficulties. He can then more accurately analyze the situation—and also himself and make his own decision.

ORATORIO SOCIETY GIVES BACH MASS

United With Bach Cantata Club Forces, Albert Stoessel Conducts B Minor Work.

A COLORFUL PERFORMANCE

Big Audience in Carnegie Hall Remains to Hear Last Note of Overwhelming Music.

By OLIN DOWNES.

It has become the laudable custom of the Oratorio Society which Albert Stoessel directs to give fairly frequent performances of the Bach B minor Mass. The indebtedness of the public for repeated presentations of what is in its essence one of the greatest choral works of all the centuries is great. Last night in Carnegie Hall the Oratorio Society united forces with the Bach Cantata Club, and again the B minor Mass was heard. The public appreciated its opportunity. It crowded the hall in spite of the oppressive heat of the evening. It remained to the last note of a performance which lasted, with half an hour's intermission, from 7:35 to close on 11 o'clock. The program requested that applause be confined to the middle and the end of the concert and this rule was obeyed. At those moments the quality and duration of the applause showed the gratification of the gathering.

There is no need at this day to go into a historical disquisition about the composition of the B minor Mass. We know that Bach composed it in parts; that he dedicated it, with a humbleness which is irritating to the modern reader, to his Augustus III, that Augustus turned Catholic, for which he was greatly disliked by the German Lutherans, and that many have presumed Bach to have set the Catholic Mass with a thought to finding special favor with his sovereign. But this point of view has been roughly handled by modern criticism, and in view of the character of Bach and his genius it is more reasonable to adopt the conclusions which were admirably expressed in last night's program book by the distinguished Bach specialist, Dr. C. Sanford Terry. Dr. Terry observes that the conjecture of self-interest on the part of Bach in creating the music of the B minor Mass is "uncritical." He reminds us that the proportions of the vast work are such as to forbid its use as part of Catholic ritual.

He says that "two reasons, themselves complementary, moved Bach to expand his original work. In the first place, the Mass is neither Roman nor Lutheran in intention and outlook, but the expression of a catholic—with a small "c"—Christianity. In the second place, Bach's genius was Teutonic in its inclination to complete a design. If another reason is sought, it is found in the compulsion to express himself in an art form which he had studied deeply." It might be added that to listen to this incomparable score is to realize the profundity and the universality of Bach's genius, the scope of his thought, the intensity of his feeling, the sincerity of his faith. It is to know that Bach, dispensing wholly with dogmatic religion, created, when he composed this Mass, a great prayer from all humanity to God.

Nothing that had been dreamed of by a musician before Bach, and no technical means that composers had been perfecting for use by his crowning genius centuries before he came, is absent from this score. It is polyphonic in the highest degree, yet much of it is built on the purest harmonic basis, and the harmonies, simple, clear as fundamentally they are, nevertheless predicate tonal vistas of a much later day. Some listeners, this writer among them, have fancied in the past that they discovered in the music a certain glow of color and mysticism of accent that partook of the Catholic spirit, as truly as the Passions are Protestant and Lutheran in inspiration. But this impression is probably due to the eclecticism of Bach's musical means and his responsiveness to all the inferences of the text.

He seems to draw at will upon the radiant and transparent style of the Palestrina school and epoch, as truly as he has drawn from the very depths of Teutonic inspiration such music as the two parts of the "Kyrie eleison." He has drawn upon his cantatas, as we know, for much of his material, and he has utilized with marvelous power a motive from Gregorian chant to build up one of the mightiest of his tonal edifices. Now he sits in deep communion with the innermost spirit; anon he becomes a tone-painter and dramatist—even as a modern might call it, a "romantic" in the poignancy and subjectivity of his expression. There are no fit encomiums for this mass. It is simply a work of transcendant genius.

For all that, there are pages which a later day may not deem it sacrilege to omit. Principal among them are a number of the solos, written wonderfully, of course, but none the less conventionally, in a stock style of Bach's day. By far the greater part of the Mass which stands out from everything else that Bach wrote is the overwhelming music that he composed for the chorus. Some of the solos are naïve and wholly unnecessary in such a work.

What shall be said of the bass's recitation of the "Spiritum Sanctum" to a pretty tune for a wind instrument—an incongruous setting—and what is a better illustration of the difference between Bach's writing for solo voice and his writing for chorus than the contrast between this passage and the thrilling pronouncement by the tenors, in the chorus which immediately follows, of the text, flung out to a phrase of cantus firmus, "confiteor..unum baptisma..in remissionem..peccatorum"? But if one begins to talk of the choral passages of the B minor mass there will be no end of the matter.

The performance last night enlisted the aid of a symphony orchestra of sixty players, headed by Mischa Mishakoff, concertmaster, who also played the violin solos; of Mildred Faas, soprano; Merle Alcock, contralto; Arthur Krafft, tenor; Normann Joliffe, bass; Hugh Porter, organist; Alfred Greenfield, cembalist, and Henry Berv, horn; Sol Cohen, trumpet; George Possell, flute; Pierre Mathieu and Fernand Roche, oboi d'amore. The performance was earnest and most colorful, on the whole, in the second part. Impressive moments of the choral performance, as of the score itself, were the two "Kyries," the "Qui tollis," the "Crucifixus"; the brilliant singing of "Et ressurexit," and parts of the "Confiteor."

From the technical standpoint this was in fact a highly creditable achievement. It is too much to expect a letter-perfect performance of all of the B minor mass, but Mr. Stoessel and his singers proved that it is not too much to expect a chorus to give a very fair presentation of the music, so far as singing the notes is concerned. The curious part of last night's interpretations was its prevailing trustworthiness in the technical sense but its lack of vividness clarity and balance of parts, or a very high degree of emotional expression. The inner parts, during much of the performance, should have been clearer and more expressive than they were. There should have been more dynamic contrast. If the chorus had not shown such a good knowledge of its task it would be invidious to point out that too much of the singing was heavy-footed and that the sense of definite proportions and long, balanced lines that give symmetry to Bach' complicated counterpoint was seldom present.

The task was so creditable that it should have been more so. But at least, the audience heard the outlines, if not all the inner voices, of the B minor Mass. It is a pity that the orchestra was wholly without balance, the strings completely overpowering the wood most of the time, when the woodwinds were carrying principal melodic lines. In other words, the orchestral contribution to the occasion was what it usually is for performances of choral societies—an accompaniment of little merit, with some occasional able playing of solo parts. M. Stoessel seemed inclined to hurry the tempo for some of the solos. Of the solo singers the most accomplished was the soprano, Miss Faas. Miss Alcock improved in the second part of the performance. The tenor and soprano duet of the second part was effective, but in other places Mr. Kraft did not offer very much in the way of varied tone-color. The music appeared low for Mr. Joliffe's voice—experienced musician that he is—which had none too grateful tasks imposed upon it. But again, it is not well to be over-meticulous in passages cruelly written in most cases, for the soloists, to say nothing of the problems of the choristers. Thanks to Mr. Stoessel and his hosts, the audience heard a performance of estimable, if not exciting quality, of Bach's B minor Mass.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS TO BE GREETED TODAY

City's Official Welcome to Be Extended to First Group of 300 Who Will Sail Tomorrow.

The first contingent of 300 Gold Star Mothers who are to visit the graves of their sons in France this Summer as the guests of the government will be received at the City Hall at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Several members of the first group arrived in the city yesterday.

Escorted by members of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the group will be received in the Aldermanic Chamber by Acting Mayor McKee, Tenement House Commissioner Major William F. Deegan and Mrs. Mathilda Burling, chairman of the reception committee for the Gold Star Mothers.

The first group is to sail on the United States liner America tomorrow. The ship will be accompanied down the bay by the Macom, bearing Gold Star Mothers to sail at a later date. Fire Commissioner Dorman has arranged for a water display by fireboats. The second contingent is to sail on May 13.

"ALL NEWS," SAYS STIMSON.

He Is Little Interested in Talk of Candidacy for Governor.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Secretary Stimson is not interested in running for Governor of New York this year. Whether he thinks that this is a Democratic year in New York State and that Governor Roosevelt is certain to be re-elected was left to inference.

The Secretary defined his position when he was asked whether his attention had been called to recently published reports in New York that he might become the Republican Gubernatorial candidate. The reports could be interpreted, he was informed by newspaper correspondents, as a "boom."

Replying, the Secretary of State said it was "all news" to him. He asserted that twenty years ago he went through that performance under the same situation as it would be this year, probably.

CONFER ON FAMILY WORK.

National Association Delegates Open Welfare Conference Here.

The Institute of Family Social Work of the American Family Welfare Association opened its twenty-first annual meeting yesterday at the Russell Sage Foundation Building, 130 East Twenty-second Street. Miss Betsey Libbey, supervisor of districts of the Family Society of Philadelphia and the director of the institute, described it as "a post-graduate course in social work." Sessions will continue through this month.

Twenty-five workers of family welfare groups holding membership in the national body were chosen to attend the institute. Only those who had at least two years of practical experience in addition to their school training in social work were eligible. They will spend the month discussing problems of social work, including rehabilitation of alcoholics, and the effects of long-time unemployment.

MUSIC NOTES.

Antonietta Stabile, diseuse, impersonated the characters of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" last night at Aeolian Hall. She was assisted by Molly Singer, who sang two arias and a duet with Lucien Rutman. Grete Kahlert was at the piano. The small hall was filled by an appreciative audience.

The concert of the Polyphonic Symphony Orchestra for May 10 has been canceled because of the illness of Ariel Millais. Plans for a series of Fall concerts will be announced soon.

Paul Barr Zuydhoek will give a Bach-Franck organ recital in St. Paul's Chapel this evening at 8:15 o'clock. The public is invited.

Harold Friedell, organist of Calvary Church, Fourth Avenue and Twenty-first Street, is giving a series of noonday recitals on Tuesdays at 12:30. The program today will include music by Liszt and Mendelssohn.

The Juilliard Graduate School of Music will give its annual invitation concert of original chamber music compositions by students of Rubin Goldmark this evening at Town Hall. The program will include works by three young composers: Vittorio Giannini, Antonio Lora and Paul Nordoff.

The department of music of Columbia University announces a joint concert in the McMillin Theatre this evening by the student musical organizations. The program will include Schubert's "Rosamunde" overture by the university orchestra, Pergolesi's Stabat Mater by the Barnard Glee Club, Mozart's "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik" by a string orchestra led by Herbert Dittler, songs by the Columbia Glee Club, and the processional music from "Parsifal" by both glee clubs and orchestra led by Walter Henry Hall.

VANGUARD OF FLEET IS DUE HERE TODAY

25 Fast Destroyers Expected to Reach Staten Island Berths at Dawn.

"BIG PARADE" TOMORROW

California Will Lead Procession Up the Hudson—Tennessee and Few Others Also Coming Earlier.

Steaming in with the dawn, twenty-five destroyers of the United States fleet will slip into berths at Piers 15 and 16, Staten Island, early this morning, the vanguard of the largest number of war vessels to visit New York since 1927.

The destroyers were originally scheduled to arrive tomorrow with the remainder of the fleet of sixty-three men-o'-war, but because of the large number of vessels to be moored in "nests" at the Staten Island piers, the slim, speedy craft received permission to enter port today. They will be followed through the Narrows by their tender, the Dobbin, complete floating workshop and supply vessel, which is expected to arrive at the island about 8 A. M. The 7,500-ton light cruiser Concord, flagship of the destroyer squadrons of the Scouting Fleet, is also expected to arrive some time in the forenoon.

Another change in the navy's plans for its peaceful invasion of New York was announced yesterday when officials at the Brooklyn Navy Yard said they expected the battleship Tennessee to dock in berth 5 at the yard some time this afternoon. The Tennessee had also been slated for arrival tomorrow. She precedes eight other battleships and many cruisers, submarines and auxiliaries, which will steam in formation up the Hudson tomorrow morning to receive the official welcome of the city. Acting Mayor McKee and Police Commissioner Whalen will greet the fleet from the municipal tug Macom.

One division, composed of six of the destroyers, to enter port today is from the West Coast. The others have their bases at various Atlantic ports. The Pruitt, with Lieut. Commander G. W. D. Dashiell in command, will dock at the navy yard; the others, including the Dobbin and Concord, will berth at Staten Island. The Concord flies the flag of Rear Admiral W. R. Sexton, who commands the destroyer squadrons of the scouting fleet.

While the Tennessee is docking at the Navy Yard, the rest of the fleet is scheduled to meet off Ambrose Channel Lightship. The ships will get under way early tomorrow morning. The California will be followed at 1,000-yard intervals by the battleships West Virginia, Colorado, New Mexico, Maryland, Oklahoma and Nevada. The Arkansas will berth at the Navy Yard. The battleships will be followed by cruisers, supply and repair ships, mine-sweepers, oilers and submarines. The ships assigned to berths in the Hudson will anchor in a long line stretching from Fifty-seventh Street to Yonkers.

According to last-minute announcements, the three sister ships in the battleship class, the navy's most powerful fighters, will not berth as previously announced. The Maryland is to occupy Berth 5, the Colorado is to anchor in Berth 9 and the West Virginia will swing to the tide in Berth 10. Two of the vessels originally scheduled to visit New York have been ordered to home ports on the West Coast. The fleet submarine V-1, because of engine trouble, is limping home on one engine, convoyed by the mine-sweeper Kingfisher. The oiler Neches, not previously listed with the fleet, will anchor off Fort Hamilton.

BYRD PILOT HOME AGAIN.

Parker, in Jackson, Miss., Gives Flag He Carried to the State.

Special to The New York Times.

JACKSON, Miss., May 5.—Captain Alton U. Parker of the Marine Corps reserves, the aviator who piloted Admiral Byrd across the South Pole, returned to his native State today and was a guest at a special joint session of the Legislature held in his honor.

For nearly an hour the flier described his experiences at Little America. He closed his address by saying:

"Before leaving to join Admiral Byrd's party, I visited my old home at Crystal Springs. Passing through Jackson I stopped at the State House and secured a Mississippi State flag and carried it with me on the expedition. In the flight across the South Pole I had the flag in my jacket just over my heart.

"I now take pleasure in returning this flag to my native State. It enjoys the distinction of being the only State flag ever carried across the South Pole."

Captain Parker departed tonight for New York to attend the national aviation show. He will rejoin Admiral Byrd aboard the City of New York when the vessel reaches Norfolk.

BYRD EXPLOITS IN SCHOOLS.

Geographical Society Booklets Distributed for Class Study.

Pupils in the New York city schools will have an opportunity to study the exploits of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his companions on the recent Antarctic expedition, according to a circular sent to district superintendents yesterday by Superintendent of Schools William J. O'Shea. Dr. O'Shea directed the superintendents to distribute to the schools the account of the expedition prepared by the American Geographical Society.

"The American Geographical Society has published a very interesting booklet on the work of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition," Dr. O'Shea said. "This booklet should be of considerable interest to teachers of science and geography. A supply sufficient to allow one for each school has been donated by the society. These will be sent to the district superintendents for distribution."

Position of the Byrd Ships.

Wireless to The New York Times.

ON BOARD THE BARK CITY OF NEW YORK, at Sea, May 5.—The City of New York, in tow of the steamship Eleanor Bolling, made 126 miles in the twenty-four hours ended at noon today. The ships were then 2,576 miles from Balboa, their position being Lat. 3:11 degrees S., Long. 120:37 degrees W.

CRAIN ASSAILS LAWS WHICH CURB JUDGES

Tells Economic Club Bench Should Have Wide Powers in Fixing Penalties.

Without mentioning them by name District Attorney Crain assailed the principle of the Baumes laws in a speech before 1,000 members of the Economic Club at the Hotel Astor last night, condemning their limitation of the discretionary power of judges.

With the other speakers, all experts in penology, who joined in a symposium on crime and its prevention and punishment, the district attorney reached the conclusion that there is an individual problem requiring individual consideration in each case of criminality.

"I believe in the widest judicial discretion in the disposition of cases," he said. "There should be unqualified power on the part of the judge to look into all the surrounding circumstances of a crime and to name exactly what the penalty should be."

Once in his cell the prisoner should not feel that his rights have gone, the District Attorney added, declaring that the convict should be kept hopeful through such devices as the automatic shortening of his term for good behavior.

Lewis E. Lawes, warden of Sing Sing said that wardens need have only common sense and understanding to deal with the criminals under them. Only 5 per cent of the prison population are potential trouble makers, he declared.

Joining in the plea for individual study of criminals, Richard C. Patterson, city Commissioner of Correction, said a psychiatric clinic would be started here this Summer in connection with the jails and reformatories. With the completion of a $14,000,000 building program now under way he said the city would be ready to undertake a policy of careful segration and mental study.

SOCIAL SCIENCE GROUP TO GIVE MEDALS TO 4

National Institute to Honor Miss Gallup, Prof. Phelps, Nathan Straus and Dr. G. R. Minot.

The gold medal of the National Institute of Social Sciences will be conferred upon three men and a woman for outstanding services in various fields of activity, it was announced yesterday. The presentations will be made at the annual dinner of the institute at the Hotel Roosevelt Thursday evening. The recipients and their citations are as follows:

Miss Anna B. Gallup—In recognition of her distinguished service to humanity as curator-in-chief for more than a quarter of a century of the Brooklyn Children's Museum.

William Lyon Phelps, Lampson Professor, Yale University—For distinguished social services rendered, not only in behalf of the public as lecturer and writer, but as one of the greatest present powers for social righteousness and for high standards of social conduct.

Nathan Straus—In recognition of his distinguished and widespread social service rendered in behalf of humanity, and in particular for organizing and maintaining the system of distribution of pasteurized milk to the poor of New York City, and for a like service to the needy in other cities in this country and abroad.

Dr. George Richards Minot, Director of the Thorndike Memorial Laboratory, Boston City Hospital—In recognition of his invaluable work in connection with the treatment and control of pernicious anemia.

William C. Redfield, former Secretary of Commerce, who is president of the institute, will preside at the dinner.

HIGH COURT REFUSES BUDLONG CASE REVIEW

Meanwhile the Newport Court Is Asked by Husband to Prevent Wife "Interfering" With Sons.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The Supreme Court denied the petition of Mrs. Jessie M. Budlong today for a review of the Rhode Island decision granting a divorce and custody of two minor children to Milton J. Budlong. The State Supreme Court had affirmed the decision.

In the brief filed for Mrs. Budlong in the high court here she asked that the two minor children, John, 17, and Milton Joseph, 13, be returned to her and that she be allowed $750 a month support from her former husband.

The divorce was granted to Mr. Budlong by Judge Carpenter in the Newport Superior Court two years ago on the ground of extreme mental cruelty.

Mrs. Budlong in the brief filed here estimated the value of her property in Rhode Island at between $65,000 and $200,000, and her income at $750 a month. Her husband's estate she appraised at from $750,000 to $3,000,000.

They were married Nov. 9, 1898.

MRS. BOK AIDS MUSIC FUND.

Gives $25,000 Toward Philadelphia Settlement School Endowment.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—Mrs. Edward W. Bok tonight formally opened the endowment drive of the Settlement Music School for $200,000 when she presented $25,000. The gift was announced at a concert given by the students and attended by more than 2,000 persons. The fund sought will be used to insure additional income to admit 400 more boys and girls to the school.

The institution is housed in a building erected in 1917 by Mrs. Bok as a memorial to her mother, Louisa Knapp Curtis. Eighteen nationalities are represented among the students and the school maintains most of the activities of a standard social settlement, in addition to music.

INQUIRY ORDERED BY COURT

Prosecutor Believes Concerns Took Turns on Large Contracts—Testimony Begins Today.

The regular May grand jury, after being sworn in yesterday by Judge Donnellan in General Sessions, was ordered to investigate allegations by District Attorney Crain of collusion between a group of electrical contractors and some leaders of Electrical Workers' Local Union 3, through which the city and private building interests are said to have been defrauded on excessive bids. The taking of testimony will begin tomorrow.

Thomas F. Farrell, vice president of a coal corporation at 50 Church Street, was selected as foreman of the jurors, and Henry Sobel, an insurance broker at 122 William Street, is assistant foreman.

Mr. Crain informed the court that, in an investigation he recently conducted into the alleged conspiracy at the request of Mayor Walker and the Board of Estimate, he had been led to believe that a group of electrical contractors had an arrangement with certain labor leaders through which the contractors took turns in submitting low bids for work in new buildings, including schools and other city structures.

"I have some evidence which leads me to believe that there was an arrangement with at least one contractor whereby he arbitrarily was allotted a contract by the others," said Mr. Crain. "He was told to submit his bid at a certain amount, and bids by the others in the group were higher."

"This is a matter of great importance," said Judge Donnellan, "and I advise the grand jurors to go into it thoroughly. Be careful of the legality of the evidence."

Mr. Crain, in a report last month to Mayor Walker, said he was convinced there had been a conspiracy to raise the cost of electrical work between some of the forty-two contractors comprising the unincorporated Electrical Contractors' Association and certain leaders of Local Union 3. He added that, in some instances, the lowest bids from the favored contractors were 25 per cent above what they reasonably ought to be. He also said there were indications that contractors outside the group had been eliminated from offering bids because of inability to obtain sufficient union labor to fulfill contracts, although many of the union workers were unemployed.

FOUR FREED FOR WORK IN AUBURN PRISON RIOT

Kessler, Who Aided Warden Jennings, Among Men to Get Commutation.

AUBURN, N. Y., May 5 (AP).—Four of five men who stood on the side of law and order during the December riot at Auburn Prison were free tonight as a reward for their work that day. The fifth still must settle with Virginia on a prison-escape charge before he can taste liberty.

Acting Warden Frank L. Heacock has asked Virginia to withdraw a warrant for his arrest. He is Thomas E. Marlowe, sentenced from Monroe County to ten years for forgery.

The four who were freed are Julius Kessler, sentenced from Erie County for twenty years to life on a second-degree murder charge; James O'Connor, serving fifteen to thirty years from Queens for assault, robbery and larceny; Adam Krokowski, sentenced from Steuben County to two years and six months for attempted grand larceny, and Lewis F. Spaid, serving five years for forgery. He was sentenced from Broome County. Governor Roosevelt commuted their sentences.

Kessler was the man who dragged Warden Edgar S. Jennings from the gas-filled guard room where the State troopers launched their attack on the rioters.

Contenders for the David Belasco Cup award, to be made at the end of the week, the first four of the twenty Little Theatre groups that are assembled here for the Eighth Annual National Little Theatre Competition entered into friendly but earnest rivalry last night at the Waldorf Theatre. As in past years, the opening quartet comprised groups from the Manhattan district, which again submits most of the contenders in the five-day tourney, leaving groups from points as distant as Goldsboro, N. C., and St. Louis to make their prize attempts later in the week.

As is customary among Little Theatre offerings, the plays of the evening were, by a ratio of three to one, tragedies, with Sir James M. Barrie's "The Will" the only comedy upon the bill. Although its performance was chiefly restricted to one rôle, Richard Hughes's "The Sisters' Tragedy," as presented by the Henry Street Players, afforded the best acting of the tourney's first round. Mr. Hughes's play concerns three sisters and a brother who, since his infirmities threaten the happiness of the girls, is indirectly led to his death by one of them. The young murderess, as she was branded by her sisters and the fiancé of one of them, was played by Ruth Hamowitz with very genuine feeling that was conveyed in a long series of difficult but well handled monologues. Under the direction of Eva M. Fry, the story achieved a fine suspense in the girl's two failures to murder her brother before she succeeded in sending him to his death by drowning.

"The Will," by Barrie, a perennially popular author among the Little Theatre workers, was presented by the City College Players of Brooklyn. It is a gently humorous piece concerning the difficulties of an aged millionaire who can think of no one to whom to leave his wealth, and it was presented with moderate effectiveness by the Brooklyn troupe. The principal players, under the direction of Harry Sikofsky, were Sol Bloomberg, George Breivogel, Sylvia Lee and Henry Margulies. Although they did not play the comedy for all the values of its give-and-take lightness, they achieved at times a degree of easy assurance that is not the rule in amateur productions.

Dorothy Blanchard's "The Bridge," one of the two original plays on the program that are eligible for the Samuel French award, was presented by the Central Players of the Central Branch of the Y. W. C. A. Although it is a simple tragedy of a mother's fatal love for her son, and her reluctance to give him up to her unseen daughter-in-law, it provided the most pretentious off-stage effects of any program on the bill. Against a background representing a violent thunderstorm, the story is set in a Summer cottage where the mother, upon learning of the weakness of the bridge connecting the island with the mainland, fails to reveal the information in time to save her son's wife from death. At its climactic moments, however, the performance is not up to the strength of its story; nor is Miss Blanchard's play construction at all adroit, though its motivating idea is good.

The second original play, Bryna Rachel Isaacs's "The Gods Are Wise," was presented by an all-feminine cast of the Make-Up Box Players of Hunter College. Its plot consists chiefly of suspense concerning events that take place off the stage. In an ancient castle, according to Miss Isaacs's story, a queen who has been married years before to settle a feud between two tribes must stand idle while her brother and an avenging army murder her husband, whom she has come to love, and her young son. The rôle of queen was played by Jeannette Dubin with considerable poise and dignity, and the play, although self-conscious in manner, was performed with articulate clarity by the remainder of the cast.

In an address which opened the tournament Kenneth Macgowan reviewed the contributions made to American drama by the Little Theatres as he saw them in his recent coast-to-coast tour. A national competition among them, he said, achieves two goals by setting standards of production and contributing to the recognition of the non-commercial theatre.

Four other Manhattan groups will take part in the tourney tonight. They are the Staten Island Little Theatre, in "Legend"; the Town Club Players, in "Bursting the Barriers"; the Association Players Stock Company, in "Seven Against One," and the Sunnyside Players, in "The Road to Rio."

THE PLAY

By J. BROOKS ATKINSON.

Acting and a Joke.

LOST SHEEP, a comedy in three acts, by Belford Forrest. Staged by Marion Gering; settings by Watson Barratt; produced by George Choos and Jack Donahue (by arrangement with Mr. Gering and Oscar Serlin). At the Selwyn Theatre.

Mr. Harris	A. P. Kaye
Mr. Arkwright	Edward Cooper
Mrs. Dingle	Ruby Hallier
Rev. Wm. Wampus	Ferdinand Gottschalk
Mrs. Wampus	Cecilia Loftus
Rhoda Wampus	Sidney Fox
Mary Wampus	Valerie Cossart
Martha Wampus	Patricia Calvert
Cabman	Edward Broadley
Alfred	John Troughton
The Hon. Arthur Topham	Harry McNaughton
Eric Bailey	Rex O'Malley
Rev. A. A. Bailey	Hugh Buckler
First Policeman	Walter Pfinge
Second Policeman	Ronald Dexter

Things were oddly mixed in Belford Forrest's farce, "Lost Sheep," which was produced at the Selwyn last evening. Mr. Forrest had gone in heavily for ribaldry. As the plot of his escapade in three acts he installed the newly-arriving Reverend William Wampus and family into a house which had just been deserted by a discreet madame and six complaisant young ladies. By leaving the Reverend unaware through three acts of his unhappy blunder Mr. Forrest managed to hammer away at one joke until 11:30, while his discriminating audience, which knew a joke when it heard one, held its sides with laughter. Recent portents in the art of the drama have indicated that the more experimental playwrights are rediscovering the house of ill-fame as a practical theme for their literary compositions.

"Lost Sheep" might have had nothing more savory to recommend it if the actors had been of ordinary stuff. But, under the direction of Marion Gering, an excellent cast had been assembled, and for the most part they acted uncommonly well. As the parson's wife, Cecilia Loftus was delightfully good company. Ferdinand Gottschalk was dry and mincing as the parson. Rex O'Malley, as the son of the local vicar, played with a good deal of forbearing charm as a youth who had come to this house to dip into the fleshpots and straightway fell deeply in love with Rhoda Wampus, the parson's youngest daughter. And as Rhoda, little Sidney Fox won the hearts of the audience at once with her frail, girlish beauty and her pert spirit. Nothing could be more tenderly disarming than the freshness of her acting.

In these circumstances the joke of mistaking a parson's family for inmates of a house of assignation became, to this commentator, generally monstrous. Having developed "Lost Sheep" from a one-act play, which was published some years ago in the Mencken-Nathan Smart Set, Mr. Forrest had a good deal of stretching to do before it could cover an entire evening. After one flamboyant painting, a relic of the sinful days, had been hidden in a piano before the parson's family arrived, and after one or two perplexing telephone calls from old clients had been received, Mr. Forrest had very little new ribaldry to contribute to the situation. He contented himself with double meanings that were three-quarters on the ribald side.

They might not have seemed in such grotesque bad taste if the play were entirely on one key of frank bawdry. But when they were contrasted with a good deal of decent character development in the parts of the parson's three innocent daughters they were more than a little distasteful. If the children must be mixed up in this Rabelaisian horseplay, they should be treated in the same key of high-handed unreal farce as their elders. Perhaps the acting of Rex O'Malley and Sidney Fox was too finely grained for the theme. At any rate, "Lost Sheep" seemed to this reviewer a scurvy joke to play on such a constant nymph as Sidney Fox.

Senora Padilla Honored.

The Marquesa de Belmonte de la Vega Real gave a luncheon yesterday at the Delmonico for Senora Padilla, wife of the Spanish Ambassador. In the party were Mrs. Adolf Ladenburg, Mrs. William J. Dayton, Mrs. J. Sergeant Cram, Mrs. Thomas H. Birch and Miss Nena de Belmonte.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"Little Orchid Annie" closed its engagement at the Eltinge Theatre on Saturday night. "Oh, Professor!" has also been withdrawn from the Belmont Theatre.

Bruce Bairnsfather's novel, "The Man in the Square," will be dramatized by the author and Constance Collier. The Shuberts announce that they will produce the play in September.

The Al Fresco Theatre in Long Beach, renamed the Folies Bergère, will be operated by Jack Linder this Summer as a musical stock house. It will open on June 27.

"One Night Only" is the tentative title of a musical comedy to be produced almost immediately by James M. Graf. Fred Herendeen has written the book, and Carlo and Sanders the music and lyrics.

Earl Carroll's "Sketch Book" is announced to begin a tour on Sept. 15. Mr. Carroll announces that he will produce two revues a year hereafter—one "Vanities" and one "Sketch Book."

OPERETTA AS A BENEFIT.

"The Blue Butterfly" to Be Given in Aid of Cenacle of St. Regis.

An operetta, "The Blue Butterfly," will be given for the benefit of the New York Cenacle of St. Regis on Thursday and Friday of next week at the Heckscher Theatre. The cenacle maintains a retreat at Lake Ronkonkoma, L. I., for Catholics and non-Catholics. The operetta was written by Miss Elizabeth Churchill.

Among the patrons are Colonel and Mrs. Sosthenes Behn, Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, Mrs. Joseph P. Grace, Mrs. Henry James, Mrs. Crimmins Jennings, Mrs. Stuart Duncan Preston, Mrs. Imré de Josika Herczeg, Mrs. Herbert D. Robbins, Mrs. Thomas Murray, Mrs. Joseph Murray, Mrs. Henry Schmidt, Mrs. Melbourne S. Moyer, Mrs. Michael Gavin, Mrs. Charles C. Keith, Mrs. Lyttleton Fox, Mrs. Samuel A. Clark, Mrs. Arthur Patterson, Mrs. Albert Boardman, Mrs. William A. Prendergast, Mrs. Peter McDonnell, Mrs. Lawrence White, Miss Marie Doelger, Miss Agnes Keyes, Miss Frances Coleman, Mayor James J. Walker, Judge John F. Hylan and Professor Carlton Hayes.

Mother Ferri, 628 West 140th Street, has charge of tickets.

'HASH' PREMIERE THURSDAY

Musical Show to Open at the President—"Courtesan" Run Ends.

The musical entertainment called "Hash," first scheduled to open on April 26 at Wallack's Theatre, will have its deferred première on Thursday night at the President Theatre. It is announced that more than sixty players, including white and negro performers, will participate in the show, which will be presented in two parts. The feature of the first act will be the presentation of the first half of a minstrel show, with a cast of white-girl players. The second part will consist of a negro revue.

The run of "Courtesan," which had been suspended after Saturday night's performance at the President because of the announced illness of its only player, Elsa Shelley, will not be resumed at that house.

On Tuesday night of next week "Gold Braid," a play by Ann Shelby, said to be based on the author's experiences while living in the Philippines, will be produced at the Theatre Masque under the auspices of Louis A. Safian. The leading players will include Adele Ronson, Edward Reese, Alan Devitt and Marion Abbott.

PAUL ROBESON IN 'OTHELLO'

His First Performance at Savoy Theatre, London, on May 19.

Paul Robeson's first performance in "Othello" is scheduled to take place on May 19 at the Savoy Theatre in London. The production is being made by Maurice Browne, who also announces that Mr. Robeson is under option to him to play the part in America next season. Jed Harris, who sailed for London last week, is also planning an "Othello" production for New York next season, and it had been reported that Mr. Robeson would appear in this production.

Mr. Robeson has not played here for several seasons. He went abroad to appear in the London production of "Show Boat."

Purchase of 71 Theatres Confirmed.

Confirmation of the purchase of seventy-one cinema houses composing the Comerford Chain, situated mostly in Pennsylvania, as reported in THE NEW YORK TIMES last Saturday, was announced officially yesterday. M. E. Comerford of Scranton will remain as president of the organization, with Frank C. Walker of the Comerford interests and Sam Denbow of Publix as vice president; Ralph Kohn of Paramount, treasurer, and N. B. Comerford, secretary. Adolph Zukor, Sidney Kent and Sam Katz will be directors, all three being connected with Paramount Publix.

Frohman to Preside at Ray Dinner.

Daniel Frohman will act as toastmaster at the testimonial dinner on Sunday night at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in celebration of the Rev. Dr. Randolph Ray's seventh anniversary as rector of the Little Church Around the Corner. The dinner is being given for Dr. Ray by his many friends in the theatre. The speakers will be Edwin Milton Royle, Frank Gillmore and Heywood Broun. Among the numbers on the entertainment program will be Lieutenant Gitz-Ritz and his company of singers, Peter Joray and Nate Leipzig.

THE SCREEN

The Susceptible Policeman.

ASPHALT, with Betty Amann, Gustav Froelich, Else Heller and Albert Steinrueck, adapted from a novel by Rolf E. Vanloo, directed by Joe May, under the supervision of Erich Pommer; Harry Langdon in "Hotter Than Hot"; "Autumn Mists." At the Fifty-fifth Street Playhouse.

"Asphalt," a Ufa film now at the Fifty-fifth Street Playhouse, is not concerned with street paving, as one might presume from the title and the preliminary scenes, but with the harried experiences of a Berlin policeman after his apprehension of an attractive woman, who makes a vain attempt to steal a diamond from a fashionable jeweler's establishment.

This picture, which was directed by Joe May under the experienced supervision of Erich Pommer, possesses an unusual theme and therefore it holds one's attention. It is disjointed, slow-paced and much too long. Some of its scenes are poorly directed, but most of them are expertly handled. It may not be imbued with suspense, but it does succeed in arousing curiosity as to the final outcome of its events.

In the introductory episodes, after glimpses of wet asphalt streets, Policeman Albert Holk is perceived on a safety isle regulating busy traffic. Then the film shifts to a jewelry store, where Mary, a beautiful brunette, is perceived carrying on a flirtation with the proprietor as he exhibits half a dozen diamonds. One of the stones falls to the floor and Mary, while pretending to listen to the old man's flattering words, manoeuvres so that her umbrella ferrule, on which there is some sticky substance, picks up the gem.

Mary leaves the shop and soon there is consternation among the salesmen and the proprietor. Mary is indignant when she is asked to return to the establishment and then, after she has been searched by a female attendant, she is prepared to leave, exonerated, when Policeman Holk, who has been called, discovers the diamond stuck on the ferrule of her umbrella. The proprietor of the store intercedes with Holk to release Mary, but the policeman insists that he must do his duty.

The subsequent developments tell how Holk, whose father is a sergeant in the Berlin police force, becomes infatuated with Mary. Later he worries over his dereliction of duty, but when he calls to see Mary to return a present of a box of cigars she has sent him, he is still further enamored of the woman. Mary's lover, Ward, who poses in Paris as a German consular agent, succeeds in robbing a bank and when he returns to the German capital he surprises Holk and Mary. There follows a fight between Holk and Ward which results in Ward being killed.

In the course of the closing proceedings, Sergeant Holk, although much affected by his son's confession of homicide, does not falter in his duty.

The scenes of the fight between Holk and Ward are so ludicrous that they remind one of a slapstick comedy. The suffering of Holk's mother is also directed with a paucity of imagination.

Gustav Froelich gives an earnest portrayal as Policeman Holk. Albert Steinrueck serves the film well as the father. Betty Amann, as Mary, is captivating, but her eyelashes are made-up as if for the musical comedy stage.

NO FILM POST FOR SMITH.

Spokesman Denies Ex-Governor Will Head a Reported Merger.

A spokesman for former Governor Alfred E. Smith denied yesterday that Mr. Smith would head a number of merged talking picture companies. It had been reported that Mr. Smith would be president of a combination of picture and other companies related to the industry, including Paramount Publix, Fox, Warners, General Motors and General Talking Films Corporation. The combined resources would represent a billion dollars, it was said.

Seeks Clara Bow for New "Follies."

An announcement from the Ziegfeld offices yesterday declared that Florenz Ziegfeld, who is now in Hollywood, is negotiating with Clara Bow for her appearance in the new "Follies." Miss Bow never has appeared on the stage.

The "Follies" is scheduled for production during the Summer.

SCREEN NOTES.

"Song of the Flame," a First National musical film, will have its premiere at the Warners' Theatre tonight. Bernice Claire, Alexander Gray and Noah Beery are in the cast. Music for the production was written for the original stage offering by George Gershwin.

The Association of Motion Picture Advertisers will see a preview of Maurice Chevalier's new film "The Big Pond" tonight in the private theatre in the Chanin Building.

"It seems to me to contain the best imaginative work Barry has done, and to show much skillful writing." GEORGE PIERCE BAKER

"It's a long time since I've been as moved by any literary thing." WINTHROP AMES.

"As a member of the theatre-going public, should like to congratulate you upon the production of so beautiful and courageous a play as 'Hotel Universe.' To me it is as fine a thing as we have had in the American Theatre—a play that breaks new ground and goes on. I have seen it twice and hope to go a third time as soon as I am able." STEPHEN VINCENT BENET.

"In my judgment it is one of the most profound studies of human nature carried out in the spirit of high comedy that has ever been given on our stage." PROFESSOR ARTHUR HOBSON QUINN.

"Philip Barry's play Hotel Universe is a powerful, original, brilliant and beautiful drama. The acting is magnificent." PROFESSOR WILLIAM LYON PHELPS.

"I was delighted with my second visit to Hotel Universe... I congratulate the Guild on its final play of the season." HAROLD GOULD.

Princeton and Harvard Establish Unofficial Contact With View of Ending Break

HARVARD, PRINCETON SEEK END OF BREAK

Differences Since 1926 Football Game Being Discussed Through Unofficial Contact.

HARMONIOUS FEELING SEEN

STUDENTS ARE FAVORABLE

By ROBERT F. KELLEY.

It has been learned that contact of an unofficial sort has been established between Harvard and Princeton with a view to ironing out the difficulties in the way of a resumption of the football relations between the two colleges, broken in 1926. To date nothing has been accomplished but a clearing from the air of such feeling of an unpleasant nature as existed at the time of the break. But the situation has been reduced to technical discussion, and what stands between Harvard and Princeton is failure to agree over the meaning of the old triple agreement which was popularly known as the Big Three agreement.

Undergraduate contact has been established, and Dr. Charles W. Kennedy, chairman of the faculty board of athletic control at Princeton, and William J. Bingham, Harvard's athletic director, have discussed things informally.

"I see nothing in the way of a resumption between us other than technicalities," Mr. Bingham said yesterday. "I feel that it might be possible to arrive at a dual agreement. But the Harvard Athletic Association has never fostered a policy of league or any other group competition which involved schedule obligations."

Dr. Kennedy, asked about the situation, said: "It is pleasant to see signs of better understanding and growing friendliness between undergraduates of Harvard and Princeton. Aside from that, however, I know of no fundamental change in the situation."

Growing Sentiment Evident.

At the present time the technicalities appear difficult, almost insurmountable. But it is becoming increasingly evident that there is a growing sentiment toward definite efforts at reconciliation of the two divergent viewpoints which, in reality, caused the break in the first place. The break was not caused by the football game, or games. However, it was hastened and brought to a head by the game and the publication of the Princeton Game Number of the Harvard Lampoon.

With that sort of feeling gone and a new generation of students present at both institutions the fundamental differences remain. To date, so far as can be learned, these fundamental differences are not straightened out. But there is very real evidence of a willingness on both parts to make an effort at doing so.

Both Dr. Kennedy and Mr. Bingham have been on the friendliest of terms all during the period of broken relations. They have had frequent meetings and have exchanged correspondence now and again, not always on the subject of the break. On April 25, while both were serving as officials at the Penn relays on Franklin Field in Philadelphia, they spent a couple of hours in each other's company.

Neither had any statement to make, but it was admitted that they had discussed the Harvard-Princeton situation, unofficially and as friends. So far as could be learned afterward the two universities still looked at the thing in vitally different lights.

What Caused the Break.

The real cause of the break in relations, simply stated, was this: Harvard has regarded the Big Three agreement as a set of rules to govern play when and if games were held between any of the partners to the agreement and Princeton has regarded it quite differently.

In the old agreement there was a clause which permitted any of the partners to withdraw on six months' notice. Under this Princeton held that the agreement was a triangular one, equally binding on all three members, and further has pointed to the fact that the agreement set the three members up as a final court on all matters, with the vote of Princeton counting as heavily as Harvard's. In other words, under the old agreement Princeton, in a question of eligibility, might have voted a Harvard star off a Harvard team regardless of Harvard's action.

The break, then, was caused when Harvard, following a policy generally laid down for Crimson athletics, disagreed with this interpretation.

At present the situation seems to be that Harvard is ready and willing to have games resumed with Princeton on a dual agreement. Princeton feels that Yale, as a partner of the old agreement, ought to have a voice in the framing of any new one. Dr. Kennedy would undoubtedly be willing to meet with Harvard on a three-cornered basis, with Yale sitting in on the discussions and the framing of a new contract.

Appraise Differences Calmly.

The gulf between the two institutions is pretty wide under these circumstances, but the encouraging fact is that all of the unpleasantness of the last days of football has left and that there is in its place a calm appraisal of the real differences of opinion. Whether or not this will lead to definite action remains to be seen.

In the past two years there has been abundant evidence of undergraduate sentiment that wants to look into the thing. The students now at both places started their college careers after the break had come, and they are inquiring into its causes now.

There have been such concrete evidences as the visit to Mr. Bingham about three weeks ago of N. T. Rose, who is the chairman of the board of the Daily Princetonian, undergraduate newspaper. Mr. Rose was present in Cambridge visiting friends and asked to see the Harvard director, who received him frankly and cordially and outlined Harvard's position to him.

Then there was the informal baseball game between teams representing The Lampoon, Harvard's humorous publication, and The Tiger, which is a similar magazine at Princeton. This, played on Soldiers Field, was significant when the part played by the Lampoon's 1926 issue for the Princeton game is remembered.

Crimson Expressed Hope.

The Harvard Crimson, commenting editorially on the baseball game, expressed the hope that "today's meeting will be only the forerunner of a completely satisfactory entente with Princeton in the near future" and that "relations more than just cordial may truthfully be said to exist and are becoming more and more obvious as time goes on."

On Saturday of this week, the 150-pound varsity crews of Yale, Harvard and Princeton are racing on Yale's Derby course for the Goldthwaite Cup, a trophy presented by a Harvard man designed as a trophy to be raced for specifically among the crews of the Big Three.

The cup has been raced for since the break. In 1928, Princeton won by a half second over Harvard with Yale third. This, also, was raced at Derby. But that day it was a part of the Carnegie Cup regatta in which Princeton, Cornell and Yale rowed. Last year the race was not held because it was not the turn to race on the neutral water of Yale. But the three crews did meet in the American Henley at Philadelphia, along with the lightweights of several other colleges. When Harvard won this race, Princeton's oarsmen suggested to Yale that they, the defeated crews, suggest to Harvard that its name be inscribed for the year on the cup.

These manifestations have made it evident that there is a real sentiment toward keeping alive and restoring to its former point the tradition of the Big Three which has been missed, not only in football, during recent years.

Mlle. de la Chaume Captures French Golf Title Sixth Time

CHANTILLY, France, May 5 (AP).—Mlle. Simone Trion de la Chaume won the French women's closed golf championship today for the sixth straight year, defeating Mme. Philippe Numier, formerly Mlle. Gaveau, ranking No. 3 player of France, 8 and 7, in thirty-six holes.

Playing the best golf she has shown in recent years, the champion was 5 up at the end of the morning round and the result was never in doubt. Forty-seven players competed in the tournament, which opened Friday.

FAULTS POINTED OUT TO PRINCETON CREW

Coach Logg of Varsity Eight Stresses Smoother Form in Hard Workout.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 5.—The Princeton varsity crew went through a fairly difficult workout today in an attempt to iron out deficiencies shown in the race with M. I. T. last Saturday.

Coach Chuck Logg emphasized racing starts, the squaring of shoulders after the catch and getting a long reach forward, faults which were noticed by the Tiger mentor in the encounter with the engineers.

Logg said today that the varsity shell had not developed as well as he had hoped and that the Tiger sweepswingers must develop smoother work for the remaining races of the season. Weather conditions recently have turned more favorable for proper rowing conditions and the Nassau boats are making rapid progress in their work.

Ideal weather this afternoon permitted the Orange and Black varsity to set the pace around 38. The varsity and jayvees lined up for a short brush over a mile and a quarter course, during which the Tiger first shell gained four lengths over the second boat. The shells covered the usual distance of seven miles today, the senior crew rowing in the recently christened boat, the Henry B. Thompson.

The freshmen, taking out the Flying Dutchman, practiced racing starts and pair work on the way down to the dam, and on the home trip were given a mile and a quarter sprint, with the stroke beginning at 34 and rising to 40 at the finish. The time for the distance was 7:00 flat.

Coach Gordon Sikes's 150s had a fairly easy workout, covering the distance down and back in easy spurts. All boatings remained unchanged.

CORNELL ROWS 10 MILES.

Varsity Wins Brush With First Freshman and J. V. Shells.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., May 5.—The Cornell crews, with their first regatta of the season now less than two weeks away, put in ten miles today under ideal rowing conditions.

Coach Jim Wray worked the oarsmen hard to reduce excess poundage acquired during April. The varsity won a short brush with the first freshman and junior varsity combinations.

STUDENTS VOTE ON AWARDS

Columbia Balloting Favors End to Major-Minor Distinction.

The movement for the elimination of the distinction between major and minor sports at Columbia University received impetus yesterday when the vote of students was announced. The Spectator, undergraduate daily newspaper, undertook the soliciting last week and the result was 649 students voting for the abolition of the distinction and 195 opposing the measure.

Columbia athletic authorities may discuss the matter at their next meeting.

COLUMBIA OARSMEN DRILL ON HARLEM

CHANGES ARE UNLIKELY

Coach Expects Hard Workouts to Put Varsity in Good Form—Race for Cub Lightweights.

The Columbia rowing squad returned to its home course on the Harlem River yesterday and had a six-mile workout in preparation for its meeting with Princeton and Pennsylvania at Philadelphia on May 31 in the Childs Cup regatta.

Although the varsity crew failed to repeat its 1929 victory in the Blackwell Cup regatta at Derby, Conn., last Saturday, it is very unlikely that any changes will be forthcoming in the Lion boat. Coach Richard J. Glendon is pretty well satisfied with the present combination and believes that by intensive practicing it will be in good form for its race with Princeton and Pennsylvania.

Next Race Is Objective.

No excuses were made by Columbia for losing to Yale on the Housatonic last Saturday. As far as the Morningside oarsmen are concerned, that affair is a thing of the past and the effect of that race is expected to be a better Blue and White eight paddling up to the starting line in the Childs Cup regatta. Columbia is going to give its entire attention to its next race and then will come the exodus to Poughkeepsie early in June, and the period of preparation for the Intercollegiate Rowing Association's regatta there on June 26 will get under way.

The heavyweight crews—varsity and freshman—worked out before the 150-pound flotilla shoved off yesterday. Glendon did not work the men hard and the main part of the session was taken up with going over the faults that were evident on Saturday. The rowing was at a low beat and at no time did the men raise the beat to anything like a racing stroke.

Experienced Men Ready.

The lightweight crews, under the direction of Coach Hubert Glendon, also took a six-mile row on the Harlem. The varsity 150-pounders have been bothered by illness and injuries all season, but it has recently reached its full quota of experienced men and Glendon hopes that, with four weeks of practice ahead of it, the Lions will be in championship form by May 31, when the American Henley Regatta will take place at Philadelphia.

Graduate Manager Reynolds Benson announced yesterday that the 150-pound freshman crew of Princeton will race against the Columbia and Yale freshman 150-pounders on the Harlem River on May 17. Original plans had called for only the Columbia and Yale crews meeting. The race will be rowed upstream over the one-mile course.

MADISON TWELVE SCORES.

With Cy Goldstone leading the attack with two goals, the James Madison High School lacrosse team opened its P. S. A. L. campaign by triumphing over the Townsend Harris twelve, 5—0, at Madison Field yesterday. Abe Glasser scored the first goal for the victors forty seconds after the game started.

The line-up:

James Madison (5)		Townsend Harris (0)
Miller	G	Shane
Simels	P	Hart
Serota	C.P.	Gutterman
Fauser	1D	Reise
Toret	2D	Smith
Graff	3D	McDermott
Oppenheim	C	Rosenberg
Glasser	3A	Tobias
Goldstone	2A	Cohen
Chaisin	1A	Buskin
Shelber	I.H.	Curran
Crebler	O.H.	Rothman

Goals—Goldstone 2, Glasser, Shelber, Crebler.

Substitutions—Madison: Pelter for Chaisin, Wollner for Goldstone. Harris: Witchal for Gutterman, Glusman for Curran.

Referee—Kottman. Time of halves—20 minutes.

COLUMBIA NETMEN TO PLAY

Will Meet Lehigh Tennis Team in Bethlehem Today.

The Columbia tennis team goes to Bethlehem, Pa., today to oppose the Lehigh netmen. The remainder of the varsity and freshman schedules was announced yesterday by Graduate Manager Reynolds Benson.

The schedules:

Varsity.

May 10; 16, Dartmouth.

May 8, Theodore Roosevelt High School; 10, Memorial High School; 17, Penn freshmen.

East Bangor Golfer Gets Ace.

Special to The New York Times.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., May 5.—One of the first players in this section to join the hole in one club for the season is Dr. Carlyle Thomas of East Bangor, who sank his tee shot on the Irem Temple Course at Wilkes-Barre yesterday. The hole is 160 yards.

SHELTON ROWING WELL AS STROKE AT NAVY

New Pace-Setter to Face First Test Against Syracuse—Varsity Rows 8 Miles.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 5.—The Naval Academy varsity, junior varsity and plebe crews today began preparations for their races with Syracuse here on Saturday. Hun School also will enter a crew in the plebe-freshman contest.

The race means much to both varsities, as the outlook for the Navy, after its defeat by Columbia in its opening race, is still uncertain, while Syracuse, with its varsity built on last year's champion freshman eight, is confident.

The work of Shelton, who will row at stroke for the first time, is expected to have a great bearing on the Navy's chances. Shelton, a 190-pounder, however, must accustom himself to the opposite side of the boat to which he has been a regular.

However, he is now rowing smoothly in the stroke position and Coach Glendon seems to be pleased with his work. Westhofen, who stroked the varsity against Columbia, is now setting the stroke for the junior varsity.

Weather conditions were fine this afternoon and Glendon gave the two varsity crews a hard pull of between seven and eight miles without any racing. Walsh worked his plebes over a somewhat shorter distance.

CHANGES AT PENN FOLLOW CREW RACES

Teaf and Cadwalader Moved From J. V. to Varsity Shell—Others Shift Seats.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—Another marked shake-up of Pennsylvania's crews by Coach Rusty Callow came today following the opening races of the season Saturday with Yale and Columbia in the Blackwell Cup events on the Housatonic.

Two members of the varsity were replaced by sweep-swingers who had been on the jayvee squad, while two other men in the big boat took new seats. Krampf went from 4 to 6 and Branhart from 2 to 4.

Teaf moved up from bow in the junior eight to 3 in the varsity, while Cadwalader was promoted from 4 in the second boat to 2 in the first squad.

Weis and Grill dropped back from 6 and 3, respectively, in the varsity to the same seats among the jayvees, while the varsity also lost Thrasher, who had been 3 and now is 4 in the second shell.

Schwarz merely changed seats in the jayvee boat, going from 3 to bow. Davis's seat at 2 was occupied by Weeks as substitute, because the former was busy with an examination.

FENCING BOUTS TONIGHT.

N. Y. A. C. to Hold Foils Elimination Round for National Tourney.

Preparations for the national fencing championship tournament, which will be held late this month at the Hotel Astor, will start tonight at the New York Athletic Club, when a round in the foils division will be contested.

The épée preliminaries will be held at the New York A. C. tomorrow night, and the saber preliminaries on Thursday. The semi-final round in the championships also will be held at the New York A. C., starting May 27, when the survivors at foils will vie for the privilege of competing in the finals. The épée survivors will engage in their semi-final bouts May 28 and saber contenders will undergo further elimination the following day.

SYRACUSE PREPARES FOR NAVY REGATTA

Three Crews Begin the Final Week's Work—Oarsmen Row Five Miles.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 5.—Three Syracuse University crews which will meet the Naval Academy oarsmen at Annapolis next Saturday afternoon began a final week's workout today under Coach Jim Ten Eyck at Long Branch.

The veteran Orange coach is placing much confidence in the ability of the freshmen who won the intercollegiate title at Poughkeepsie last June. Seven members of this boat, with Captain Harold Deming, form the varsity.

The junior varsity consists entirely of letter men, while the freshman shell is composed of inexperienced but fairly heavy men. Today's exercise consisted of a short five-mile workout.

THE BOATINGS.

Varsity Crew.

Bow, Spieker; 2, Ascroft; 3, Abrams; 4, Keefe; 5, Deming; 6, Kratina; 7, Easter; stroke, Wyler; coxswain, Brower.

Freshman Crew.

Bow, Donaldson; 2, Vanderwater; 3, Gower; 4, Schermerhorn; 5, Buff; 6, Lombardi; 7, McKeen; stroke, Johnson; coxswain, Cady.

M. I. T. CREW DRILLS TO IMPROVE FORM

Varsity Seeks to Eliminate Rough Spots—Birdsell of J. V. Out With Infection.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 5.—Bill Haines, M. I. T. crew coach, this afternoon sent his two varsity eights, victors over Princeton last Saturday, through a long, but easy spin on the Charles. Haines is working now to smooth out rough spots in the form of his heavy eight, particularly with a view to turning tables on Harvard on May 17.

Joe Birdsell, member of the junior varsity eight, which already has defeated Harvard, Princeton, Columbia and Navy, was still missing from today's practice. He is suffering from an infection. For the time being his place is being taken by Raymond, a 150-pound oarsman, but Haines expects to have his regular back in time for the Harvard-Tech-Navy-Penn regatta a week from Saturday.

Tech's freshman crew, already badly beaten by Harvard and Princeton, this Saturday will meet the Browne and Nicholls School crew.

LONG ISLAND U. VICTOR.

Tennis Team Defeats Upsala by Score of 3 Matches to 2.

Special to The New York Times.

EAST ORANGE, N. J., May 5.—The Upsala tennis team lost its first match today at college courts to Long Island University by a score of 3 to 2.

The summaries:

Singles—Cohen, Long Island, defeated Scott, 6—3, 8—6; Davis, Upsala, defeated Sandman, 6—4, 4—6, 6—3; Wohl, Long Island, defeated Growning, 6—3, 6—0.

Doubles—Cohen and Rinzler, Long Island, defeated Siegel and Hedstrom, 6—1, 6—4; Davis and Scott, Upsala, defeated Wohl and Sandman, 6—1, 6—4.

YALE CREWS KEPT INTACT IN DRILL

No Changes Made in Any of the Four Shells as Practice Is Resumed.

VARSITY HAS EASY SESSION

Lightweights Have Strenuous Day's Program in Preparation for Harvard-Princeton.

Special to The New York Times.

DERBY, Conn., May 5.—If today's line-up of the Yale crews is a guide to the boatings against Princeton and Cornell next Saturday, Coaches Ed Leader, Fred Spuhn and Don Grant will stand by the eights which raced against Pennsylvania and Columbia last Saturday.

No changes were made in any of the four shells today when the oarsmen were called for drill on the Housatonic.

Leader gave the first and second varsity only a few miles of light paddling, beginning at 5 o'clock.

Don Grant sent the 150-pound eight through the most strenuous afternoon's schedule of any crew on the river. Indications are that two time spins will be taken this week by the lightweight boat preparatory to Yale's meeting with Harvard and Princeton next Saturday.

BRADMAN SCORES 185 IN ENGLISH CRICKET

Gets Second Three-Figure Innings in as Many Games—Richardson Tallies 100 Runs.

LONDON, May 5 (Canadian Press Cable).—A healthy crop of centuries was produced by today's cricket in England. Heading the list was the fine performance of Don Bradman, the Australian, who scored 185, not out, against Leicestershire, his second three-figure innings in as many games.

Richardson, vice captain of the Antipodeans, hit up exactly 100 runs. Hendren also made his second consecutive three-figure innings. He was playing for M. C. C. against Yorkshire.

Other big individual scores were made by Ducat for Surrey against Worcestershire, and Ford for Oxford University against Kent.

Scores at the end of today's play were:

M. C. C. vs. Yorkshire at Lord's: M. C. C., 276 for nine wickets, declared (Hendren, 111; Macaulay, five wickets for 73 runs); Yorkshire, 213 for six wickets (Sutcliffe, 74).

Surrey vs. Worcestershire at Kennington Oval: Worcester, 40 and 67 for three wickets; Surrey, 447 for eight wickets, declared (Ducat 125, Shepherd 82).

Sussex vs. Nottinghamshire at Nottingham: Notts, 273 and 89 for six wickets; Sussex, 188 (H. Parks 83, S. Staples six wickets for 58 runs).

Lancashire vs. Northamptonshire at Manchester: Northants, 152 (R. Tyldsley four wickets for 36 runs); Lancashire, 337 for six wickets (Hallows 51, Hopwood 62, Iddon 93, Eckersley 69, not out).

Warwickshire vs. Glamorganshire at Birmingham: Glamorgan, 269 and 120 for one wicket (Bates 56, Turnbull 63, both not out); Warwickshire, 251 (Croom 57, Wyatt 98, not out, Ryan five wickets for 75 runs).

Kent vs. Oxford University at Oxford: Kent, 153; Oxford, 260 for three wickets (Moore 52, Melville 78, Ford 155, Freeman five wickets for 147).

HARVARD OARSMEN RESUME PRACTICE

BOATING SHIFTS UNLIKELY

Intensive Drills Begun by 150-Pounders for Yale-Princeton Race Saturday.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 5.—Harvard's varsity oarsmen returned to their own responsibilities today after witnessing the Blackwell Cup races at Derby last Saturday. Harvard has no varsity race until a week from Saturday. The sight of another fine Yale crew has impressed the Harvard oarsmen, who themselves have improved notably under Coach Whiteside.

Whiteside this week plans long and hard rows, with little shifting. He said after today's spin that, barring unforeseen circumstances, he would make no changes in the varsity before the Tech-Harvard-Navy-Penn regatta here on May 17.

He will do a little experimenting with his second boat, however, for two or three members of the third crew are showing an improvement in form which may gain them places on the present jayvee eight.

Fred Sullivan, 150-pound coach, has started intensive work on the lightweights for their all-important race against Yale and Princeton on the Housatonic next Saturday.

Last year Harvard was undefeated in lightweight rowing, but Yale's victory over a strong Pennsylvania eight and Tech's defeat at the hands of Princeton makes the approaching brush look promising.

N. Y. U. CUB NINE WINS.

Defeats Commerce High School at Ohio Field by 11 to 2.

New York University's freshman baseball team easily defeated Commerce High School in seven innings yesterday at Ohio Field, 11 to 2.

The Violet yearlings pounded the combined offerings of Probopiack and Goldberg for fourteen hits. Shearer and Spanier yielded only three.

Jack Grossman was the N. Y. U. cub star. He made three hits, one of which was a home run.

COLUMBIA FRESHMEN WIN.

Beat Newark Prep Baseball Team at South Field, 12 to 5.

The Columbia freshman baseball team defeated Newark Prep, 12 to 5, yesterday at South Field. The Lions were slow in starting, but organized their attack in the third inning to score five runs. Ray White struck out thirteen Newark players. Emanual Rivero starred for Columbia, getting two triplets and a double.

ROCKNE IS IMPROVED.

Will Visit Notre Dame Friday to Watch Spring Football Drills.

ROCHESTER, Minn., May 5 (AP).—Knute Rockne, coach of Notre Dame, has so far recovered from his illness that he will be permitted to go to South Bend, Ind., Friday and watch his football team in its final Spring workouts.

He will return to Rochester in June, however, where he can be under constant observation the greater part of the Summer as a safeguard against enlargement of the blood clot in his right leg, an ailment that has kept him in a wheel chair since last Fall.

Rockne is able to walk without the aid of crutches and looks surprisingly well for a man who has been through such a long siege of illness.

GEORGETOWN NINE CONQUERS TEMPLE

16TH VICTORY OF SEASON

Home Runs by McCarthy, Who Gets Three Safeties, and Mooney Mark Winners' Attack.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Clouting the offerings of Pitcher Bill Melrose for sixteen hits, including two home runs, Georgetown's nine today defeated Temple University, 8 to 3, for its sixth straight victory and sixteenth in eighteen games this season.

Melrose proved easy in the first inning, when Captain Ralph McCarthy drove a homer to right centre with Bozek on base. The four-base blow was duplicated by Mooney in the fifth.

In each inning but the fourth Georgetown hit safely at least once and Melrose was finally taken out in the eighth with the bases loaded. Cy Williams then retired the side without being scored on.

McCarthy, who got three hits, lengthened his string of games in which he has hit safely to eighteen.

DRASTIC SHAKE-UP FOR PRINCETON NINE

Jayvees and Reserves Replace Varsity at Training Table as a Prelude.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 5.—Drastic changes are on the program for Princeton's baseball team, it was announced today by Coach Byrd Douglas. The Tiger mentor dispensed with practice today and replaced the entire varsity training table squad with junior varsity and second string players until tomorrow.

Coach Douglas's action comes as a result of the poor showing made this season by the Tiger nine, which has dropped four games out of as many starts during the past week. The season's record to date is one of the Nassau team's worst, with five victories, one tie and twelve defeats.

With return games with Georgetown and Cornell scheduled for this week, the result of the changes soon will be made apparent. The Georgetown aggregation will meet the Tigers on Wednesday, while the encounter with Cornell will take place Saturday at Ithaca. Georgetown won the first game, 7 to 4, while Cornell handed the Princeton team its most recent defeat by trouncing the Tigers, 9 to 6, Saturday.

PRINCETON JAYVEES WIN.

Triumph Over Princeton Prep Nine by Score of 9 to 3.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 5.—Scoring six runs in the third inning and three in the fifth, the Princeton jayvee baseball team defeated the Princeton prep nine today, 9 to 3. Gill, Prep School's first baseman, hit a home run.

Yanks, Behind Gomez, Beat White Sox—Giants Upset Pirates

GOMEZ HURLS YANKS TO THIRD STRAIGHT

20-Year-Old Pitcher Holds the White Sox to 5 Hits in Brilliant Major League Debut.

FABER FAILS ON MOUND

Allows 3 Runs in 7th to Lose Lead Gained on Kamm's Homer—Circuit Drive for Lazzeri.

By WILLIAM E. BRANDT.

The Yankees' pitching outlook brightened yesterday when the stadium's battle put Vernon Gomez to the test. The slim young left-hander from the San Francisco Seals came through his ordeal in such fashion that in one day he stepped from the awkward squad to full standing on Bob Shawkey's pitching staff.

The Yanks won, 4 to 1, and for the first time this year could claim three straight victories, giving them three out of four for their first series with the Chicago White Sox. They won because Vernon Gomez, aged 20, refused to weaken in any of the several serious situations the game developed, pinches terrifying enough to make a well-weathered twirler panicky. The Yanks won because Gomez never wavered.

The slender young man from Rodeo, Cal., made good in his first major league start. He held the White Sox to five hits, each in a different inning. The first was a home run into the left-field bleachers by Willie Kamm. It came in the second inning and was the only scoring in the first six innings.

It was also the only long-distance drive from a Chicago bat all nine innings. Nimble nabbing of line drives and hot smashes around the infield by Gehrig and Chapman and Koenig came in handy for the youngster in places, but he won his game by never weakening, never giving a base on balls, never wild-pitching or losing his aplomb when a Chicago hit meant a run.

Fans Ruth Three Times.

Gomez was matched with Urban Faber, aged 42, the great spitball pitcher. For six innings Faber kept the Yanks from the home plate. Only one Yank in that stretch reached second base. Koenig was the only Yank batter Faber could not master. Ruth he struck out twice in those first six innings and three times altogether.

So it took stern stuff in the young pitcher to keep him in the game. He began by striking out the first three Sox that faced him. Then came Kamm's homer in the second. The 11,000 watchers liked Gomez best in the seventh, when Harris led off with a single and Gehrig's late throw to second on Jolley's bunt put two men on base with none out.

Kamm sacrificed them to third and second. Then, with three dazzling curves, Gomez fanned Bud Clancy. Watwood's best was a languid bouncer to Lazzeri.

This pinch-pitching heroism had its reward as soon as the Yanks went to bat. Their half of the seventh put Faber to the test and the Yanks scored three runs. Byrd led off with a single over third. Chapman rolled to Clancy. Faber, rushing to cover first, spilled Clancy's toss and Chapman was safe, Byrd skipping to third on the error.

Byrd Scores Tying Run.

Before Hargrave could hit the ball a Faber pitch broke away from the catcher, Byrd scoring the tying run and Chapman taking second. Hargrave then walked. Gomez sacrificed neatly, advancing each Yank a base.

Combs's sacrifice fly scored Chapman from third with the winning run. Koenig, with two singles his two previous times at bat, delivered a double against the right-field bleachers, scoring Hargrave. Ruth ended the inning with his third strike-out.

A pinch-hitter ousted Faber in the eighth, but could not bother Gomez. Off Pat Caraway, a lanky left-handed recruit, Lazzeri dashed the ball into the bleachers in the eighth for his first homer of the season.

Faber struck out Ruth three times, but had to work hard for each one. In the third, with Combs on second, Clancy's one-hand stab deprived Babe of a hit. In the sixth, with Koenig on base, Babe whammed a huge foul into the right-field bleachers before fanning.

Gomez showed his mettle when he lunged across the box to knock down Autrys' liner in the eighth. He threw to first base while on his knees and got his man.

ROBINS PICK VANCE TO FACE CUBS TODAY

Hope to Extend Streak to Eight Straight Against National League Champions.

By ROSCOE McGOWEN.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 5.—The rampant Robins brought their winning streak into Chicago today and prepared to extend it to eight straight tomorrow with Dazzy Vance on the firing line against the Cubs.

This was a day of rest for the Brooklyn athletes inasmuch as they doubled up in St. Louis yesterday. Most of the players gravitated naturally to the Cub park to see the Phillies in their closing game with the National League champions, but a violent wind and rainstorm interrupted the play after one inning.

Vance has rested since last Wednesday, when he won from the Giants at the Polo Grounds, and if he wins tomorrow Manager Robinson probably will start Luque on Wednesday. Ray Phelps, who turned in his first victory of the season yesterday in St. Louis, when he pitched impressively to defeat Bill Hallahan in a light scoring game, will be used in one of the later games.

The Robins are regarded here as a real threat, especially as the Cub pitchers are not showing their best form. The champions presented their first-string line-up for the first time this year when Riggs Stephenson returned to the outfield for yesterday's game. Rogers Hornsby is still at second base, but his lame foot has slowed him up to such an extent that he cannot range far and he may be compelled to withdraw from the line-up almost any day.

FORD STARS AT BAT AS REDS TRIUMPH

Collects Four Extra-Base Hits to Lead Attack Which Turns Back the Braves.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 5 (AP).—Four extra base hits by Horace Ford, Cincinnati shortstop, who collected three doubles and a triple and drove in four runs besides scoring twice himself, today aided the Reds to drive Burleigh Grimes from the box and score a 10-to-6 victory over the Braves.

Red Lucas was hit freely but had only one bad inning, the sixth. Berger, pinch-hitting in that inning, knocked a home run with two on base.

GIANTS TAKE LEAD, DEFEATING PIRATES

Pitcher Walker's Homer With 3 on Bases in Fourth Helps McGrawmen Triumph.

ALMOST SCORES SHUTOUT

New York Ace Yields Only 6 Hits—Grantham's Home Run Gives Losers Only Tally.

By JOHN DREBINGER.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, May 5.—William Walker, talented southpaw of John McGraw's forces, gave the Giants some real pitching today. Also he exploded three hits, one a tremendous homer with the bases filled, and otherwise so thoroughly bewildered the Pirates that it was scarcely any trick at all for the Giants to romp off with the opener of the four-game series, 9 to 1, at the same time yanking the Buccaneers right out of first place and assuming the National League's leadership themselves.

Walker, of course, was the whole show. Entering the ninth he had a three-hit shut-out tucked away when George Grantham deftly dropped a homer into an exit chute in the upper right-field tier. Two singles followed to give the Pirates a total of six hits, but all this was of no account.

Outstanding Deed in Fourth.

The outstanding performance came in the fourth, at which time the Giants were leading by nothing more than a single tally. At this point the left-handed Larry French ran into a bit of trouble. Terry singled, Ott walked, Engle fumbled Jackson's tap to third and an infield out pushed one run across.

Presently, with runners on second and third, French purposely passed O'Farrell to fill the bases and ease himself out of the situation, as Walker was the next batter, and usually William never does anything more with a bat than carry it to a plate and then lug it back to the bench again.

But something akin to keen resentment was to be noted on Walker's otherwise pleasant countenance on this occasion. He took a terrific belt at a pitch and hammered it far over the distant left field fence. This blow, giving the Giants a cluster of five runs for the round, sank the Corsair craft with scarcely a bubble appearing on the surface.

In the ninth some of the other Giants decided to take a few playful pokes at the slants of Heine Meine and scored three more runs, Lindstrom opening the attack with a single and Terry and Jackson following with doubles.

Traynor Ready to Play.

Pie Traynor, accomplished third baseman of the Pirates who has been recovering from an attack of iritis in his left eye, is about ready to return to action. He works out daily before each game, but because Engle, his understudy, continues to play a strong hand, Manager Ens is taking advantage of this to give Pie as much rest as possible.

McGraw's scheme of alternating Marshall and Crawford at second according to whether the opposing pitching is left-handed or right-handed is yielding satisfactory results for Marshall, who threatened for a time to lose the job outright because of his weakness at bat. Recently he has displayed a pronounced fondness for southpaw flinging.

O'Connor of Purdue to Quit at End of Season.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., May 5 (AP).—Edward J. O'Connor, head track coach at Purdue University since 1916, will retire at the end of the present season, he announced today. O'Connor, a noted sprinter in his college days at Holy Cross, coached at Bates College and Brown University before coming to Purdue. He planned to retire three years ago, but postponed his action in order to develop Orval Martin, present Purdue track captain and holder of several middle distance intercollegiate records.

RALLY IN SEVENTH WINS FOR TIGERS

Two Runs on Bunched Hits Give Sufficient Margin to Subdue Senators.

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP).—The Senators lost a tight ball game to the Detroit Tigers today, 3 to 1. Four Detroit pitchers held Washington to eight hits while three Senator boxmen allowed the Tigers ten hits.

Lloyd Brown pitched fine ball until the seventh, when the Tigers bunched safeties to score two runs. Washington threatened to tie the score in its half but fell short one run.

TICE LEADS HITTERS.

Pittsfield Batter Has Compiled Mark of .397 in Eastern League.

Tice of Pittsfield is showing the way to the hitters of the Eastern League according to the official averages issued yesterday by The Associated Press.

Figures compiled through games of Thursday, May 1, give Tice a batting average of .397. Sanguinet of New Haven, who has batted .389 in ten games, six fewer than Tice, is the runner-up.

Tice also has collected the most hits, 23, and the most doubles, 6. Benes of New Haven, leads in runs scored with 17 and in stolen bases with 7.

Brooks of Springfield and Helgeth of Albany have hit the most triples, 3, and Rodgers of New Haven is the leading home run batter, with 5. Sanguinet has been the most timely batter, driving in 15 runs.

Among the pitchers, Horan of Albany is the leader with three victories and no defeats. Other leading batsmen among the regulars are: Brooks, Springfield, .378; Johnson, Springfield, .375; Jarrett, Allentown, .372; Lacey, Allentown, .372; Heffner, New Haven, .360; Pond, Providence, .359; Burkett, Albany, .358; Robinson, Albany, .357 and Sheridan, Bridgeport, .357.

SCOTT TO FIGHT JUNE 2.

Will Meet Young Stribling in Twelve-Round Bout in London.

PARIS, May 5 (AP).—A contract signed by Phil Scott and calling for the English champion to meet Young Stribling, American heavyweight, in London June 2 in a twelve-round boxing bout was received by Jeff Dickson, American promoter, today after three weeks of negotiations.

It had been announced previously from London that Stribling and Scott were to fight June 10.

INDIANS ROUTED BY RED SOX BATS

Setback, First in Seven Starts, Puts Cleveland in First-Place Tie With Athletics.

BOSTON, May 5 (AP).—The Red Sox found four Cleveland pitchers for twenty-three hits to win the final game of their series with the Indians, 18 to 3, today and break the Indians' winning streak, which had extended to six games.

Half of Boston's runs were scored in the fifth inning, when Hudlin, Shaute and Miller all were hit hard. Milt Gaston scattered the Indians' seven hits effectively. One was the only home run of the day, a long drive over the left-field fence from the bat of Jonah Goldman, Cleveland shortstop.

Cleveland, as a result of its setback, went into a tie for first place with the world's champion Athletics, who defeated the Browns.

TWO UPSETS SCORED IN TITLE HANDBALL

Davis-De Witt and O'Brien-Ver Hoven Surprise as State Four-Wall Doubles Begin.

Two upsets featured the opening of the New York State championship four-wall doubles handball tournament last night at the New York A. C. when Edward Davis and Frank De Witt, Ostend Surf Club, defeated Steve Powers and John Broderich, Nassau Boat Club, 21—17, 21—18, and Leo O'Brien and John Ver Hoven, Nassau Boat Club, turned back Harry Raap and Jack Weed, New York A. C., 21—6, 21—19.

Edward Hahn and John Dunwoody Jr., Pastime A. C., defending champions, had little difficulty in defeating Wallace Kirkeby and Jack Bancher, New York A. C., 21—12, 21—15.

William Sakman of the Trinity Club, who holds nineteen handball titles, paired with Arthur Lennon, representing the Trinity Club also, advanced to the second round by trouncing Thomas Jordan and Robert Dowling, New York A. C., 21—9, 21—8.

Aga Kahn's Rustom Pasha Likely Favorite for 2,000 Guineas.

NEWMARKET, Eng., May 5 (AP).—Thirty-two of the finest 3-year-olds in Europe were named today as probable starters in the historic 2,000 Guineas Stake to be run Wednesday. The event is the first of the season's five classic races and is regarded as an important indicator of Derby prospects.

It is likely that the Aga Kahn's fine Rustom Pasha, winner of the Nonesuch Stakes, will be the favorite when the field goes to the post for the mile dash.

Abramson Breaks Even in Billiards.

Isaac Abramson broke even in two matches of the eighth annual Captain Ennis Memorial three-cushion billiard tournament at Lawler's Brooklyn Academy last night. Abramson was defeated in the first match, losing to Jack Simmons, 25-11. In the second match Abramson triumphed over John Olofson, 25-10.

BOLEY CONNECTS FOR TWO

Haas Also Hits for the Circuit—Grove Hurls Philadelphia to Fifth Triumph in a Row.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5 (AP).—Scoring all their runs on homers, the Philadelphia Athletics today won their fifth game in succession and the opener of the series from the St. Louis Browns. The score was 4 to 3 and the contest lasted twelve innings.

St. Louis got to Lefty Grove for one run in the first inning and two in the second for a 3 to 0 lead. The Mackmen then began to connect. Joe Boley hit the first of his two homers in the third inning and his second followed in the fifth.

Mule Haas lashed his first home run of the season in the sixth, tying the score at 3—3. Al Simmons, first up in the twelfth stanza, broke the tie by hitting his fifth circuit drive of the season into the stands behind centre field. Both Crowder and Grove went the distance on the hill.

MET. A. A. U. AWARDS TITLE SWIM EVENTS

Only Half of List Acted on by Committee—Several Dates Are Set Tentatively.

A number of Metropolitan A. A. U. aquatic championships of 1930 were awarded at the monthly meeting of the local swimming committee, held at A. A. U. headquarters yesterday. About half the listed title tests were sanctioned. The rest will be distributed at the next session on Monday, June 2, so organizations wishing to obtain sanctions should send applications to Leib Deyo, chairman of the committee, before then.

Dates were discussed and some set tentatively, but no schedule could be arranged, as most of the delegates present wanted to consult their clubs before taking definite action. It was announced, however, that the first of the outdoor championships would be decided on June 29, when the Bayvill Aquatic Club of Bayville, L. I., will stage the junior 100-meter back stroke swim for women in connection with an open water carnival in Oyster Bay Harbor.

The list of awards follows:

COCHRAN TWICE VICTOR.

Wins Opening Blocks of Three-Cushion Match With Ribas.

Walker Cochran, former world's 18.2 balkline billiard titleholder, captured the opening two blocks of his twelve-block three cushion billiard match with Isidro Ribas, champion fancy shot player of Europe, yesterday at Dwyer's Broadway Academy. This match is being played on a block basis of 40 points, but in the event of a tie the total points scored will be used to determine the winner.

In the afternoon block Cochran won by 40 to 32 after fifty-one innings, the winner turning in an effort of 4 and Ribas one of 3. In the evening block, Cochran encountered considerable difficulty before he triumphed by 40 to 39. This match lasted forty-seven innings with both players registering high runs of 5. Following each block Ribas gave some fancy shooting exhibitions.

ST. JEAN GETS CUE LEAD.

Seaback Breaks Even in First Two Blocks, but Trails, 253-248.

Andrew St. Jean and Charles Seaback broke even in the first two blocks of their 1,750-point fourteen-block pocket billiard match at the Strand Billiard Academy yesterday. Seaback was the victor in the afternoon, triumphing over St. Jean, 132—76, in eleven innings. Seabeck had a high run of 64, while his opponent made a high of 22.

St. Jean came back in the evening match to defeat Seaback, 177—116, in nine innings. Seaback again made a better high run, clustering 48, while St. Jean bunched two less. As a result of his victory in the second block, St. Jean is leading Seaback on points, 253—248.

Matsuyama Wins Billiard Match.

Kinrey Matsuyama defeated Harry Madison, 250—17, in seven innings of 18.2 balkline billiards at Lawler's Manhattan Academy last night. Matsuyama made a high run of 125. Madison's best was 11.

Carlton Outpointed by Canzoneri in Ten Rounds

CANZONERI DEFEATS CARLTON ON POINTS

Batters Rival Steadily With a Varied Attack in Bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

WOLFF AGAIN IS VICTOR

Scores Third Straight Triumph as Professional When Referee Disqualifies Roberts.

By JAMES P. DAWSON.

Tony Canzoneri of Brooklyn, who formerly held the world's featherweight title, carried off the decision over rugged little Harry Carlton of Jersey City last night in the ten-round feature bout at the St. Nicholas Arena and negotiated another step in the ring campaign outlined for him in a drive on another chance at the world's lightweight title.

In a battle that was crowded with action and that thrilled a crowd of about 2,500 fans, Canzoneri outboxed and outfought Carlton. That Canzoneri did not score a knockout victory is a testimonial to the endurance of Carlton and the Jersey City lad's resistance to punishment. Times without number Canzoneri crashed his right off Carlton's jaw at long range and at close quarters he drilled home savagely with a steady fire to the Jersey City boxer's body.

Carlton not only withstood this attack but fought back willingly. Throughout, however, Canzoneri's superiority was manifest and it was this advantage which enabled him to carry off every round.

Canzoneri Shows Skill.

Canzoneri weighed 131½ pounds and Carlton 135 pounds. Canzoneri demonstrated tremendous superiority over his rival as a boxer from the opening gong. The Brooklyn Italian outboxed and outfought Carlton with a furious assault in the opening round and through the second round as well. Carlton, however, fought back desperately in the second round and in exciting exchanges returned Canzoneri's blows to the jaw while the crowd cheered.

Canzoneri devoted most of the third round to outboxing his rival, snapping Carlton's head back with a variety of accurate jabs. Late in the round Canzoneri rocked his rival with a solid right to the jaw, closing the round with a furious rally in an attempt to dispose of Carlton.

Solid rights to the heart at close quarters hurt Carlton in the fourth round and at long range Canzoneri kept his rival's head bobbing on the end of left jabs. Carlton, however, fought back grimly and with lefts and rights to the head and body made Canzoneri miss repeatedly.

Late in the round Canzoneri missed a left hook for the jaw and, tripping over Carlton's foot, almost fell headlong out of the ring. Canzoneri also took the fifth round, but found Carlton a difficult problem at close quarters, where the Jersey City youngster frequently reached the body with lefts and rights.

Carlton Is Jarred.

Canzoneri handled his rival as he pleased in the sixth round and on three occasions rocked Carlton with solid rights to the jaw. Carlton was criticized by the crowd in this round for holding.

Through most of the seventh round Canzoneri hammered his rival all over the ring in a spectacular bid for a knockout. Carlton, however, rallied from the punching and near the close of the round reached Canzoneri with a left hook to the jaw and a right to the heart.

Throughout the eighth round Canzoneri continued to batter his rival, driving home solidly with lefts and rights to the face and body and parrying most of Carlton's return.

Carlton pounded Canzoneri's body rather freely to start the ninth round, when Canzoneri acted as if he were weakening. But the Brooklyn Italian snapped out of his lethargy and through most of the round punched Carlton at will. Near the end of the round the heads of the boxers accidentally collided and Canzoneri suffered a cut over the left eye.

The battle closed with exciting action. Carlton fought desperately in a rally, but found Canzoneri ready for him. The Brooklyn Italian outpunched his rival in torrid exchanges and late in the round almost floored Carlton with a succession of rights to the jaw.

Wolff Wins in Third Round.

In the semi-final, Allie Wolff, former Penn State College student and intercollegiate boxing champion, scored his third straight professional ring victory. His latest victim was Jimmy Roberts, Greenwich Village light heavyweight.

Wolff scored his victory in the third round of what was scheduled to be a six-round bout, when Referee Eddie Forbes stepped between the rivals and waved Wolff to his corner the victor. Referee Forbes later authorized the announcement that he had disqualified Roberts for not putting forth his best efforts. Wolff weighed 167 pounds and Roberts 168.

Sammy Delson, east side lightweight, added Frankie Grecco, another east side youngster, to his list of vanquished rivals in their six-round bout. Delson's superior ability as a boxer earned him the decision in an interesting battle. Delson weighed 133½ pounds and Grecco 132½.

Freddie Anderson, Brooklyn lightweight, hammered his way to the decision over Lou Lampert of the east side in their six-round bout. Floored in the first round for the count of eight and again for the count of nine, Lampert rallied and made a desperate bid for victory, but Anderson was too much for him at every stage. Anderson weighed 134 pounds and Lampert 129½ pounds.

Sammy Fertel, east side featherweight, knocked out Sammy Fisher of the Bronx in the fifth round of their bout scheduled for six rounds. The finish came when Fisher, arising from a knockdown at a count of nine, was sent down and out under a left hook to the body. Fertel weighed 124½ pounds and Fisher 125¾.

Al Stampler, east side lightweight, knocked out Billy Tisdale of Brooklyn in the second round of the opening bout scheduled for four rounds. Referee Forbes stopped this bout after Tisdale had been floored three times. Stampler weighed 131 pounds and Tisdale 131½.

Ladies' Day Jams Cubs' Park; Free Admission Plan Revised

CHICAGO, May 5 (AP).—Increasingly large ladies' day crowds have made it necessary for the Chicago Cub management to revise its policy.

The club will continue to admit women free on Fridays, but they must call for tickets at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, when 20,000 tickets will be given out—two to an individual if desired. The entire upper tier, including boxes, will be reserved for the ladies' day guests.

SCHMELING TO SIGN HIS CONTRACT TODAY

Then He Will Depart for Training Camp to Prepare for Bout With Sharkey June 12.

SPENDS DAY PLAYING GOLF

Summer Boxing Dates to Be Alloted by Board Today—LaMorte-Wolgast Match Planned.

Max Schmeling gave his attention yesterday almost exclusively to recreation. The German who is to make a bid for the world's heavyweight title in a fifteen-round battle against Jack Sharkey in the Yankee Stadium on June 12 for the milk fund, spent the day on a golf course in Westchester and last night attended a musical comedy.

Today Schmeling plans to start actively preparing for the Sharkey battle. He will visit the State Athletic Commission and make formal application for a restoration of his license as a boxer which was revoked last year when he refused to fight Phil Scott.

The fact that the commisison has approved his match with Sharkey is interpreted as tantamount to Schmeling's restoration to eligibility. And it is expected that Joe Jacobs, his manager, and Billy McCarney, Jacob's partner, also will have their licenses restored.

From the commission meeting Schmeling will go to Madison Square Garden, where plans have been made for the traditional ceremonial signing of contracts for the Sharkey match. Later he will leave for Endicott, N. Y., where he will remain until his preparation for Sharkey has been completed.

Aside from the proposed visit of Schmeling today's meeting of the commission is to be notable. The board is to allot Summer boxing dates. Executive Secretary Bert Stand announced yesterday that the order of previous years probably would be followed, with only one possible change.

The Dexter Park Arena, in Queens, is applying for its customary Mondays, the Queensboro Stadium in Long Island City for Tuesdays, Ebbets field, Brooklyn, for Wednesdays, and the Madison Square Garden Corporation, it is expected, will have Thursdays. The Coney Island Stadium, heretofore operating on Fridays, is understood to be seeking Mondays.

Matchmaker Tom McArdle of the Garden, convinced that he cannot have the services of Frankie Genaro for a match against Midget Wolgast in the Garden on May 16, plans today to submit to the commission contracts for a meeting between Wolgast and Willie LaMorte, Newark flyweight.

BATTALINO IS WINNER.

Featherweight Champion Defeats Massey in Philadelphia Bout.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5 (AP).—Battling Battalino, world's featherweight champion, pounded his way to a ten-round decision over Lew Massey of Philadelphia in the main event at the Arena tonight. Battalino weighed 128½ and Massey 129 pounds.

Six-round bouts resulted as follows: Ralph Lenny, Jersey City, 136, stopped Ray Weigand, Philadelphia, 130, in the second round, the referee stopping the right to save Weigand from further injury; Luigi Quanrini, Italy, 126, decision over Eddie Stewart, Philadelphia, 140; Mel Aragon, Peru, 135, decision over Mickey Diamond, Philadelphia, 140; Lew Paluso, Salt Lake City, Utah, 134, decision over Calvin Reed, Philadelphia, 133; Young Firpo, Uenns Grove, Pa., 137, decision over Joey Kauffman, New York, 138.

AGREE TO IGNORE FOUL.

Fields and Thompson Propose Rest Period Instead.

DETROIT, May 5 (AP).—For the first time in fistic history, an agreement has been reached to eliminate the danger of a decision on a foul in a championship bout.

The management of Olympia Stadium, where Jackie Fields will defend his welterweight crown Friday night against Young Jack Thompson, San Francisco, announced tonight that the managers of both fighters had agreed to substitute a five-minute rest period for a decision in case of a foul.

Tomorrow at 1 P. M. the Michigan Boxing Commission will meet here to consider such a ruling. A favorable decision is anticipated, since James (Bingo) Brown, chairman, has expressed himself as favorably impressed with the suggestion, which emanated from Gig Rooney, Fields's manager.

CHERIN-MACK BOX TONIGHT.

Will Meet in Feature Ten-Rounder at the Broadway Arena.

A ten-round bout between Sammy Cherin, east side lightweight, and Petey Mack, Jersey City veteran, is to serve as the principal boxing attraction tonight at the Broadway Arena, Brooklyn. Ralph Ficucello, Brooklyn's Italian heavyweight, and Charley Hansen of Astoria are to clash in the semi-final of ten rounds. Two six-round matches and as many four-round bouts also are planned.

Benny Britt and Sindulfo Diaz yesterday were reported in excellent condition for their ten-round bout which will feature the program tonight at the Twenty-second Engineers Regiment Armory. Jack Sharkey, Philadelphia featherweight, is to engage Joe Rocco in the semi-final of eight rounds.

10,000 SEE SHIKAT WIN FROM STEINKE

CALZA THROWS McGUIRE

Has Edge From Start and Scores in 8:40 at 71st Armory—Dusek Beats Garibaldi.

Richard Shikat, recognized in New York and Pennsylvania as heavyweight wrestling champion, successfully defended his title against Hans Steinke, giant German, at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory last night before a capacity crowd of 10,000 which filled the huge drillshed and overflowed onto the emergency bleachers and the sidelines.

Shikat won after 43:05 with a front drop and head scissors, a combination of grips that brought Steinke to the mat, after which the titleholder clamped on a body hold. The victory was greeted with prolonged booing by the crowd, which up to the point of its ending had enjoyed the lead which Steinke had had on the champion.

Steinke pressed the attack from the start, much to the delight of the spectators and the discomfiture of the champion. Sustained booing was caused every time Shikat wriggled to the ropes to escape from Steinke's holds. It was ten minutes before either adversary left his feet, although Shikat was on the defensive. Then the German tossed the Philadelphian down with a bar-hammer grip and later secured a bear-hug which lasted for three minutes and then a Japanese scissors that endured for five.

As they neared the three-quarter-of-an-hour mark Shikat suddenly nailed Steinke in a neutral corner with a front drop and head scissors and threw him heavily to the canvas, where a body hold finished the task. Shikat weighed 218 pounds, Steinke 240.

Following the main bout George Calza, Italian champion, weighing 220 pounds, tossed Ned McGuire, 238, in 8:40, using a crotch hold. Calza was the aggressor all the way and was never in danger.

In the final bout the crowd got a continuous run of action when Ruddy Dusek threw Gino Galibaldi in 16:28. In the last ten minutes first one and then the other was tossed to the floor with much force until finally Dusek tossed Garibaldi three times in succession with flying mares and wound up by slamming his man to the mat and applying a body hold that ended the affair.

In a preliminary encounter, Jim Clinkstock, 245 pounds, tossed George Hagen, 215, with a flying mare after 18:05.

In another bout, Matros Kirilenko, 216 pounds, pinned Mike Romano with a headlock and bar-hammer after 14:46.

MET. BOXERS DIVIDE IN NEW YORK A. C. RING

Split Even in Four Bouts With Philadelphia Rivals—Bell Stops Lindsay.

Philadelphia boxers gained an even break with local athletes in the amateur boxing show at the city clubhouse of the New York Athletic Club last night. The visiting team won two of four bouts, with one of the metropolitan victories going to John Scott of New Rochelle and the other to Nick Coccuzza of New York.

The local boxers were at their best in the two lightest divisions, Scott winning at 112 pounds and Coccuzza at 120. But in the 128-pound class Eddie Hollins of Philadelphia gained the verdict over John Vitale of New York and then in the final encounter of the intercity bouts William Graham of Philadelphia won on points from Elmer Jones of New York in the 138-pound section.

In addition to the intercity and open encounters a special 160-pound clash was staged. William Bell, unattached, terminated this in the third round by knocking out Heywood Lindsay of the Maris Stella Council of the Knights of Columbus.

Doing anything well takes skill and concentration, as witness the superlative excellence of the Irish tweeds we import from far-off Donegal; each piece is skillfully hand-woven to put beauty and strength into these soft and luxurious fabrics.

The patterns offer several varieties of gray and brown mixtures, with our special finish to make 'em huskier than usual.

And so that you'll get more than the usual service from your suit, these tweeds offer 4-piece combines of coat, vest, knickers and longs. $75.

Other 4-piece suits, $50 up.

Golf hose to match, also hand-made in Donegal.

Irish poplin ties are nice, too.

THE BOSS WAS ASTOUNDED!

Henry Leadpencil, who worked in the accounting department, suddenly began high-hatting the Big Boss and dressing like a Wall Street broker. A general audit of accounts was ordered by the Boss who obviously felt badly about things. Finding everything in order he finally gave in, and whispered in Henry's ear:

"Where did you get that suit, Mr. Leadpencil, and how could you afford it on your salary?"

"Mr. Jones," said Henry, regally, "this is a silk-lined Conqueror from Browning King's. This suit, sir, splendid as it is in fit, bringing out as it does my really excellent style, fabriced as it is with the finest; cost me only $50."

Henry was right — the Big Boss, impressed, gave him charge of both sides of the double entry ledger.

Splendid, silk-lined Conquerors, deftly made —in a bewildering range of colors and styles— fashioned of internationally famous fabrics, are waiting your approval at Browning King's.

Jamaica Feature Is Captured by Zeal, 15 to 1; Boom Second

ZEAL, 15 TO 1, BEATS BOOM BY 2 LENGTHS

FULTON TO EDDIE AHEARN

Outsider at 10-1 Gets Nose in Front of Khara, With Bud Broom Home Third.

By BRYAN FIELD.

"Sit still on the horse, don't use the whip and don't try to make him win. He'll win anyhow if he has a mind to, and if he has a mind not to all you can do won't make any difference." That is what Trainer Johnny Lowe said at Jamaica yesterday to a little apprentice jockey, F. Hendrick, who had ridden a horse in a race only once before.

The horse Trainer Lowe was talking about was his charge, Zeal, a son of Zev and Vesper Hour, owned by the Rancocas Stable.

Apprentice Hendrick did everything he was told and Zeal came home on the bit, a winner by two lengths and paying 15 to 1, in the Commonwealth Claiming Handicap. Back of him finished the heavily backed Boom, which distanced Scott's Grey by four lengths. Further back was Wood God, the favorite, and bringing up the rear was Storm. Each of the last four was strongly supported. There were some bets on Zeal, too, by those who knew his great turn of speed and who hoped that he would run kindly.

Zeal Had Few Supporters.

Run kindly he did, and thus made a procession out of a race in which handicappers had given him no chance. As for Apprentice Hendrick, he was the most pleased boy at the track, for it was his first winner, and fanning the breeze yesterday was pleasant and balmy. Hendrick's only other mount was on Czarist at New Orleans.

Trainer Lowe was well pleased, too, for the result saw the white and green silks of Rancocas in front for the first time since the beginning of the metropolitan season.

In discussing Zeal, Lowe told how Laverne Fator had been fooled by him due to his fast trials as a yearling and juvenile. Fator made a wager with Bill Brennan, then the Rancocas foreman, that Zeal would turn out a better 2-year-old then Mokatam. Mokatam, of course, was one of the best of last year's juveniles, whereas Zeal, on account of his sulky and headstrong ways, was one of the poorest. Fator paid off the wager to Brennan.

It remains to be seen what kind of 3-year-olds the two will make. Mokatam, laid up early with an injury last year, has yet to start, and Zeal in three previous outings, looked very poor. Perhaps he has turned over a new leaf. In any event, Trainer Lowe hopes so and says that if he has, Zeal will be a smart 3-year-old.

Rapid Transit Out of Money.

In the Fulton Handicap, which preceded the Zeal race, there was a surprise just about as startling. Practically all of the support was divided between Bud Broom and Rapid Transit, the latter closing favorite. Rapid Transit finished out of the money, Bud Broom was lucky to get third and the winner turned up in Eddie Ahearn, owned by the Catawba Stable and a 10-to-1 shot. He beat the Rancocas Stable's Khara, another 10-to-1 shot, a nose on the post.

Six started in the race and at the beginning Tripping Toe, the outsider, ran like the wind to open up a big lead. Rapid Transit and Eddie Ahearn were in close pursuit and, surprisingly enough, it was the favorite that stopped and not the long shot.

In the stretch Tripping Toe folded up, but Eddie Ahearn had to run hard for his victory as Khara came on courageously and took the lead. However, Eddie Ahearn came on again and regained the lead and the victory in the last stride.

Post and Paddock.

Interest in the big 3-year-old races showed a marked increase yesterday at Jamaica, and it will not be surprising to see a large exodus for the Preakness on Friday and for the Kentucky Derby on the seventeenth. The Belmont Stakes, to be run on June 7, is causing more early-season comment than in several years.

One development of early Belmont Stakes interest is the probability of a future book on the race. Tom Shaw, well-known clubhouse commissioner, is expected to announce prices shortly. It has been a good many years since there has been a complete future book on the Belmont, although isolated bets have been placed in advance of the race.

The sale of 2-year-olds, which will be held on May 24 under the Fasig-Tipton Company auspices in the paddock at Belmont Park, will include a large number of Star Master youngsters. Twenty-five colts and fillies are scheduled to go on sale, and of this number ten are by Star Master. There is a Chicle colt, Adhesive, that is well financed. He is out of Elizabeth May. Chicle is the sire of Whichone and other good horses.

Speaking of Whichone brings up the fact that he is Harry Payne Whitney's strongest eligible for the Belmont. There seems little doubt that he will be the favorite in any future book if he trains well. Whichone is bred to go on, and the Belmont is at a mile and a half.

This week's racing has several stake numbers down for contention. The Jamaica Handicap will be run this afternoon, and tomorrow the Newtown Claiming Stakes; Thursday, the Spring Handicap; Saturday, the Youthful and Excelsior Handicaps.

The undefeated colt Vander Pool is an eligible for the Youthful, but it remains to be seen whether or not Trainer McDaniel will bring him out for it. The Campfire youngster has been in training since the beginning of the year and needs a rest if he is to be raced this Summer and late into the Fall.

Shows Way in Brilliant Field of 15 3-Year-Olds at Pimlico—Ned O a Length Back.

CRACK BRIGADE IS BEATEN

Nosed Out by Woodcraft in Worthington Purse—Michigan Boy 3d—Desert Light Trails.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 5 (AP).—Phillip, from the W. E. Caskey Jr. stable, which met defeat a few days ago by Al Green, a maiden from the Sagamore Stable, furnished a big surprise today at Pimlico when he scored over a brilliant field of 3-year-olds in the Rennert Handicap, a test at six furlongs which drew fifteen starters.

Two others held at long odds took down the second and third awards in G. W. Foreman's Ned O, which finished a length back of the Caskey colt and just a half-length to the fore of Mucker. War Saint, the favorite, was unplaced.

The winner earned $5,540 and his time was 1:12 1-5. He paid $50.10 for $2.

Five aspirants for the Preakness on Friday met in the mile and seventy yards of the Worthington and in one of the stoutest stretch drives seen in some time the Audley Farm Stable's Woodcraft qualified handsomely. He got up in the last stride to earn a nose verdict over Crack Brigade. Michigan Boy was third, while Colossal easily took the measure of Desert Light.

Mombasa broke running, rushed to the front, displayed good speed all the way and held on gamely. Memories Dear broke slowly, was sent on the outside, ran out on the stretch, but came again at the finish and was wearing the winner down. Vigilia got away fast, was kept right up with the pace, but had no mishaps. Ladala suffered early interference. Rentiva ran a fair race Kai-Lo had no mishap

Sydka broke well, was pinched back, recovered and closing gamely, drew away right at the end. Masked Ball crossed over just after the start, piling up the field, for which she was disqualified for fouling. Phantasime was knocked back to last place and was forced to make much ground. Dippy was almost knocked down at the start and never had a chance to run. Pontia also suffered interference.

Scratched—Martis.

Eddie Ahearn, showing improvement over his recent race, followed the early pace closely, came around the field in the stretch and, closing gamely, was up to win in the last stride. Khara trailed the field to the middle of the turn, moved up very fast in the stretch, took the lead at the sixteenth pole, but tired suddenly at the end. Bud Broom was badly outrun to the stretch and finished with a rush. Tripping Toe had plenty of speed, raced Rapid Transit into defeat and tired badly. Rapil Transit was kept close to the early pace, but quit to a walk in the final sixteenth.

MORSUN CAPTURES FEATURE AT AURORA

Offspring of Morvich-Sun Caris Never Extended in Taking Riverside Handicap.

OLD KICKAPOO IS SECOND

Finishes Three Lengths Behind the Winner, With Christie Flanagan Third.

AURORA, Ill., May 5 (AP).—C. B. Irwin's 4-year-old chestnut colt, Morsun, by Morvich—Sun Caris, was never fully extended to win the Riverside handicap, the feature attraction at the Aurora track today. Old Kickapoo, the 6-year-old bay gelding from O. L. Foster's stable, was second, and Christie Flanagan third.

The race was a dash over the five and a half furlongs distance for 3-year-olds and upward and drew only five starters. Morsun covered the distance over a slow track in 1:10 flat.

The event was worth $700 to the Irwin Stable. Morsun paid $8.84 for a $2 mutuel.

The start was good for all except the favorite, First Mission, which got away to an awkward start and was never better than last.

Morsun was raced into a good early lead right after the start, which he increased to win by three lengths with speed in reserve. Old Kickapoo was ridden all over the track in the early part of it, and made a game challenge in the stretch drive, but could do no better than second, three lengths in front of Christie Flanagan. The latter was a length in front of Andromeda.

The day started off cloudy, and rain fell, but when the weather finally cleared the track was reduced from fast to slow.

Race Horse Gets New Name.

CHICAGO, May 5 (AP).—In case the name Nostaw is unfamiliar to horse race followers, he is the former Lord Braedalbane, four-year-old son of Whisk-Home Star and one-time Derby colt. The horse was purchased last Winter by Miss Blanche Watson of Cleveland. She did not like his name, so she paid the Jockey Club $100 for the privilege of changing it and pinned her last name, spelled backward, on him.

MISS JANE NICHOLS CUP YACHT SPONSOR

Granddaughter of J. P. Morgan to Christen Weetamoe—Her Father Is Skipper.

LAUNCHING ON THURSDAY

Whirlwind Will Go Overboard Tomorrow at Neponset to Make Way for Yankee.

By JAMES ROBBINS.

Miss Jane Nichols, daughter of George Nichols, will be the sponsor of the America's Cup yacht Weetamoe when the racer is launched on Thursday afternoon at the yard of the Herreshoff Manufacturing Company in Bristol, R. I.

Miss Nichols is a granddaughter of J. P. Morgan, one of the members of the syndicate of New York Yacht Club members who are having the yacht built. Her father will be the skipper of the boat.

Weetamoe will go overboard shortly after 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon. In the meantime, the Whirlwind, which is being built in Neponset, Mass., for a New York syndicate, will take the water at the George Lawley & Son yard there, early tomorrow morning, and with Whirlwind out of the Lawley shed, the Yankee, the Boston-owned yacht, will be launched a few days later. It is hoped to put her overboard on Saturday morning.

Four Boats Will Be Afloat.

With these three afloat, and Enterprise, the fourth defense candidate, already under sail, it is expected that the full quartet from which a defender will be chosen to meet Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V will be out windjamming for conditioning by the end of next week.

Whirlwind probably will be the last under sail. She really is being launched this week to get her out of the way of Yankee, and she is expected to be put in drydock to have two more coats of white paint applied to her before she is tried out under canvas.

Enterprise, which moved on to Newport, is to engage in some trial races off there with Resolute, the last cup defender. These contests probably will start next week. Resolute is being put back in commission at the Herreshoffs.

Shamrock is being given her sail and rigging stretching at Southampton and is scheduled to have her first race at Harwich a week from Saturday.

The duralumin mast for Enterprise is expected to arrive at City Island today from Baltimore, where it was built of the material used for the framing of dirigibles. The large hollow wood mast now in Enterprise will be kept in her for her early races at least.

College Regatta Dates Set.

The third intercollegiate yachting regatta will be held at Oyster Bay on June 16, 17 and 18. C. Sherman Hoyt will direct it. The first year of it Princeton won, and last year Yale was victor over Princeton and Cornell. Dartmouth, Harvard and Williams also will have craft this year. Manhattan and Massachusetts Institute of Technology sent entries, but they arrived late. The races are for the George May Cup, and Class S boats are used.

Archibald M. L. du Pont's 74-foot cruiser Orthia has been launched by the Marine Construction Company, in Wilmington, Del. She will join the Corinthian Yacht Club fleet in Philadelphia.

VANDERBILT AT WHEEL ON ENTERPRISE TRIAL

Cup Yacht Makes Excellent Showing in First Sail Over Brenton's Reef Course.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., May 5.—With Commodore Harold S. Vanderbilt at the wheel, the cup defender candidate Enterprise had her first trial spin over the famous Brenton's Reef course off here today. While no attempt was made to clock the boat, it was said after she had taken up her mooring again in Brenton's Cove that she had made an excellent showing.

The Enterprise, which came into port Sunday evening, was followed by Mr. Vanderbilt's yacht Vara. This morning the racer was towed to Brenton's Cove, where she took up and became established at the mooring that is to be her home port during the elimination races and perhaps the cup races later on in the Summer.

DERBY ENTRANT IN TEST.

Broadway Limited Goes Distance Impressively in 2:11 3-5.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 5 (AP).—Broadway Limited, one of the Three D's stable entries for the Kentucky Derby, was sent over the mile and a quarter, the full Derby route, at Churchill Downs, today in 2:11 3-5.

The Man o' War colt, which brought $65,000 as a yearling but failed to win as a 2-year-old, was paced for the mile by Dixie Dreamer, a candidate for the Kentucky Oaks, and was driving, but not hard, at the finish.

The pair were clocked at the half in 0:49 1-5, the three-quarters in 1:16 1-5, and the mile in 1:44, where the filly was pulled up. Broadway Limited covered the mile and an eighth in 1:57 3-5.

Sports of the Times

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By JOHN KIERAN.

MAX SCHMELING threw a cactus plant overboard in mid-ocean and came into port with a dozen cuckoo clocks. It might have been better had he thrown the cuckoo clocks overboard and saved the cactus. A cactus plant is good for something. Wanderers in the deserts of New Mexico and Arizona know that certain cactus plants, cut open, will yield enough moisture to save life for the time being and lend hope for the future. Perhaps a cactus plant can be eaten. Eggplant is eaten by some people. But cuckoo clocks yield no moisture and as yet there is no report of any man having made a hearty meal of a cuckoo clock.

A clock, cuckoo or otherwise, is a contraption of ill omen. This is just a friendly warning to a young man who has a bright future ahead of him in a friendly country. The story goes that Thomas A. Edison, when he wanted to concentrate on a real piece of work, put all the clocks out of his shop and locked the door. He didn't want to know what time it was until he had completed the job in hand.

There are those who watch the clocks in business offices. It is a copy book maxim that those who watch the clocks in business offices never grow up to be the presidents of the corporations.

A Page of History.

There is a terrible tale of clocks in history. The old chronicles have it that Charles the Fifth of Spain, one of the unhappy Hapsburgs, gave up his throne and retired to the monastery at Yuste, Estremadura. There he spent several years trying to make a set of clocks keeping the same time. He worked night and day, winding this one a little tighter, easing the spring tension on that one, changing the length of a pendulum here and cutting down a counter-weight there—all to no purpose. With all the prestige of the Hapsburgs behind him, he couldn't get even two clocks to tick along in exact unison. He went into a decline. His intellect became clouded. He died.

If ordinary clocks could produce such an effect, cuckoo clocks must be far more injurious to mind and body. There is the ancient tale of the husband who sneaked into the house in the wee sma' hours, told his wife it was just midnight, heard the cuckoo pop out to announce four o'clock, and had to stand at the foot of the stairs and cuckoo eight times to square himself.

Possibly Max Schmeling knows all about the alarming qualities of cuckoo clocks. If so, he must have brought them in for some ulterior and mysterious purpose. He has not yet reached the pugilistic state where it seems the natural thing for him to surround himself with cuckoo clocks. In the lives of most fighters, that comes in the late stages of their careers, and Herr Max is still young. There are some veteran fighters who should not be allowed on the streets without cuckoo clocks. But Max is still in the wrist watch stage.

Unnatural History.

There was one fighter who was much interested in cuckoo clocks. The first thing he said when he saw one was that it was a shame to keep a bird locked up in a black box night and day. He was a kind-hearted fellow, like most fighters. The next thing he wanted to know was how the little bird pushed the door open and pulled it back again so quickly. A little later he went out and came back with a package of birdseed. Of course, the laugh was on him. Cuckoos eat caterpillars.

The theory that Herr Max brought the cuckoo clocks so that he would not be the victim of a long count is not tenable. That is, unless these are rapid-fire or split-second cuckoos. The common or garden variety of wooden cuckoo sounds its more or less melodious note only on the hour. They are of little use for marking ten-second intervals or less.

It may be that Herr Max plans to hide all these cuckoo clocks in the ornamental trees on the Sharkey estate in Brookline. He could set them so that the owner, strolling through his expensive and exclusive domains, would apparently hear derisive shouts of "cuckoo, cuckoo!" every few minutes. Jack Sharkey, who bursts into tears on the slightest provocation, is a sensitive fellow. The reiterated cuckoo strains might have a terrible effect on him. His Boston supporters are warned to be on the watch to thwart such a plot if that's what Herr Max had in mind when he made his last purchases in Germany.

An Athlete.

Except for the cuckoo clocks, Herr Max of Hamburg is a normal athlete. This is mentioned because Primo Carnera, who came over the ocean some time ago, was not a normal athlete. The difference is all in favor of the Hammer of Hamburg. It was said here and elsewhere that if Carnera could amount to anything in the ring, boxing would have to be crossed off the list of athletic events because Primo the Ponderous could never be classed as an athlete by any wide stretch of the imagination.

Max is different. He is an athlete. Looking at him, almost any football, track or rowing coach might sigh that they didn't see him sooner and under more auspicious circumstances. He is sound in wind and limb, six feet one inch in height and built in almost perfect proportion. He may or may not become heavyweight champion of the world, but he has all the physical qualifications necessary for the job.

That isn't the clinching evidence, of course. Young Stribling had and still has the physical qualifications and he is not expected to become heavyweight champion of the world. Jack Sharkey has the physical qualifications. He may make the grade and he may not.

Settling the Question.

If Sharkey wins over Schmeling, there is still a chance for Max to come back later and climb to the throne. If Schmeling wins over Sharkey, it is almost certain that Jack will toss away his gloves and retire to enjoy his riches. He doesn't care particularly for the game and he has all the money he wants. What he is after now is the heavyweight title. If he misses, that will be the end of it.

With Schmeling going against Sharkey, the fans will see another battle between a puncher and a boxer. It's true that Sharkey can punch a bit himself and that Schmeling has been taught something about boxing, but Schmeling must rely on his heavier hitting, and, against a deadly hitter, Sharkey must rely on his boxing.

KURZROK ADVANCES IN TITLE TENNIS

Defending Greater New York Champion Beats Noyes to Gain Quarter-Finals.

The field in the Greater New York tennis championship was brought down to the quarter-finals yesterday with the completion of the remaining three matches in the third round.

Dr. Lawrence Kurzrok, the defending titleholder; Edward W. Burns and Martin Buxby were the players to advance and an inspection of the last eight brackets finds six of the eight seeded men left in the running. Kurzrok, resuming play after a day of idleness, ran into unexpectedly stiff opposition from Seldon Noyes and dropped a set before winning after a long struggle at 6—3, 5—7, 6—2.

Noyes, playing aggressively and hitting with just as much speed as the champion, found his best form in the second set and gave so brilliant an account of himself that Kurzrok had to yield the chapter. In the third set, however, Kurzrok found the range and took command as Noyes began to tire, to come through by a comfortable margin.

Burns and Buxby both advanced without any difficulty. The former defeated Mitchell Rosenbaum at 6—3, 6—2, and Buxby put out Jack McDermott, 6—1, 6—3.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock Kynaston will meet William Clines, and Burns may take on Harold MacGuffin, though the match had not been definitely scheduled last night. Play in the doubles will get under way with eleven teams entered. The seeded pairs are Merritt Cutler and Perrine Rockafellow, Anton Von Bernuth and Harry F. Wolf, Burns and Kurzrok and Sidney Adelstein and Morton Bernstein.

DOEG SHOWS SKILL IN TENNIS WORKOUT

Californian Defeats Bell, 6-3, 6-3, as Latter Joins U. S. Davis Cup Squad.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—John Doeg of Santa Monica, Cal., revealed in the Davis Cup workouts at the Huntingdon Valley Country Club today, just what he may do in the first American zone time with Canada at the Philadelphia Country Club May 15, 16 and 17.

Doeg produced his best efforts against Berkeley Bell of Austin, Texas, national intercollegiate champion, who made his first appearance with the team, to win 6—3, 6—3. On the surface the Californian seemed almost indifferent. Yet Doeg was serious, playing shrewdly and with vim.

Bell put every ounce of energy into his shots. He was anxious to show what he could do and the way he executed his strokes there was little indication that he had injured his wrist in his match with Francis T. Hunter at New Rochelle, N. Y., at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Bell paired with Doeg to meet defeat at the hands of Van Ryn and Hall in a doubles match, 6—3, 6—3.

There was a contest between Doeg and J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., but no score was kept because it was in reality an experimental game in which Doeg tried to drive his forehand as much as possible.

In another singles contest, John Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J., divided with G. Martin Lott 2d of Chicago. Van Ryn won the first set 6—3, while Lott took the second, 6—2.

Rutgers Freshmen Win at Lacrosse.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., May 5.—The Rutgers freshman lacrosse team defeated the Hun School twelve at College Field today, 13 to 0.

POLAND CAPTURES DAVIS CUP SERIES

Tlokzynski Defeats Mischu to Bring Victory Over Rumania by 3 to 2.

IRELAND LEADING MONACO

Rogers and Smith Give Squad 2 to 1 Margin by Beating Gallepe and Landau.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WARSAW, May 5.—The Polish Davis Cup team beat Rumania today in an exciting final match, in which a ball was even shot into the onlookers by the Rumanian player, Mischu, who showed nervousness in his five-set contest with the young Polish tennis star, Tlokzynski.

Mischu, an experienced tournament player, tried hard to overcome his young opponent, who was appearing on the courts for the first time in a serious international match. When in the first set the crowd gave signs of disapproval of his rather erratic service, Mischu in great excitement served his second ball right into the crowd.

Play was interrupted and the referee ruled a point against Mischu. Tlokzynski eventually won the set and the match, 3 sets to 2.

The Polish team defeated Rumania, 3 to 2, and will now leave for England for matches Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Monaco Team Trails.

DUBLIN, May 5 (AP).—G. Lyttleton Rogers and V. Allman Smith gave Ireland a 2-to-1 lead in the Davis Cup contest with Monaco to day by winning the doubles from R. Gallepe and V. Landau, Monaco, 6—1, 6—1, 6—4. The opening singles on Saturday were divided.

NEW JERSEY BOWLERS WIN.

Hudson Chapter First in Banking Group's Telegraphic Tourney.

LOS ANGELES, May 5 (AP).—The Hudson County chapter of the American Institute of Banking from Jersey City, N. J., was declared today to be the winner in the annual national telegraphic bowling tournament, in which thirty-eight teams participated. The winning team score for three games was 3,074. Buffalo, N. Y., was second, and Elizabeth, N. J., third.

WRIGHT LOSES IN LONDON.

American Beaten in English Court Tennis Final by Baerlein.

LONDON, May 5 (AP).—W. C. Wright of Philadelphia was defeated today in the final of the English court tennis championship by E. M. Baerlein, titleholder. Baerlein won the final at the Queens Club by 6—4, 2—6, 6—2, 6—2.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Heavy Break in Stocks, Followed by Sharp Recovery —Wheat at Dollar-Mark.

The initial heavy break and the swift last-hour recovery of yesterday's disordered stock market were a not unfamiliar picture in the culmination of just such forced readjustments as that of the past two weeks. If its incidents were more spectacular than in similar occurrences of other years, that was obviously because of the wholly unprecedented use of credit in present-day professional speculation. Transactions yesterday in the Stock Exchange, 8,200,000 shares, have never been exceeded outside of the four "panic days" of last October; but their utterly abnormal magnitude need hardly have surprised any one who has watched the expansion of a billion dollars in the account of brokers' borrowings during the three months after January—two-thirds as much as the increase in the similar period ending with last September.

Declines in the earlier hours yesterday ran to 10 and 20 points in some of the stocks which had been driven up with particular recklessness by the "pools" in March and April. Apparently what happened in the closing hour was covering on the largest scale by previous professional sellers for the fall; that process being, as usual, accompanied by hurried buying from other quarters. It left the market to close in great confusion, but with numerous stocks which had fallen with the others in the earlier hours ending with a net advance for the day.

With Wall Street in the mood of tense excitement which always accompanies markets of this sort, no news attracted even passing notice except what was happening on the Stock Exchange. Yet the day produced several interesting incidents elsewhere. The Bank of England gave up something more than $7,000,000 gold for export; it was assumed that Paris, which began last week drawing gold again from London, was the consignee. The wheat market fell to the dollar-mark for May delivery. That happened also a year ago, when the closing day of May brought contracts for delivery this month to 93¼ cents; but before 1929, "dollar wheat" had not been touched in May since the Spring of 1914.

Some surprise has been expressed, when the break in stocks reached its pitch of exceptional violence last week, that there was none of the open "intervention" by important capitalists, such as marked the crucial days of last October. For the absence of such protective action, however, the explanation is easy. Last Autumn's panic threatened to strike directly at the credit structure; it was impossible to know from day to day what would happen in that quarter. No situation of the kind has existed on the present occasion. With the army of outside speculators caught in a trap, six months ago, actual panic had been created, and experience had taught the dangers of financial panic. But it is the professional Wall Street speculator, rather than the outside adventurer, who has gone overboard in this month's market.

Behind these two considerations is another—that the extravagant bidding-up of Stock Exchange prices, a month and a half ago, was disapproved by every conservative financier in Wall Street. Probably without exception, it was regarded by them as a demonstration wholly unwarranted by the facts of the situation, and calculated to instill false views into the mind of the community at large. This being so, and the liquidation which inevitably followed having created no possibility of ulterior financial dangers such as seemed to exist in the credit organism of last Autumn, the obvious policy of conservative finance was to leave the stock market to itself. After all our "major panics" of the longer past, the sequence of events invariably was that the "outside public" had to learn its lesson first, but that professional Wall Street had to get some supplementary instruction.

CHRYSLER SHIPMENTS GAIN.

Increase in April Over March and Same Month Year Ago.

Shipments of Chrysler built passenger cars, trucks, buses and commercial vehicles in April totaled 37,527, an increase of 3,711 units or 11 per cent over March, compared with an increase of 9 per cent in April, 1929, over March, 1929. April retail sales of Chrysler Motors products were 32 per cent above sales to the public in March. Field stocks are 39 per cent below the figure for the corresponding period of 1929.

Shipments of cars bearing the Chrysler name were 11,045; of Dodge passenger cars, 10,571; Plymouth, 8,887, and De Soto, 4,541. In the commercial field, Dodge shipped 2,170 trucks and buses and Fargo 313 vehicles. Shipments of Plymouth cars in April were 70 per cent ahead of March, this increase reflecting the Plymouth price reduction which was effective March 10. Shipments of cars of the Chrysler name during April showed gains not only over March but also over April, 1929, the increases being 12 per cent and 3 per cent respectively.

Warner-Quinlan Increases Stock.

Stockholders of the Warner-Quinlan Company approved yesterday a plan to increase the authorized capital stock of the company from the present 1,000,000 shares of no par value to 1,500,000 shares of no par value. Retiring directors and officers were re-elected.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

Stocks fluctuated wildly yesterday in the heaviest trading since last October. Transactions on the Stock Exchange aggregated 8,279,260 shares, and the market machinery was so congested that the ticker continued to print quotations until after 5 o'clock, more than two hours after the close of trading. The market was highly erratic and nervous, but final prices in the case of many active stocks were higher than those at the close on Saturday. There was a vigorous rally in the last half hour which erased wide losses that had been established earlier in the day. Price movements, so far as the more active issues were concerned, were extremely bewildering. The opening was marked by firmness in the general list, indicating that the wide break of Saturday had attracted investment buying. Fresh selling pressure developed before noon, however, and for fully two hours the market passed through a severe reaction. The trend was reversed again at about 2:30 o'clock, and during the last thirty minutes stocks were bid up in lively fashion. The demonstration of strength was most striking in the leading stocks, which had been under pressure earlier.

Important Differences.

Attempts by some frightened souls to draw a parallel between the latest reaction in the stock market and the crash of last Fall met little appreciation yesterday among bankers. To a man the latter asserted that no parallel existed and that the idea of reconvening the celebrated bankers' group that was formed last October had not been remotely considered. The important distinctions which bankers draw between the present situation and that of last Autumn are: Orderly trading now, compared with demoralized trading conditions then; easy money now, compared with tight money then; smaller public participation now than then; lower stock prices, even at the recent highs, than existed prior to the last break; and the fact that last Fall business depression was facing the country, whereas at present the worst of that depression is conceded to have been passed.

Further Ease in Money.

Further adjustment of the money market to the reduction in rediscount rates made last week was evident yesterday in the general lowering of time-money rates. The market for time money was reported active, with considerable business being done in six-month money at 4 per cent. Rates were generally one-quarter of 1 per cent lower than the previous quotations. The bill market is apparently not yet ready to effect a further cut in rates, although a lower yield on acceptances is expected by bankers before the present easing trend of money has run its full course. The Federal Reserve Bank, it is understood, is keeping its bill-buying rate at 2¾ per cent, which is equal to dealers present selling rates. No great volume of bills is being taken to the bank at these prices, it is understood.

Some of the Wide Swings.

At no time in recent months has the market been torn so violently as it was yesterday. Shifting from strength to weakness and then back to strength, the Stock Exchange list acted as if powerful forces were struggling for mastery. The erratic character of the market is indicated by the fluctuations in a few of the leading stocks. United States Steel, for instance, swung between a high of 174 and a low of 166¼, closing at 171¾, with a fractional net gain. There was a difference of nearly 14 points between the high and low marks of Auburn Auto, while Vanadium, a spectacular performer, swung within a range of 22 points, to close with a gain of 2 points. American Can fluctuated within a limit of more than 10 points, closing with a gain of 1⅝ points. American and Foreign Power touched a high of 78½ and a low of 65, closing with a loss of only 2⅞ points.

⁂

An Absence of Hysteria.

Out of the confused picture which the stock market presented yesterday about the only distinct impression that Wall Street gained was that saner conditions were prevailing than at the time of the wide-open break last Autumn. Brokers saw little evidence of hysterical selling, and it appeared to them that the liquidation came more from professional sources than from the outside public. The vigor of the late rally also suggested, it was said, that the market had a cushion in the form of a strong investment demand.

⁂

German Annuities Bonds.

Dispatches from Europe purporting to give the figures for the allotment of the forthcoming issue of reparations bonds in the various markets and stating that a coupon of 6 per cent had been decided on were regarded by bankers here as shrewd guesswork rather than fact. According to these stories, France and the United States are each to take £16,000,000 (about $80,000,000) of the loan, London half as much and other European countries the rest. Guesses on the amount that would be marketed here have undergone some revision since the issue was first talked of. At first the figure was estimated at $50,000,000, then $75,000,000 was suggested, and lately the gossip has fixed upon $100,000,000 as the probable amount. A 6 per cent coupon, which, according to the dispatches, was insisted upon by the Americans over France's demand for a 5½ per cent rate, is generally looked upon here as the likely figure.

⁂

New Rail Equipment Financing.

With the present lull in the offering of new rail mortgages, indication points to a resumption of railroad equipment financing. Two such issues will be marketed this week and the third will follow soon to finance the purchase of new standard equipment under the Philadelphia plan. Several other roads have been considering the advisability of new equipment purchases at this time, according to bankers, and it is likely that a portion of this financing will come in the immediate future. Unlike general railroad financing, issues of equipment trust certificates are sold to the highest bidder, so that decision to market the certificates rests in large part on the railroad management itself since no refunding or replacement of high interest bearing issues with those carrying lower coupons is involved.

The Radio Meeting.

Success of the Radio Corporation's reorganization plan at today's special meeting of stockholders was said yesterday to have been probably clinched by the United States Department of Justice's decision that there was nothing in the project to warrant its interference. The plan calls for the issuance of additional Radio shares to General Electric and Westinghouse in exchange for plant, equipment, rights and other considerations, following which R. C. A. will become a complete self-contained unit, from manufacturing to sales. While the two manufacturing companies together will own a slight majority of voting power following the deal, they are competitors and in effect will have less control over R. C. A. destinies than they had as suppliers of all the latter's apparatus.

MONEY.

Monday, May 5, 1930.

Money market was easier, quotations for term funds and day loans showing fractional decline, although the turnover was only fair, notwithstanding the big supply of money on offer. Stock Exchange call money renewed at 3½ per cent, later dipping to 3, while on the Curb standing loans went at 4 per cent and new money at 3½ later. In time money six months was done freely at 4 per cent and other maturities from thirty days up over a range of 3¼ to 3¾ per cent. Acceptances were quiet and unchanged. Commercial paper in the local market discounted at 3¾ to 4, but outside of New York paper was sold at 3½.

Associated System Electric Output
(Same Properties, Entire Period)

1929 was a Good Year---
but 1930 is Better

ASSOCIATED SYSTEM electric output continues its advance during 1930. Such growth at this time is particularly noteworthy, especially since the 1929 increase was approximately equal to that for the two years 1927 and 1928 combined.

The continuance of new electric output records by the Associated System is made possible by a desirable balancing of residential and commercial with industrial demands. Instead of a concentration subject to the ups and downs of business conditions, the Associated System has a fortunate diversity as indicated by the sources of revenue.

Stability of electric output also is afforded through serving geographically distributed cities such as Rochester, Elmira, Binghamton, Staten Island (New York City), Ithaca, in New York State; Cambridge, New Bedford, Massachusetts; Reading, Easton, Johnstown, Erie, Pennsylvania; Bowling Green, Kentucky; Columbia, South Carolina.

There is, furthermore, a stability inherent in the nature of the electric industry. Producing only for an existing demand, the industry has no period of overproduction followed by a period of marking time. This, plus the advantages enjoyed by the Associated System through the desirable character of the area it serves, contributes to continued growth and to the enhancement of security values.

I'M GOING TO HAVE $50,000
while I'm still young enough to enjoy it

I'm in my early thirties. Several years ago I decided that before I was sixty I would retire and live the way I'd like to. And $50,000 seemed the amount that would do the job.

But $50,000 is a lot of money and I know I couldn't get it in a hurry. I was making $4,000 a year (I'm making $5,000 now). I could save about $500 a year. How was I to get the greatest profits with the least risk? Manhattan real estate seemed to be one of the best kinds of investment. But what could I do in that with as little as $500? I didn't know.

A friend of mine who had bought some French stock told me about the FRENCH PLAN: "It's as simple as this—in New York, the right building in the right place can make a profit. The Fred F. French Companies have been picking sites and building buildings for twenty years, successfully, too. They use your money to build the building—pay you 6% while they're using it—then return your money and give you a share in the profits of the building from then on." This seemed to make good sense. So I bought $500 worth and paid for it at the rate of $50 a month. What's more, I have bought some every year since and I'll continue to as long as I have money to buy it with. I'm agreeably surprised by the rate at which my money is multiplying and as far as I'm concerned, I'm willing to let the FRENCH PLAN help me reach my $50,000 goal.

One thing I like about French stock is the provision for buying $500 worth at a time and paying for it at the rate of $50 a month. This makes my investment a definite obligation and I actually save more money.

An interesting, easily-read booklet explains the FRENCH PLAN. Every careful investor should have a copy. Simply mail this coupon.

GIANNINI, 60 TODAY, QUITS ACTIVE POSTS

Retires as Officer From All His Companies, but Will Head Transamerica Advisory Body.

WILL REMAIN ON BOARDS

Banker Thanks Co-Workers, Stockholders and Press for Aid—To Spend Year in Europe With Wife.

A. P. Giannini of San Francisco, banker and founder of the Transamerica Corporation, the world's largest bank holding company, will celebrate his sixtieth birthday today by retiring as an active officer from all the companies with which he is connected. His intention has been known for some time and he recently turned over the leadership of the Transamerica Corporation, which controls his various enterprises, to Elisha Walker, formerly head of the private banking house of Blair & Co., Inc., which was merged last year with the Giannini-controlled Bank of America.

Tribute to Co-Workers.

In announcing his retirement, Mr. Giannini took occasion to pay tribute to the men who have worked with him for their loyalty, to the stockholders in his enterprises for their cooperation and to the press for its fairness in reporting the events of his career. His statement follows:

"When I turned over the presidency of the Bank of Italy to my successor in 1924, I made the statement then that I would retire as an active officer from all organizations with which I was connected when I reached the age of 60," said Mr. Giannini. "While I shall continue as a director of our various companies and possibly go on the boards of others, as well as serve, without compensation, as chairman of the advisory committee of Transamerica Corporation, I will hold no executive office. I am definitely off the pay roll.

"This is the time, I think, to express my appreciation to our stockholders, our customers, and to the members of the staff of our various organizations—without whose generous and whole-hearted cooperation the success of our undertakings would not have been possible. We have, beyond a doubt, the finest and most loyal group of people in our institutions to be found anywhere in the world.

Thanks Press for Fairness.

"I also want to thank the press for its fairness and courteous treatment. In this conection, I can say that for more than twenty-five years, while I have been engaged in banking and financial activities, I have always found the newspaper men friendly, ready to help, and willing to keep inviolate every confidence I have given them.

"All of the so-called 'Giannini interests' are now vested in Transamerica Corporation, and it is my hope that hereafter they will be known as Transamerica interests and not Giannini interests. The conduct of the affairs of all these companies will be under the direction of Elisha Walker and the other executives associated with him."

Mr. Giannini is in Washington and is expected to testify today before the Committee on Banking and Currency of the House of Representatives in connection with that body's study of group and chain banking. He will leave New York on June 11 on the Mauretania with Mrs. Giannini and their son, V. D. Giannini, for a year's absence abroad.

During the time that Mr. Giannini has been at the head of his many financial enterprises he has never received a salary from more than one corporation at any time, it is said, and he has held office only in those organizations for whose creation he has been responsible.

Storage Deal by Richfield Oil.

Arrangements have been completed between the Richfield Oil Corporation of California and its subsidiary, the Richfield Oil Corporation of New York, and the General American Tank Storage and Terminal Company, whereby large quantities of Richfield aviation gasoline will be stored in the tanks of the latter company at New Orleans, it was announced yesterday.

ADVERTISERS CONFER ON TRENDS OF TRADE

National Association Takes Up Special Problems at French Lick (Ind.) Session.

Special to The New York Times.

FRENCH LICK, Ind., May 5.—The Association of National Advertisers, an organization of about 300 of the leading advertisers of the country, began its semiannual meeting here today.

At the first general session this afternoon, with Stuart Peabody of the Borden Company presiding, Bernard Lichtenberg of Alexander Hamilton Institute, president of the association, spoke on the future of the association.

Other speakers and their subjects were David Lawrence of Washington, D. C., president of The United States Daily, "The Business Outlook"; Amos Parish of Amos Parish & Co., "The Year's Trend in Styles"; Carl M. Bigelow, president of Bigelow, Kent, Willard & Co., "Why Business Needs a Distribution Director," and William D. McAdams, "The New Leadership and Some of the Policies From Which It Will Come."

The forenoon was devoted to group meetings, representing seven branches of business, taking up advertising problems and trade trends.

The topics and section leaders included:

Automotive Supplies and Accessories—H. C. Grimsley of the Indian Refining Company.
Drug Products—G. D. Canaday of Lehn & Fink.
Expert Advertising—Gates Ferguson of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company.
Food Products—Stuart Peabody of the Borden Company.
Household Furnishings—William B. Griffin of the International Silver Company.

Allan Brown of the Bakelite Corporation headed the industrial section and Allan B. McIntyre of the Pepperell Manufacturing Company the textile group.

Dinner Given for Brokers.

Members of the New York Curb Exchange gave a dinner last night in the Hotel Biltmore for Harold Hirschberg and Herman Schwarts, who recently purchased seats on the New York Stock Exchange. William S. Muller, president of the Curb Exchange, presided, and Eugene R. Tappen, secretary, was toastmaster. After the dinner, sets of dress studs were presented to Mr. Hirschberg and Mr. Schwarts.

FINANCIAL DAILIES NEGOTIATE MERGER

Wall Street Journal in Deal for Purchase of The Wall Street News.

TICKERS NOT INVOLVED

Services of News Bureau and of Dow, Jones & Co. Will Continue Competitive.

Negotiations looking to a merger of two of the largest financial publications through the purchase of The Wall Street News by The Wall Street Journal, which is published by Dow, Jones & Co., are being carried on, it was announced yesterday. If the acquisition is effected, The Wall Street News probably will go out of existence.

Kenneth C. Hogate, vice president and general manager of Dow, Jones & Co., and Melvin J. Woodworth, president of the New York News Bureau Association, which publishes The Wall Street News, said the purchase of the latter paper would not affect the financial news ticker service of the New York News Bureau in New York City. The service, they said, would be maintained as heretofore and under the same management and ownership. Outside of New York City the wire system might be rearranged and some small cities might be eliminated. The news ticker services of Dow, Jones & Co. and of the New York News Bureau will remain competitive.

The news staff of The Wall Street News will not be affected by the purchase, Mr. Hogate said, since operation of the ticker service would make this personnel necessary.

The reason for the acquisition, Mr. Hogate said, was the feeling that there was not a large enough field for two conservative financial papers in New York.

The Wall Street News has a paid circulation of more than 17,000, while The Wall Street Journal has a circulation of more than 51,000.

The publications are among the oldest in the financial district, the Journal having been founded in 1882, while the News was founded in 1893. Originally The Wall Street News was known as The Wall Street Summary. Later the name was changed to The Daily Financial American. In 1925, a year after Mr. Woodworth obtained control of the paper, it assumed its present name. It had a circulation of 2,200 in 1924.

Among The Wall Street Journal's founders were C. H. Dow, C. M. Bergstresser and Thomas F. Woodlock. In 1901 Clarence W. Barron bought the paper. His daughter, Jane W. W. Bancroft, and his son-in-law, Hugh Bancroft, are reported to be the largest stockholders in Dow, Jones & Co.

Mr. Hogate said yesterday that Dow, Jones & Co. looked upon extension of their publications into the Chicago field as a logical development. Expansion of the company to the Pacific Coast was completed last year.

Biscuit Deal Nears Completion.

Acquisition of the Pacific Coast Biscuit Company by the National Biscuit Company, which was under negotiation about two weeks ago, was reported yesterday to be nearing completion. Frederick Beers, president of National Biscuit, declared recently, after inspecting the properties of the Pacific Coast company, that the negotiations were in an advanced stage.

SPARTANBURG COUNTY, SOUTH CAROLINA

4½% GOLD BONDS

Dated May 1, 1930 Due May 1, 1931-1950

Principal and semi-annual interest (May and November 1st) payable in gold at New York.
Coupon bonds, denomination $1,000, registerable as to principal.

Spartanburg County (population, 1920 Census, 94,265 and now estimated to be 112,000) located in the northwestern part of South Carolina in the famous Piedmont section, is one of the leading counties in the State. Its net bonded debt, $4,882,859, is less than 2½% of the estimated actual value of taxable property, $200,000,000. The 1929 assessed valuation, $37,255,981, is less than 20% of the actual valuation; counties and cities in South Carolina making it a practice to maintain a low ratio of assessed values so as to avoid disproportionate contributions to the State.

These bonds are direct obligations of the entire county, payable from unlimited ad valorem taxes levied on all the taxable property therein.

Legal opinion of Messrs. Reed, Hoyt & Washburn.

North American Car Equipment Trust

5% Equipment Trust Gold Certificates, Series "M"

Principal and dividends to be unconditionally guaranteed by endorsement by the NORTH AMERICAN CAR CORPORATION

To be issued under the Philadelphia Plan

GIRARD TRUST COMPANY, PHILADELPHIA, Trustee

To be dated May 15, 1930. Principal to be payable semi-annually in serial instalments of $76,000 each from November 15, 1930 to May 15, 1935 both inclusive, and $77,000 each from November 15, 1935 to May 15, 1945, both inclusive. Payable to bearer (with optional registration as to principal) in denomination of $1,000. At the option of the North American Car Corporation, certificates are to be redeemable on any dividend date at 101% of their face amount and accrued dividends, in accordance with the terms of the Lease and Agreement. Both principal and dividends are to be paid without deduction of normal Federal income tax not in excess of 2% per annum.

The North American Car Corporation agrees to reimburse to the holders of these certificates the Pennsylvania State Tax (not to exceed 4 mills annually) upon application as set forth in the agreement.

Mr. Erwin R. Brigham, President of the North American Car Corporation, has written us a letter covering the issuance of these certificates, from which we summarize as follows:

These certificates are to be secured through assignment to the Trustee of title to the following equipment:

100	new steel underframe brine tank beef refrigerator cars
75	new all-steel insulated asphalt tank cars
50	new all-steel 8,000 gal. capacity 3-compartment tank cars
15	new steel undeframe combination refrigerator and poultry cars
899	steel underframe poultry cars

The American Appraisal Company has currently certified that these cars have a total sound value of in excess of $3,137,616.58 or more than 136% of the face value of the certificates to be issued.

Pending the transfer of title to these cars, cash to the full face amount of the Certificates will be deposited with the Trustee to be withdrawn as cars are delivered.

The North American Car Company commenced business in 1908 and on February 1, 1926, all the assets owned by it were acquired by the North American Car Corporation which has become one of the largest lessors of privately owned railroad equipment in the United States.

There are no mortgages or encumbrances on any of the Corporation's plants or real estate, the only funded indebtedness of the Corporation consisting of Equipment Trust obligations.

Messrs. Arthur Young & Company, Certified Public Accountants, have certified that the net earnings of the Corporation for the years ending January 31, 1927 and 1928 and for the eleven months ended December 31, 1928 and for the year ending December 31, 1929, available for fixed charges, depreciation and taxes were:

January 31, 1927	January 31, 1928	11 months to December 31, 1928	December 31, 1929

The earnings for the year 1929, after all charges including Federal Tax and preferred dividends, represent $5.48 per share on the average number of shares of Common Stock outstanding during the year.

We offer these Certificates subject to issuance as planned, and subject to the approval of the issue by counsel, and to prior sale. It is expected that temporary or definitive certificates will be delivered on or about May 15, 1930.

Why have CITIES SERVICE earnings been depression-proof?

THE 86% increase in earnings net to common stock and reserves shown by Cities Service for the first quarter was the result of definite underlying factors.

These factors are still at work and as a result the earnings of Cities Service Company should continue to multiply irrespective of any normal business trend.

We have prepared a special new bulletin on Cities Service Company which points out some of the reasons why Cities Service has been a "depression-proof" company.

BARING OF HOLDINGS BY TRUSTS IS URGED

SEEN AS HELPING PUBLIC

Answers by 250 Investment Organizations to Questionnaires Are Expected Soon.

The belief that all investment trusts should make periodical public announcements of the stocks held in their portfolios was expressed yesterday by Watson Washburn, Assistant Attorney General, in discussing the investigation that he is making into 250 investment trusts in this State. He expects to have received his replies in ten days or two weeks.

Many of those connected with the operation and management of the trusts, commenting on the investigation, expressed a belief that the move would be for the general good of the investment trust business, as well as for the public, which Mr. Washburn is seeking to protect. They said they would be glad to give the Attorney General's office all the assistance at their command. Some few, however, doubted whether much pertinent information could be obtained, though they admitted benefits would result, if any great amount of definite information could be found either on the good or the bad side.

Regarding publication of the holdings of investment trusts, Mr. Washburn said he was inclined to favor such publicity four times a year. He modified his proposal, however, to the extent that full publicity regarding the acquisition or disposal of stocks in process at the publicity date would not be necessary because it might endanger the success, for the public, of the move.

Opinion on Plan Varies.

In relation to this suggestion, investment trust executives expressed varying opinions. For those listed on the Stock Exchange this would be no innovation, as the Exchange already makes a demand for annual publicity.

A general opinion, however, was that publication every three months would be too often, either for the good of the public or for that of the trust. It was pointed out that many investment trusts work in close harmony with the companies whose securities they own, to the extent that they may examine all phases of a company's condition before buying.

To have received permission to make full examination of a company before purchasing its stock, and then to have it announced to that company two months later that the holdings acquired had been disposed of, might militate against the advance of this harmony between industry and the trusts, it is pointed out.

It was asserted also that publication of a portfolio every three months might cause considerable uneasiness in the minds of the uninitiated public, which might become alarmed at discovering that a trust that owned a large block of stock three months before had disposed of the stock. The tendency might be, it was said, for the public to think something was radically wrong with the issue, while in most cases, it is pointed out, the change would have been made merely because a more promising issue had been discovered.

Trust Managers Become Trustees.

Mr. Washburn said he believed that if the managers of a trust owned control of their company through ownership of a quantity of voting stock and had issued large blocks of another issue of their stock to the public, they were in the position of trustees, and were responsible as such. No court has ever ruled that specifically, he said, but he was of the opinion that he would be sustained in such a contention.

The stockholder is safer, so far as legal resource goes, if he can hold the officers as trustees of the company, rather than if he participates in electing them through a voting stock, in Mr. Washburn's belief.

Mr. Washburn intends to extend his investigation to the personal financial dealings of the managers of trusts. If a trust that shows a large loss from operations pleads bad luck, he said, there is not much to be done. But of there is evidence that the managers were selling their personal holdings and not disposing of similar holdings in the trust portfolio when a large part of the loss was incurred it would be an evidence of malpractice, he added.

The Assistant Attorney General explained that his investigation was to find whether certain trusts investigated two years ago had discontinued practices he considered in bad faith to the public and to investigate certain complaints, of which he had received about 200.

Sees Hope for Association of Trusts.

C. Shelby Carter, vice president of the All-America General Corporation and a sponsor of a movement to establish an association of investment trusts, said the investigation should further the formation of such a group.

"Such an association," he said, "should be of great assistance to the State authorities not only in furnishing information on the commonly accepted code of ethics, in the light of which complaints may be judged, but also to facilitate cooperation between the authorities and trust managers throughout the country.

"The broadcasting of the Attorney General's questionnaire and the implication which it is likely to leave with some element of the investing public emphasize the need of an association of investment trusts. For some time I have been sounding out sentiment and the responses encourage the belief that in the not distant future the idea will be carried out."

SCHWAB AIDED DEAL, SAYS EATON COUNSEL

Witness Declares He Heard That Bethlehem Chairman Influenced Sale of One Block of Stock.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 5.—The links of evidence which attorneys for Cyrus S. Eaton, fighting the merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and Bethlehem Steel Corporation, are attempting to forge was further strengthened today when Elton Hoyt 2d, a partner in Pickands, Mather & Co., admitted that he had heard that Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem board, had influenced the sale of 5,422 shares of Sheet and Tube stock in order to have it voted in favor of the merger.

Mr. Hoyt's testimony was taken in a deposition hearing.

Harry J. Crawford of counsel for Mr. Eaton asked:

"Mr. Schwab had something to do with the purchase of some stocks in Pittsburgh, didn't he?"

"I know nothing about it, except what I noticed in the newspapers," Mr. Hoyt replied.

"Didn't Mr. Schwab go to visit Julian Kennedy in Pittsburgh?" Mr. Crawford asked.

"I heard that in Youngstown," was the reply.

The Julian Kennedy purported to have been visited by Mr. Schwab and an agent of the Pickands, Mather Company buying stock to be voted in favor of the merger, is one of the most widely known steel engineers in the country. He and Mr. Schwab were boys together in the old Carnegie Steel Company, and the Eaton attorneys allege that Mr. Schwab went to Pittsburgh to persuade him to sell his stock after he had declined to sell it to others favoring the merger.

The Kennedy stock, comprising 5,422 shares, was sold to Pickands, Mather & Co., according to the Eaton attorneys, at $180 a share, considerably above the market price.

Special to The New York Times.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May 5.—Directors of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company meeting today to discuss disposition of dissenting stock in the merger with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, adjourned without any public announcement. Directors now on the board will continue for the one-year terms to which they were elected, it was indicated. Cyrus S. Eaton, leader of the dissenting forces in the merger, left for Cleveland without making any announcement.

It was indicated tonight at the Sheet and Tube offices that dissenting stock is provided for in Section 8,623-72 of the Ohio General Code, which has never been in court and has therefore never been interpreted.

The meeting was called to decide on the issuance of temporary certificates to stockholders dissenting from the Bethlehem merger. Sheet and Tube officials maintain that two classes of stock should be established—assenting common, entitled to receive one and one-third shares of Bethlehem common, and the dissenting stock, the owners of which have asked for a fair cash value.

★BOARD ROOM FOR WOMEN CUSTOMERS

AS ONE EXPANDS SO DOES THE OTHER!

The United States has risen in fifteen short years to first place in export trade. It now leads its nearest competitor by more than 28 per cent. This foreign activity cannot abate . . . it must increase . . . because American industry must export approximately 20 per cent of its production to keep home lathes, spindles and furnaces on full schedules.

Paralleling the growth of our vast export trade, now approximately $5,000,000,000, is the famous transatlantic fleet of the United States Lines. One is interwoven with the other. As American sales ingenuity penetrates farther, ship booms swing even huger tonnages into the holds of American ships.

Now under able private management . . . fostered by favorable legislative enactments . . . a success now, and a greater one in the future . . . United States Lines, Inc., is in an impregnable position . . . and its Participating Preference Stock is an attractive investment for you.

MARKETS IN LONDON, PARIS AND BERLIN

FRENCH STOCKS TUMBLE

Prices React Violently on New York Advices—Advance by Lorenz Features German Boerse.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—As a result of the influence of heavy week-end advices from New York, the stock markets opened the week with a generally dull tone. Even in British funds the tendency was to react owing to profit-taking following the resumption of gold withdrawals. The 5 per cent war loan declined to £101 11-16 and the 3½ per cent conversion loan sold at £78⅝.

The Gramophone group was weak, owing to the heavy American decline. Columbia Graphophone was only £5 19-32 and His Master's Voice Gramophone £5 15-16. Other internationals were marked down, International Nickel to $33⅝, Hydroelectric to $44⅛, International Holding to $6, Brazilian Traction to $46, Associated Electric to 26s 9d and General Electric to 45s 9d.

White Star preference lost 1s, declining to 11s in shippings, but Peninsular and Orient at 48s improved. The White Star report and balance sheet for 1929 will be published Wednesday or Thursday.

Prices were lowest in oil shares, Royal Dutch declining to £32⅞, Shell Transport to 94s ½d and V. O. C. to 56s 10½d. Minings were depressed, except for Rhodesians, where American buying was responsible for improved quotations, but there was a tendency to react after midday. Tin shares lost further ground, owing to the metal's dubious position, falling 30s a ton to £148 16s 3d.

Conditions remained easy in Lombard Street. Short loans were ample at 1½ per cent. Discount rates were inclined to harden on the announcement of further large gold withdrawals from the Bank of England on the account of France. Sterling on New York advanced to $4.86⅛-[illegible] 5 32.

Sharp Decline in Paris.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 5.—The Wall Street break at the week-end reacted severely on the Bourse today, prices crashing all along the line upon receipt of New York advices. Heavy selling characterized the session, speculators rushing to take profits before it was too late. Operators regard the reaction as out of proportion to the causes which influenced it, although it has long been apparent that the Paris Exchange is acutely sensitive to movements in New York.

Nearly everything dropped with today's downward movement and then French electrical and metal stocks, until recently exceptionally firm, participated in the decline. French banks also were weak, the Bank of France falling off 480 francs.

French rentes were off, although the 3 per cents were fairly firm at 87.10. The 1918 4s were 99.50; the 1920 amortizable 5s, 132.05; 1928 5s, 102; 1920 6s, 104.65, and the 1927 amortizable 6s, 104.30.

Trend Downward in Berlin.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 5.—The remarkable firmness of Lorenz shares, which again jumped 13 points, was the only outstanding factor of today's session of the Boerse, which otherwise was very dull, although no great change in prices took place. The weakness of the New York and London Stock Exchanges, on the one hand, and lack of purchasing orders by speculators and private investors, who turned completely to rentes, on the other, had a depressing effect.

The mining group, electricals, primarily Siemens, chemicals, the potash group, artificial silks and shipping stocks all were slightly weaker. A few other issues, including Hirsch Kuanfer, German Telephone and Cable and Aschaffenburger Zellstoff profited by the Lorenz boom, improving several points.

To Acquire Harvest Gas and Oil.

The National Fuel Gas Company, successor to the Natural Gas Trust, controlled by the old Standard Oil Company prior to its dissolution in 1911, is planning to acquire, through the Iroquois Gas Corporation of Buffalo, a subsidiary, the Harvest Gas and Oil Company of Orchard Park, N. Y. The principal stockholders of National Fuel Gas are former holders or heirs of former holders of old Standard Oil stock.

SOUTHERN PIPE LINE SALE.

Columbia Unit's $506,391 Acquisition to Be Used for Natural Gas.

The Southern Pipe Line Company has sold for $506,391 part of its system to the Manufacturers' Light and Heat Company, Columbia Gas and Electric subsidiary, as of May 1, with approval of the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania. Directors of Southern Pipe Line will meet before June 30 to consider another payment to stockholders from the capital stock reduction account.

The lines involved run from the West Virginia-Pennsylvania State line to Milway, Pa., with an unused part between Matthews Farm and Philadelphia and a branch line to Bramell Point, N. J. The pipe lines have been prepared for natural gas transmission.

Utility Bond Issue Proposed.

The Coast Counties Gas and Electric Company has applied to the California Public Service Commission for permission to issue $4,000,000 in first mortgage bonds. The proceeds are to be used to finance additions and betterments and to retire bonds of subsidiaries, including $126,000 of the San Benito Light and Power Company and $208,100 of the Contra Costa Gas Company. Additions and betterments of $1,558,055 have been made and the company proposes extensions of $1,224,395.

BONDS LOSE GROUND ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Domestic Issues Off and Many Convertibles Finish Lower, Despite Late Stock Rally.

GOVERNMENT GROUP WEAK

Losses of 1-32 to 15-32 Shown in Light Trading—Foreign Loans Quiet, Prices Down Moderately.

The listed bond market yesterday lost some of the ground gained toward the close of last week. Domestic bonds on the Stock Exchange were appreciably lower and the late rally in stocks failed to save many of the convertible bond issues from finishing with losses for the day. Foreign loans were moderately lower in quiet trading.

Easy money failed to aid United States Government bond prices, which closed 1/32 to 15/32 point lower with the Treasury 4¼s sustaining the major decline. Light trading was again the order of the day in government securities with most of the transactions centring in the Fourth Liberty 4¼s.

In the convertible list, Parmelee 6s fell 5 points, General Theatres Equipment 6s, 3¼ points, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe 4½s, 1½ points, Chicago & North Western 4¾s, a point, and Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron 6s the same amount. Warner Brothers Pictures convertible 6s touched a new low for 1930 at 104 but closed at 106, off half a point. Fractional losses were sustained by Baltimore & Ohio convertible 4½s, which touched a new low at 100¼, and by Commercial Investment Turst 6s, American Telephone and Telegraph convertible 4½s of 1939 moved up 1¼ points and International Telephone and Telegraph 4½s of 1939, ¼ point.

High grade railroad, public utility and industrial mortgage issues were irregular at the close, but in most instances the net changes for the day were fractional.

In the foreign list, the heaviest traded issues were Royal Dutch 4s, with warrants, and Kreuger and Toll 5s, both of which issues finished fractionally off. French Government and municipal loans held firm. South American issues were slightly lower, on the average, for the day.

BOND FLOTATIONS.

North American Car Equipment.

Offering of a new issue of $2,300,000 North American Car Equipment trust 5 per cent certificates, Series M, due from Nov. 15, 1930, to May 15, 1945, will be made today by Freeman & Co. and Blyth & Co., Inc., priced to yield 4 to 5.30 per cent. The issue will be guaranteed unconditionally by the North American Car Corporation.

The certificates, which are issued under the Philadelphia plan, will be secured by 100 new steel underframe brine tank beef refrigerator cars, 75 new all-steel insulated asphalt tank cars, 50 new all-steel 8,000-gallon capacity 3-compartment tank cars, 15 new steel underframe combination refrigerator and poultry cars, and 899 steel underframe poultry cars. The value of the cars is estimated at $3,137,616, or more than 136 per cent of the face value of the certificates.

Graham Hotel Company.

A new issue of $100,000 Graham Hotel Company (Pecos, Texas) first mortgage 7 per cent bonds, due March 15, 1932 to 1941, will be marketed today at par by Brandon & Co. The issue will be secured by a first closed mortgage at less than 50 per cent of the estimated value of a new eighty-room hotel, and will constitute the only mortgage or lien against the property. Net revenues from operations for 1929 were $38,320 or five and one-half times the annual bonds interest charges of $7,000.

ANTWERP DISCUSSES LOAN.

National City Company Reports Negotiations for $12,000,000.

Cable reports received here yesterday that Antwerp, Belgium, had completed negotiations for a loan of about $16,000,000 from an American banking group, consisting of thirty-year 5½s, priced at 91, were not confirmed in Wall Street. At the offices of the National City Company it was said the loan at these terms had not been signed by that company but that the amount under discussion was $12,000,000, maturing in thirty years and carrying a 5 per cent interest rate.

The decision of the city of Antwerp to market a loan here is believed to be due to the fact that the recent loan for the city of Brussels, which was offered by a Belgian banking group, was not fully subscribed, according to cabled reports.

NEW STOCK ISSUE.

Standard American Shares.

Initial financing for Standard American Shares, a fixed trust, will be carried out today by the offering of shares by the National Republic Company and Lawrence Stern & Co. of Chicago. The new trust has a portfolio of twenty-five common stocks which are held by the Chicago Trust Company as trustee, assembled in units representing, at current market prices, about $5,000. Each trust share will represent 1/500 interest in a unit.

The price at which the shares will be offered by the bankers will vary from day to day in accordance with the fluctuations in the prices of the stocks held by the trust. Under the terms of offering the holder of 500 shares or more may surrender his certificate and withdraw the underlying stocks at any time, and the holder of less than 500 shares may receive cash from the trustee, based on the prevailing market quotations.

EXCURSIONS ON P. R. R.

Low-Priced Week-End Trips to Middle Western Points to Begin May 17

Institution of low-priced week-end excursions between New York and Middle Western points to start on May 17 was announced yesterday by the Pennsylvania Railroad. One of the excursions will run from New York to Celeveland and return for $12, and the other from New York to Toledo, Ohio, and Detroit, Mich., and return for $14. These excursions will mark the first resumption of such service by trunk lines since the World War.

The Northern Pacific Railway announced yesterday that the Summer tourist rates over its lines going west will become effective on May 15. Eastbound Summer rates will go into effect on May 22.

New Bonds for $3,410,000 On Investment Lists Today

Real estate	100,000

MUNICIPAL LOANS.

Offerings of New Bond Issues to Bankers and the Public Announced.

Tacoma, Wash.

Award of a new issue of $3,350,000 city of Tacoma (Wash.) electric light and power bonds, due from 1934 to 1951, has been made at a price of 96.11 for the issue as 4¾s. It went to a syndicate composed of the Bancamerica-Blair Corporation, Eldredge & Co., B. J. Van Ingen & Co., Stranahan, Harris & Oatis, Inc.; Ferris & Hargrove of Seattle, Dean Witter & Co. and a group of Seattle investment houses comprising George H. Burr, Conrad & Broome, the Pacific National Company and the Marine National Company.

The same syndicate also put in an alternate bid of 97.71 for the bonds as 5s. The second highest bidder was a group headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., which named a price of 97.35 for 5s. The bankers plan to reoffer the bonds this week.

Hudson River District.

The Hudson River Regulating District, a subdivision of the State of New York, created in 1922 to regulate the flow of the Hudson above Albany, has set June 3 as the date of opening bids on a new issue of $2,970,000 of bonds on which bidders are required to name the rate of interest at not to exceed 5 per cent. This financing will complete the initial authorization of $9,000,000 for the construction of the Sacandaga Reservoir on the Sacandaga River in Saratoga, Fulton and Hamilton Counties.

The cost of this reservoir has been assessed against municipalities, corporations and individuals benefited, including the cities of Albany, Troy, Rensselaer and Watervliet, the Adirondack Power and Light Corporation, now the New York Power and Light Corporation; the International Paper Company and the Union Bag and Paper Corporation.

Spartanburg County, S. C.

Offering of a new issue of $660,000 Spartanburg County (S. C.) 4½ per cent bonds, maturing serially on May 1, 1931 to 1950, will be made today by C. F. Childs & Co., Inc. The bonds will be priced to yield 4.10 to 4.45 per cent. The assessed valuation of the county for 1929 was $37,255,961, and the net bonded debt $4,882,859.

Red Bank, N. J.

Red Bank, N. J., will be in the market on May 19 with a new issue of $521,000 various improvement bonds, due serially on June 1, 1931 to 1951. Bidders are requested to stipulate the rate of interest at not to exceed 5 per cent.

Long Beach, N. Y.

Long Beach, N. Y., plans to market on May 13 a new issue of $250,000 of water bonds, Series G, due on May 1, 1931 to 1960. The interest rate to be named by the bidders is limited to 6 per cent.

Saint Joseph, Mo.

Offering of a new issue of $350,000 City of St. Joseph (Mo.) 5½ per cent municipal trust ownership certificates, due on March 1, 1939, will be made today at par by Herbert C. Heller & Co., Inc. The certificates are secured by a deposit of special tax bills of the city issued to defray the cost of paving and resurfacing of streets. The city reports an assessed valuation of $81,419,250 for 1927 and a net bonded debt of $4,274,227.

More I. R. T. Certificate Deposits.

A total of 102,059 certificates of deposit for Interborough Rapid Transit shares or voting trust certificates have been listed on the New York Stock Exchange by the stockholders' committee headed by Gerhard M. Dahl, chairman of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation. There are 350,000 shares or voting trust certificates outstanding.

COPPER CUT TO 13C, LOWEST SINCE 1927

Second Reduction in Month to Domestic Users—Stocks Accumulating Rapidly.

HOPE TO INCREASE DEMAND

Producers Are Expected to Lower Export Figure Today—Copper Shares Decline.

The second reduction in the price of copper within a month took place yesterday, when several leading domestic producers of electrolytic copper cut their quotations to 13 cents a pound, delivered in the Connecticut valley. This is the lowest price established in this country since 1927, when copper touched 12⅝ cents.

After holding copper at 18 cents for a year, producers cut quotations on April 15, when a new domestic price of 14 cents and an export price of 14.30 were established. The reduction of 4 cents a pound resulted temporarily in larger foreign business, but domestic business remained dull throughout April.

With stocks of copper continuing to accumulate, yesterday's cut became necessary. Producers declared they were hopeful that the reduction would stimulate orders from American utility companies and other large users. If the 13-cent level does not result in heavier sales, lower quotations will be inevitable, the producers declared.

Reduction Only on Domestic Sales.

Yesterday's price cutting was confined to domestic users. No action was taken by the Copper Export Association, which fixes the price of copper for export. It was learned, however, that the export price will be lowered to 13 cents today.

At the new level several high-cost producing companies which made large profits on 18-cent copper will find their earnings reduced to the vanishing point. Several large units have an average production cost of close to 11 cents a pound and the mining activities of these companies are expected to be sharply curtailed.

Copper shares yesterday hit the lowest prices in more than two years. Although no announcement was made of the reduction until after the market closed, the copper issues were weak throughout the session. When the general list rallied at the close the copper issues failed to take part in the advance and closed at the lowest prices of the day. Among the closing prices were Anaconda, 55¾, off 1⅞; Kennecott, 42⅝, off 1⅝; Phelps Dodge, 35, off 1½, and Granby, 28, off 2.

Demand for Copper Is Slow.

Copper producers say the curtailment of business activity has cut down the demand for the metal, and production statistics for April, which will be announced soon, are expected to show another increase in stocks. At the end of March stocks of copper amounted to 522,681 short tons, or approximately twice the total at the end of March, 1929.

If general business conditions should show substantial improvement, the price of copper will remain at 13 cents, producers declared. If improvement fails to materialize soon, however, a 12-cent level for copper is a distinct possibility.

Owing to absence of domestic demand for copper since the last reduction, Wall Street was not surprised by yesterday's cut. For two weeks there had been insistent rumors that the export association would cut prices to 13 cents or lower. The 14-cent level did not attract buying in a large volume.

The domestic price of 13 cents a pound compares with a high level of 24 cents a pound in 1929, and a low price of 16.8 cents last year. In 1928 the low price was 14⅛ cents and the average 15 cents; in 1927, 12⅝ and 13¼ cents, respectively; in 1926, 13½ and 14 cents. In 1925, the low price was 13⅜ cents.

Tre reduction is expected to result in wage cuts of miners in Montana, Arizona and other sections. The last cut of 14 cents a pound was followed by several slashes of wages.

New York Ice Machinery Orders.

The New York Ice Machinery Company has received two orders totaling nearly $1,500,000, it was announced yesterday. One is from the United Fruit Corporation for equipment for boats being built at Newport News, Va., and Fall River, Mass., and the other is from the Anglo-Chilian Nitrate Corporation for delivery to its plants in Chile.

CORPORATION REPORTS

Consolidated Cigar.

The Consolidated Cigar Corporation and subsidiaries report for the three months ended on March 31, a net profit of $497,473 after interest, depreciation and Federal taxes, equivalent after dividend requirements on 6½ per cent prior preferred and 7 per cent preferred stock, to $1.07 a share on 250,000 no par shares of common stock. This compares with $668,924 or $1.72 a share in the first three months of 1929.

United Business Publishers.

United Business Publishers, Inc., reports consolidated income before interest and taxes of $326,016 for the first three months of this year, against $332,249 for the corresponding three months of 1929. Net income available for dividends amounted to $210,382 for the first quarter against $193,446 for the first quarter of 1929, equivalent, after deducting preferred dividends, to approximately 79 cents and 77 cents a share, respectively, on the 150,000 shares of common stock outstanding.

United-Carr Fastener.

The United-Carr Fastener Corporation reports for the three months ended on March 31, after depreciation, taxes and debenture interest, a net loss of $20,852. Cost of rearranging the manufacturing departments to coordinate the production of the merged company has been incurred for the most part in this period and charged entirely to current operations. The consolidated balance sheet as of March 31, shows $1,775,770 current assets and $211,916 current liabilities.

Cuban Tobacco Company.

The report of the Cuban Tobacco Company, Inc., and subsidiaries for 1929 shows net profit of $558,335 after taxes, interest and minority stockholders' dividends and their proportion of undistributed net earnings of subsidiary companies, equivalent after 5 per cent preferred dividends to $3.01 a share on 166,829 no par shares of common stock. This compares with $401,277 or $2.07 a share on common in 1928.

Pullman, Inc.

Pullman, Inc., and subsidiaries report for the three months ended on March 31, a net income of $4,522,860 after depreciation, charges and Federal taxes, equivalent to $1.34 a share on the 3,375,000 no par shares of stock outstanding prior to the issue of the 500,000 shares in connection with the acquisition of the Osgood-Bradley Car and Standard Steel Car Companies. Giving effect to those shares, earnings during the quarter were equivalent to $1.16 a share on the stock now outstanding. This compares with $3,638,785 or $1.08 a share in first quarter of 1929.

Royal Typewriter.

The Royal Typewriter Company, Inc., reports for the first quarter of this year net profit of $427,580 after depreciation, interest and Federal taxes, equivalent after dividend requirements on 7 per cent preferred stock to $1.34 a share on 268,618 no par shares of common stock, comparing with $454,831 or $1.44 a share on the common, in the first quarter of 1929.

United Carbon.

The United Carbon Company reports for the three months ended on March 31, net profit of $263,300 after depreciation, depletion and Federal taxes, equivalent under the participating provisions of the shares, to $3.82 a share on 21,069 shares, par $100, of participating preferred stock outstanding at end of quarter and 46 cents a share on 393,073 no par shares of common stock. This compares with $235,369 or $2.15 a share, on 27,055 shares of preferred stock and 44 cents a share on 393,073 common shares in preceding quarter and $412,886, or $5.12 a share, on 53,631 shares of preferred and 64 cents a share on 212,564 common shares in the first quarter of 1929.

Canada Dry Ginger Ale.

Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc., reports for the first quarter of this year net profits of $447,898 after depreciation, Federal taxes, and other charges, equivalent to 88 cents a share on $510,684 no par shares of stock. This compares with $591,739 or $1.16 a share on 508,858 shares in the first quarter of 1929. For six months ended March 31, net profit was $1,198,734 after depreciation, Federal taxes and other charges, equivalent to $2.35 a share on 510,684 shares of stock, against $1,290,866 or $2.53 a share on 508,858 shares of stock in the corresponding period of 1929.

Newport Company.

The Newport Company subsidiaries report for the first three months of this year net earnings of $426,017 after depreciation, all reserves and taxes. After deducting dividend requirements on the class A convertible stock outstanding March 31, the earnings are equivalent to 82 cents a share on the common stock then outstanding.

American Writing Paper.

The American Writing Paper Company, Inc., for the first three months of 1930 showed earnings after interest, depreciation and Federal taxes, of $127,414 against $71,571 for the same period of last year. The earnings this year are equivalent to $1.42 a share on the outstanding preferred stock, against 80 cents a share earned during the same quarter of last year.

Mexican Seaboard Oil.

The report of the Mexican Seaboard Oil Company and subsidiaries, including Cia Internacional de Petroleo y Oleoductus, S. A., for 1929, shows combined net loss of $28,850 after interest, depreciation, drilling expenditures written off and depletion of active leases and other charges. In 1928 the company reported net loss of $1,332,906, excluding net loss of $42,594 reported by Cie Internacional de Petroleo y Oleoductos, S. A.

Eastern Steamship Lines.

Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., reports a deficit for March of $24,644 after charges, against net profit of $1,603 in March, 1929. Deficit after charges for the first three months of 1930 totaled $168,172, compared with deficit of $116,209 in the same period of the preceding year.

Houston Oil.

The Houston Oil Company of Texas and the Houston Pipe Line Company report for the three months ended March 31 consolidated net income of $523,249 after interest, depreciation, depletion, abandoned leases, Federal taxes and other charges, equivalent after dividend requirements on $8,947,600 6 per cent preferred stock, to $1.55 a share on 249,686 shares of common stock. Man and Method

MAN is the human element in business—its soul and its brain.

Method is the orderly regulation of human effort. Without soul and brain all effort is mechanical. Until man found his soul and began to use his brain with definite purpose, business did not exist. Nor until the growth of business made an orderly regulation of effort necessary did method exist. Success, the attainment of a definite purpose, came with the introduction of method. The development of method made business a science. And the science of business, like any other science, is simply the knowledge and understanding of facts and figures, co-ordinated, arranged, systemized for practical timely use.

To this end, and for this purpose, Modern Accountancy was conceived and developed.

An Income Opportunity

An Omaha manufacturing company which has been steadily increasing its output needs additional capital.

Officers of the company advise us that sales for the first quarter increased 30% above the same period of 1929, and that unfilled orders have been increased 400%. The company makes an old established product of international distribution with limited competition.

A person with $75,000, or one who can interest a small syndicate with $75,000, can purchase a half interest in common stock and become associated with this company.

The investment need not be in one sum, but should be available in three installments of six months apart.

Please write for further particulars.

WHEELING CONTROL ASKED BY WABASH

Transfer Is in Line With I. C. C. Consolidation Plan, Railroad's Petition States.

PLEA MAY BE CONTESTED

Van Sweringens and Pittsburgh & West Virginia Are Interested in the Much-Traded Road.

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP).—The Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad, which already holds the all-time record among first-class American carriers for quick and repeated shifting of its ownership, again was tentatively placed on the selling block by an application made today to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

This time it was the Wabash Railroad which filed a demand for authorization to take over the Wheeling control, and by so doing maintained the status of the Wheeling as a bone of contention between powerful railroad interests in Eastern territory bent on carrying out conflicting schemes of expansion.

This rôle for the Wheeling line was assumed early in 1927 when its stock began a remarkable price ascension on the New York Exchange, after lying dormant for years, with its majority shares in possession of the Rockefeller interests. A badly squeezed group of traders eventually learned that the untoward rise had signaled the determination of an unsuspected contest between O. P. Van Sweringen and the interests in control of the Pittsburgh & West Virginia to control the Wheeling.

Mr. Van Sweringen won, it appeared, by a purchase of the Rockefeller stock, only to resell the property almost immediately, one-third of the controlling shares being placed with each of three trunk lines, the Nickel Plate, New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio systems.

Control Again Shifts.

Two or three lawsuits and proceedings before the Interstate Commerce Commission were in progress or in prospect over the transaction when, for the third time within a year, the road was sold, the Baltimore & Ohio and the New York Central retiring, and the Allegheny Corporation, a Van Sweringen holding corporation, taking control.

Even here the control was not allowed to rest, but was passed to the Nickel Plate by the Allegheny Corporation, though it was not permitted to remain there.

By an agreement with the Department of Justice and the Commerce Commission, the shares constituting control were transferred by the Nickel Plate to E. R. Fancher, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, who was selected to act as trustee until such time as it could be determined whether the Nickel Plate would be violating the anti-trust laws by dominating the Wheeling.

Now comes the Wabash proposal, entirely new and contemplating a fifth transfer of Wheeling ownership within a space of about three years. The Wabash petition said the Interstate Commerce Commission's national plan for railroad consolidation had allocated the Wheeling to an expanded Wabash structure.

Professing itself ready to carry out the commission's plan in this regard, the Wabash offered to pay about $29,000,000 for the 54 per cent of outstanding Wheeling stock and operate the system in conjunction with its present line.

Whether the price, terms and disposition of the stock will be satisfactory to all the interested railroads and operators is a question.

INQUIRY IS ORDERED ON BANK SYSTEMS

Use of National Facilities in Stock Trading Is to Be a Phase of Senate Survey.

CHAINS WILL BE STUDIED

Investigation Proposed by Senator Glass May Not Begin Until Fall.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The Senate today adopted a resolution authorizing the Banking and Currency Committee to make "a complete survey" of the national and Federal Reserve System "in order to determine where both can be improved and made more effective."

The resolution was sponsored by Senator Glass of Virginia, one of the authors of the Federal system.

The inquiry is directed to "comprehend specifically the administration of these systems with respect to the use of their facilities for trading in and carrying speculative securities; the extent of call loans to brokers by member banks and the effect on the systems of the formation of investment and security trusts."

Another subject to be inquired into is the desirability of chain banks and development of branch banking. The committee is authorized to hold hearings anywhere in the country and to continue its investigation until the end of the Seventy-first Congress.

Acting Governor Edmund Platt of the Federal Reserve Board said:

"The Reserve Board is ready to give the Senate any information that is in its possession upon the subject mentioned."

Other officials indicated that the investigation would prove no disturbance to the system and indicated that the Federal Reserve and national banks were well able to stand the spotlight.

Unless there is a change of program, the investigation proposed is not likely to get under way until late in the Fall.

Glass to Urge Bank Law Changes.

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP).—Senator Glass will introduce late this week a comprehensive bill proposing widespread changes in the national banking act and in the Federal Reserve System. This bill will be used as a groundwork for legislation to be proposed next session.

The Glass bill would curb the use of Federal facilities in stock speculations, restrain chain banking and encourage branch banking. He has not made it public, pending completion of the draft.

ARGUE ON COKE OVEN SALE.

Maltbie Hears Counsel for Union Gas Company and City on Transfer.

Argument on the petition of the Brooklyn Union Gas Company seeking consent by the Public Service Commission to the contract transferring the coke oven plant owned by the company to the Brooklyn Coke and By-Products Corporation, a subsidiary organization, was heard yesterday by Chairman Milo R. Maltbie, at the commission's offices at 120 Broadway.

Jackson A. Dykman, counsel for the company, contended that if the commission finds that the facilities of the company will be adequate to serve the consumers after disposal of the coke oven plant, the transaction should be approved. That was the only question, he argued, before the commission.

Assistant Corporation Counsel M. M. Fertig argued that was not the only consideration for the commission, which, he said, should consider every question arising in the transaction in which the public interest was involved.

DIVIDEND ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Extra Dividend.

The Welch Grape Juice Company has declared an extra dividend of $2.25 a share and the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents on the common stock.

Initial Dividend.

Stock Dividend.

The Blue Ridge Corporation has declared a stock dividend of 1-32 of a share of common stock, or 75 cents in cash, on its preferred stock.

The Marmon Motor Car Company declared yesterday a 2 per cent common stock dividend.

Passed Dividends.

Tobe Deutschmann has passed the dividend of 30 cents due on April 15.

Sterchi Brothers Stores have passed the 30-cent dividend on the common stock due on May 15.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Ludwig, Robertson & Co. have moved to 11 Broadway, and Moffatt & Spear to 122 Greenwich Street.

Titus, Wales & Co. have compiled an analysis of the American Gas and Electric Company.

Edwin Weisl & Co. have issued an analysis of the Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation.

Baldwin Locomotive Output.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—Shipments of the Baldwin Locomotive Works for the first four months of this year had a total value of $10,566,429, against $3,423,830 in the corresponding period of 1929, it was announced today. In April alone shipments amounted to $3,482,466. Unfilled orders on hand on May 1 were sufficient to insure a continuance of the present rate of operation to the end of September, it was said.

A PROMINENT NEW YORK BROADCAST impresario said: "No New York newspaper goes to the trouble that The New York Times does in collecting information to make their radio programs, both daily and Sunday, correct in every detail." Every day before the daily program goes to press a representative of The Times telephones to the New York stations to verify the program schedules. —Advt.

LATE COTTON RALLY FOLLOWS BIG DROP

Scarcity of July Contracts Results in Covering, Near Months Ending at Gains.

DISTANT POSITIONS OFF

India's Closing and Liverpool's Weakness Felt Early—Stock Rise Is Help Near End.

In sympathy with weakness in other markets, prices on the Cotton Exchange declined sharply yesterday, new crop positions breaking about $2 a bale at one time and $1 a bale below previous low marks for the year. The selling pressure was such as had not been witnessed in some time, and a few brokers distributed about 50,000 bales for distant deliveries.

Owing to congestion in old crop months, July contracts became scarce in the afternoon and a covering movement not only wiped out the early loss, but, under a running advance of $2 a bale, near months closed 15 points higher than on Saturday, against a loss of 11 points in distant positions.

The July premium increased steadily. The delivery not only widened its premium over new October to about 215 points, which was a ¼ cent more than on Saturday, but July here sold a ½ cent over Liverpool, whereas the normal relation is a premium of about a cent a pound on contracts on the foreign exchange.

While new crop contracts were coming on the market in large blocks, pressure on July was mainly professional, and when the stock market rallied toward the close, a rush to buy ran July from around 16 cents to within a few points of 16½ cents in closing dealings.

The closing of markets in India until Thursday, because of political disturbances, had a depressing influence on Liverpool, and considerable foreign selling occurred here in the first hour. Manchester reported the smallest week of the year in both cloths and yarns.

Certificated stock at six American markets increased to 350,000 bales, with more than 9,000 arriving in New York over Sunday for delivery on May contracts.

FINE COTTONS OUTPUT CUT.

Lowest in Many Months, Berkshire Associates Report.

Sales of cotton goods last week held about at the volume levels of the preceding two weeks, having been slightly above the present curtailed production of the seven units of the Berkshire Fine Spinning Associates, Inc., that organization reported yesterday. There has been, however, a continuation of fine goods curtailment, bringing the present figures for the group as a whole to the lowest point in many months.

Prices remain virtually unchanged in all fine goods fabrics, the report adds, though dimities have been subjected to pressure owing to decline in their seasonal activity. Canton spots were in active demand, particularly for the lower counts, and have commanded a premium over recent prices. Crêpes of all qualities continue active, with a tendency toward the better filament types.

The change in rayon prices will undoubtedly restore interest in the lower deniers, which have been neglected, and new fabrics are anticipated employing the newly priced counts.

NEW SECURITIES ON CURB.

Shares of Six Corporations Admitted to Unlisted Privileges.

The New York Curb Exchange announced yesterday that the following securities have been admitted to unlisted trading privileges:

MAY WHEAT AT $1 AS PRICES DECLINE

July Delivery Also at Low Mark for Season—Close Is 3/8 to 1 Cent Lower.

CORN HEAVY ALL SESSION

Oats Sag, September Selling at 40c, First Time Since 1924—Rye Also Goes Down.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 5.—Despite buying by the government agencies, liquidation in the wheat market continued today, with May and July selling at new low marks for the season, the former touching $1 for the first time at this period of the year since 1914 with the exception of last year, when it dropped to 93¼ cents. Weakness in the New York stock market had some effect, but bullish news was ignored most of the day, and the undertone was heavy, although trade was not large.

Final dealings were at net losses of ⅜ to 1 cent, with May showing the most strength, as the government was credited with taking about 200,000 bushels every ⅛ cent down, starting around $1.00½.

Further good rains were reported in Kansas over the week-end, and the Spring wheat area received more showers, with the forecast for rain over the most of the Grain Belt. A decrease of 6.6 per cent in the American Spring wheat acreage was indicated by Cromwell's report, with a decrease of 5.5 per cent in the three Canadian Provinces. No change of consequence in the Prairie Provinces was suggested by the Canadian National Railways' report.

A decrease of 3,332,000 bushels in the domestic visible supply was about in line with trade expectations, the total being down to 132,758,000 against 136,090,000 in the preceding week and 112,684,000 in the week last year.

Foreigners showed a little interest in cash wheat, with sales of 500,000 to 600,000 bushels in all positions, including a cargo of hard Winters, but the demand lacked no urgency, and despite small Argentine offers Liverpool was off 1⅛ to 1½d at the last. Buenos Aires lost ⅞ to 1 cent. Winnipeg was off ¾ to 1 cent.

Primary receipts were 860,000 bushels; a week ago 1,119,000, and a year ago 987,000. Shipments were 835,000 bushels; a week ago 796,000, and a year ago 589,000.

Corn was heavy in undertone from the start.

The strong statistical position appears to have little effect. A decrease of 1,182,000 bushels was shown in the visible supply, with the total 19,791,000, against 24,266,000 in the preceding week and 25,687,000 in the week last year.

A charter was made for 200,000 bushels to Georgian Bay. Country offerings remain light.

Primary receipts of corn were 748,000 bushels; a week ago, 1,191,000, and a year ago, 779,000. Shipments were 1,009,000 bushels, a week ago, 1,340,000, and a year ago, 760,000.

May oats were bought by cash interests and went to around ½ cent over the July, while deferred deliveries were easy and dropped to new lows for the season to date. Final trades were at net losses of ¼ to 1 cent, with September leading at sales under 40 cents for the first time at this season since 1924.

Rye was ¾ to 1⅛ cents lower at the last, with May at a new low for the season. Most of the trade was in spreading between the various deliveries and between rye and corn, the latter being sold.

Prices for the principal grains were as follows:

BANK OF MANHATTAN BUILT IN RECORD TIME

Structure 927 Feet High, Second Tallest in World, Is Erected in Year of Work.

The world's record for speed in skyscraper construction was claimed yesterday by Starrett Brothers & Eken, Inc., who have completed the seventy-story Bank of Manhattan Building at 40 Wall Street after a year's work. The structure, 927 feet high, is the second-tallest office building in the world, exceeded only by the Chrysler tower. No structure approaching it in size has ever been completed in less than from two to three years, it was said.

The builders announced that the bank's new home will be ready for public inspection after last-minute tenant changes are arranged. They said the structure had "the highest observation point above sea level on the Atlantic seaboard." It is 836 feet above the street and can accommodate 100 persons at a time.

Foundations were placed in May last year, before the entire site was cleared and, according to the builders, only eleven months elapsed between the time the Bank of Manhattan Company was ready to move in. The bank occupies the basements and the first six floors. The first sixty-four floors will serve as offices, the next three will house machinery, the sixty-eighth is given over to recreation equipment and the remaining two are for observation.

Thermostatically controlled heat is one of the new building's features. It has also forty-five automatic control elevators that lift at a rate of 800 feet a minute, the maximum allowed by law. They will carry visitors to the observation tower in sixty-three seconds. At the height of construction, the builders say, more than 2,300 men were employed daily on the site.

Italy's Wheat Imports Decline.

ROME, May 5 (AP).—Italy's wheat imports diminished by 919,884 hundredweight during April, as compared with April, 1929, according to statistics submitted today to Premier Mussolini by the Director General of Customs. From July 1, 1929, to April 30 of this year the decrease was 12,583,507 hundredweight from the figure of the corresponding period in the previous year, tending to prove the government is winning its "grain battle" by its intensive cultivation and reclamation projects.

NOTICE OF THE ANNUAL MEETING AND OF A SPECIAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS

THE B. F. GOODRICH COMPANY

NOTICE is hereby given that the annual meeting of stockholders of The B. F. Goodrich Company, a New York corporation, will be held on Wednesday, May 7, 1930, at 10:30 A. M., and that a special meeting of stockholders of said The B. F. Goodrich Company will be held on Monday, May 12, 1930, at 10:30 A. M., each of said meetings to be held at the office of the Company, 27-37 West 60th Street, Borough of Manhattan, City and State of New York.

The annual meeting is called for the following purposes:

(1) electing (by holders of the common stock) six directors to hold office for a term of three years;

(2) authorizing the reduction of the number of shares of preferred stock, of the par value of $100 each, from 377,200 shares to 365,320 shares by retiring 11,880 shares of such preferred stock which have been acquired and are now held by the Company, thereby reducing the number of its authorized shares, preferred and common, from 1,877,200 to 1,865,320;

(3) ratifying and confirming all action taken at the various meetings of the Board of Directors and committees thereof since the last annual meeting of stockholders (the records of which will be open to the inspection of stockholders at the meeting); and

(4) transacting any other business, whether or not incidental to the foregoing, which may properly come before the meeting.

(1) increasing the number of authorized shares of common stock without par value from 1,500,000 to 4,000,000 shares, thereby increasing the number of its authorized shares, preferred and common, from 1,865,320 to 4,365,320;

(2) authorizing and consenting, pursuant to Section 16 of the Stock Corporation Law, to the issue by the Company of $30,000,000 principal amount of its obligations, to be known as Six Per Cent. Fifteen Year Convertible Gold Debentures, or by some similar designation, convertible at the option of the holders thereof, under such regulations as the directors may adopt, into shares of the common stock without par value of the Company, within such period and upon such terms and conditions as may be fixed by resolution of the directors;

(3) approving all acts and proceedings of the Board of Directors, the Executive Committee and officers in connection with the creation, issue and sale of said $30,000,000 principal amount of Debentures; and

(4) transacting any other business, whether or not incidental to the foregoing, which may properly come before the meeting.

Pursuant to the by-laws the Board of Directors has fixed April 16, 1930, as the day for determination of stockholders entitled to vote at the annual meeting, and May 2, 1930, as the day for determination of stockholders entitled to vote at the special meeting. Only persons who are holders of record of voting stock at the close of business on such respective days shall be entitled to vote at the respective meetings and any adjournment of either thereof.

By order of the Board of Directors,

J. D. TEW, President
S. M. JETT, Secretary

Dated April 22, 1930.

FINANCIAL NOTICES.

To the Holders of

Ten-Year 6% Notes and Common Stock of

Associated Dyeing & Printing Corporation

The Board of Directors of your Corporation has unanimously approved a Plan and Agreement, dated April 25, 1930, which contemplates the formation of a New Company to acquire the business of your Corporation.

The undersigned will act as a Committee in carrying out the Plan and Agreement. Holders of Notes and/or Common Stock of Associated Dyeing & Printing Corporation will be entitled to participate in the benefits of the Plan and will become parties thereto by depositing their Notes and/or stock in negotiable form with Bank of Manhattan Trust Company at its principal office, No. 52 Cedar Street, New York City, on or before the close of business on May 15, 1930. Certificates of deposit will be issued by the Depositary for Notes and stock deposited under the Plan.

Depositors of Notes and/or stock of Associated Dyeing & Printing Corporation desiring to exercise the rights of subscription conferred upon them by the Plan, at the time of deposit of their Notes and/or stock, must make payment to Bank of Manhattan Trust Company, as Depositary, for account of the Committee in New York funds of the initial instalment prescribed by the Plan, viz.: $25 for each unit subscribed for, consisting of $100 principal amount of new 6% Secured Gold Notes and Voting Trust Certificates for 10 shares of new Common Stock, subject to allotment as provided in the Plan. Subscription Receipts in representation of such subscriptions will be issued upon the terms and conditions in the Plan set forth.

Copies of the Plan and Agreement may be obtained from the Secretary of the Committee or from the Depositary under the Plan.

The Committee in agreement with the Board of Directors of your Corporation recommends the prompt deposit under the Plan of the Notes and Common Stock of Associated Dyeing & Printing Corporation and the exercise of the subscription rights afforded by the Plan. It is of the utmost importance that all deposits be made promptly so that with the least possible interference with the carrying on of business, the Plan may be consummated at the earliest practicable date and the new money provided therein made available for the use of the New Company.

Wrongful Stoppages of Service Exceed Those of Other Concerns Here, Maltbie Declares.

Milo R. Maltbie, chairman of the Public Service Commission, warned the Brooklyn Edison Company at a hearing yesterday at the commission's offices at 120 Broadway, that its cut-offs and discontinuance of service without justification must be reduced so that the amount of these will be no greater than those of the other companies in the city. He adjourned the proceeding without date, to give the company time to lessen the abuses charged.

Mr. Maltbie indicated that the commission intends to adopt a more aggressive attitude in protecting consumers' rights.

William L. Ransom, counsel for the company, presented a tabulation showing that from the begining of 1927 to March 31, 1930, the company had made 186,993 cut-offs for nonpayment of bills and that in only 140 of these cases had there been claims of error on the part of the company. Mr. Maltbie challenged the accuracy of the latter figure, asserting the commission had received many more complaints of unjustified discontinuances.

"Granting, however, the low percentage set forth by the Brooklyn Edison Company," Mr. Maltbie said, "that is not the question before us. The question is why the number of cut-offs without apparent justification by the Brooklyn Edison Company is proportionately larger than other electric companies in New York City. The question is, too, what is the company going to do about it?"

Most unjustified cut-offs, Mr. Ransom said, were traceable to human errors on the part of accounting clerks, bookkeepers and meter readers. Disconnection of the wrong meter by mistake was one of the chief errors, he declared. He also said that the company was doing everything in its power to eliminate these errors.

Mr. Maltbie replied that in his opinion the difficulty was not one of rules and regulations which, he said, the other companies had found adequate, but of administration.

"No matter what the regulations are," the chairman continued, "if the company wants to be harsh and rigid and give no leeway, the number of cut-offs will continue to mount.

"The deprivation of service without adequate reason is one of the worst things that can be done by the utility to the consumer.

"The Brooklyn Edison Company must lessen the cut-offs without reason to the level maintained by the other companies. The others can do it, and the Brooklyn Edison should be able to do likewise. What will the company do about it? That is the question, and the low percentage of claims of error is no defense so long as the other companies maintain lower percentages."

HIRSCHFIELD GETS CASE OVER LAZANSKY'S DOG

Chow of Justice Who Voted Against Magistrate Slipped Leash—Guardian Is Freed.

When Magistrate David Hirshfield ascended the bench in Flatbush court yesterday for the first time since his voluntary retirement pending his investigation by the Brooklyn Bar Association, the first case called concerned two dogs, one of which was owned, it was testified, by Presiding Justice Edward Lazansky of the Appellate Division, one of the jurists who voted against the magistrate in the recent bar association proceedings. A case involving a dog owned by Mrs. Helen Brown of 809 Ditmas Avenue, Brooklyn, formed the basis of charges against Magistrate Hirshfield in the recent investigation.

The case yesterday was opened by Patrolman John Griffin, who appeared as complainant against Leo Sternlicht, 38 years old, of 1,380 Eastern Parkway, and John Klamorris, 47 years old, of 1,544 Park Place, both Brooklyn. The patrolman charged the two men with allowing their dogs to run unleashed and unmuzzled at Ralph and East New York Avenues, Brooklyn.

Sternlicht pleaded guilty, but explained that the dog did not belong to him but to Justice Lazansky. He was only taking care of the animal temporarily, he said. Magistrate Hirshfield suspended sentence. Klamorris, however, was fined $2.

Sternlicht said he had Justice Lazansky's dog, a chow, out walking, properly muzzled and leashed. At Ralph and East New York Avenues, he said, the dog owned by Klamorris attacked the chow and in the mêlée Sternlicht lost the leash and the dog slipped out of his muzzle. Klamorris admitted that Sternlicht's testimony was correct.

GEN. BROWN FAVORS TAKING ERIE CANAL

Engineer Chief Before Senate Committee Doubts System Would Be 'White Elephant.'

VANDENBERG HITS REPORT

Dempsey Denies "Sinister Motive" in Urging Federal Acquisition—Opponents Predict Defeat.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The proposal in the river and harbor bill for Federal acquisition of the Erie and Oswego Canals in New York was again the subject of animated discussion at today's meeting of the Senate Commerce Committee. The opposition to the transfer indicated that it would go to the extreme of defeating the measure if the Erie-Oswego Canal project were retained by the committee.

Major Gen. Brown, chief of engineers, and Representative Dempsey of New York, chairman of the House Rivers and Harbors Committee, appeared today. General Brown testified that he did not believe the New York canals would be "a white elephant" on the hands of the Federal Government, as charged by Senator Vandenberg of Michigan last week. He expressed doubt that development of the Erie-Oswego waterway would conflict with the St. Lawrence seaway, and said he did not contemplate construction of two deep-water canals from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic.

Defeat of Provision Predicted.

General Brown and Mr. Dempsey were sharply questioned by Senator Vandenberg, who is fighting the New York project on the ground that it is a subtle plan to substitute an "all-American" deep waterway for the St. Lawrence waterway connecting the lakes and the ocean.

As a result of differences in the committee, opponents of the Erie-Oswego Canal provision believe it will be beaten in committee or the whole bill sidetracked.

With apparently only six weeks of the present session left, the Republican steering committee has placed twelve or thirteen measures, many highly controversial, ahead of the rivers and harbors gill on the Senate calendar.

First on the list is the last of the Wagner unemployment bills. Following, in order, are a bill to change the Senate rules, the Couzens bus bill, the Couzens power bill, the Norbeck bill further restricting the trade in butter substitutes, the prohibition transfer bill and various prison reform and construction measures.

Meanwhile the tariff bill conference report, three appropriation bills and the naval treaty can be brought up at any time, temporarily displacing bills on the calendar.

Army's Studies "Hurried."

At today's session of the committee Mr. Vandenberg hinted that pressure by Mr. Dempsey and Representative W. E. Hull of Illinois was responsible for submission of a favorable report on the New York canal project by army engineers after they had previously submitted three unfavorable reports.

General Brown admitted under questioning that he was not familiar with the previous reports and said he did not know anything about Colonel Greene, superintendent of the Erie and Oswego Canals for the State of New York, who said the canal was a failure.

"Yet, on the basis of this lack of information, you are willing to recommend that the government embark on this proposed development, which will cost the government at least $2,500,000 a year and lead to undetermined expenditures for deepening and improvement—a project as big as the Panama Canal?" asked Mr. Vandenberg.

General Brown said all studies of the New York project were hurried, and declared he told General Deakyne that the Government never would do any work on the New York canal unless the Federal Government took over the canals in their entirety.

Dempsey Denies "Hidden Motive."

"Is it your opinion that present operation of the canal is successful?" asked Mr. Vandenberg.

"I haven't investigated it; I couldn't say," responded General Brown.

Chairman Dempsey refused to answer direct questions by Mr. Vandenberg as to whether he favored the St. Lawrence seaway, and said he looked upon the New York canal project, as outlined in the bill, as a barge canal only.

"I have no hidden or sinister motive," said Mr. Dempsey. "I am advocating the barge canal, and I am neither advocating opposing the St. Lawrence waterway. I don't think the barge canal jeopardizes the St. Lawrence waterway."

ORDER 1,175 MILES OF PIPE.

Natural Gas Companies Give Business to National Tube.

Special to The New York Times.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May 5.—An outstanding development of the last ten days in the steel industry is in awards for steel pipe received by the National Tube Company and the decision of this subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation to manufacture part of these orders by the electric welding and seamless tube processes. The awards include 350 miles of 22-inch and 375 miles of 24-inch seamless tubing, which, with feeder lines, will involve 200,000 tons; also 450 miles of seamless pipe for the first unit of a gas line from Amarillo, Texas, to Chicago. The pipe involved in the first orders is for a gas line from Texas to St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn.

Much of the tonnage will be produced by the National Tube Company in its new plant at McKeesport, Pa., while part will be turned out at Christy Park, Pa., where the company has an electrical welding mill.

The tin plate industry reports favorable conditions here. Independent manufacturers expect to operate through May and June at 85 per cent of capacity.

RAW HIDE MARKET.

Trading in hide futures picked up sharply on the New York Hide Exchange yesterday, the turnover being 2,760,000 pounds for the day. It was one of the most active days in several months. The market weakened under heavy selling and closing prices were 5 to 20 points lower than on Saturday. Prices range were:

Retail Turnover Much Improved.

Saturday's retail turnover was reported in the market here yesterday to have been very good. Gains were made by local and out-of-town stores that were said to be comparable to the early part of April, in which pre-Easter trade was supposed to be a strong factor. A feature of the improvement was the better turnover enjoyed by Middle West stores, owing to the higher temperatures in that territory, as well as the South and West. While apparel and accessory departments have shown the most gain, there has also been considerable of a pick-up in Summer home furnishings.

* * *

Further Rayon Reductions.

Reductions in the prices of the finer deniers, from 50 to 125, were announced yesterday by the du Pont Rayon Company. The revision parallels that of the Viscose Company, ranging from 5 to 50 cents a pound on first-quality yarns and from 5 to 25 cents on those of second quality. The Tubize Chatillon Corporation will announce a price reduction of the same proportions today, its executives said yesterday. These firms are the leading producers of the finer deniers in the domestic market. While in no case were revisions made in the standard larger size yarns, the action taken on the finer deniers was held in the trade to clear away the recent price uncertainty.

Summer Lines Showing Spurt Now.

Resident offices here received heavy mail orders yesterday for Summer merchandise. The buying executives saw the orders as the forerunner of much heavier business in the period directly ahead and are taking steps to advise clients of the need of placing at least a fair volume of future orders to obtain quick delivery later on. Most manufacturers, it was pointed out, are unprepared to take care of a sudden rush in view of the light condition of stocks on hand. Current business, it was added, is absorbing output quite rapidly. The view was expressed that, once started, the Summer season activity at wholesale is likely to be good until early June, if not later.

* * *

Bathing Suit Reorders Placed.

Reorders for men's and women's bathing suits reached the knit goods market here yesterday from all parts of the country. Most of the volume orders were for suits retailing at from $2.98 to $3.50 in sunback models for women and the speed suit styles for men. All staple colors were wanted by the stores. Although the demand for suits was fair during the early weeks of the season, the recent warm weather has put added life into the market, and selling agents yesterday predicted a banner year, claiming the break in the weather has come early enough to create an active demand.

* * *

Rug Men Modify 'Drop' Agreement.

Floor coverings mills, which subscribed to an agreement to wait until May 19 before releasing "drop" patterns to the trade, will begin to solicit orders for such merchandise on May 15, it was learned in the market yesterday. Stock sheets describing the patterns and amounts of "drops" available will be sent to customers on the earlier date, one mill executive explained, but no orders will be delivered before May 19. Modification of the first agreement, it was said, followed reports that several manufacturers not party to the agreement were marketing their drops.

* * *

Men's Summer Suit Orders Gain.

Makers of men's clothing have been encouraged by the volume of reorders coming through on lightweight Summer types. Indications are, it was said yesterday, that the Summer business will run ahead of last year in many sections, despite the mediocre results attained on Spring clothing. The call for flannel suits and trousers was reported as particularly active, with the new grays taking well. Tropical worsteds are beginning to move in greater volume as are suit of linen and specialty cloths in novelty effects. The business in separate trousers and knickers promises well, with four-piece suits also well regarded.

* * *

Greeting Card Show Disappoints.

Selling agents returning here yesterday from the annual showing of Christmas greeting card lines in Philadelphia last week declared they were disappointed in the volume of business done there. While plenty of buyers attended the exhibitions they were not in a mood to place orders for their holiday requirements. Most of the business placed was written during the last two days of the showing and was confined to cards retailing at 5, 10 and 15 cents. Imitation etchings were shown by the majority of exhibitors and received the best response from the retail buyers.

* * *

Silk Production Curb Evident.

The drop of close to 20 per cent in raw silk consumption during April was interpreted yesterday as measuring the effect of the seasonal restriction of fabric output which began in that month. The May figures, it was said here, are likely to show an equivalent or larger drop, as restriction of production has since become more general. Most producers at the present time are engaged in moving stocks on hand. Absorption has been quite steady in the last ten days, as retailers and cutters-up have been making special price offerings on both yard goods and finished garments. The silk mills are entering upon Fall production plans slowly.

* * *

Beaver Advance at Sale.

Prices on beaver skinse of good color advanced 20 per cent at the Spring fur auction sale of Frederick Huth & Co., yesterday. Sales for the day totaled $500,000. A good collection of beavers sold exceptionally well, bringing a high price of $43. A good collection of ermine sold well, attaining a high of $2.26. Other collections offered and the high prices paid in each division were: Marten, $35; fisher, $125; house cat, 64 cents; ring-tailed cat, $2.40, and squirrel, 50 cents. The squirrel and marten collections sold poorly but the others brought a good response.

Gray Goods Market Still Dull.

Buyers of printcloths showed little interest in the gray goods market yesterday and trading continued nominal. Prices held to last week levels although there were some indications of weakness. Small lots of 38½-inch 60-48s were sold at 5⅛ cents and of 38½-inch 64-60s at 6⅛ cents. Trading in 39-inch 68-72s was on a basis of 7 cents. Orders for 39-inch 72-76s were filled at 8 cents. There was little or no activity in sheetings.

Ask Summer Saturday Holidays.

In a petition that members started circulating yesterday the governors of the Rubber Exchange are asked to appoint a day for balloting on closing the Exchange on Saturdays in June, July and August.

DRY GOODS OFFICIAL FOUND CONFIDENCE

Wholesale Institute Director Says Trade Is Optimistic Despite Drop.

QUARTER'S SALES ARE OFF

Fell 5 to 35 Per Cent, Mr. Garrison Reports—Chain Legislation on the Increase.

Despite a drop of from 5 to 35 per cent in their business for the first quarter of this year, wholesale dry goods men throughout the country are more confident of the future than ever before, Flint Garrison, director general of the Wholesale Dry Goods Institute, said yesterday. Mr. Garrison has just returned from a five-weeks' trip to twenty-one principal centres of the dry goods trade.

"During the course of my trip, I discussed conditions with executives from 93 of the country's leading jobbing establishments," Mr. Garrison continued, "and found them all optimistic in spite of the falling off in trade. They are convinced that the drop in business is due to general conditions and not to any weaknesses in their own positions. Retailers and manufacturers are both showing a more cordial attitude toward the jobber."

While government figures on the wholesale dry goods trade placed the decline during the first quarter at from 9 to 24 per cent, Mr. Garrison explained that they were based on averages for districts, while his estimates were obtained from the jobbing executives he met. Detroit, he said, seems to be suffering more severely than any other city, while the districts about Los Angeles appeared to be doing best.

A great deal of legislation and attempted legislation against chain store systems will occupy Congress and State legislatures in the near future, he predicted. Agitation along this line was noticed by him in all parts of the South and West.

During his trip Mr. Garrison conferred with managers, buyers and merchandise directors of jobbing houses concerning the system of reports on mill selling policies being organized by the Institute. The Institute, he said, is aiming at price discrimination by some manufacturers who give concessions to chain stores as against independent retailers.

BRADSTREET INDEX NUMBER

Bradstreet's index number of wholesale prices as of May 1 shows decreases of 2¼ per cent during April and of not quite 13 per cent for the twelve months. It was the lowest since July, 1921, and only 3 per cent above the low post-war figure reached on June 1 of that year. Except for May, June and July, 1921, the present index number is the lowest computed by Bradstreet since Jan. 1, 1916.

The Bradstreet average of commodity prices as of May 1 compares as follows with preceding months and years:

SMUGGLING REPORTS URGED

Jewelers Here Asked to Inform on Clients Who Bring in Gems.

M. D. Rothschild, president of the American Jewelers' Protective Association, urged retail jewelers last night to report to the United States customs officials the names of their clients who had smuggled in jewelry from abroad. He spoke at the annual dinner of the Jewelers' Association of New York in the Hotel Commodore. He said he believed such a procedure would end tourist smuggling, which he described as one of the greatest menaces of the trade.

A plea that all members of the industry be less careless was made by Harry Larter, president of the Jewelers' Security Alliance. He asserted that robbery claims amounting to $800,000 had been filed with various insurance companies since the first of the year.

The association adopted a resolution thanking Senator Caleb Baumes for the passage of the Baumes laws.

LIVE STOCK IN CHICAGO.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 5.—Hogs were in good demand today, with prices steady to 10 cents higher and few left unsold. The top was up 10 cents at $10.40, the best since April 21, while the day's average was 10 cents higher at $10.10. Most sales were at $9.90 to $10.25, with 250 to 350 pound butchers $9.65 to $10.15, and 160 to 250 pound averages $9.85 to $10.40. Packers bought 27,500 and shippers 9,000, with 4,000 left over. Receipts were 40,000, with 30,000 estimated for tomorrow. The five leading markets expect 69,000 hogs tomorrow, against 68,200 last year.

Offerings of cattle were much smaller than a week ago. Buyers were slow in taking hold, but the market showed little change in prices, with best steers selling at $14. The bulk of the beef cattle brought $10.25 to $13.25. Receipts were 15,000.

Lambs were in demand and 25 to 50 cents higher, prices being the best since March 11. Most of the shorn sold at $10 to $10.50, while wooled brought $11 to $11.25, with a top of $11.50. Native springs were $13 to $13.25, with plain kind down to $11. Sheep were stronger at $4.50 to $6. Receipts were 15,000.

DECIDES ERGAT IMPORT SUIT

Court Rules That Mellon and Hyde May Determine Quality.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Ruling that the Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of Agriculture have judicial authority to decide on the quality of ergot of rye which it is sought to import into this country for the manufacture of medicinal fluid extract of ergot, the District of Columbia Court of Appeals today held that their powers cannot be curbed by injunction or mandamus.

The decision upholds action of the District of Columbia Supreme Court in dismissing a suit for injunction brought by Howard Armbruster, a New York importer of Spanish ergot of rye. Armbruster sought to stop the importation of alleged inferior ergot of rye.

PETROLEUM PRICES LOWER.

The average price of crude petroleum was lower last week at $1.522 a barrel, compared with $1.537 a barrel the preceding week, and $1.658 a barrel during the corresponding week of last year, according to the Oil Paint and Drug Reporter.

Gasoline at the refineries was unchanged at 7.58 cents a gallon at four principal refining centres. Service station prices at ten leading markets were higher at 21.05 a gallon, against 20.90 cents a gallon the preceding week. Domestic crude oil production from Jan. 1 to May 3, was estimated at 318,834,000 barrels, compared with 324,356,000 barrels in the correspondnig period of 1929.

DU PONT RAYON COMPANY

Viscose Process Department

ANNOUNCES

Adjustment in prices of fine denier yarns to make them comparable with other deniers

Effective May 1, 1930

It seems logical to announce at this time that the Du Pont Rayon Company will market only three grades of yarn: First, Second and Inferior.

The price of the Inferior Grade will be eighty cents (80¢) for all deniers; First and Second Grade Viscose Process yarns will be sold at the published price card rates given below.

It will be noted that the price of fine denier yarns has been adjusted to make them comparable with other deniers.

SUGAR, COFFEE, COCOA.

Sugar.

The raw sugar market was erratic yesterday. It was a May call day, and on the liquidating of contracts May was carried down to a new low for all time and for any position, being quoted at 1.39 during the late afternoon. This position recovered to 1.47 before the close, but by that time the complexion of the market had changed. Spot sugar, which had been bid for at 1 17-32 earlier in the day, was being offered at that figure with no buyers in the afternoon session. The market closed with a strong undertone.

Reports from fifteen United States refineries for the period from Jan. 1 to April 26 gave the total sugar melt as 1,460,000 long tons, against 1,660,000 long tons for the corresponding period of 1929. Total deliveries for the same period were given as 1,270,000 long tons, as compared with 1,445,000 long tons in the corresponding period of 1929. Refined sugar remained unchanged at 4.90.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK.

In the matter of PEN-POST HOTEL, INC., also known as PENN POST HOTEL, INC., Bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy No. 48724.

UPON READING AND FILING the annexed petition of Irving Trust Company, Trustee in the above named bankrupt estate, duly verified the 22nd day of April, 1930, and upon the petition, adjudication, and all the proceedings herein,

NOW on motion of Nathaniel J. Palzer, attorney for the said Trustee, it is ORDERED that all creditors whose names appear on the list of creditors filed with the Referee herein or who have filed claims or appearances, and all other interested parties, show cause before the undersigned Referee in Bankruptcy, at the Referee's office, No. 32 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, on the 6th day of May, 1930, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, why bids should not be received and/or accepted in the discretion of the Trustee herein and the order of this Court, for all the right, title and interest of the Trustee in and to the properties and assets of the bankrupt as follows:

PARCEL 1: The leasehold of the property known as 411 Eighth Avenue, Manhattan, in favor of Penn Post Hotel, Inc., and Peter Donahue, individually, as tenants, expiring on April 30th, 1941, subject to rentals due thereon, arrears of water and real estate taxes and payment of insurance premiums.

PARCEL 2: The leasehold of the property known as 413 Eighth Avenue, in favor of Peter Donohue, individually, and Penn Post Hotel, Inc., as tenants, expiring April 30th, 1934, and covering the three upper floors of the said building, subject to water and real estate taxes in arrears and payment of insurance premiums.

PARCEL 3: The lot and building on premises known as 308 West 31st Street, Manhattan, being one hundred feet westerly from the intersection of the southerly side of 31st Street and the westerly side of Eighth Avenue, and consisting of a parcel 18′ 9″ by 98′ 9″, subject to mortgages in amount and priority as follows: $23,500, $6,250, $9,668.75, $12,500 and $9,450, the last three mentioned mortgages having due thereon interest for approximately two years.

PARCEL 4: The lot and building on premises known as 310 West 31st Street, Manhattan, being 118′ 9″ westerly from the corner formed by the intersection of the westerly side of Eighth Avenue and the southerly side of 31st Street, and consisting of the parcel 18′ 9″ by 98′ 9″, subject to mortgages in amount and priority as follows: $25,000, principal due September 24th, 1932, and payable $125 monthly; $15,000, principal due September 24th, 1931, and payable $75 monthly; $9,668.75; $12,500; and $9,450, the latter three mortgages being due on October 2nd, 1929, and having interest due theron of approximately two years.

PARCEL 5: The right, title and interest, if any, of the Trustee to the leaseholds of the property described as 415, 417 and 419 Eighth Avenue and 304, 306 and 312 West 31st Street.

The original of said petition and order being on file and open to the inspection of the office of the Referee, and sufficient cause appearing therefore,

Let service of this order on the creditors whose names appear on the "List of Creditors" filed with the Referee, and on other interested parties, be made by depositing a true copy thereof in the mails in securely sealed envelopes addressed to the said creditors or other interested persons, at the addresses given in the said "List of Creditors," at least ten (10) days before the return date fixed in this order and by further causing a copy of this order to appear in The New York Times and Daily News Record at least ten days before the return date, and let such service be deemed good and sufficient service, and on the return hereof.

Dated New York City, April 22nd, 1930.

R. P. STEPHENSON,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

NATHANIEL J. PALZER,
Attorney for Irving Trust Company, Trustee, 120 Broadway, New York City.

REPORTS OF LATEST DEALINGS IN REAL ESTATE FIELD

REVIEW OF THE DAY IN REALTY MARKET

SALE ON IRVING PLACE

Rohe Family Holdings on West Side Bought for the New York Central Railroad.

Acquisition of additional property on Broadway between Cortlandt and Dey Streets by Grigori Benenson was reported yesterday, the parcels including 175, 181 and 183 Broadway. The properties at 175 and 181 are owned by the Wendel estate and it is understood that they have been taken on long leases, while 183 Broadway is owned by the 183 Broadway, Inc., which took title in 1927.

Mr. Benenson last week acquired the leasehold of 187 Broadway and bought the building at 5-7 Dey Street. He now controls under fee holdings and leaseholds all of the westerly Broadway block front between Cortlandt and Dey Streets with the exception of the Dey Street corner owned by the Oceanic Investing Company and held under a long lease by the L. E. Waterman Company.

The Benenson holdings there have a frontage on Broadway of 166 feet, 328.4 on Cortlandt Street, 241 on Dey Street and 214.3 on Church Street, being one of the largest individual holdings in the downtown section. It is said that Mr. Benenson is contemplating a large building improvement in the near future.

Nemo Building Deal.

The twelve-story Nemo building at 21-33 Irving Place, southwest corner of Sixteenth Street, fronting 144 feet on Irving Place by 100 on the street, has been purchased by a client of Joseph M. Baum, attorney, from the 21 Irving Place Corporation, Samuel Kaplan, president.

Several additional west side purchases by the New York State Realty and Terminal Company, the holding concern for the New York Central Railroad, were announced. The largest transaction was closed through the Charles F. Noyes Company and Brown, Wheelock: Harris, Vought & Co., after several months of negotiation with Albert T. Rohe and William Rohe, representing the estate of Florian Rohe and Annie M. Rohe, and various members of the Rohe family.

The sale included portions of the extensive holdings of the Rohe family in West Thirty-fifth, Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Streets, between Tenth and Eleventh Avenues. These are 524-30 West Thirty-seventh Street, 532-40 West Thirty-seventh Street, 533-43 West Thirty-sixth Street, 542-44 West Thirty-seventh Street, 547-49 West Thirty-fifth Street and 556 West Thirty-sixth Street. They cover an area of approximately 45,000 square feet and are improved with three, four and five story buildings used by Rohe & Brother, pork packers as their packing and refrigerating plant. The Rohes will retain the plot at 527-31 West Thirty-sixth Street, now used as their executive offices. Title to the properties will not pass until Jan. 2, 1931.

Purchases by New York Central.

The warehouse properties at 529 West Thirty-seventh Street, running through to 526-30 West Thirty-eighth Street, covering a plot of about 10,000 square feet, were sold to the New York Central through Mullen & Woods, Inc., by the estate of William H. Callanan through the New York State Realty and Terminal Company. Brown, Wheelock: Harris, Vought & Co. acted as brokers.

Another purchase by the railroad interests was the five-story tenement house at 504 West Forty-ninth Street, 19.6 by 100, sold by Patrick J. Cronin, who recently purchased it from Herman Schreiber through George H. McCullough as broker. In the resale Mr. McCullough acted as co-broker with the firm of Brown, Wheelock: Harris, Vought & Co.

The three-story residence at 265 West Ninetieth Street, 18 by 100.8, near Broadway, was sold at foreclosure by Henry Brady in the Vesey Street salesroom, the buyer being the plaintiff, Isaac Tumpowsky, for $24,300.

BUSINESS LEASES.

The ninth floor in 1,400 Broadway, the thirty-five story building being erected for the garment industry on the site of the old Knickerbocker Theatre, has been rented by the 1,400 Broadway Corporation, Abraham Gevirtz, president, to the L. C. Rosenblatt Corporation, for the sale and display of dresses. The space amounts to nearly 29,000 square feet and will be ready for occupancy in December. Thoens & Flaunlacher were the brokers.

The same brokers leased to the Irving Trust Company, receiver in equity in behalf of the stockholders' protective committee of the Automotive Royalties Corporation, space in 299 Madison Avenue, from the Marcadis Realty Corporation; in the same building to Ida M. Duggan, for placement bureau; in 79 Madison Avenue, for the Madison Avenue and Twenty-eighth Street Corporation, to H. G. Helfenstein, handkerchiefs and mufflers; in 25 West Thirty-seventh Street, for the Twenty-five West Thirty-seventh Street Corporation, to the French-American Trading Company, millinery jobbers.

Delaware Hudson Railroad Corporation of Albany, N. Y., in Lincoln Building, 60 East Forty-second Street; Pease & Elliman, brokers.

Modern Optical Company, H. G. Bernstein, president, for third downtown link, store in 163 Greenwich Street, between Cortlandt and Liberty Streets, from Bernard Lichenstein; Tankoos, Smith & Co., brokers.

Cigar Stands, Inc., a new corporation to operate stands in office buildings, concession in News Building, 220 East Forty-second Street; Dr. Harold S. Flanagan, dentist, in same building; Douglas L. Elliman & Co., brokers.

James H. Moffett, for Buckingham Mills; Bender-Flynn Company of Hartford, Conn.; and Robert Feinberg, for Cape May Development Company, in Herald Square Building, 1,350 Broadway; Michael E. Lipset & Co., brokers.

Pynchon & Co., members of Stock Exchange, branch office space on main floor of Hotel Waldorf-Astoria, under construction at Park Avenue and Forty-ninth Street; Pease & Elliman, brokers.

W. P. Brown & Sons Lumber Company of Louisville, Ky., and Institute of Carpet Manufacturers of America, in Chrysler Building; arranged by Cushman & Wakefield and Brown, Wheelock: Harris, Vought & Co.

Jack J. Feisenfeld, Mansfield & Lanz, John A. Poltock & Co. and Ira Barrows, in Silversmiths Building, 15-19 Maiden Lane; J. C. Lipsey Company and David Harrison, in 170 Broadway; Utilities Capital Company, Inc., in Westinghouse Building, 150 Broadway; Charles F. Noyes Company, broker.

Stivers & Weber, manufacturers' agents, in new Crystal Building, 801 Second Avenue, corner of Forty-third Street; Ernest L. Brothers, interior decorating, in Heckscher Building, 730 Fifth Avenue; Irish Linen Shop, part of seventh floor in Dorothy Gray Building, 683 Fifth Avenue (through Brown, Wheelock: Harris, Vought & Co.); Cushman & Wakefield, brokers.

Harry Harkness Flagler Adds To Holdings in Park Avenue

Harry Harkness Flagler, president of the Philharmonic-Symphony Society of New York, whose home is at 32 Park Avenue, has bought the five-story house at 30 from Richard Van Nest Gambrill, according to a realty transfer filed yesterday. The property, including a plot 32 by 100 feet, formerly was owned by the Anna V. N. Gambrill estate.

Mr. Flagler acquired his residence in 1902. Since 1919 he has owned also the adjoining three-and-one-half-story dwelling at 34. He now controls about half the block front between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Streets.

SKYSCRAPER PLANS FOR HIPPODROME SITE

One Design Calls for 100-Story Structure When Old Theatre Is Razed Next Fall.

Plans are being made for demolition next Fall of the old Hippodrome, theatre building occupying the easterly block front on Sixth Avenue between Forty-third and Forty-fourth Streets, to make way for a large office skyscraper according to Fred F. French, head of Fred F. French Operators, Inc., which took title to the site last week.

The architectural department of the French companies has completed several sets of drawings for buildings of various heights, one set calling for a forty-story structure, one for sixty stories and still another for 100 stories. Estimates of the cost of construction of these proposed buildings, together with rental and expense schedules, are being prepared in order that final decision may be made as to the size of the building which will be erected. Previous announcements told of plans for an eighty-three story building.

The Hippodrome site, measuring 200 by 240 feet, is sufficiently large to accommodate a 100-story skyscraper if economic factors and the return on the investment make such a plan desirable, Mr. French said. The company, he added, recognized the advertising value of having the tallest building in the world, although the proportionate financial return might be slightly lower than for a smaller structure. Early decision is expected on the height deemed most practicable.

BRONX PROPERTIES SOLD

Houses in Spencer and Lewis Avenues Disposed Of.

The Fayside Realty Corporation has sold to Frederick Bitz a one-family brick dwelling at the northeast corner of West 260th Street and Spencer Avenue. The plot is 100 by 95 feet. William F. Kurz, Inc., was the broker.

Barnet Levine bought a five-story apartment house with four stores at 1,164 Union Avenue, subject to mortgages for $50,750. The site is 50 by 95 feet.

Two Cooperative Suites Sold.

An apartment of six rooms and three baths in the 100 per cent cooperative building recently completed at 30 Sutton Place has been purchased by Mrs. Arthur Winslow Jones from Paterno Brothers through Brown, Wheelock: Harris, Vought & Co. The same brokers resold for George R. King his apartment on the fourteenth floor of the cooperative residential hotel at 825 Fifth Avenue. The purchaser was Alexander D. Duff.

$1,650,000 Fifth Avenue Lease.

Julius Grossman, Inc., who have manufactured the Coward shoe for thirty years under the direction of James W. Harty, former general manager of the Coward shoe stores, will open their first retail store at 537 Fifth Avenue, where they have leased the basement, ground store and three upper floors, for a long term. The Charles F. Noyes Company and Donald W. Brown negotiated the lease, which is for $1,650,000.

APARTMENT LEASES.

Mrs. Francis Upham Stearns, also John Robert MacNeille, in house being erected at 40 East Eighty-eighth Street; Mrs. Ambrose R. Adams, in 1,088 Park Avenue; Stockwell & Marling, brokers.

Clara Barclay Bayne of Summit, N. J., in 1,215 Fifth Avenue, northeast corner of 102d Street; Fred C. Clark, in house being built at 205 East Seventy-eighth Street, northeast corner of Third Avenue, through Albert B. Ashforth, Inc.; Maurice Einsohn, in building being erected at 865 First Avenue, between Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth Street; Pease & Elliman, brokers.

Miss Adelaide Luhrs, in house under construction at 433 East Fifty-first Street; J. S. Blair, in 151 East Eightieth Street; Jay T. McCoy and Bertram Kadish, in Beaux Arts Apartments, 307 and 310 East Forty-fourth Street; Douglas L. Elliman & Co., brokers.

RECORDED LEASES.

Two stores in the new building at the southwest corner of Amsterdam Avenue and 108th Street have been leased by the 200 West 108th Street Corporation, J. Schultz, president, to I. J. Sasmor, for use as a drug store, for fifteen years, from Oct. 1 next, the annual rent increasing from $5,500 for the first three years to $6,700 for the last three years.

A store in 84-88 Nagle Avenue was leased by Wing Bakery, Inc., to Joseph Racer and two others from May 1, 1930, to Sept. 28, 1942, the annual rent increasing from $3,300 for the first four years to $3,900 for the last three years.

PLANS ARE REVISED ON HEALTH BUILDING

Larger Structure Designed to Include Space for Sanitation Commission.

MAY GO HIGHER LATER

Heavier Framework Will Allow an Increase of Several Stories in New Civic Centre Unit.

Plans for the new Department of Health Building to go up as a part of the downtown civic centre have been revised and the size of the structure increased in order that the newly created Sanitation Commission may have its quarters there, it was learned yesterday.

Specifications prepared under the direction of Charles B. Meyers, architect, have been changed by him in accordance with a decision of the Board of Estimate to include the commission's offices in the new structure rather than to have that body housed separately from allied departments in the City Government. The other three departments which will occupy the building are the Department of Health, Department of Hospitals and the Medical Examiner. The redrafted specifications call for the use of heavier steel and framework in order that several additional stories may be added later if expansion of these four departments makes such an extension of the building necessary. Some changes also have been made in the foundations and basement layout because of the subway under Worth Street.

Preliminary approval of the new plans already has been given by the four departments, and at the Department of Public Works it was stated that these plans are being studied by engineers there with a view to making final recommendations to the Board of Estimate. There will be but slight changes in the exterior design, which will harmonize with that of other buildings in the group.

The new building will be ten stories in height and will cost $5,350,000, according to preliminary estimates filed last month with the Manhattan Bureau of Buildings. Originally only an eight-story structure was contemplated. Creation of the Sanitation Commission in the November election was responsible for a change in plans. The site will be the entire block bounded by Worth, Centre and Lafayette Streets, opposite the new court house.

Garden City Home Sites Bought.

Sale of several home sites and one residence in Garden City, L. I., is reported by Oliver Chichester with J. C. K. Studwell as associate in the transactions, which included the sale and stone on the east side of Brompton Road north of Stewart Avenue, on a plot 100 by 100 feet. The house, consisting of nine rooms and three baths, with double garage, was built to order by the Margand Building Corporation for Anna H. Ficken. The same corporation bought from R. Gilbert Jackson two plots 100 by 170 feet, each comprising the block front of Stewart Avenue, between Kilburn and Brixton Roads. Theodore Johnson bought a plot 80 by 100 feet on the east side of Kilburn Road.

Company Rents Four Floors In Pershing Square Building

Announcement of an important office lease in the Grand Central zone was made yesterday by Cushman & Wakefield, Inc., which rented to the Travelers Insurance Company approximately 65,000 square feet of space in the Pershing Square Building, at 100 East Forty-second Street, to serve as the neighborhood branch of the insurance firm after July 1. The lease is for a long term of years at a reported aggregate rental of nearly $2,000,000.

The larger new offices comprise the seventeenth, eighteenth and nineteenth floors and parts of the sixteenth and twentieth floors, most of which is occupied now by the International Paper Company. The four floors in the Carbon Building at 30 East Forty-second Street, to be vacated by the Travelers Insurance Company, will be absorbed by the Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation, it is understood.

LEASEHOLDS LISTED.

Activity in Properties on Both East and West Sides.

A two-story garage to be erected at 535 East Fifteenth Street has been leased from the Allerad Realty Corporation, Stanley Katz, president, by the Talmadge Garage Corporation, M. Scaduti, president, for a period of fifteen years at an aggregate net rental of $200,000, in addition to taxes and water rates. Thomases & Platzner acted as brokers.

The Reeves Realty Corporation, of which Francis B. Bryson is president, has taken a lease with an option to purchase of the property at 120 West Fifty-eighth Street, occupied by a nine-story building, from the Arsil Realty Corporation, Abraham A. Silberger, president. The property has a frontage of 50 feet between Sixth and Seventh Avenues and adjoins the Steinway Building. The lease is taken for five years from May 1, 1930, at an annual rental of $43,000, the landlord paying taxes, assessments and insurance. The lease is subordinate to mortgages not exceeding $375,000. The tenant has an option to purchase at $415,000 if exercised by April 30, 1932, and at $425,000 if the option is exercised between that date and April 30, 1933.

The lease with renewal rights of the property at 111 West Forty-sixth Street has been sold by the Beckstrand Hotel Corporation, Herman Ecker, president, to the Vernon Hotel Corporation.

The lease of the building at 63 West Forty-ninth Street has been taken over by Jean Fantoni Soma from the Golan Restaurant Company.

In the Wall Street district the lease has just been recorded of the twelve-story edifice at 78 Wall Street, known as the Taber Building, northeast corner of Pearl Street, by the 76 Fifth Avenue Company, Philip E. Newmark, vice president, to the Pacific Development Corporation, Edward B. Bruce, president. The property has a frontage of 48.11 on Wall Street by 76.1 on Pearl Street. The term of the lease dates from May 1, 1918, to April 30, 1939, at an annual rental of $35,000, in addition to taxes and assessments. On Jan. 17, 1925, Waldo S. Reed, as receiver of the Pacific Development Corporation, assigned all right and title in the lease to Annie Parsons Kountze during her life and at her death to De Lancey Kountze and his heirs.

Connecticut Homes Rented.

Summer homes in Westport, Conn., have been leased by Louis C. Stone and Mrs. J. R. Dennis through George Tompkins.

REALTY FINANCING.

Loans secured by mortgages on the following properties were reported yesterday:

Manhattan.

Five-story apartment house at 111 West Eighty-fourth Street, $40,000, at 5½ per cent, to Peter Hochhauser; James Boyd, broker.

Bronx.

Six-story apartment house under construction at northwest corner of Theriot Avenue and Guerlain Street, $325,000 building and permanent loan, to Thierlain Building Corporation; Jacob and Emil Leitner, Inc., brokers.

Five-story apartment at 1,895 Walton Avenue, southwest corner of 177th Street, $95,000, to Samuel Perlstein; five-story apartment at 1,064 Teller Avenue, $48,500, to Samik Pisetzner; James Boyd, broker.

REAL ESTATE NOTES.

William E. Barton, recently with the Fred F. French Management Company as vice-president, is now with Sutton, Blagden & Lynch, Inc., as manager of their management department.

Leo J. Wohlfarth, real estate, has moved his offices from 19 West Forty-fourth Street to the new Title Guarantee & Trust Co. Building at 6 East Forty-fifth Street.

OLD THALIA THEATRE TO BE MADE A GARAGE

Plans Are Approved for Remodeling of Bowery Landmark, Built in 1826.

The Thalia Theatre, 46-48 Bowery, a landmark of the lower east side for several generations, will pass into history with the carrying out of plans filed yesterday with the Manhattan Bureau of Buildings for reconstructing the old playhouse into a garage at a cost of $60,000. The Felix Holding Corporation is the owner of record and V. M. Cajano is architect for the new structure.

The long life of the Thalia appeared near an end last June when fire swept through it, but since that time there had been reports that plans were being made for rebuilding it to house again the Chinese plays which were its last attraction. Some old-timers, mindful of the former glory of the place, would have had it so. But the garage plans approved yesterday meant that the Thalia's spectacular night fire eleven months ago was its last show. The roof caved in at that time, but enough of the building remained to allow the new plans to come under the classification of remodeling work.

In days long past the theatre boasted the patronage of fashionables. It was built in 1826 and opened with George Darrett playing "The Road to Ruin" and "Raising the Wind." On its stage such celebrities as Junius Brutus Booth, Charlotte Cushman, Edwin Forrest and Lillian Russell appeared frequently.

Adds to Long Island Acreage.

The Engineers' Country Club has sold three acres of land facing on Hempstead Harbor to Edson Bradley, who intends to combine this property with six acres recently purchased from the Henry P. Tailer estate at Roslyn, L. I. Mr. Bradley will move the residence on the Tailer property to a site on the newly acquired land and remodel and enlarge the house from plans being prepared by William Lawrence Bottomley. This purchase gives Mr. Bradley control of all the land running from the water to the Glenwood Road between the Schwerin estate and the estate of Benjamin Stern. The Worthington-Whitehouse Company was the broker.

TRANSFERS RECORDED.

A mortgage for $12,500 given by the 609 West 173d Realty Company, Inc., Samuel J. Weiser, president, to the Bowery Savings Bank, has been combined with another mortgage held by the bank to make one lien of $94,500 on property on the north side of 173d Street, 75 by 100 feet, 125 feet east of Wadsworth Avenue. The loan is due May 2, 1935, at 6 per cent.

When Jeremiah F. Donovan took title to the northeast corner of Park Avenue and Seventy-first Street, half a block on the avenue and forty feet on the street, from Ellery S. James, the former gave back a purchase money mortgage for $175,000, due July 1, 1935, at 6 per cent. There is a first mortgage on these premises for $275,000 held by Yale University. Mr. Donovan has conveyed this property to Park-71st, Inc.

The Lawyers Mortgage Company has lent $10,000 additional to the J. S. H. Holding Company, Inc., Jacob A. Kirsch, president, on 125 and 127 East Ninety-third Street, this being consolidated with another mortgage to make one first lien of $210,000, due April 28, 1935, at 5½ per cent, and to be amortized $2,100 semi-annually.

The Excelsior Savings Bank has agreed with Viola M. Nadelman, Viola F. Francke and Aileen Branca, owners of 15 and 17 West Forty-fourth Street, to extend a mortgage for $350,000 held by the bank thereon to April 30, 1935, with interest at 6 per cent for the first two years and 5½ per cent thereafter.

A mortgage for $110,000 held by the Seamen's Bank for Savings from the 45-47 West 125th Street Corporation, John Bracken, president, on 45-47 West 125th Street, has been extended to April 29, 1935, at 6 per cent.

When the 105 West Eighty-sixth Street Corporation Samuel Kamist, president, bought from the Felco Realty Corporation the property at 105-13 West Eighty-sixth Street, just west of Columbus Avenue, the former gave back a purchase money mortgage for $66,000, due five years hence, at 6 per cent. There is a first mortgage of $915,750 and a second of $300,000 on this property.

Thomas J. Donner gave a mortgage for $68,000 to the United States Trust Company on the southeast corner of Platt and Gold Streets. This is consolidated with another held by the trust company to maek a single first lien of $350,000 on the premises, due May 1, 1935, at 5½ per cent.

The Noyes-Group Holdings, Inc., Catherine Rapp, president, gave a mortgage for $10,000 to the Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Company on the northeast corner of Waverly Place and Eleventh Street, 60 by 40 feet. This is combined with another mortgage to make one lien of $40,000 thereon, due according to the bond. The Noyes-Group Holdings, Inc., gave a second mortgage for $15,000 on these premises to Genevieve Elder of Medford, Mass. This lien is due May 1, 1933, at 6 per cent.

A mortgage for $35,000 given by Rosa G. Semple to the New York Title and Mortgage Company on 241-42 Central Park West, on a plot 45 by 100 feet at the north corner of Eighty-fourth Street, has been consolidated with another mortgage to constitute a first lien of $125,000 thereon, due May 2, 1933, at 6 per cent.

When Margaret Riedy took title to 138-44 East Twenty-eighth Street, she gave back a mortgage to Dolly Hoffman for $50,000, due Nov. 1, 1931, at 6 per cent, subject to a first mortgage of $100,000. Margaret Riedy then transferred this property to the Cobham Realty Corporation of 285 Madison Avenue.

The Elmat Realty Corporation, Joseph W. Grinker, president, gave a purchase money mortgage for $150,000, due April 30, 1940, at 5½ per cent, to Pauline D. Walker of the Martha Washington Hotel when she conveyed to the mortgagor the premises at 8 and 10 West Thirty-sixth Street.

GETS LONG ISLAND ESTATE.

Former Judge Hazelton Buys Dorei Manor, $50,000 Northport Home.

Special to The New York Times.

NORTHPORT, N. Y., May 5.—Dorei Manor, the home of Mrs. Richard Wagnalls Jones, was sold today to former Judge Edgar F. Hazelton of Queens at a price said to be about $50,000.

The Jones home, one of the most prominent in this section of Long Island, was vacated shortly after the death of Mr. Jones, who was the founder of the Esperanto language. For years it had also been the Summer home of noted authors and poets, among the most prominent being Edwin Markham of Staten Island, who was a personal friend of the late Richard Jones.

It was said this evening that the house will be remodeled and occupied by Judge Hazelton early in June.

Manhasset House Transferred.

E. Trump & Son, Inc., has sold a residence at Munsey Park, Manhasset, L. I., to F. L. Williams of Flushing. Garden Estates, Inc., arranged the sale.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5.—The northeastern disturbance still extends from Southern Greenland southward to and beyond Newfoundland and the western disturbance is moving slowly eastward with two centres, Valentine, Neb., and Cochrane, Ont. The far northwestern disturbance is moving southeastward over the Mackenzie basin, Alberta and Western Montana and Edmonton, Alberta.

Pressure is relatively high from the South Atlantic States eastward to Bermuda; Wilmington, N. C., 30.14 inches.

The weather will be partly cloudy Tuesday in the Washington forecast district with scattered afternoon thunder showers, and the eastward advance of the western disturbance will cause showers and thunderstorms Wednesday in the Ohio Valley, Tennessee and the lower lake region, and probably local thunder showers in the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States and the interior of the South Atlantic States.

The temperature will continue unseasonably high in the Washington forecast district during the next two days, followed by cooler weather Wednesday afternoon or night as far east as the Appalachian Mountains and probably Thursday in the Atlantic States.

COUNTRY-WIDE WEATHER CONDITIONS.

In the following record of observations at United States Weather Bureau stations yesterday the temperatures given are the highest during the twelve hours from 8 A. M. to 8 P. M. and the lowest during the preceding twelve hours, from 8 P. M. to 8 A. M.; the barometer reading and condition of weather are those recorded at 8 P. M. and the rainfall is for the twenty-four hours ended at 8 P. M.

THOUSANDS FIND AID AT SAILORS' HOME

The Seamen's Friend Society Reports 153,783 Used Its Quarters During Year.

1,311 OBTAINED BEDS FREE

62,292 Paid for Shelter, While 993 Received Meals Gratis at 14th Street Institute.

Nearly a thousand destitute seamen who found their way to this port obtained free meals while they sought work during the past year at the Sailors' Home and Institute maintained on the North River waterfront near Fourteenth Street by the American Seamen's Friend Society, according to the activities report yesterday at the 102d annual meeting of the society.

Dr. George Sidney Webster, secretary, describing the work of the institute, said 153,783 seamen had used the quarters during the year and that 62,292 had rented rooms and beds. The uncertainties of life at sea caused scores of men to seek food and accommodations when they were unable to pay for them, and of these 993 obtained free meals and 1,311 free beds, while 86 were fitted out with clothing.

Many of the seamen who had money were preparing to return to sea and placed their funds in the hands of the society; these funds totaled $29,808 in the year. Agents of the society visited more than 300 seamen who were ill in hospitals, and 163 of these men were taken from hospitals for their final recuperation as guests of the society before returning to sea. About 5,300 men were interviewed on their ships by agents of the society and 120 religious services were held during the year, at which 4,592 seamen were present.

Discussing the extension work of the society, Dr. Webster said that 319 consignments of books, totaling 12,760 volumes, had been placed on ships sailing from New York for the accommodation of 27,686 seamen.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd was elected an honorary vice president of the society at the meeting and six trustees whose terms expired were re-elected. They are Alexander Torrance, William H. Van Steenbergh, Winchester Noyes, Clifford D. Mallory, Alfred V. S. Olcott and Evarts L. Prentiss. At a meeting of the trustees immediately after the annual meeting of the members the following officers were elected: Winchester Noyes, president; William M. Kingsley, vice president; the Rev. Dr. George Sidney Webster, secretary; Clarence C. Pinneo, treasurer; Reginald L. McAll, assistant secretary.

The following committees of the board were announced: Finance, William M. Kingsley, chairman; Orrin R. Judd, Arthur N. Peck and Frederick Sturges Jr., Port and Sailors' Home, Fritz V. Briesen, chairman; William H. Van Steenbergh and Alfred V. S. Olcott. Publication and library, Charles H. Potter, chairman; Alexander Torrance and Evarts L. Prentiss. Chaplaincy, Marcus H. Tracy and LeRoy E. Kimball. Auditor, Ralph H. Steever.

The Hoboken Ferry, chartered early in May, 1775, the year previous to the signing of the Declaration of Independence, will be 155 years old this month. The Lackawanna Railroad has operated the company since 1903 and now has four routes between New York and New Jersey with about 800 trips every twenty-four hours.

In 1929 the four routes carried approximately 33,000,000 passengers and 3,100,000 vehicles. In the year in which the ferry was chartered New York had a population of about 22,000. At that time the ferry operated between Kings Arm Inn, a stopping place in New Jersey where Hoboken is now, and Bear Market at the foot of Vesey Street. Early-day ferries were powered by sails or horses working on treadmills. The first steam ferry in the world was operated over the Hoboken route in 1811.

BIDS ON NEW PIER OPENED.

Nine Offers for Spring St. Work Range From $792,037 to $1,032,400

Nine bids for the construction of the new Pier 34, North River, at the foot of Spring Street, were opened yesterday at the office of Commissioner of Docks Michael Cosgrove. They ranged from $792,037 to $1,032,400. Engineers of the Dock Department have estimated that the cost of dredging, removal of the present structure and construction of the new dock would be about $985,000.

The present pier has been idle since the Holland Tunnel was completed and the city has decided to replace it with a new pier 1,024 feet long and 160 feet wide. It will be occupied by the Clyde Line, which is obliged to vacate some of its accommodations on the North River to permit the city to raze the seven piers between Clarkson and West Eleventh streets for replacement by four modern piers.

John McKenzie, chief clerk of the Department of Docks said yesterday that construction of the new pier would take about 250 days from the date of the award of the contract, and that the building of the superstructure, including sheds, would take two or three months more. The contract would be awarded soon, he said.

The bidders and the figures submitted yesterday were:

P. T. Cox Contracting Company, Inc., $971,251; Frederick Snare Corporation, $902,409; Allen N. Spooner & Sons, Inc., $792,037; G. W. Rogers Construction Corporation, $944,811; Montrose Contracting Company, $1,032,400; Tilt-Hargan Company, $799,700; Lane, Ogle, Inc., $888,800; Phoenix Construction Company, $889,000; J. Rich Steers, Inc., $855,200.

MOTOR LINER DUE IN TODAY.

City of New York Ahead of Schedule on Return From Africa.

The motor liner City of New York, the first passenger vessel built under the merchant marine act of 1928, which provides government aid for shipbuilding, is scheduled to dock here today, completing her maiden voyage between New York and Cape Town. She sailed from New York Feb. 1, made the trip to Cape Town in twenty-three days, with stopovers at Bermuda and St. Helena, and is expected to complete the return trip in twenty-one days. She was reported to have left Trinidad a day ahead of schedule.

The ship has two sets of Diesel engines and can maintain a speed of 13.5 knots, although capable of greater speed. She is 470.8 feet long. The American-South African Line built her as the first step in the development of improved passenger service to South Africa. The next sailing of the vessel will be May 31.

SURGEON OPERATES AT SEA.

Woman Seriously Stricken on the Antonia Is Brought to Montreal.

MONTREAL, May 5 (Canadian Press).—One of the most serious operations ever performed at sea fell to the duty of Dr. W. G. F. Owenmorris, ship surgeon of the Cunarder Antonia, which docked here today. A passenger, Mrs. Florence Swift of Liverpool, became stricken with acute intestional obstruction when the ship was fifty miles off Father Point Saturday. An examination revealed that delay until Quebec was reached would be fatal, and an operation was performed, the ship standing by for three hours.

For some time after the operation the patient hovered between life and death, but won the battle, and on arrival of the Antonia at Quebec an ambulance summoned by wireless took the woman to a hospital, where hopes are held for her recovery. Mrs. Swift was on the way to Ryerson, Sask., to visit her son.

SANTA CLARA SHOWS SPEED.

New Grace Liner Clips Two Days From Record on Run to Peru.

The turbo electric liner Santa Clara of the Grace Line has completed her run of 3,382 nautical miles from her Brooklyn pier to Callao, Peru, in sixteen days, clipping two days from the best time previously made by any ship, according to radio advices received yesterday from her commander, Captain Parker.

She will sail tomorrow for Valparaiso on the third leg of her voyage and if she maintains her speed will clip more than five days from the New York-Valparaiso record. The Santa Clara has used only four of her five motors on her trip thus far. According to officials of the Grace Line, the ship can make the trip in less than sixteen days if her master wishes to improve her speed by the use of the other motor.

Liner's Engineer Buried at Sea.

When the Red Star liner Pennland arrived yesterday from Antwerp via Southampton and Cherbourg Captain V. L. Making, the master, reported that David S. Wilkie, fourth engineer of the ship had died of pneumonia Sunday night and was buried at sea yesterday.

REPORT OPPOSES JERSEY SHIP CANAL

Army Engineers' Board Declares It Unjustified "From Any Economic Standpoint."

NO ROUTE ACCEPTABLE

Sea Level Waterway Is Preferable if One Is to Be Built, Congress Committee Is Told.

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP).—An adverse report on the proposed construction of a $100,000,000 New Jersey ship canal as a link in an intracoastal waterway from New York Bay to the Delaware River by way of Bordentown, N. J., was submitted to the House Rivers and Harbors Committee today by Major Gen. Brown for the Army Board of Engineers.

The report rejected all routes suggested for the waterway, holding that the expenditure of funds to construct a canal of suitable proportions was unjustified and uneconomical. Annual maintenance costs were estimated at $750,000 and many highway and railroad bridges would be affected.

"The board concurs with the district engineer in the opinion that if this waterway is to be built a sea-level canal is to be preferred," General Brown wrote. "It points out, however, that it is necessary to provide and maintain a lock at the Delaware River end of the canal and that the continued operation of this lock may be found advisable to conserve the fresh-water supply in the Delaware River."

He suggested that for a barge canal the South River route probably would be better than the Morgan route, although this question depended on the facility with which satisfactory highway and railroad crossing could be provided. Considerable expenses, he added, probably would be incurred by building a canal on the Morgan route should injury be caused to the Perth Amboy (N. J.) water supply. The Morgan route, he said, was six miles shorter than the South River route, and would be more suitable for a 25-foot ship canal, but the construction cost by the Morgan route would be $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 greater than by the South River route.

Examinations revealed that an estimate of a traffic of 12,500,000 tons over the route was overoptimistic.

The board "is convinced, comparing the reasonably prospective annual savings with the probable carrying charges, that the project under consideration is not justified from any economic standpoint."

FILL IN CANAL FOR ROAD.

Special to The New York Times.

PORT JERVIS, May 5.—In order to convenience motorists, State highway employes are converting the abandoned Delaware River canal between Lackawaxen and Rowland into a State highway by filling in the canal bed level with the tow-path.

All trace of the historic canal, which was the principal means of freight transportation before the Erie Railroad and other lines were built in that section, will disappear.

A WEEK OF SOLID COMFORT TO EUROPE

Comfort implies not only the material adjuncts of the crossing—commodious ships, luxurious appointments, delicious food, anti-rolling devices and the like. The express steamers have all these, and to spare. But, they have also that indefinable something we call atmosphere—an atmosphere that makes for congeniality, good times, "solid comfort" throughout the 7-day ocean voyage.

HAMBURG · NEW YORK
DEUTSCHLAND · ALBERT BALLIN

Every Wednesday midnight, one of these liners sails from New York for Cherbourg, Southampton and Hamburg—Also a distinguished Cabin Service to Ireland, France, Germany.

12 day cruises to NOVA SCOTIA and NEWFOUNDLAND

$130 and up INCLUDING ALL EXPENSES
First-class accommodations with meals on steamer; maintenance on steamer for 2 day stop-over at Halifax, N. S., and for 2 day stop-over at St. John's, Newfoundland.

Four days ashore where the air is spicy with balsam and spruce. Where mighty game fish leap for your lure. Do you play golf? The courses are superb. There's swimming, too, and boating and interesting sightseeing ..... amid scenery that is sublime.
Eight days at sea on the famous "Ft. St. George" or the "Nerissa." Transatlantic liners—steady and speedy, with all the refinements of Furness Service.
Sailings every Saturday. "Furness Red Cross" connections for Montreal.

PHARMACY LEADER DECRIES SODA TRADE

Dr. Kremers at Baltimore Meeting Deplores "Commercializing" Drug Stores.

SAYS THERE ARE TOO MANY

State Board's Convention Are Told of Strides in Utilizing Results of Research.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, May 5.—Deploring the "commercialization" of drug stores "by turning them into sandwich and soda establishments," Dr. Edward Kremers, director of pharmacy in the University of Wisconsin and 1930 winner of the Remington medal for the most notable work in pharmacy during the year, today told the Teachers' Conference on Pharmaceutical Economics, of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy, in national convention here, that "there are vastly too many drug stores in comparison with the population of the country." He said that the situation could be improved only by State boards' limiting the number of pharmacists.

Dr. Kremers drew a comparison between conditions in this country and France and Germany, pointing out that whereas France had found means of limiting her drug stores, by cutting out second and third grade institutions, Germany and the United States apparently had learned little from the lesson of history and would have to learn from experience how "to mitigate an evil that is obviously becoming worse."

"Druggists Sick of Soda Business."

The ratio of drug stores for the country as a whole, he said, is about one to every 2,500 inhabitants, and the ratio, he added, appears to be getting worse instead of better.

"The druggist," he declared, "is sick and tired of the soda and sandwich business, but if he is to be aided it must come through emphasizing the vital importance of the apothecary to the community. Why should we educate a man in the highest standards of pharmacy only to have him go out and sell sandwiches and soda?"

Some 800 delegates from every State are attending the convention.

Before the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy, holding their twenty-seventh annual meeting, President John A. J. Funk in his annual address declared that through public health education the gulf between the knowledge of the physician and pharmacist and the public at large is being bridged.

Teaching Gains Reported.

Taliaferro Clark of the United States Public Health Service, speaking before the Materia Medica Section, told of the vast strides that have been made in the last few years in teaching students of medicine and pharmacy how to place the results of practical research and the new discoveries in their fields at the disposal of the masses.

Dinners were held tonight by the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy, with Herbert Levy, Assistant Attorney General for the State of Maryland, delivering the principal address on "Some Fundamental Principles in the Regulation of the Practice of Pharmacy," and by the American Association of Colleges and Pharmacy, with Dr. Neil E. Gordon, Professor of Chemical Education, Johns Hopkins University, and editor of The Journal of Chemical Education, making the principal speech.

"ONE STEP CLOSER AND I JUMP!" CRIED the LAST of the D'UBERVILLES

"B-but Tess, I'm asking you to be my wife," stammered Sir Sidney Sissingham.

"What?" cried the fiery fraulein, "you'd call me 'wife' in rasping tones like those? Never! Before you dare presume, sir, learn what wonders, upon frayed vocal cords, are worked by honey-smooth, queen-leaf tobacco. Relieve my tortured ears and your tortured throat with OLD GOLDS. Mellow your speaking voice, calm that cackling cough and soothe that squawk. OLD GOLD yourself, Sir Sidney. There's not a bark in a billion."

Why Kotex gives you such a safe, secure feeling

How the scientific design and wonderful absorbency of this sanitary pad provide protection that lasts.

YOU will wonder, once you've used Kotex, how you ever managed to get along without it. For here is sanitary protection that is designed to fit; designed to protect comfortably for hours.

Naturally, one feels safe, secure—because Kotex is made of a marvelous absorbent called Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding. Cellucotton is a cellulose substance which, for sanitary purposes, performs the same function as the softest cotton, with five times the absorbency. That means five times the security.

Hospitals prefer it

Throughout America, the leading hospitals (85% of them) now use Kotex absorbent. This preference of hospital authorities should guide every woman's choice of sanitary protection.

What does one seek, besides quick, thorough absorbency? Softness, for one thing. And Kotex offers a lasting softness—not a mere surface downiness which soon packs into chafing hardness.

Kotex is adjustable. You can remove layers of the filler. It may be worn on either side—doesn't have to be used in a certain specified way. You get the same, complete protection.

The fact that Kotex is so easily disposed of has changed the hygienic habits of millions of women the world over. Kotex Company, Chicago, Ill.

KOTEX IS SOFT...
1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
2—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.
3—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly by a special process.
4—Disposable, instantly, completely.

Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12
